2 ira ltimoreans Die in D. C. crash

They utrig hned outright . theirtorn es rere torn to ices. . . . 1.

An ey cones a was comenting Sube early Sunew cras bloc 3300 block ew Yo Wasv NE. Washgton, i Baltic two Baltiroeans . . . ded.

Districtt thic report the 65 two- whic sean in which ey werned ing mashed in- a o porte light post ndation, ouis a m.

They rturne to overturned d skidbefor16 feet before ming t down beside down. mage ed estimated at 500.

One whAFR tof the AFRO was 'aight. ceting' sight.

A RENe Eitof one of victin polisped a police port this tre jjr was tralling ass a 8 miles an ar, not scenhi the scene the era three were a three e high nas suddenly narrow into th ls s, and the d was k B. head tire. ish are:

MISS ONCE E. LONG, 1722 N. enad rd St., employed at shoubarine shop the 31 Norlo W. North e., andudent ing student Carver; annis High; and AMES SR. AVIS SR., 3009 la cator St., a cameller Blacks and Blackll; andemaoer baseman the clotson ip Dotsons eball olice l driv M the driver of thame as James omas 3028 23, 3028 ghton Motor ral Motors ployered awm treated at Gener cutos al for cuts l bruise an knee and st, ane hea d. He has n-char manvil auto manughter at forti is set for . 18.

ir. Lilayec so played the ebalbon Baseball m. g w

RS. N told Long told AFRO and daughter and nds g to morning limore these me of the sh. ne

N A her ch to her mother, Miss Long is survived by her father, Robert Long, N.S., and two sisters, and a brother.

They are: Trumilla, 17, student; Leonard, 14, and Vanessa, 12.

Also surviving: her grandfather, Joseph Edwards; grandmother, Mrs. Dixie McNeil; and several aunts and uncles.

Morton and Dyett Funeral Home handled arrangements for the funeral held at the chapel on Thursday afternoon.

• • •

THERE WAS no viewing of the remains of either victim.

Funeral arrangements for the Davis youth were handled by the Arlington Phillips Funeral Home.

Services for him were held Thursday afternoon at the Church of God, with the Rev. James Scott officiating.

Members on the Dotsons Baseball team served as pallbearers.

• • •

KNOWN AS 'Jimmy' to friends, Mr. Davis is survived by his wife, Elaine, a student at Coppin State Teachers' College; and a son James Wesley Jr., 5.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmore Davis, and ten sisters and brothers survive.

They are: Mrs. Florine Collins, Ansonia, Conn.; Mrs. Etta Alexander, Chicago; Mrs. Dorothy McClain, Thomas Davis, Johnson Davis, Elmore Davis Jr., Matthew Davis, all of Baltimore; Moses Davis and Miss Doris Davis, both D.C. government employees; and Mrs. Mary Lee Durham.

IT WAS Mrs. Durham who told the AFRO she had visited the scene of the accident and noted it was a three-lane highway which becomes a two-lane road.

"It narrows without warning. You could be going slow and still have an accident."

Mrs. Durham added: "No one in the family holds any grudge against Lindsey." (the driver . . .)

Lustcell to lecture on cops prosecutors

George brilliant Jr., brilliant young criminal attorney, national exe cutive secretary of the Nat ional Association for the Advancement of Colored People, will be the principal speaker at a seminar for municipal police officers and prosecutors to be held here next Tuesday, Feb. 2, it was learned this week.

The seminar, which will be held in the Lecture Hall of the Baltimore Civic Center, is being sponsored by the Maryland State Bar Association and the Baltimore Bar Association.

Jr., pre-trial discovery and inspection.

Charles E. Moylan Jr., Baltimore state's attorney, said he is conducting the seminar in order that staff prosecutors can be brought up to date on the latest court ruling affecting the prosecution of criminal cases.

• • •

MR. MOYLAN said attendance will be mandatory for all new assistants and all older prosecutors have said they will attend the sessions that will be conducted on a law school format.

John Brumbaugh, professor of criminal law and evidence at the University of Maryland, will give a twenty-week course of instruction in criminal law.

