Globetrotters at Civic Center Sunday afternoon

The Harlem Globtrotters, "Magicians of Basketball," will bresse into Baltimore Sunday at 3 p.m., for a performance at the Civic Center.

The Washington (D.C.) Generals will provide the opposition.

THE GLOBETROTTERS have been all - conquering in annual appearances here since the early 1940's.

They will be strongly represented Saturday by a nine man squad of better than six footers, and will feature one of the outstanding, young pro basketball players in Connie Hawkins, 22-year-old six foot, eight inch center.

Capt. Charlie "Tex" Harrison, six foot, four inch guard, has been selected on the Globetrotters' all-time, All Star first team by Owner Abe Saperstein while Meadowlark Lemon, six foot, two inch forward and center, is one of their scoring and rebounding specialists and official clown.

The Trotters will introduce alternating dribbling marvels in David Gaines and Fred Neal, speedy six feet, one inch guards.

The Sea Gulls also are well fortified with two skyscraping centers in Orbie Bowling and Frank Szarnicki, six feet, 10 inches and 6-9, respectively.

CITY CHAMPS—The Rutland Starlets, representing Rutland Elementary School and the School Rec Center, chalked up a series of wins in the district basketball competitions. On March 7 they went on to win the city-wide championship trophy by defeating the St. Agnes "A" Team, 28-26, in the Eastern High gym. The champion Starlets, age group 14 to 16 years, are coached by Mrs. Pecolia Taylor. Left to right: (front) Christine Howard and Lula Bennett; (standing) Gwendolyn Corprew, Betty May, Andrea Brown, Lenora Doles, Delores Leach and Mrs. Taylor.

Tall but not quite Vatican magazine

CHICAGO (UPI) — Ernie Terrell (6 - 6) and James Beattie (6 - 8) are among the tallest heavyweights around today but boxing's real giant of recent years was Ewart Potgieter, a Frenchman who stood 7-foot 2 and weighed 326 pounds.

Willie Reed named NBA 'Rookie of Year'

NEW YORK, — Willis Reed, second draft choice of the New York Knickerbockers, has been named Rookie of the Year in the National Basketball Association in the annual poll of writers and sportscasters covering the League games, and will receive $200 for the honor.

Reed, 6 feet, 10 inches, an 235 pounds, finished the 1964-65 season as seventh highest scored in the NBA with 1566 points for a 19.5 per game average. He was the fifth best rebounder in the Association with 1175 retrieves for a 14.7 average per game.

IN ADDITION to his rebounding and shooting skills, Reed has excellent speed for a man his size. In his final year at Grambling College, the yearling Knick maintained a 26.0 scoring average and .600 accuracy from the field.

He was instrumental in leading Grambling to one NAIA championship and three Southwestern Athletic Conferences with performances that earned him positions on the U.S. Pan American and world championship teams. Reed won All State High School honors as a football end on the eleven which won the state crown, but decided to concentrate on basketball in college.

ALTHOUGH REED won by a confortable margin with 47 votes to 27 for Lucious Jackson of Philadelphia, there was spirited competition.

Jim Barnes, New York's hustling forward from Texas Western received two votes with Joe Caldwell, Detroit; Howard Komives, New York and Ron Benham, Cincinnati, receiving one vote each.

Morgan rifle team to meet Loyola

The Morgan State College rifle team which has won 21 matches out of a total of 22 will try for a three - way split for the Maryland Regional Championship when it meets Loyola, April 2, on Loyola's range.

Already Morgan's team has won the CIAA championship by defeating Hampton, Howard University and Virginia State at Petersburg. This was their first year for CIAA competition.

High scorers on the team are Arnold Sampson, captain; John Carter and Noel Harvey.

Other team members are Walter Jones, Kenneth Clark, DeLong Harris, Earl Smith, Raymond Parks, Robert Pratt and Alvin Brooks.

Warriors, Lakers win in Y League

Allen Meacham and Carroll Johnson made 22 points between them in leading the union Warriors to a 32 - 18 victory over the Junior Dons in the Druid Hill Avenue YMCA Junior League.

Meacham scored 12 points and Johnson made 10. Teammates of Meacham and Johnson realized early in the game that they had the range on the basket and began feeding them the ball every time they were under their own goal. Last week's win was the third in a row for the Warriors.

LED BY Michael Forte for the second game in a row, the Junior Lakers won over the Junior Clippers 29 - 22. Scoring the most points by any player in the basketball league in a single game, team's cause by making 7 young Forte helped his team's cause by making 7 goals and one foul shot for a total of 15 points.

Another big factor that helped the Lakers in their win over the Clippers was the brilliant passing attack carried on by Ronald Briscoe, Percy Leftwich, Anthony Dean, Nathaniel Williams, Tyrone Parker, Nathaniel Maker, and Henry Dean.

For the Clippers, Tal Thompson had another good day for his team — making 12 of the 22 points that were scored.

