Committee named to pass on Central State prexy

CLEVELAND, Ohio —It was announced today, by John H. Bustamante, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Central State College, Wilberforce, Ohio, that a special committee had been appointed by him on the selection of a new president for Central State College, to succeed Dr. Charles H. Wesley, who is retiring at the end of the current academic year.

Bustamante announced that the committee would consist of representatives of the faculty, the alumni association and the Board of Trustees.

The committee is charged with the responsibility of reviewing the qualifications of all persons who are interested in the position, determining standards and criteria to be presented to the Board of Trustees for their consideration and will serve as a coordinating and screening body for the Board.

It was pointed out that the committee's function will be to report to the Board of its proceedings and on the respective candidates. The actual appointment power, however, resides with the nine-member Board of Trustees.

• • •

KENNETH P. TATE of Dayton, Ohio, a member of the Executive Committee of the Central State Alumni Association, was appointed as the alumni representative. Dr. E. Oscar Woolfolk, Ph.D., Dr. Carlton L. Lee, Ph. D., and Mr. Prince E. Wilson, Ph.D. members of the faculty of the Central State College, were appointed faculty representatives.

Dr. N. K. Christopher, DDS of Cleveland, Ohio, Dr. Arthur Peterson, Ph.D., Delaware, Ohio, Edward J. Cox, Esq., Attorney at Law, Columbus, Ohio, Lawrence R. Curtis, Esq., Attorney at Law Columbus, Ohio and John H. Bustamante, Attorney at Law Cleveland, Ohio, were appointed to the committee as representing the Board of Trustees.

Bustamante announced that he would serve as chairman of the special committee and Dr. E. Oscar Woolfolk will serve as vice-chairman. Attorney W. Howard Fort, of Akron, was requested to sit with the committee, inasmuch as he is chairman of the Personnel Committee of the Board of Trustees.

WHEN ASKED concerning what type of person the trustees were interested in for the position, Bustamante commented, "the Board has not set any rigid standards or stated exact qualification requirements.

"However, I believe the Board will insist on a relatively young man from 35 to 52 years of age and preferably someone with experience as a college administrator, college university teacher or otherwise qualified as an academician and administrator."

John Davis asks divorce

John Davis, 1819 Walbrook Ave., has filed a petition for a divorce from Mrs. Armentria Davis, 3607 N. Rogers Ave., in an effort to legally end a marriage which, he says actually ended nine years ago.

He and Mrs. Davis, married on Sept. 16, 1938, are parents of three children, all now adults. In April of 1956 they voluntarily separated and have not lived together since, he says.

• • •

A DIVORCE went to Mrs. Eva L. Creigler of 3406 Springdale St. from Arthur R. Creigler, last week, at the end of a lengthy suit.

The Creiglers were married on Oct. 27, 1946 and separated in 1963. At the time she asked for alimony, saying that he earned $139.50 per week, for custody of their adopted daughter, and support for the child.

THE COURT awarded her $48 per week, and her husband filed for a divorce against her, denying her charges of desertion and asserting that she constructively deserted him.

He said at the time that he had provided for his home, giving his wife a car and keeping it serviced, for her transportation to Morgan College where she is employed. He added that their child was provided not only with necessities but luxuries beyond their means such as music lessons, Y activities, private swimming pool, parties, books, bicycle and trips.

When he failed to pay the $48 per week, he was brought into Court on a contempt charge.

• • •

WITH THE HEARING, in open court, Mrs. Creigler was denied alimony, but given custody of the daughter. He was ordered to pay $25 per week support for the latter, beginning from Nov. 18, 1963 when the original order was signed. He must also pay Court Costs and $250 to his wife's attorney.