Classes will meet regularly for three-hour sessions each Thursday during the spring and fall, Mr. Moylan reported.

Commenting on the selection of Mr. Russell, the city's chief prosecutor told the AFRO:

"As state's attorney, I'm in a particularly perceptive spot to be aware of his legal ability. He is a close personal friend, but a deadly opponent at the trial table. I feel that there is no one better able to present this subject than he is."

Mr. Moylan said since announcing the seminar he has been flooded with requests from county, municipal, and federal prosecutors to attend the sessions.

He and now Supreme Bench Judge William J. O'Donnell were also members of the State Bar Association's seminar which attracted hundreds of lawyers during sessions in Western Maryland, Eastern Shore and Baltimore.

LIBERTY
INS. AGENCY
823 LAFAYETTE AVE.
NEAR PENNSYLVANIA AVE.
COMPLETE INSURANCE SERVICE
SR. 5-0111
LOW DOWN PAYMENT
EASY TERMS

D. D. OIL CO.
. . . OR. 5-1818
CASH AND SAVE
PREMIUM QUALITY
AT TOTAL TREMENDOUS SAVINGS
$1.142 Per 100 Gal.
TAX
CALL NOW
Your Delivery
SAME DAY
FUEL OIL OR. 5-1818

203 YEARS OF POSTAL SERVICE—Five long-term post office employees who retired in Baltimore recently represented a total of more than two centuries of service. AFRO photo at left shows Albert R. Pryor, carrier, 44 years; Postmaster William Laukaitis; Charles H. Buckner, special distribution clerk, 46 years and Mrs. Margaret M. Epple, a distribution and window clerk, 46 years. Photo at right shows Parcel Post Superintendent J. Harvey Joyce (center) with George L. Skinner (left) 29 years regular clerk, and Walter E. Alston, special delivery messenger, 38 years service.

'Instead Of Going To Doctor, I Drink'

It was a day for weeping and tears in Juvenile Court Tuesday and its possible the authorities who daily witness the tragic side in the court felt, "I should have stayed in bed."

A mother, father, aunt and child, age 11, wept in this instance which Judge Charles E. Moylan termed "the most flagrant case of contributing to the delinquency of a minor I have ever witnessed."

The principals were a blond City Department of Sanitation worker, Edward Stencil Sr., father of six boys, one of his sons, an 11-year-old shoe shine boy found guilty at an earlier hearing of shoplifting $22.94 worth of food from a supermarket that included two frozen turkeys; Mrs. Edward Stencil Sr. and aunt; and the supermarket clerk who was termed a self-styled detective.

• • •

THE INCIDENT occurred at the Falstaff Shopping Center food store between 6:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 30.

The supermarket clerk testified he noted a youngster with a full cart of food empty a cardboard box onto the floor, stack his food from the cart into the box and place the box into the cart.

He told the court that the child wheeled the cart to the end of the aisle and left it to go outside and talk with a man.

He said the child then returned to the store and took the cart out, with the food in it, without paying for it.

The clerk then grabbed the boy who said he had been picked up by a stranger while shining shoes on Baltimore Street and the stranger drove him to the shopping center "to make a buck."

• • •

WHILE OTHER persons held the child inside the store, the clerk testified he then proceeded to chase the man he saw the child talking to, followed him to an automobile, got the license number and made the report to the police.

Testimony revealed the automobile was the property of the child's father. The clerk identified the man in court as the child's father.

Mr. Stencil was charged with contributing but given leniency upon recommendation of the lawyer who said: "His six children will be on welfare. He will lose his job where he has never missed a day in four years."

Judge Moylan imposed a fine of $100 to be paid in two weeks and added:

"Failure to pay the fine will bring the maximum penalty."

The youngster found guilty of shoplifting is at home in custody of his parents and under the guidance of the Probation Department.

• • •

A CHERRY HILL wife of an unemployed Bethlehem Steel worker was returned home in custody of her husband and charged by Judge Moylan thus:

"I give you probation before verdict.

"You'll have to choose between your children and the bottle, which ever means more to you.

