Citizens hit new police advisory group

The new police advisory group named Thursday by Governor Tawes and Mayor McKeldin, was strongly criticized by colored leaders.

The Rev. Frank Williams, president of the Ministerial Alliance said:

"The Ministerial Alliance takes sharp exception to the method and procedure of the Mayor and Governor in appointing the advisory committee.

"We feel that it will not have enough authority to deal with the immediate issues of the community and therefore will not answer the deep problems we face.

"We base our objections on the fact that it by-passed consultation with organizations that have been talking with city and government officials on the problem and other civic organizations that long since have been calling for attention to the community ailment, the break between the Police Department and citizens of the colored community.

"We believe now, as we believed then, when we were in conference with the Governor, the Attorney General and the Police Commissioner, that the kind of confidence that needs to be restored and the kind of rapport that is desired to be obtained can better come through the establishment of a Civilian Police Review Board."

THE REV. Mr. Williams, commenting on his appointment to the "Advisors and Consultants to the Police Department" group, said:

"I have not turned it down. I am pondering acceptance or rejection at this very moment.

"My feeling is, since my appointment came after the announcement of the 10-member committee, I feel that my appointment was an afterthought.

"But at the same time, I do not want to overlook the fact that a responsible citizen does not refuse any opportunity to help better community relationships."

SPEAKING as chairman of the Ministerial Alliance's Civic Committee, the Rev. Marion Bascom, pastor of Douglas Memorial Community Church, strongly protested the appointment of the committee.

He told the AFRO Friday morning:

"I see absolutely no solution until we have a Civilian Police Review Board.

"The unfortunate death in the Petty case last summer involved the same officer as we have in another serious case today.

"This is one instance that indicates to me that the community must have a place to go where it can lay its grievances down."

The Rev. Frank Madison Reid, pastor of Bethel AME Church, said:

This new commission "does not deal with the basic problem that a civilian review board would be expected to concern itself with. It seems to be just another 'sop' to deal with a very serious problem. It is like giving minor surgery when major surgery is necessary for recovery."

Behind The Protest

(AN EDITORIAL)

Members of the Interdenominational Ministers Alliance and other civic organizations have protested the appointment of a new commission to study the problems involving relations between the citizens and the police department.

It is their view that the Governor and the Mayor have been poorly advised.

It is also their view that the existing agencies which have been negotiating with the Mayor and the Governor and the interracial commissions should continue their talks and work out a firm plan of action.

It would seem to us too that the interracial commissions should be permitted to "interrace;" that is, perform the functions for which they are set up.

—Court ruling

the type of delaying action in which Dixie segregationists have become adroit in the face of federal civil rights rulings.

The ruling provides that at least 100 of those who stand in line on a given day will be registered, and the remainder registered by July 31 or their names given to a federal registrar.

With so many prospective voters clamoring to register, difficulties seem imminent, and civil rights leaders here are not impressed with the conduct of federal appointed registrars selected from local areas.

The hope of the community are now pinned on the conclusion of the delegation of northern and western Congressmen expected to view the registration procedures today.

"I think they will be equally disgusted by the obvious delaying tactics," Mrs. Boynton said.

In the meantime demonstrations have increased in Marion and are expected to spread to other towns. Sources indicate that a voter registration demonstration will take place in Montgomery early next week.

Dr. Martin Luther King remained in jail for the fifth day. He is expected to obtain release sometime this weekend.

Early last night the Alabama congressional delegation arrived in Selam in an apparent attempt to get by jump on the group of northern and western congressmen scheduled to arrive today.

Led by Rep. Glen Andrews (R. 6th Dist.), whose district includes Selma, Marion and Montgomery the group indicated its plans to study the situation.

"I feel that if all these outside agitators would go home, we might be able to get something done," Andrews said.

The committee is expected to hold its first meeting on Saturday morning.

Commenting on the creation of the committee: Dr. Templeton told the AFRO:

"I hope that the public will give this advisory committee an opportunity to work. I know that I and others I know on the committee are sincere in wanting to do a real job.