SERVICE AWARDS totaling 80 years went to the above employees of the Baltimore Field Office of the US Labor Department. Left to right, John P. Trayner of the Bureau of Standards official; Mrs. Margaret Garrett, 10 years, Bureau of Employees Compensation; William Nolan, 10 years, Bureau of Labor Standards; Mrs. Harriett M. Shaw, 20 years, Bureau of Labor Standards; Joseph S. Perzella, 8. Atlantic Region Director, chairman of the Baltimore Field Staff Committee, who made presentations; Markel Hoil, 20 years, Bureau of Employees Compensation; Frank C. Van Horn, 10 years, Bureau of Employee Compensation.

The Committee of Management of the Branch is concerned volunteers in the composed of concerned volunteers in the community who help shape policy for the programs and services of the YWCA at 361 West 12th Street, part of the Young Women's Christian Association of the City of New York.

It's a weird world ahead

Experts in the field of cybernectics (automation) participated in a two day conference this week on "Cybernation Society and colored citizens" at Morgan State College.

John E. Johnson, division vice president of RCA and keynote speaker, stated that the remaining third of this century will experience more change than in the first two thirds of the century.

Mr. Johnson, speaking on "The Computer—Challenge of Your Generation," predicted that "All information in the world's libraries can be stored in the computer—all information available now will be doubled in 10 years.

"Your child will be able to press a button on his desk and have flashed on a TV screen the titles of books and the information he may seek."

• • •

MR. JOHNSON said that coins, currency and checkbooks "will disappear from our way of life." These will be replaced by an information exchange system which all business will have access to, he said.

People will have a universal money key and a device in their own home which will keep up with bills and payments.

He stated that computers will forecast weather a season in advance. Farmers will know when floods, hurricanes, storms will come and plan in advance for good and bad crop seasons.

At the public meeting held Monday night in Murphy Auditorium Robert Theobald, Economist and author, spoke on "The Socio-Economic Effects of Cybernation." Discussants were Welcome Bender, Martin Company; Thomas Hayden, Students for a Democratic Society; and Lalit Gadhia of MSC.

At the Tuesday morning symposium on "Personal Requirements of the Cybernation Era" speakers were C. Keith Connors, of the Johns Hopkins University; Thomas Wood, president of Decisions systems, Inc., Teaneck, N. J. and Charles Wilber, the American University.

Tuesday evening, Herbert Hill, labor secretary of the NAACP; Dr. Grace Boggs Detroit; and Irving Murray American Civil Liberties Union, were the panelists on "Cybernation and the Civil Rights Movement."

Bidding on for building Elizabeth State Library

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C.—Notices have appeared advertising for bids on a new library building on the Elizabeth City State College campus. The bids will be opened in the office of the President on Tuesday March 23 at 2:30 p.m.

The library building to be erected will cost something more than $600,000; however, the present bids are approximately $400,000. This will cover approximately two-thirds of the building.

Included in this section are the major reading room, stock rooms, offices, and book preparation area. Erection will begin within a month of the bid letting, most likely before commencement.

Bids on the last section of the building will be let at a later date. This other one-third will include a small auditorium with a stage especially adapted for drama and audio - visual activity, seminar rooms, a trustees' room, listening and other audio - visual rooms. A gallery for art and other exhibits will also be included.

In making the announcement, the College President, Dr. Walter N. Ridley, stated that this is the first of four buildings for which contracts should be let within the next three or four months.

Other buildings include a dormitory for 176 women, one for 134 men, and a classroom building which will include accommodations for art, industrial arts and physical science.

The total cost of these buildings is approximately two million dollars. It is hoped that these buildings will be ready for use by September 1966.

TV industry thrives in Nigeria

IBADAN, Nigeria (NNPA) —Television has become a thriving industry in Nigeria.

Housed in a 26-story skyscraper here, the Nigerian Television Co., operated by the government transmits for four hours a day over a range of 75 miles. Other transmitters are located at Enugu and Lagos.

The usual day's viewing begins with a 90-minute educational program in the morning, followed by a serial. A film suitable for both children and adults is shown from 6:30 to 7 p.m. A longer film and a program for women follows. The final program is devoted to international news sent by air from London.