"I find you did neglect your children.

"If you leave home any more, you'll lose these children.

"You must have a good home. These children (in court, six of them) are really shining and looking nice. They are not wild or loud and they indicate there is some stability in the home."

THE CASE came to the attention of the court when Mt. Bernard Epperson, 2200 block Carver St., brought his wife in on charges of criminal neglect on Oct. 10.

The husband testified: "She needs help. She has left home several times. Each time she says she isn't going to leave any more.

"We don't have money for alcohol. She goes to her uncle's and I have to go after her. I do all I know to do, bring her home and let her sleep it off.

"She starts off with whiskey.

"She's good as she can be when she's sober. She's been drinking heavy four months. Most of the time she's been away."

• • •

THE WIFE, Mrs. Gladys Sperson, an attractive slender woman, testified:

"I have been drinking and worried five or six months instead of going to the doctor, I drank.

"I am not an alcoholic. It's my nerves."

Noteworthy is the fact that the parents were seen to be deeply caring for all six of the children from infant size to about 6 years, as they sat near them at the trial table.

CORE hits landlord rent hikes

The Community Organization Committee of Baltimore CORE sent a letter this week to Mayor McKeldin, and other city officials complaining about the raising of rents by landlords, in the East Baltimore area bounded by Aisquith, Caroline, Chase and Madison Sts. after being forced to make repairs on their properties.

The letter, signed by James Griffin, William B. Hush and Lloyd Taylor, CORE officials, commended the Bureau of Building Inspections for cracking down on housing violations, but stressed dismay at the fact that after inspections are made and owners have repaired the properties, no protection is afforded the tenant against rent hikes.

CORE proposed a rent control law and demanded that city officials do something about the injustice to tenants.

Again reminding the city of the "social dynamite" that exists in the area, CORE said in case of an explosion its sympathies will not be with the disturbed feelings of city officials and the power structure.

Newstipsters share $50 cash prizes for tips

Newstipsters who were FIRST to notify AFRO City Desk about happenings of interest in our city, shared the $50 prize this week.

Winners included those who reported an accident in which two persons died, hospitalization of a prominent citizen and a variety of human interest events.

Checks for tipsters are already in the mail. YOU, too, can win cash for your news tip. After 8:30 p.m., AFRO City Desk, MUL. 5-6015, and say, "I've got a news tip. After 8:30 p.m., call LAF. 3-3024. Names of tipsters will be held in strict confidence.

Provident Hospital board re-elects Perdue president

Dr. Saul M. Perdue, Baltimore educator, has been elected president of the Provident Hospital board of trustees for his fourth consecutive one-year term.

George L. Russell Jr., lawyer and prominet figure in the campaign for a new Provident Hospital to be constructed in Northwest Baltimore, was elected vice president of the board. He succeeds James Murphy, newspaper executive.

Mrs. Violet Hill Whyte was elected secretary, and Coundanti Brown, treasurer of the board.

Reappointed to three - year terms were Charles Moylan Jr., State's attorney; Mrs. Victorine Adams, executive director of Woman Power; Louis Grasmick, lumberman and also prominent in the Provident Hospital campaign; Joseph Myerhoff, developer; Samuel M. Hecht, vice chairman with Mr. Russell of the development program; the Rev. Isaac Clayton and Dr. John D. Young.

THREE NEW appointees included Sydney King, television executive; Samuel Daniels, director of the Community Relations Commissions, and John H. Henderson, Druid Hill YMCA executive.

At the meeting, Mr. Kussel told the board that $1,170,000 has been publically subscribed for the proposed $8,000,000 hospital which will replace the outmoded building at 1514 Division St.

He said the goal of the volunteers working for a new hospital is $2,400,00 and that this figure combined with Federal, state and City funds would assure the construction of the facility.

