Poets battle 'home court' edge of Catholicst oday

Dunbar High School basketers, riding the crest of an 18 - game win streak, run afoul of one of the most notorious spoilers of sports records this afternoon (Friday), when they journey to Towson Catholic in quest of the clincher for the Maryland Scholastic Association Division 1 title.

They tangle with a high - scoring Catholic aggregation that will boast the inevitable "home court" advantage.

• • •

THE POETS, leading the division by a full game over Towson, goes for her 13th consecutive league win and the chance to open the gap to two games.

Should they succeed, coach Bill Cain's youngsters will virtually clinch their second straight Division 1 crown.

Last year, the Poets launched a strong finish that began a string of 18 victories and, the division and MSA title, with a sweep of Mt. St. Joe in the finals.

• • •

DUNBAR, however, will have her job cut out for her. The Catholics have been racking up run - away scores over all the other opposition and have lost only to the Poets. That occurred during the first half of the season when the game was played on the Dunbar court.

In that affair, the Poet defense contained the prolific Owls for a 50 - 44 triumph, but no such limitation can be expected today.

SINCE bowing to Dunbar, Towson Catholic has turned into a virtual hardboard steamroller.

Coach Paul Baker's lads ran up 106 points against Edmondson, 95 tallies against Gibbons, 79 in thrashing Southern and 88 in a runaway win over Loyola.

Cain and his band have more than a "home court" edge to combat.

—SAM LACY

Bullets strive for clincher

The Baltimore Bullets, having emerged from a heartbreaking midseason slump with a win over Cincinnati Wednesday night, will be striving to clinch a playoff berth in the National Basketball Association this weekend.

But the task will be no simple one, what with the always tough Los Angeles Lakers and the Pesky Philadelphia 76ers invading Civic Center.

• • •

THE LAKERS, trying to fighten their grip on the lead spot in the NBA's Western Division, will make their seventh run at the Bullets in Baltimore's Civic Center tonight (Friday).

In their last Baltimore appearance two weeks ago the Lakers encountered a blistering Bullet attack that dealt the Californians a 116 - 112 set - back and squared the season's series between the teams at 3 - 3.

As usual, the chief culprits in the Lakers' onslaught at the hoop that night were Jerry West and Elgin Baylor, merely the most devasting one - two wallop in pro basketball.

• • •

ONE OF the most prolific point - getters of all time will be on view Sunday when Wilt Chamberlain spearheads the 76ers' assault against the Bullets.

The entire family can come out and enjoy this giant of the hardwood in action, with all children accompanied by a parent being admitted free of charge to the same price seat purchased by the parent or parents. The opening tap - off for Sunday's Family Day clash is set for 2 p.m.

• • •

WHILE THIS will be the seventh meeting of the current season between the 76ers and the Bullets, it will be the Baltimore squad's first look at Chamberlain in a Philadelphia uniform, and coach Buddy Jeannette's forces haven't faced the big guy since January 3, when he was still with San Francisco.

The Warriors traded back to his hometown team in Philadelphia immediately following the NBA All - Star game on January 13. The Bullets thumped the 76ers a few nights later to even up the series between the clubs at 3 - 3, but Chamberlain hadn't hooked up with his new mates.

Last-ditch stand faces Morgan 5

Coach Brutus Wilson's Morgan State College cagers are entering the last stages of a disappointing campaign tonight (Friday).

The Bears are 6 - 8 in Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association competition and games with Virginia State and Maryland State confront them tonight and tomorrow (Saturday).

While both are scheduled for the local gymnasium, it could turn up as a losing season for the Bears. Both Virginia State and Maryland have taken the margin of Morgan in earlier contests, and victories this weekend are imperative if the Bears are to level off at a .500 mark.

• • •

EVEN SHOULD they win both decisions, it is most unlikely that the Bears will make the cutoff point for the conference tournament which gets under way next Thursday at Greensboro, N.C.

Often a team with a .500 mark is considered first division under the CIAA's method of evaluating the standings. But with the 18 - team setup so closely bunched after the first two places, an even - steven record offers no tournament assurances.