Nigerians may buy a television for about $140. There are about 10,000 sets in the country.

Academy donates Saunders' work

NEW YORK — A painting by Raymond Saunders, entitled "Winners' Circle," has been presented to the Berkshire Museum by the American Academy of Arts and Letters through Its Childe Hassam Fund.

Mr. Saunders, though still in his early thirties, already has a record of achievement in that art world—Born in Pittsburgh in 1934, he studied at the University of Pennsylvania, Carnegie Institute of Technology, and the California College of Arts and crafts.

Among his awards are a scholarship at the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts, a Cresson European Traveling Fellowship, the Schwabacher - Frey Award at the 80th San Francisco Art Annual, and a Grant in Art of the National Institute of Arts and Letters. His work has been exhibited nationally.

Miss Davis cited for loyalty, achievement

By Lula Jones Garrett

Monday Morning, in Soper Library, Morgan State College, Miss Beulah M. Davis, head librarian, went serenely about her duties as if friends, alumni and co-workers had not tried, the previous week, to envolve a special Cloud Nine for her to dwell upon.

Miss Davis, will retire at the end of the college year, after a long and illustrious career at Morgan.

There had been a "Beulah M. Davis Day" on Campus, when she had been, not only laden with praise, but plied with gifts. There had been a testimonial dinner on Sunday, when the community had gathered to do her honor, and friends and alumni had come from such distances as Illonois and Ohio, to say nothing of Delaware, New York and New Jersey to extoll her.

• • •

AT THE TESTIMONIAL there was Dr. Edward N. Wilson to tell of her love of Morgan. . . love to the extent that during a period when funds were at a low ebb, she accepted a 60 per cent cut in salary. There was Miss Alice L. Robinson, president of the Maryland Library Association, to tell of her cooperation and excellent judgment in the work of that organization. "She always stands by her principles, quietly, unassumingly, but staunchly," said Miss Robinson.

• • •

THERE WAS J. Basil Frazier, president of the General Alumni, who paid her the greatest compliment, "She always was a lady," said he, as he presented a surprise pure from the Alumni to her.

There were, of course, others, including Dr. Helen Edmonds, dean of the graduate school of North Carolina College, who took the audience on a trek down memory lane, recalling days under Miss Davis as she served as dean of women; and Dr. Carl Murphy, chairman of the Board of Trustees, who credited her with the present status of the library.

SAID DR. MURPHY:

"The trustees have had reports from President Jenkins but the words with sweetest music that came to our ears came directly from the evaluating committee of the Middle States Evaluating Committee of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

"They looked at the Department headed by Miss Davis and her associates and they said Morgan College has a good library.

"The reference collection is excellent. The periodicals are strong. The usual bibliographical qualifications are sound. The processing is sound. There is intelligent use of Morgan State College Privileges as a depository library for the Federal Government.

"The library staff is strong. They are characterized by an outstanding of and devotion to their jobs. This is highly to be commended.

"Sufficient credits are offered to students in library science to enable them to earn a Maryland School Library Certificate. Said this impartial examining committee, the excellence of this work is impressive.

"No sweeter words can be acclaimed by any college trustee than those of an evaluating committee describing the excellence of its library facilities and the devotion and dynamic growth of its staff.

"Excellence means first-class.

"Devotion means extraordinary concern for the welfare of the students of the college.

"Dynamic growth means take a little collection of a few thousand books and nurturing it until it grows into a library of 91,000 books, periodicals, recordings, and microfilms suitable to accredit an institution like Morgan State College.

"The trustees of this college salute the quiet, dignified and serene person who deserved this praise of the accrediting agency and the fine tribute we pay her tonight."

• • •

ALL OF THIS was against a background of wonderful music provided by the Morgan String Ensemble under the direction of William H. Haithcock and the magnificent voices of Warrenie Hall and Joseph Eubanks. The Rev. Howard L. Cornish and Dr. John W. Haywood gave the invocation and benediction, and other program participants were Reginald Kearney, president of the Student Government; Eugene Stanley, assistant dean; Mrs. Arlene Straughn, and Dr. Theresa K. Brown, chairman of the committee which arranged the testimonials.