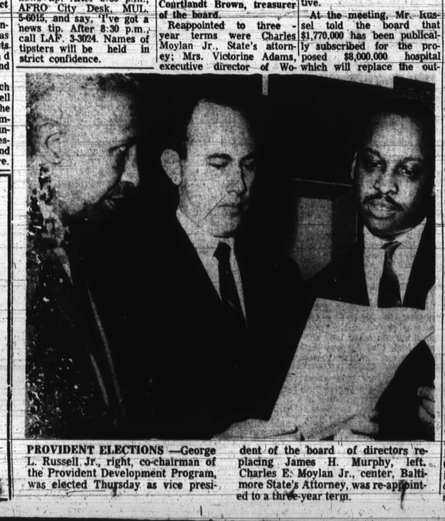
Morton Macht, a leader in the development of plan for the new hospital, said his committee is now coordinating plans of the architects with proposals submitted by consultants.

• • •

HENRY WHYTE, administrator of the hospital, explained changes now taking place in daily routines to assure a smooth transfer from the old to the new hospital.

He also pointed out that the hospital's intensive care unit is nearing completion and will soon be in operation.

The board also received a report by the medical staff from Dr. James Carr, chief of staff at Provident. Dr. Carr stated that the staff is working with the administration to prepare for the transition to the new facility.



PROVIDENT ELECTIONS —George L. Russell Jr., right, co-chairman of the Provident Development Program, was elected Thursday as vice president of the board of directors replacing James H. Murphy, left. Charles E. Moylan Jr., center, Baltimore State's Attorney, was re-appointed to a three-year term.

SPRING LATE THIS YEAR?

The Groundhog will tell the story come Tuesday

If Feb. 2 (Tuesday) is dry and fair, the groundhog will see his shadow and winter will last six weeks longer.

In other words, if the Groundhog sees his shadow, he will go back in his hole to sleep for six more weeks and the prediction he leaves behind will postpone spring's arrival until late in March.

However, if the finicky, furry little animal ventures forth Tuesday into a cloudy day, the story will be different. Not being able to see his shadow, the groundhog will not return to bed and spring will begin to peep through almost immediately.

Actually, spring is officially due to arrive on Saturday, March 20.

But, because we experienced a Black Christmas (Christmas without snow) and (1965 began with four weeks of predominately warm weather, rocsythia is ready to bloom; the weeping willow is already a pale green; shrubbery is bursting with buds.

NEVERTHELESS OLD timers says spring will be late this year. And, they give as reason. "Easter is late and comes almost in May." Easter Sunday is April 18.

Lent begins Ash Wednesday, March 3, a month and a day from Tuesday, Groundhog Day. It ends Good Friday, April 16.

• • •

MONDAY, Feb. 1 is National Freedom Day by Presidential proclamation. The document President Lincoln signed to abolish slavery in the United States was signed Monday, Feb. 1, 1865. (This is not the Emancipation Proclamation signed Jan. 1, 1863).

Our History Week begins Feb. 7 and extends through Feb. 14.

Job clinics

Job Counseling Clinics will be established in the Baltimore area next week under the direction of the Health and Welfare Council Area, Inc.

Primary purpose of the clinic is to better prepare job-seekers in getting jobs. Vocational, personal and family counseling will also be offered participants as needed.

Referrals for pre-vocational training, job training, retraining and social services will be given to job-seekers according to their special needs.

Trained counselors will conduct two counseling session a week for a period of three weeks. Eight 3-week courses will be conducted February through Semptember of this year.

Persons out of work who wish to benefit from this service are invited to contact the Health and Welfare Council of the Baltimore Area, Inc. at 10 South St. Phone calls will be received Monday through Friday, 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Council office, 752-4146.

Mrs. Hamer here

Mrs. Fannie Lou Hamer, a leader of the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party, will participate in a panel discussion, "Political Prospects of Freedom", at Mt. Zion Methodist Church, Liberty Heights and Wabash Aves, 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

Memorial services set for Churchill

Memorial Services for the former Prime Minister, Sir Winston Churchill, will be held at Old St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Charles and Saratoga Sts., at 11 a.m., Saturday, Jan.30.

FLASH

PROJECT ELEVATORS UNSAFE'

5 youths charged in criminal attack on child

"The halls, stairs, and elevators are not safe in our projects. They are frequented by boys who sniff glue, yoke and commit all type of sex offenses.

