THE LATE REV. TAPSCOTT'S POST

Missouri pastor coming to Gospel Tabernacle

The Rev. Edgar L. Reid of Jefferson City, Mo. has been named pastor of the Gospel Tabernacle Baptist Church 2700 Walbrook Ave.

The well-known, mid-west minister will fill the vacancy left by the late Rev. William Tapscott who died in August.

The Rev. Mr. Reid, his wife, the former Miss Christine Crues, who is a special education teacher, and their 3-year old daughter, Rita, plan to move to Baltimore this spring.

Since the Rev. Mr. Tapscott's death, visiting ministers have presided at church services on Sunday. The Rev. Mr. Reid will be here for the regular services on Sunday, Feb. 28.

THE NEW pastor comes to Baltimore from six years service at the Second Baptist Church in Jefferson City.

Active in religious, civic, educational and community affairs in the Missouri town, the Rev. Mr. Reid is assistant dean of the Central District Sunday School and BTU Congress; president of the integrated Jefferson City Ministerial Alliance; president of the Jefferson City branch and vice - president of the State Conference of the NAACP and pastor advisor to Lincoln University chapter of the Baptist Student Union.

The Rev. Mr. Reid also serves as trustee of the Western Baptist Bible College of Kansas City, Mo. and is chairman of the Jefferson city joint committee that supervises work between the National and the Southern Baptist Conventions.

The Missouri State Baptist Convention's NAACP Education Committee, of which he is chairman, has recently received widespread attention for its efforts to ban textbooks that may contribute to discrimination or racial prejudice.

Goucher seeks to aid pupils at School 181

In an effort to help students of Houston Junior High School 181 to become aware of college as a possibility as they plan for future education, students from Goucher College are conducting a program involving a series of discussions and field trips.

The program is an outgrowth of a project started when a committee of students and faculty at Goucher College was formed to find ways of encouraging more colored girls to enroll at Goucher.

The program began in January, 1965 when Terry Rogers and Allison Turner, seniors at Goucher College led a series of informal talks with 8th and 9th grade students at Houston. Questions regarding the values of higher education, costs of a college education, resources for financial aid, and admission requirements were discussed.

The talks were followed by a tour of the Goucher College campus by 44 ninth grade students on Feb. 10.

The Houstonites were warmly welcomed by the president of Goucher College, Dr. Otto Kraushaar, members of the faculty and staff and Goucher students. They had lunch in the dining rooms of the dormitories.

NAACP broadcasts mark Lincoln Day

NEW YORK — NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins and Clarence Mitchell, director of the NAACP Washington Bureau, discussed the significance of the 1964 Civil Rights Act in a special Lincoln Day broadcast aired on various radio stations throughout the country on Feb. 12.

In addition, Mr. Wilkins was interviewed by Hugh Downs on the NBC-TV network program, "Today," Friday morning, on the activities and objectives of the NAACP.

The James Motleys host at cocktailer

By Lula Jones Garrett

The James Motleys of Arundel-on-the-Bay hosted a fabulous cocktail party recently at their home on Saturday evening.

The dining table was centered with an exotic fountain which spouted pink champagne all the evening, while other varieties of cocktails were served from the bar. Colorful and tasty canapes and other hot and cold finger foods made up the cocktail menu.

Mrs. Motley (Cora), as a charming hostess, was lovely in white chiffon with an unusual necklace fashioned as a collar to set off the neckline of her attire.

During the entire evening songs ad piano music made the atmosphere a gay one with Miss Muriel Gilliam, entertainer, of New York City, the star performer. Miss Gilliam is a niece of the Motleys and is a secretary to the Science Department at New York University.

Out - of - state guests were:

Messrs. and Mesdames Joseph Cross and Joseph Mosby, brothers - in - law and sisters of Mrs. Motley, Mrs. Vivienne Imes, sister, and son, Ashley, and Mrs. Lucy Johnson, both of Portsmouth, sisters of Mrs. Motley; Messrs. and Mesdames Wray Blakemore, B.B. Foreman, Napoleon Smith, all of Portsmouth;

Also Mesdames Julia Clements, Hazel B. Lawson and Inez Briggs and son, all of Portsmouth; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gresham, Washington, D.C.; Messrs. and Mesdames William DaCosta, Howard University.

Annapolis guests were Dr. and Mrs. J. Alexander Wiseman, Messrs. and Mesdames William H. Richardson, Thomas Baden Jr., Carroll Hynson, Harry Simms, Henry Holland, Walter S. Mills, William Johnson, Robert Keller, Enod. Jones, Richard Tyler, Gaston Finney, James Webb and Houston Thompson and
