Church women set fund to get Powell back home

WASHINGTON (NNPA) — Women parishioners of Abyssinian Baptist Church in New York City really want to see Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D.-N.Y.) in the pulpit again on Sundays.

They decided last Friday to set up a "Powell Fund Committee" to help him with his financial problems.

The Harlem Democrat is in trouble with the courts. A judgment of $46,500 for defamation of character, which Mr. Powell hasn't got around to paying, was increased last week to $210,000.

* * *

MRS. LILLIAN UPSHUR, a co-leader in Harlem's 12th Assembly District, said his followers, especially women, "want him back with us in the community."

In preparing for his return, the committee should have "very little trouble" raising the $46,500, Mrs. Upshur told reporters. As for the additional $163,500 imposed on the minister by a jury last Thursday, she said, "We haven't gotten around to discuss that yet."

Mr. Powell has considered New York City "off limits" since last October, when a court order made him vulnerable to criminal and civil arrest warrants stemming from libel judgments in a case he lost to Mrs. Esther James, 66, a Harlem widow.

9th awards dinner for Comm. Chest

The ninth annual awards dinner of the Community Chest-Red Cross United Appeal will be held Tuesday night, Feb. 23, at the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel.

To be honored are employee groups from 112 Central Maryland organization representing [illegible] supporters of the successful [illegible] United Appeal.

RALEIGH, N.C. — Don Carter, managing editor of The National Observer, will be the main speaker at the Shaw University student assembly on Monday, Feb. 15, at 12:00 noon. The program will be in Greenleaf Auditorium and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Happy feet danced 'til dawn at Valentine Ball

"The Sweethearts of Glenwood Country Club," gowned in brilliantly red, glove-fitting, traditional Valentine garb, were hostesses at the Valentine Ball Saturday, where happy feet danced until dawn.

An annual "Sweethearts Day" celebration at the Howard County club, the ball also included tributes to all members born in February, music, dancing, food and fun.

Johnny Sparrow and His Bows and Arrows served up sounds of music while Libby Sparrow, the number one "Sweetheart," gave her patent touch to melodic, soulful, and bouncy tunes.

Roosevelt Nixon and Mrs. Mary (Bonnie) McCray, president and executive director respectively; presided over the celebration and were backed by members of the entertainment, program, and birthday committees.

One of the most popular dancing partners was, naturally, Mrs. William (Marcha) Valentine, who by virtue of the "what's in a name" rule laid personal claim to the gala celebration.

Guests included:

Over-60 unit in poverty project

Baltimore's Over-60 Employment Service, a group which counsels and tries to find jobs for persons over 60 has now joined the federal government's anti-poverty program in the fight against impoverishment and isolation among the City's "able" aged.

The Over-60 Service will share in a demonstration grant made to the Health and Welfare Council to be used in connection with Baltimore's Cando program.

OPEN LETTER TO 10 DELEGATE

Civil Liberties Union says 'vote no' on final roll call

The Maryland Branch of the American Civil Liberties Union has asked the 10 Baltimore City and County members of the Maryland House of Delegates who voted in favor of SJR-1 to change their votes on the final roll-call.

Calling the proposed bill that concerns reapportionment and the one - man - one - Vote theory a "Pandora's Box" full of evils, the board of the organization claims, "No one can tell what might issue from the kind of Constitutional Convention it wants!

Irving R. Murray, the chairman, also underlined the fact that the kind of Constitutional Conevention the bill asks for has never been held in the United States.

Supporters of SJR-1, he noted, working undercover, have gotten through bills like it in 16 other states and are headed toward eventually changing the United Stats Constitution.

In Maryland, he said, the bill's passage would help the Eastern Shore and the Western Maryland Counties keep the power they now use so unfairly.

Pointing out that 14.2 per cent of the people of Maryland elect a majority of the members of the Senate, the letter warned "As long as less than 1/6 of the population controls the Senate, the House of Delegates can not effectively represent the people no matter how it is reapportioned."

Urging each one to change and vote "No" on the final roll call on SJR-1, the Civil Liberties Union termed the action "a signal opportunity to represent the best interests of constituents and serve the cause of democracy."

Mayor McKeldin also called on the Baltimore Delegation to vote against the resolution as it "would move us in the opposite direction" of fair play for Baltimore citizens and those of the populous areas of the state.

Call 100 reports

Nearly 60 caseworkers have been employed by the Welfare Department since the early December announcement of CALL 100, the department's current three-month crash recruitment effort seeking 100 college graduates for public welfare jobs, according to Miss Martha Quinotte, personnel division chief.

The sizes of the monthly training classes in which all new caseworkers participate have increased between 50 percent and 100 percent over last year's figures.

"However, at this moment we still need approximately 40 caseworkers to relieve our critical shortage. Even after that promotions keep creating vacancies, so we will continue to be interested in good applicant," Miss Quinott said.

S. Balto. Notes

By WALTER W. E. HILL

Sgt. Edward Barnes, now stationed in Virginia, will be headed for Bridge Port, Calif. this week for cold weather training. It is expected that Sgt. Barnes will also receive Skiing practice during this training.

Deepest sympathy is extended to the family of the late Cedrick Page of 1418 Ward St., who died suddenly.

Deepest sympathy is also extended to Mrs. Nannie Barton in the passing of her mother.

Funeral services were held for the late Mrs. Agnes Jolley, formerly of 838 S. Sharp St., on Tuesday.

Belated birthday greetings to Miss Dorothy Savage.

We now take time out to pay tribute to the Originator of this and the Mt. Winans column, the late George Wallace E. Hill Sr. who died on Feb. 17, 1958. It was he who ran these two columns under one heading, "The South Baltimore Notes."

—Much can be said of his wonderful works in the field of civic interest, not only in his immediate neighborhood but throughout the south and southwestern districts. All of Baltimore's leading newspapers wrote of his works and achievements.

* * *

MRS. HELEN WALLACE wishes to thank each and every one for the many cards, phone calls and other forms of cheer and get-well received during her mother's illness. Mrs. Mable Patterson is now residing with her daughter. Mrs. Wallace.

Congratulations to Rev. Mr. and Mrs. George Smith on the new addition to their family.

Miss Shirley Robinson, now in University Hospital, is expected to return home in the very near future.

Falls Road AME Church observes their 6th annual Friends Day on Sunday, March 21 at 4:30 p.m. Mrs. Deloris Silva and Mrs. Phillis Ward, are chairmen. Mrs. Adaline Hall is president.

Happy birthday greetings to Miss Verna and Miss Marsha Smith, Miss Sharan Raikes, Miss Belenda Wallace, Miss Laurine Robinson, Miss Cynthia Alton and Mrs. Ella Mae Knight. Also Miss Chesamite Houston and yours truly.

Send your cards and get-well wishes to the following sick and shut-ins: Howard Patterson, Mrs. Edna Meekins, Mrs. Ardella Chiers, Mr. Deloris Anderson, Clinton Shorts, Mrs. Pack, Miss Shirley Robinson and Paul Thomas.
