Crawford Colvin

Crawford Colvin, 65, 2400 Overland Ave., Morgan Park, a real estate broker for 19 years with offices at 1214 Edmondson Ave., dropped dead in his office Tuesday.

He had been suffering with a heart ailment for three months.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 1 p.m. at Metropolitan Methodist Church where he was chairman of the trustee board. The Rev. Frank L. Williams will officiate.

Burial will be in Arbutus Memorial Park.

MR. COLVIN attended the elementary schools of Wilmington, N. C., where he was born, and the high schools of Boston.

A relative noted Mr. Colvin was a kind and generous person, who was proud of his business and whatever he did, he did with determination.

Son of the late James Colvin and Emma Colvin Murphy, Mr. Colvin is survived by his wife, Mrs. Eleanor Colvin, a Houston Junior High School counselor, whom he married June 28, 1946.

A sister, Mrs. Annie Corbett, of Wilmington; and four brothers, Frank Colvin, of Baltimore; Freddie, Tate and Alexander Colvin, of Wilmington, also survive.

Earl Campbell

Earl Campbell, 28, 3316 Clifton Ave., longtime postal employee died Thursday at University Hospital, after a short illness.

Mr. Campbell was a member of Sharp Street Memorial Episcopal Church.

A native of Baltimore, he was the son of William and Susie Campbell.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Elaine Campbell, a social security employee; a sister, Mrs. Minerva Kinard of Baltimore, and a brother, Wardell Campbell, of Louisville.

"without the notice of interested citizens."

PAUL J. COCKRELL, a lawyer who has represented several community clubs and organizations protesting the issuance of liquor licenses on the City's Eastside, told the AFRO Wednesday:

"I apreciate the reason why the sponsors of this bil are anxious to have it enacted. It seems that as the law now stands a lot of liquor establishments are operating illegally.

"However, this bill does more than bring such establishments into the framework of the law..

"House Bill No. 740 also makes it easier for a holder of a six-day liquor license to upgrade it to a seven-day license."

IN ANOTHER telegram to the Governor, members of the Board of Governors of the Associated Civic Democratic Council, Inc., also urged the veto of the bill.

"We feel that the creation of this additional class of licenses is not in the best interest of the public," the telegram read.

Dr. Homer E. Favor, Morgan State College professor and director of Morgan's Urban Studies Institute told the AFRO:

"As the bil is written it establishes a new category of liquor licenses for seven-day, extra-hour operation which does not entail the capital investment heretofore necessary.

"The likely effect would be that seven-day licenses would be easier to acquire and in areas where there is little organized sophistication concerning such matters, seven-day operations will be proliferated.

"Such areas are more likely to be found in the target area of Baltimore's Human Renewal program and the area of concern of its community renewal program."

JOSEPH VAN COLLOM JR., executive secretary of the Liquor Board declared. "It is not the purpose of this bill to create additional Sunday outlets for alcoholic beverages in Baltimore City.

"The purpose of the bill is to bring into compliance the law which has heretofore been almost impossible to enforce."

Mr. Van Collom pointed out that as the law now stands, establishments allowed to remain open until 2 a.m., and on Sundays are supposed to either furnish live entertainment or serve hot food.

The six-day licenses are only allowed to remain open until 1 a.m., and are not required to serve food or furnish live entertainment.

Other organizations urging Gov. Tawes to veto the bill include:

The Interdenominational Ministers Alliance, the Urban League, Baltimore Neighborhoods, Inc., the Congress of Racial Equality, AFL-CIO, the Prince Hall Masons, the Baptist Ministers Conference and the Negro American Labor Council.

came the appointment of Dr. John M. Hamilton, another Howard graduate, as acting superintendent of the Clifton T. Perkins State Hospital.

Dr. Hamilton has been clinical director at Perkins since 1961 and has been with the Mental Hygiene department since 1954.

It is expected that the names of both men will be submitted to the regular meeting of the board later this month for approval of each to assume the full superintendency of his institution and removal from the "acting" status.

—CORE sets goal

the 247,000 federal government employees in the Washington area; and 18 percent among the 266,000 employees of Philadelphia Civil Service Region (Federal.)

JOHN BURLEIGH, chairman of CORE's Employment Committee, stated that "in contrast with city and federal agencies, banks have never really welcomed colored and have only opened their doors but a crack in the last few years.

"Despite an apparently favorable climate and the large number of qualified colored persons available in Baltimore, in the five years since the banks began to hire colored for nonmenial jobs, no more than a taken start has been made," he said.

The deadline set for the voluntary increase in colored employment coincides with the July effective date of the federal employment laws under the new Civil Rights Bill. The banks are already covered by the city law, CORE said.

"Unless there is substantial increase in the number of colored employed by the commercial banks by June 30, 1965," Burleigh said, "we will have to conclude that the banks are not willing to put their own houses in order."