"It is mandatory that police protection be provided at these projects during the night."

Policewoman Sgt. Violet Hill Whyte issued this statement today after five teenagers were ordered held for special action of the grand jury today Friday).

The youths, are charged with raping a 14 - year - old girl on January 22 in the Lexington Terrace Housing Development.

MUNICIPAL Court Judge William H. Hudnet was told that the teenagers — 14 and 15 years - old — assaulted the girl in the elevator after stopping it on the 12th floor of the project.

Sgt. Whyte reported that the young victim was standing near her family's apartment door when seven teenage boys got out the elevator and snatched her inside.

They then stopped the elevator in mid - floor where the attack occurred, Sgt. Whyte testified.

The five defendants were ordered for the grand jury after the state's attorney's office refused to waive jurisdiction.

The teenagers were ordered held at city jail in lieu of $1000 bail each. Two other teenagers who did not take part in the assault, but were present, are facing action by Juvenile Court.

SPECIAL
(FOR A LIMITED TIME ONLY)
THIS AD IS WORTH $1.00 ON 100 GALLONS FUEL OIL
NO CHARGE TO START YOUR BURNER
Clip Out and Give to our Driver
HIGH QUALITY LOW PRICE COAL
PENNSYLVANIA ANTHRACITE
No. 3 or Nut
$21.50 TON
Honest Weight & Quality Guaranteed
MU. 5-1224
M. R. SEGALL & Co. Inc.
901 E. Fort Ave.—Est. 1910
Coal - Fuel Oil - Charcoal

Remember In '65
"It's Not the Cough That Carries You Off, It's The Coffin They Carry You Off—In"
WHY COUGH AT ALL?
USE
KERR'S KELL-A-KOUGH
Bad Coughs' Worst Enemy Since 1929
AT DRUG STORES EVERYWHERE
50¢ 89¢ $1.29

FLASH

Suspect foul play in Etting St. death

Homicide detectives here are investigating the death of a man found at 10 a.m., today (Friday) in a station wagon in the 2300 block of Etting St.

The victim has been tentatively identified as George Smith of the 3700 block W. Cold Spring Lane. Cause of death is not known, but police suspect foul play because the man's body was smeared in blood, parts of which had drained out of the 63 model station wagon onto the street.

Teacher Contest Swings Into High Gear (STORY IN COLUMN 7)

LBJ BACKS KING'S ALABAMA DRIVE (STORY IN COLUMN 6)

New Vote Figures Released For City (STORY ON BACK PAGE)

Baltimore Afro-American

History Books Now Use Tan Americans (STORY ON BACK PAGE)

73rd Year, No. 58
Copyright 1965 by AFRO-AMERICAN CO. for all material previously printed in the current National Edition
BALTIMORE, MD., FEBRUARY 6, 1965 32 Pages ★★★★★★★ 15 CENTS

SCHOOL GIRLS IN NUDE-PHOTO PROBE

Law, Crime And Safety

By STERLING A. PAIGE

"Community cooperation is one of the most important factors in meeting the challenge of crime. There has been for years a growing apathy among citizens who see crimes occur and keep silent. Others have stood by and watched policemen be attacked without attempting to help.

"True, there is some question as to the extent to which a citizen should become physically involved, but certainly a person has a basic civic responsibility to at least phone for assistance.

"This holds true, also, of street crimes where no police are on the scene but a citizen observes the crime. There is an obligation to summon the police."

These are the words of Robert J. Lally, police chief of Baltimore County and possibly the most respected police office in the area.

With all the headlines these days concerning the rising tide of crime in Baltimore, as in most sections of the country, there have been many statements made concerning criticism of the police department and lack of community cooperation with forces of law and order.

This series will attempt to analyze the situation, ferret out recommendations and offer a broad survey of what is expected of the community, the police department, the courts and the legislature—in the view point of those involved.

Each has a pronounced responsibility to itself, to each other and to the general welfare of all.

The consensus is that only through the cooperation of all concerned with crimes and problems and conditions that foment and nurture crimes, that better control will be achieved.