Miss Brown, looking lovely in a deep red dress and a hugh orchid at her shoulder, made the shortest of the speeches. She paid special tribute of her aunt, Miss Jennie Henson of Townsend, Del. who, approaching 90 years of age, stood with more alacrity than those a third of her years. It was her aunt, said Miss Brown, who made it possible for her to even attend college.

Others of her family present were the honoree's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Davis Sr. of Townsend; Mr. and Mrs. William Davis Jr. of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Davis, nephew and niece-in-law, of Washington; Miss Beverly A. Davis and Miss Marion Davis, nieces of Rochester, N.Y.

• • •

ON APRIL 3, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Owens will celebrate the 25th anniversary of their marriage in their home, 3701 Egerton Road.

And plans were discussed for the May party when Ladies of Today met in the home of Sarah Redmond, this week. Hattie Green was co-hostess with Mrs. Redmond at a gay St. Patrick's Day affair. The May Frolic is scheduled for May 14, as in the Famous Ballroom.

• • •

THE ASBURTON FAMILY Group turned their Friday's meeting into a gay shower for future bride, Brenda Winckler.

Miss Winckler, daughter of Mrs. Grace Scott, member, will be married to Dr. Major Paul Gladden in June. She was summoned home from Cedar Crest College where she is a senior, for the affair.

Members of the Group gathered early Friday at the home of the president, Gloria Carpenter. Rebecca Davis was mistress of ceremonies and program plotter for the afternoon of suspense, surprise and fun. Of course, as with showers, the first opening was an intriguing act and such gifts to make Brenda's trousseau fabulous.

Attending were:

Joan Scott, Edith Smith, Grace Scott, Robbie Chissell, Peggy Jones, Carolyn Chissell, Ada Woodland, Rebecca Davis, Louise Owens, Senora Buckling, Shirley Hargrove, Lillian Jones, Gloria Carpenter, Edith Davidson, Ardell Jeudy; and a guest, Ellsworth Rheta.

THE SEVEN - EIGHT year - olders of Jack and Jill participated in musical moments at the Baltimore Museum of Art on Saturday morning March 6, when they were thrilled with the performance of the Planto Dolce Trio.

Sponsored by the Young Musicians Series Committee, the trio presented a program which was both informative and delightful. The young audience listened to the melodies of the recorders, the bassoon, the guitar, and the harpsichord. The musicians explained the families of the instruments and demonstrated the range and quality of the instruments in selections which included "Trio Sonata," "The Cat," "Greensleeves," and the audience joined in on "The Hole in the Ground."

Audience participation was lively, and Jack and Jillers were ready with questions to ask and with answers when the musicians requested a response. For these youngsters the world of more popular instruments stood still for an hour. But what a wonderful acquaintance with instruments which were introduced about 400 years ago! The morning was made complete with lunch served in the museum cafe.

Ruthe Sheffey and Roslyn Braxton were co-hostesses for the activity. Members attending were Michael Abrams, Carolyn Briscoe, Rodney Alston, Mitra Pitts, Minna Whittaker, Yancy Whittaker, Robin Gross, Shirley Carroll, Illona Sheffey, Bernard Christmas, Joyce Finney, Pamela Jeudy and Celonia Walden. Sharon Williams and Robin Hillen were guests.

Vashti Christmas is age-group chairman. Helen Whittaker is club president.

MURIEL ALEXIS GATES celebrated her fifth birthday with a party at her home, 2610 Copley Road, on Saturday.