• • •

NOFOLK STATE and A and T College are winging out in front of the pack. Maryland State, win or lose, will make the Greensboro rolls along with Johnson C. Smith, Winston - Salem and N. C. College, all of North Carolina.

Virginia State, like Morgan, may be counted out of the meet.

CAGE SCANDAL SUSPECTS — Two colored players and a Chicago Italian were arrested Wednesday by FBI agents in connection with an alleged gambling venture involving a game between their Seattle University team and Idaho on Jan. 22. Charlie Williams and Peller Phillips, center, were accused of shaving points in Seattle's 89-72 victory. Charged with conspiracy was Leo Casale, right, a Chicago cafe owner.

NICHOLAS KATZENBACH, U.S. attorney general, urging revision of immigration laws: "I do not know how any American could fail to be offended by a system which presumes that some people are inferior to others solely because of their birthplace."

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Willie Mays had a string of seven consecutive seasons batting .300 or better snapped in 1964 when he hit .298 for the San Francisco Giants.

GEORGE LEE leads pack into pin finals

Sweep of citywide pin titles possible

A sweep of both the men's and women's singles championship as possible at the citywide bowling championships await the final rounds Sunday afternoon at Bowl America, Dundalk.

While it is highly improbable, it is not at all impossible for colored keglers to walk off with the two titles.

George Lee is leading the field of ten survivors in the men's division, and two former winners of the event are still in the running for the women's crown. They are Rose Burnham and Mary (Jackson) Robinson.

• • •

LEE UNCORKED a big effort in the Tuesday night semi - finals to rocket from ninth place in the standings to first. His 1,050 pinfall gave the AFRO - AMERICAN circulation manager a total of 4,937.

The evenings production brought him from 104 pins behind the lead to a 38 - pin margin over second place Bill Eberwein's 4,899.

Reaching the No. 1 spot was the result of a spectacular climb by Lee. After the first round, he was 30th in the standings. He was 21st after the third round, and in 9th position after the fourth.

Another tan contestant, Ted Hill of Woodlawn, clowed his way into the finals with a sparkling 227 in his last game on Wednesday.

• • •

AMONG THE women, Mrs. Burnham is still within striking distance of the lead. She overcame a similar deficit last year to cop the title, thus is the defender as the tourney moves into its final stages.

Mrs. Robinson was winner of the first citywide bowl as Mary Jackson. She has married since she copped the top prize in 1962.

Also much alive and vying for the big prize are Fern Scotland of Walbrook, and Bern Cornell of Glen Burnie.

BIG AT BOWIE —Jockey Bob McCurdy had a big day at Bowie Wednesday. The talented young Jerseyan closed out day's program with $100.20 longshot by name of Red Kidney. Earlier, he won on Courtin Max, worth $14 to bettors, and was second in second race on Narrow Miss.

YMCA junior cagers start playing Saturday

The Druid Hill Avenue Branch YMCA has just completed plans for a Junior Basketball League. More than fifty boys registered to take part in the League, and four teams were formed from this group.

The four teams are: the Junior Dons, Junior Lakers, Junior Clippers' and Junior Warriors.

All games will be played on Saturdays at 10 a.m. The first game will be played Feb. 20. Parents and friends are invited to see the action. The participants are between the ages of 12 and 14 years.

The Junior Basketball League is under the supervision of A. Edward Franklin, physical education secretary, and John W. Crooms, a public school teacher and the League Commissioner.

• • •

FOLLOWING is the complete roster of the four teams:

• • •

JUNIOR CLIPPERS — Lloyd Caster, Alphonso Craine, Vincent McCormick, Coolridge Smith, Andrew Beard, Oscar Wingfield, Gregory Stewart, Thomas Brown and Larry Owens.

• • •

JUNIOR DONS — Herbert Bass, William James, Alexander Fox, Kirkwood Mathews, Richard Mitchell, Pepi Green, Albert Paylor, David Brown and Wendell McCaden.

• • •