"This is not the answer to the community's request for a civilian review board because the interests of this committee are much more far-ranging that simply heading complaints against policemen.

"We are there to do a constructive job as far as . . . outside the administration . . . which is now being handled by the Finan Committee.

"We are there to do a constructive job of looking at the police department and making recommendations which will enhance its image and its relationship to the community."

DR. TEMPLETON added: "When I say community, I am not thinking only about the colored community, but the entire community.

Some of us believe there are real steps which can be taken by the police department to improve its performance and to give citizens a much more sense of security and a better relationship that now exists.

"We are in a critical situation. My hope for this committee, lies first of all that it is really accepted by the Governor, Mayor and Commissioner Schmidt. Anytime I do not have that kind of confidence I will have to resign. This must be accepted by Commissioner Schmidt as an assistance to him in improving the police department of Baltimore City.

warrant immediate action without waiting for the complete Commission report.

MAYOR McKELDIN said: "We cannot wait for completion of the report to correct these dangerous conditions.'

Pressman accused Naughley Porter, chief of the Bureau of building construction of "failing to live up to his responsibilities. Porter is not reliable."

The Mayor stated: "Porter must give me an explanation as to why these matters were not corrected."

It was pointed out to the AFRO that most of the schools involved in these "dangerous conditions" are in predominately colored areas.

The schools were named Lexington Terrace Elementary, John Eager Howard Elementary and Madison Square Elementary.

was taken home in a police car, the mother reported.

They said they were first notified of the incident by their daughter's companion, a soldier stationed at Ft. Meade.

They also called the AFRO and asked for the number of the NAACP.

MRS. TYLER, the aunt, was arrested in the station and charged with disorderly conduct.

After remaining in jail until 9 a.m. court session, she was given probation before verdict and ordered to pay court costs by Municipal Judge Robert E. Watts.

TESTIMONY was that the aunt became loud and disorderly in the station house when the girl was making her complaint, and became hysterical.

Judge Watts in releasing her without verdict advised that the proper place to lodge a complaint against the police was the Commissioner or State's Attorney.

"Regardless of what happened," he said, "you're not doing your case any good."

Her attorney, NAACP Lawyer Archie Williams argued that the aunt "had reason to become provoked," and "was justifiably concerned."

—Veney raids

came to my house about 5:15 a.m., with the search warrant," Judge I. Sewell Lamdin told the AFRO.

When the AFRO first asked Judge Lamdin about the warrant he declared:

"I don't know what you're talking about, what search warrant?"

Informed that his name had appeared in a daily newspaper as one of two Municipal judges who signed the warrants, Judge Lamdin continued to deny any knowledge of the warrant until the reporter produced the newspaper article.

"There's nothing mysterious about it. It's no secret. I just thought the police wanted to keep it quiet for a while," he said.

The Somerset St., raid was made under a search warrant signed byy Judge Joseph Finnerty.

EARLIER RAIDS, which began on Christmas Day, after Sgt. Jack Lee Cooper was fatally wounded, were made without search warrants and aroused strong protest from civil rights leaders.

They subsided after the NAACP filed a suit on Jan. 14, asking the court to end the "illegal" tactics of police participating in the manhunt.

A hearing in Federal Court, which lasted seven days, disclosed that many of the raids had been made on the basis of anonymous telephone calls.

Police testified during the unprecedented proceedings that more than 250 raids had been made on predominately colored homes during a 17 day period.

The NAACP held that the raids violated constitutional law.

Still pending in the case are the final arguments and a decision in the matter by Chief Judge Roszel C. Thomsen.

Teachers advised to live what they strive to teach

Mrs. Lillian P. Murphy, director of secondary schools, Western Division, and William Rawlings, supervisor of adult education in the Baltimore Public Schools, were on hand to discuss professional ethics at Houston Junior High School's professional meeting on Jan. 29.

Mrs. Murphy's awareness of "the rich heritage" of Houston prompted her to point out that Houston, formerly Douglass Senior High School, was the first secondary school built in Baltimore for colored children.