The home was alive with chattering little girls and their parents who gathered to bring the honoree their best wishes. Enjoying doll toys, picture cut-outs, and cartoons were Allison Hagan, Judith and Jill Carter, Jeanie Thomas, Angela Hospedals, Monica Robbins, Angela and Leslie Miller, Nancy Brown, and Betty Pegram. Parents and friends, attending were Earl Hagan, Joy Carter, Delores Hospedalis, Reba Robbins, Thelma Miller, Ruth Brown, Doris Pegram, and Sandra Morton.

Mildred and Errol Taylor and aunts, Marian Barclift and Charlote Harper, grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus J. Holsey, aunt, Grace Gates, cousin, Anna Gates Murphy and her son, Christopher, made photograph records of the party.

Muriel's parents are Juanita H. Gates, English department head at School No. 78, and Alexander B. Bates, sixth grade teacher at School No. 74.

IONA COLLINS and Clarice Parrish were co-hostesses at an interesting session of the Northwet Child Study Club, Friday evening.

The session was in the home of Mrs. Collins on Edgewood Road, with Mrs. Beautine deCosta as speaker. Mrs. DeCosta, who spent two years in Nigeria, gave glimpses and showed artifacts of Northern Nigeria. In that country with her husband, Dr. Frank deCosta, Mrs. deCosta did considerable volunteer work with the women of Northern Nigeria, who she pointed out, are not as sophisticated as those of other parts of the country.

Vera Flint presided at the session.

Attending were Courtney Valentine, Margaret Driver, Margery Sheffey, Vyna Skinner, James Laforest, Gladys Jones, Mary Sprow, Margaret Davidson, Ellen Johns, Cleo Diggs, Elsie Scot, Anita Myers; and a guest, Mamie Williams.

Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity will have the annual Spring Formal Ball on April 30, they will dine, dance, sip and listen to Damita Jo and Her Band in the Emeralds Gardens.

Griners mark 15th wedding anniversary

When Mrs. Aletha Griner left home last week, she was under the impression that she was going to a downtown key Club for a pleasant evening with husband, Halethorpe insurance executive John H. Griner Sr.

Although she felt that they were taking the "long way around" to town, she didn't complain.

A few minutes later she learned why.

Her husband and children, in a giant conspiracy with the membership of Glenwood Country Club, in Howard County, caught her completely off guard by staging a glittering 15th wedding anniversary surprise party. Dr. Delores Hunt was master of ceremonies.

Among the extensive collection of gifts was one from her husband — a persian lamb coat with a silver mink collar. A matching mink hat was the gift from her children.

DuBois Circle hears Mrs. Jean F. Turpin

The DuBois Circle met on Tuesday at the Druid Hill Ave. home of the president, Mrs. Iner D. Key.

This is the study club organized in 1906, which has the distinction of being the oldest club group in the city.

Theme of this year's program is "New Profiles In Human Relations."

TUESDAY's speaker, Mrs. Jean F. Turpin, Morgan State College English professor, discussed 'New Wine In Old Wine Sacks.'

The speaker noted that literature records not only man's physical fight to master and control cold, heat and danger, but man's struggles with ideas.

She detailed 'Factors of civilization' which are reflected in writing. She concluded that literature is a mirror which reflects whatever is placed before it.

"If the world's behavior is mostly ugly, the mirror will reveal this fact. When the world's behavior, attitudes, motives and mental health improve, the mirror will again faithfully reflect these changes. . ."

Members present at the meeting:

Mesdames Ida Berry, Edna H. Brown, Edna O. Campbell, Elizabeth Carr, Augusta T. Chissell, Mabel L. Fraher, Gladys J. Harris, Ella Elizabeth Henderson, Hinds M. Hunter Jr., Ethel Hodges.

Also Mesdames Ethel J Hughes, Viola C Jackson, Anna K. Lee, Virginia Love, Lillian Murphy, Edythe D. Myers, Mamie E. Perdue, Beatrice B. Reeder.

GUESTS PRESENT: Mesdames Gladys Sheppard, Patricia Page, Fannie White, Vivian Cook, Odell Mayle, Elizabeth Moss, Olivia Dixon, Beulah Davis;
