Bill." He was dressed in trousers and shirt and had his right arm around the child's shoulders.

THE AFRO story revealed that the Maryland Crime Investigating Committee had been looking into reports about school girls posing for obscene pictures.

Alvin J. T. Zumbrun, MCIC executive director, told the AFRO at the time that his investigation had not established that the photographs had been sold or otherwise distributed in the city.

It was known that a number of school children had been exposed to the obscene pictures.

Sgt. Violet Hill Whyte told Judge Sklar that information concerning the obscene pictures came to her attention last December.

She said that at least eight or nine other girls are also involved as well as several other men.

ON THE BASIS of her investigation, Sgt. Whyte testified, she went to "Mr. Bill's" home and arrested him on Dec. 23.

She told the court that the oldest girl informed her that on at least three occasions she was intimate with the elderly man.

The girl told Judge Sklar that she worked for the man.

"I washed his clothes at the Bendix, cleaned his room and scrubbed floors," she testified.

She stated that she did not object when the man asked her to be intimate with him.

TESTIMONY revealed that the 16-year-old girl is a mother of two children.

On the stand she was slow in her response to questions and often appeared to be confused.

Under cross examination the girl told the court that she had only recently learned her correct age.

"I thought I was about 17. I didn't know how old I was until I got someone to write down to South Carolina to find out for me," she stated.

MR. ZUMBRUN had told the AFRO earlier that all the girls involved in the situation were from the lowest income level.

He said his investigators reported they had never seen homes in such poverty stricken conditions as those of some of the girls they visited in the probe.

It would not take much enticement to persuade one of these girls to become a partner for an indecent photograph, Mr. Zumbrun suggested.

THE YOUNGER girl testified that she had been in the convicted man's room on one occasion when there were at least three or four other teen-age girls present.

She said, "There was a man there who had cameras and after I had been there for a while everybody started drinking.

"This other man told me that he (pointing to Sweat) wanted me in the other room."

The girl testified "Mr. Bill" asked her to take a picture with him without her clothes and she consented.

SGT. WHYTE told the court that she had attempted through questioning the convicted man to determine who the photographer was, but he refused to tell her.

At first she said Sweat denied any relationship with either girl.

But later, said Sgt. Whyte, "Mr. Sweat, almost in a child-like manner, told me of the things he and the girls had done.

"He even seemed pleased and unaware of the wrong he had done."

At the time of arrest, Sgt. Whyte said she noticed the man's room was cluttered with empty liquor bottles.

SWEAT TESTIFIED that he had known the girls but had never been party to any indecent relationships.

He stated the older girl worked for him and that the young child came to his room once to inquire about a friend.

He said, "I told her I didn't know where he was and she asked me for $2 and I gave it to her."

Judge Slar in rendering a verdict of guilty, indicated that there was no doubt in his mind as to what was going on.

He withheld sentencing until the convicted man could be examined by a psychiatrist.

room, as she testified.

Her mother stood behind her.

Most of the time the girl's head was lowered, cupped by her hands, while tears dropped to the floor.

The teen-ager testified she was on her way to school when the accused man approached her.

"He told me he was going to beat me up because he said I told some girls he was a dog thief and that a boy punched his eye out with a fork," she said.

She described for the court an argument which unsued following the accusation.

She said throughout her testimony that a menacing dog was always at the man's side.

"HE TOLD me to go with him or he would sic his dog on me and beat me up for telling lies on him," the girl testified.

"I was scared. I didn't want to be beat up . . . I went with him."

The girl stated she was taken to a house in the 1300 block Carey St. She said a woman let them in, then left.

She told the court that when she refused to do as the accused suggested, he signaled his dog.

"He (the dog) jumped up on me and grabbed my right leg. I'm scared of dogs. I was frightened," she cried.

LATER THE same day, the younger girl said she was returning from the Coliseum where she had been roller skating, when she met the man.

She stated she knew the defendant and that he asked her to accompany him to a nearby house. The girl said she did so because she feared the dog by the man's side.

When she rejected his advances, he took her to a back door and pointed out three police dogs in the yard, she testified.

"What do you think will happen to you if I put you out there with my dogs?" the girl claimed her assailant asked.

The younger girl told Judge Blum that she had met the accused man about 11 p.m. She stated he did not allow her to leave until 7 o'clock the following morning.

Sgt. Violet Hill Whyte testified that the defendant had five vicious dogs and that he had a reputation for being a good dog trainer.

Free legal aid for poor urged

WASHINGTON (NNPA) — A Michigan senator Tuesday urged the nation's lawyers to mobilize in the war against poverty by giving free legal advice to the poor.

Sen. Philip A. Hart told the District of Columbia Bar Association that the Supreme Court has already ruled that indigents are entitled to court-appointed lawyers in state felony cases.

"But what about civil cases?" he asked. "Where does the poor man go when he is in trouble with the credit shark or the unscrupulous landlord?

"Because the poor are often too unsophisticated to know their rights, they are the targets of many extremely vicious practices. It is not unlikely that many unjust garnishments and collections would disappear if a lawyer's voice sounded from the other side of the fence."

Afro-Asian meet slated for June

ALGIERS (UPI) — The second Afro - Asian summit meeting along the lines of the Bandung Conference will open here June 29 for four or five days, it was announced Wednesday.

Ahmed Laidi, leader of the Algerian delegation and president of the Preparatory Committee, said a meeting of foreign ministers would be held June 24-28.

He said both North and South Vietnam and North and South Korea would be invited as full members of the conference.

Algeria planned to invite the secretaries general of the United Nations, U Thant of Organization of African Unity, Di-Ilo Telli, and of the Arab League, Abdel Khalek Hassouna to take part.

U.S. damaged abroad by South

The recent show of injustice by Mississippi and Alabama has done much to lower the standing and prestige of the United States among other nations.

This was the view expressed by the Rev. Cornelius Pratt, Liberia, Africa, who addressed the Civic National Forum at the Twelfth Street YMCA Tuesday.

His topic was "Making and Keeping Friends."

The next public meeting of the Forum will be held at the YMCA next Tuesday at noon.