Because of the many criticisms of and cross retorts by the police department, the first part of the series will be devoted to what the police department expects

—See Law And Crime, Page 15

Cop faces hearing in girl's case

Departmental charges against a Southwestern District patrolman will be aired 10 a.m. Tuesday at Police Headquarters.

Capt. Frederick T. Dunn, district commander, lodged the accusations against Patrolman Glenn A. Russell following a complaint by an Edmondson High School graduate, Miss Jacqueline Adams, 19, unit block Ellamont St.

• •

FOLLOWING a special investigation last summer, the Baltimore Grand Jury cleared Patrolman Russell of any blame in the death of Louis Petty.

Mr. Petty died of head injuries three days after he was arrested during an altercation between citizens and police in the 400 block of Edgewood St.

Capt. Dunn and Chief Inspector George J. Murphy have accused the patrolman of violating sections No. 17 and 19 of Rule No. 1 which provide:

"No members of the department shall make any false statement or intentionally misrepresent facts under any circumstances," and

"Members of the department shall be held strictly responsible for the proper performance of their duties."

• • •

POLICE COMMISSIONER Bernard J. Schmidt will conduct the hearing.

An offense report, dated Feb. 1, and signed by Lt. Edward McCarren and Sgt. Henry Knecht, form the basis of departmental charges.

Departmental charges have also been lodged against probationary Patrolman Earl Carroll but will be presented until the Russell hearing is completed, Chief Murphy said.

Miss Adams, her mother, Mrs. June Adams, an aunt, Mrs. Esther Tyler, 44, 1300 block Eutaw St., and a cousin, Douglass Press, 300 block Edgewood St., went to police to make the complaint after Miss Adams

—See Cop faces, Page 18

MASS ARREST — Several hundred schoolaged youngsters were arrested for demonstrating outside the County courthouse in Selma, Alabama, Wednesday. Here they are shown marching to detention compound. (UPI Telephoto)

Students in poor areas victimized

The Maryland Crime Investigating Committee has been looking into a situation here involving teen - age school girls who have posed without clothes with a white male companion.

Alvin J. T. Zumbrun, executive director, said his group still has not come up with information to establish that the picures have been sold or otherwise widely distributed in the city.

Zumbrun's agency has been involved in combatting pornographic materials involving teen - age girls on a national basis and have turned over information to a U. S. Senate Committee.

Mr. Zumbrun was careful to point out that so far his investigation has not revealed information to suggest that this particular situation is a widespread operation.

But other school children have been exposed to them.

• • •

AT LEAST eight young girls, all from the lowest income level, have been identified as having taken part in the picture - taking sessions in one way or another.

The principal of one school where girls are known to be involved, was able to collect some of the pictures showing them with a man.

These were turned over to the police.

Mr. Zumbrun told the AFRO:

"I am pleased to report that justice is moving along

—See School girls, Page 2

Schools dangerous

A special meeting between Mayor McKeldin and the Board of Estimates Thursday evening resulted in orders being issued for the immediate correction of "dangerous" conditions in recently constructed schools.

These defects were pointed out in a partial report submitted to the Board of Estimates Thursday by the Niles Commission, which hired consulting engineers to study school construction following accusations by Comptroller Hyman Pressman and union labor officials.

The seriously of these conditions was such as to

—See Schools, Page 18

Appeals Court reversed, man gets $10,000 award

The U. S. Supreme Court has reversed a ruling of the Maryland Court of Appeals, and upheld a lower court's award of $10,000 to a local workman for injuries sustained on his job.

The award went to Lester Davis, 41, former employee of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, following a petition for writ of certiorari (review) to the high court by Amos I. Meyers, his attorney.

In an unprecedented move for a case of this sort in this area, the Supreme Court reversed the Appeals Court ruling solely on Mr. Meyers' petition for a review of the case.

• • •

MR. DAVIS, of the 700 block W. North Ave., received back and internal injuries on Jan. 2, 1959, when a fork lift truck fell on him while he was work-

Appeals Court, Page 2

Selma court ruling seen too little

By FRANK HUNT
AFRO Staff Correspondent

SELMA, Ala. — Public sentiment here is divided on the effectiveness of Federal District Judge Daniel H. Thomas' ostensibly favorable ruling on Thursday ordering a speeding up or registration of colored persons.