A teacher's responsibilities as enumerated by Mrs. Murphy are to strengthen society, to know the system, to adhere to the rules of the system, and to be exemplary of honesty and integrity.

She emphasized that teachers ought to be an example of truth rather than falsehood, of beauty rather than ugliness, and of the worthwhile rather than the trivial. They ought to avail themselves and the students of the opportunities offered by the system and their schools, she said.

"Education is more than mere training. It is living," stated the educator. "It is using good speech, dressing properly, and becoming a part of the community. From those to whom much is given, much is required,"

Mrs. RAWLINGS furthered the discussion of the ethics of the teaching profession by quoting a message found in the NEA Journal entitled, "What Is a Teacher?"

A teacher according to the article is a prophet an artist, a builder, a friend, a citizen, a pioneer and a believer. He told the teachers they ought to view the profession in that light so that the attitude they carry into the classroom is a positive one.

Teachers must meet their students believing that each of them has potentialities that must be awakened.

He suggested that the faculty members of Houston work out their own code of ethics so that each teacher will see the need for supporting the other and for gaining rapport among co-workers.

The speakers were introduced to the teachers by Felix Anderson, head of the English Department. Remarks were made by Mrs. Julia Richardson and Leon Williams.

Douglass seniors tour Washington

Several twelfth grade history classes recently joined the United Nations Youth Club on a student - sponsored field trip to Washington, D.C. under the guidance of Mrs. Mattie Robinson, head of the history department.

The group left Douglass High School at 9 a.m. and spent the entire day visiting scenes of historic significance. Highlights of the trip included a visit to the Russian Embassy, a lecture delivered by a member of the Peace Corps, and a film at the United States Department of State. Launch was served at the Smithsonian Institute.

The trip was arranged by the United Nations Association of Maryland.

S. Africaills seen 'beyond human hope'

DURBAN, S. AFRICA — (NNPA) — South Africa's racial situation was pictured last week as "beyond human control, beyond hope" by Dr. Denis Hurley, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Durban.

Addressing the non - political Council of the South African Institute of Race Relations, Dr. Hurley said the white South African was exasperated by worldwide criticism of his racial policies but believes domination by back Africans would result in a chaotic one - party state, eventually leading to their submergence as a group and extinction as a race.

PANELISTS HERE — A panel discussion, "Political Prospects of Freedom" was conducted in Baltimore's Mt. Zion Methodist Church last Saturday. Be a member of United's traveling public relations team
No one at United has more influence on what the public thinks of us . . . than our stewardesses! It's to our stewardesses that passengers turn for assistance, information and care. Every day our stewardesses fly, they meet new people—and their smiles, their friendly words add enjoyment and relaxation to passengers' trips. That's why we choose our stewardesses with great care . . . why the job of a United Air Lines stewardess is a challenging, responsible one. If you would like to become a member of our traveling public relations team, and are between 5'2" and 5'9", between 20 and 26, at least a high school graduate and single, apply now.

New Discovery Now Makes It Possible to Shrink And Heal Hemorrhoids Without Surgery
Stops Itch—Relieves Pain In Minutes
New York, N. Y. (Special): A world-famous institute has discovered a new substance which has the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids without surgery. The sufferer first notices almost unbelievable relief in minutes from itching, burning and pain. Then this substance speeds up healing of the injured tissues all while it quickly reduces painful swelling.
Tests conducted under a doctor's observations proved this so—even in cases of 10 to 20 years' standing. The secret is the new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — now offered in both ointment or suppository form called Preparation H®.
In addition to actually shrinking piles — Preparation H lubricates and makes bowel movements less painful. It helps to prevent infection (a principal cause of hemorrhoids).
Only Preparation H contains this magic new substance which quickly helps heal injured cells back to normal and stimulates regrowth of healthy tissue again. Just ask for Preparation H Ointment or Preparation H Suppositories (easier to use away from home). Available at all drug counters.