Bullets' Wally Jones on NBA Rookie team

NEW YORK, — Three players, N.Y. Knickerbockers, Willis Reed and Howard Komives, and Lucious Jackson of the Philadelphia 76ers, received the maximum number of votes, eight each, in the annual National Basketball Association Coaches' poll for the NBA's All-Rookie Team.

The other rookies named to the team, this week were Jim Barnes of New York, who had six votes, and Wally Jones of Baltimore and Joe Caldwell of Detroit who tied at four votes apiece for the fifth berth on the squad.

San Francisco's McCoy McLemore, who barely missed the team, heads the runners-up with three votes. Emmett Bryant of the New York Knicks was the only other rookie to receive more than one vote with two coaches casting for him.

WALT HAZZARD of Los Angeles and Jeff Mullins of St. Louis were the other first year performers who were recognized by one vote each.

During the 1964-65 season a record total of 22 rookies performed for the nine teams in the NBA.

The nine League coaches, in voting for the yearling unit, were not permitted to cast ballots for their own players.

NBA ROOKIE TEAM — Lucious Jackson, Philadelphia (8); Jim Barnes, New York (6); Willis Reed, New York (8); Howard Komives, New York (8); Joe Caldwell, Detroit, and Wally Jones, Baltimore tie (4 each).

HONORABLE MENTION—McCoy McLemore, San Francisco (3); Emmett Bryant, New York (2); Walt Hazzard, Los Angeles (1) and Jeff Mullins, St. Louis (1).

NBA playoffs in Baltimore

Before the start of the current Western Division playoffs, which shift from St. Louis to Baltimore's Civic Center Saturday night, the Hawks and Bullets hadn't collided on the court since squared the season's series at five wins a piece.

Since that game, both teams have made extensive use of their reserves. The Hawks, of course, were forced to replace perennial all-pro forward Bob Pettit from Feb. 16 thru March 17, due to a leg injury that prompted the brilliant shooter and rebounder from LSU to announce that this year's playoffs would conclude his 11-season NBA career with better than 20,000 points and a 26-points-per-game average.

Now back in full swing, the 6-9, 215-pound Pettit entered the playoff with the Bullets with a 26.1-point average for 84 previous contests.

CIAA reelects Dr. Barnes prexy

RICHMOND. — Dr. Samuel Barnes, head of the Physical Education Department at Howard University, was reelected president of the Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association here this week. Dr. Barnes' new term is for one year.

The election climaxed the 53rd annual CIAA meeting attended by 100 representatives from 18 colleges and universities.

The conference will meet in Washington in 1966.

If you think you're seeing more and more Plymouth Furys on the road, you're right.
This is the hottest-selling Fury in history.
Here's why:

Fury for '65 is the biggest, plushest Plymouth ever... but still solidly in the low-price class.
Big on the outside, its wheelbase is a whopping 119 inches.
Big on the inside, plenty of headroom, legroom and hiproom. And new curved-glass side windows add to Fury's contemporary styling. The plush part is the beautiful interior. There's rich upholstery to compliment the exterior finish, wall-to-wall nylon carpeting and a smart, readable instrument panel. No wonder you're seeing more and more Plymouth Furys on the road.
If you want more good reasons for buying Fury, see your Plymouth Dealer. He drives one too.

"Madam, am I to understand that this young man who went through a glass window on the second floor of your home and landed on a cement pavement stands here before me today apparently uninjured"

"Yes, sir, Your honor," the mother replied.

"Your honor, can I say something," Daniels interrupted.

"I want to apologize to my mother for causing her so much trouble. I promise, your honor, if you give me probation or something I will have her windows fixed.

"Please give me a break, no one will ever have trouble out of me again."

Judge Finnerty declared that he was impressed by the health and ordered him to pay a $25 fine, and placed him on probation for 18 months providing he fix the windows.

REAL MRS. BROWN — "Will the real Mrs. Florine Brown please stand up?" might be the title of a new game. The reason for this is because the AFRO on Tuesday placed her name under the wrong person in a full page of pictures of "My Favorite Teachers." The real Mrs. Brown (pictured above) is a teacher at Franklin Square Elementary School 95 and is currently second in the contest with 130,900 votes.

nounced that he will pass along two of these nominations for confirmation by the Council on Monday.

For the post of associate director for programming, the commission selected Stanley Z. Mazer, presently the mayor's assistant for human renewal.

As associate director for administration, the commission gave the mayor a choice of three men: Dr. Richard W. Baten, director of the city youth commission; David Glenn, president of the Jail Board, and Parren J. Mitchell, executive director of the State Interracial Commission.

The mayor announced that "I have decided in this case to nominate Dr. Bateman because he was actively involved in designing the Baltimore Neighborhood Youth Corps Program, has been actively involved in Baltimore's Housing Court and has an extensive background in the field of social work."

Both associate director posts will pay salaries of $16,000.

IN SELECTING Dr. Bateman, the mayor said, "the Commission confronted me with a difficult decision, because I know and respect each of the men involved."