But the majority opinion seems to lean toward a wait-and-see air. Some of the Selma demonstrations were temporarily halted yesterday afternoon and today, but demonstrations continued in adjoining towns in Alabama's "Black Belt."

The primary resentment against the ruling is its failure to increase the number of days possible for applicants to register. At present, the Board of Registrars meet only on the first and third Mondays of the month.

Local people feel that the board should step up its meetings to get the some 15,000 prospective voters on the rolls.

"We are not at all satisfied with the situation," said Mrs. Amelia P. Boynton, real estate dealer and a local civil rights leader.

"Considering the past record of obvious discrimination here, we feel that every effort should be made to register those who are qualified to vote — and if it takes a little extra work, so be it."

Hosea Williams, director of voter registration and political education for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference also questioned the ruling.

"We are pondering it, but it leaves much to be desired," he stated.

The community feels that the ruling leaves room for

—See Court ruling, Page 18

Favorite teacher

Oh, boy, is this fun!

Just think, you can vote for your favorite teacher more than once! In fact, you can vote again, again and again.

As long as you can get your hands on an AFRO Favorite Teacher Vote Coupon, you can keep on voting and add up hundreds and hundreds of votes for your teacher.

• • •

AND, AS IF that isn't enough for all you voters out there, here's another advantage you have.

No matter how old or how young you are, whether you are in school or not, you can vote for your favorite teacher.

And, if the teacher gets the votes, the AFRO has the money all set aside for her Spring Vacation In Nassau.

After all, that's the point of the Favorite Teacher Contest.

The first AFRO prizes are a trip apiece for two teachers to go to the Bahamas with all expenses paid by the AFRO.

And, your AFRO today also tells you more about the best contest in the land, the AFRO's new "My Favorite Teacher Contest."

(The Favorite Teacher Vote Coupon you fill out is on Page 2 of this edition. The

—See Contest, Page 18

Warrants now used in Veney manhunt

Armed with search warrants for the first time after more than 230 raids, some 30 to 50 police raided two homes early Thursday morning in their continued attempt to find the elusive Veney Brothers.

Neither of the raids produced the suspects who have led police in the largest manhunt the city has ever seen.

Police said they had received information that both Samuel and Earl Veney, wanted in the fatal shooting of one police officer and the wounding of another, were in the city masquerading as women.

• • •

THE FIRST raid occurred shortly after midnight in the 900 block Somerset St.

Police revealed that a woman who was taken into custody at this location and questioned for several hours, told them that the brothers had been to her home three days ago dressed as women.

The second house raided was in the 1600 block N. Bond St., which police entered at 5:30 a.m.

"SGT. CLARENCE RAY

—See Veney raids, Page 18

LBJ backs King fight in Alabama

The powerful hand of President Johnson is seen in an Alabama Federal Court injunction granted Thursday.

In an unexpected press conference called yesterday, the President made it clear that all citizens must have the right to vote.

Then he made it specific that he intended to see that this is done in Alabama.

Listening to the President it

—See LBJ pledges, Page 2

Name group to advise policemen

Governor Tawes and Mayor McKeldin late Thursday announced the appointment of a twelve-member committee of distinguished citizens to serve as advisors and consultants to the public department.

Dr. Furman L. Templeton, executive director of the Baltimore Urban League; and William D. Somerville, an attorney and chairman of the human relations committee of the Maryland State Bar Association, were named co-chairmen.

• • •

THE TEN other committee members are:

Charles Curtis Jr., president of the Harlem Park

—See Group named, Page 18

German-bride killing is 1st degree murder

Screams brought guards from all parts of the Court House on Wednesday after Judge Albert Sklar found a 41-year-old steel-worker guilty of murder in the first degree in the July 22 death of a pert German matron.

Mrs. Hattie Williams, of Lincolnton, N.C. mother of the defendant, Mack Williams Jr., had to be physically supported as she left the courthouse.