Reviewing the men nominated for the three top positions, Mr. McKeldin said, "I'm delighted with the caliber of all five men recommended to me for appointment to the Community Action Agency."

He added that in the clear cut recommendations "in the case of two of the posts, Iions without hesitation," accepted these recommenda-

The three men named Wednesday will be the first hired to administer the program's 25 projects. In all, there are about 400 other jobs to be filled.

When applications for the top post had numbered about 40, Rev. Robert T. Newbold, vice chairman of the program's governing board and head of the personnel committee, announced that the committee would not hesitate to recruit people who had not applied.

Dr. Humphrey's selection was a case of recruitment. He said he had not applied, but was asked for a resume of his experience.

Beer tax bill gets Senate split okay

ANNAPOLIS — Your glass or bottle of beer might cost you more in the very near future, if a bill approved by the Senate Wednesday evening is concurred in by the House.

By a 19 - 8 vote, the upper chamber okeyed S.B. 316, which would authorize Baltimore and the counties to levy an additional tax on beer. Allegany County was exempted.

"We have raised everything else since 1933," Sen. Frederick C. Malkus Jr., (D. Dorchester) argued in support of the tax. "Why support of the tax. "Wry must beer remain an untouch able?"

Maryland's beer tax at three cents a gallon is one of the lowest in the nation.

Top lobbyist for the beer industry here for years has been George Hocker, close friend and political advisor to Gov. J. Millard Tawes.

Unsuccessful beer tax bills in the past have been termed "Hocker's rocker."

Md. primary changed from May to Sept.

ANNAPOLIS — "This bill abolishes the presidential primary in the state.

"Wallace won't be able to come to Maryland and run again, and that ought to make a lot of people happy."

Sen. Frederick C. Malkus Jr., (D. Dorchester) had these comments Wednesday night, in asking for a Senate suspension of rules to obtain passage of a bill changing the Maryland primary from May to September.

The H.B. 643, already approved by the House, had been brought to the floor with an okey by Sen. Malkus' Judicial Proceedings Committee.

There was no debate. It passed by a routine voice vote.

When signed by Gov. J. Millard Tawes, the new law will set Maryland's primary date on the second Tuesday after the first Monday in September. This will apply to all state-wide elections.

"Approval was given and beyond this the grant of federal funds has been approved and Baltimore has a firm contract for the funds.

"The only approval needed now is that of our own Board of Estimates."

THE MAIN theme of Mr. Yette's talk to the newsmen and their guests at the Kleeco Club was that poor people must be informed and made to believe in the poverty program or it cannot succeed.

"The ball," he told the newsmen, "is now in your court."

It was pointed out that although non-whites make up but 22 percent of the 35 million poverty stricken in the country, fully one half of colored persons fall into that category.

Mr. Yette said emphasis on including poor people at all levels of the program is to help inspire them by involving them, by encouraging them to offer suggestions on how they can best be helped.

"Federal funds simply will not be expended where they are not involved," he emphasized.

Key aims of the poverty program are to prevent adults from being put in a soil bank and left to rot and deteriorate; and to immunize the young from poverty by breaking into the vicious family after family cycle of poor.

ROBERT W. MATTHEWS II, new supervisor at WBAL TV, was installed as president of the Baltimore Press Club.

Other officers installed by fellow member Wiley Daniels, program director of WEBB, were:

George W. Collins, AFRO city editor, vice president; Gary Reynolds, public relatary; Ernest E. Boston Jr., news director for WEBB, treasurer, and Moses J. Newson, assistant managing editor, AFRO, as at-large member of the executive board.

THE REV. Sidney Daniels, pastor of the Emmanuel Church, gave the invocation.

Other guests included: George L. Russell Jr., attorney; U. S. Deputy Marshal William (Box) Harris, Ray Boone of the Washington AFRO; Troy Brailey, labor leader; Frank Robinson, oil company representative; William Rhodes, teacher; Lloyd Taylor, CORE; William Henry of the tutorial program; George Corwin, WSID; Ernest Pagie, contractor, and I. Henry Phillips, AFRO photographer.

We underestimated the power of Soft Whiskey.

That's putting it mildly.
It seems like only yesterday we had all but given up hope of ever developing a Soft Whiskey. We scored zero in over 22,000 experiments. Granted, when we finally hit it we knew we had a good thing. (Distillers have dreamt of a Soft Whiskey for years.)
But if anyone had told us, 2 years ago, that we'd be selling in such fantastic volume, we'd have laughed.
Who could have believed people would actually bring our ads into their liquor stores to make certain they got "this Soft Whiskey stuff."
Don't you underestimate the power of Soft Whiskey either. It's 86 proof. And does anything any 86 proof does. It just does it softer.
Calvert Extra goes down easy. It sort of swallows softly but carries a big stick.
While we're at it, one way we soften Soft Whiskey is by doing some distilling in small batches as opposed to large. The second and third way we'll leave unmentioned. The other distillers will have to find a Soft Whiskey without our help.
If they find it, more power to them.