"I know my boy didn't lie. He was telling the truth. He wasn't lying," the woman screamed.

Williams was convicted of slaying Mrs. Inger Harris, 26, wife of a well-known Turner Station pharmacist, Dr. William C. Harris.

They had been separated for 16 months.

Patrolman Richard Korb testified Mrs. Harris was found lying in a pool of blood, clad in pajamas, with a 38 cal. bullet wound in her neck.

Her body was sprawled in the second floor hallway of a house at 3755 Dolfield Ave.

• • •

TESTIMONY revealed

—See 1st degree, Page 2

Appeals Court reversed, man gets $10,000 award

Armory to be named in honor of late Col. Cade

The Winchester Street National Guard Armory will be officially designated as the "Col. Melvin H. Cade Armory," it was announced today by Lt. Gen. Milton Reckord, adjutant general of the Maryland National Guard.

In naming the armory "in honor of the former commander of the 229th Infantry Division, Maryland National Guard," Lt. Gen. Reckord said that he had received many letters requesting the change.

Gen. Reckord stated that "Col. Cade served both State and Nation in peace and war for a period of 22 and a half years. He died of a heart attack on April 27, 1964, while assigned as a student at the

—See Armory Named, Page 2

Cooke case girl's trial delayed

LOS ANGELES—A 30-day delay was granted Tuesday in the prostitution trial of Lisa Boyer, the Eurasian dancer who allegedly was Sam Cooke's companion the night, when the popular rock and roll star was shot to death last month.

The 22-year-old woman was arrested Jan. 11 and charged with being a prostitute. She was arraigned the following day and ordered to appear for trial Feb. 2. She pleaded innocent to the charges at the arraignment.

Cooke was shot by motel manager Mrs. Bertha Franklin, according to police when he kicked her apartment door apparently in search of Miss Boyer. Cooke and the dancer had earlier registered for the night at the motel, police say.

Nat Cole recovers from lung operation

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — Singer Nat King Cole, 45, Tuesday, was reported recuperating "right on schedule" from surgery a week ago for removal of his cancerous left lung.

• • •

SHE ALSO SEEKS tem-

Military discrimination causes Pentagon concern

Commenting on the AFRO's article detailing racial discrimination on and around military bases in Germany, the Department of Defense this week stated that the situation "has been a matter of continuing concern at the highest level" in both that department and military departments.

The letter to the AFRO, signed by Stephen N. Shulman, deputy assistant secretary of defense, said, "We are given this area much attention and plan to continue and bolster our efforts."

Shulman, deputy for civilian personnel, industrial relations and civil rights, did not mention any specific action that is being taken.

He did note that President Johnson transmitted to Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara the final

—See Discrimination, Page 2

Mrs. George F. Woodland sues him for divorce

Charging that she has been constructively deserted by Dr. George F. Woodland, prominent dentist of this city Mrs. Ada Chism Woodland has filed a suit for divorce.

The wife's petition, filed in Circuit Court No. 2 on Monday, also asked for, and obtained an order enjoining him from annoying, molesting, interfering with, assaulting or threatening her life in any manner during the pendency of the proceedings.

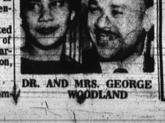
Mrs. Woodland has asked for permanent custody of their children, a nine - year-old daughter, and a son, three.

• • •

SHE ALSO SEEKS temporary and permanent alimony for herself and support and maintenance for the children.

Her husband, she says, earns $20,000 per year from

—See Divorce, Page 2



DR. AND MRS. GEORGE WOODLAND

BOYS WANTED
SELL THE AFRO
EARN MONEY AFTER SCHOOL
WIN PRIZES, TOO.
SELL THE AFRO
CALL MU. 5-6016
MISS WOODSON
CIRCULATION DEPT.

$50

That's right, the AFRO City Desk has a total of fifty dollars ($50) each week for news tips. Have you one? Call AFRO City Desk, MUlberry 5-6015 and say 'I have a news tip.' After 8 p.m., call LA. 3-3024. YOU might be a winner.