HE WALKS WITH DEATH

By FRANK HUNT
Afro Staff Correspondent

SELMA, Ala. — A 20-year-old barber, who returned from Brooklyn, N.Y. to his native Selma, Ala. in order to "help out" in the voters rights drive, walks in fear of his life.

Leroy Moten, the slender youth who came a hairs-breadth from death when a barrage of bullets from a passing car took the life of Mrs. Viola Liuzzo, said he is under the protection of FBI agents.

Released under $1000 bond Monday (March 27) from Lowndes County jail, where he had been held under "protective custody" as a material witness, he stood in front of Browns Chapel here and discussed his dilemma. Across the street two men in dark suits sat in the front seat of a blue sedan observing the proceedings. He said they would take him to another state for safety.

* * *

MOTEN IS THE ONLY witness in the slaying of Mrs. Liuzzo Detroit mother who shuttled local people from Montgomery to Selma following a 50-mile march to the state capitol. Four Ku Klux Klansmen have been charged by the federal government with a civil rights violation, and face murder charges from the state of Alabama.

His lean 6 foot, 3 inches frame, usually around 138 pounds, bent with weariness. Moten said he had lost 10 pounds since the harrowing experience.

"I'll tell you — no stuff — I'm scared. I'm not so much scared of dying — but this walking around with somebody always with you makes you wonder just how bad they want me dead," he said.

* * *

"AND THESE PEOPLE that's guarding me are from Alabama — they should know whether somebody wody try to kill me — and they think so," he added.

Alabama State Attorney General Richmond M. Flowers has vowed that the four men, arrested by FBI agents within 14 hours after the shooting, will be charged with first degree murder. They will get the maximum penalty "if we can get the evidence," he said.

If the men, all from the Birmingham area, are convicted, it will be the first time such conviction in ten such rights slayings in Alabama.

A GRAND JURY is scheduled to meet April 15 in Alabama's second Judicial Circuit to consider the evidence. Flowers said the grand jury will be postponed if the state feels further investigation is necessary to tighten its case.

Moton, who left Selma eight years ago to live with an aunt in Brooklyn, N.Y., had returned six months ago to visit, said he had decided to stick around when he saw the voters registration activity.

"I expected trouble — I knew there would be some violence and somebody might get hurt — but I never expected anything like this," he said.

* * *

HE HAD WORKED part-time with Strong's Barber Shop on Washington St., and had served as a driver in the Selma Movement's car pool during the current boycott against the bus company. Mrs. Liuzzo had allowed her car to be used in the pool.

He had driven many times the Highway 80 between Selma and Montgomery—sometimes alone and sometimes with integrated groups of freedom fighters.

Recalling the dark night when a barrage of bullets splattered glass over his face and took the life of the Detroit rights worker he said she had already transported one group from Montgomery where more than 30,000 persons had invaded the heart of Dixie to demonstrate Mere on Galleyq 7 - 27 in front of the state capitol building.

They had heard Dr. Martin Luther King and the nation's top civil rigrts leaders denounce Governor Wallace and Alabama.

"We saw the car pull up behind us — a blue Ford, 1954 or 1955 and it kept up with us for a couple of miles —we were doing about 30," he stated, his eyes withdrawn in recollection.

* * *

"I MENTIONED it to Mrs. Liuzzo and she said maybe they were some of our people.

"Then the car pulled beside us — glass splattered and something whizzed past my head — she just slumped down.

"I grabbed the wheel — I never heard the gun — the car went off the road and into the fence.

He said he had been unable to rouse Mrs. Liuzzo and had then got out of the car and tried to stop passing cars. One vehicle, a small sports car almost ran him down, he said.

He had then got back in the car and had to make sure that Mrs. Liuzzo was dead, when he noticed another vehicle approaching which had lights like the one from which the shots had come. He had to lay down on the seat and pretended to be dead, he said.

"I WAS ALMOST out anyway — all I remember is someone shining a light in the window and then a car pulling off.

Moton said he had then hitch-hiked and ran toward Montgomery — a distance of 23 miles. He had been picked up by a truckload of returning marchers and had reported the incident to police in Selma.

2 bankers face trial in Texas

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI) — Two California real estate operators will go on trial at Waco, Tex., on charges they milked the First National Bank of Marlin, Tex., of almost $150,000 and drove it to failure in a series of mortgage deals, a federal prosecutor said.

Bernard S. Garrett, 42, of Los Angeles and Joseph B. Morris, 46, of Oakland, were indicted by a federal grand jury in El Paso late in the first criminal action to grow out of a Senate investigation into a rash of bank failures. They were accused of fraud and conspiracy.

Matthew Steiner of Salinas, Calif., their alleged front man, was named a co-conspirator, but was not indicted.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Harry Lee Hudspeth of San Antonio, Tex., said Morris and Garrett have been ordered to post $10,000 bond apiece.

* * *

GARRETT WAS understood to be in Los Angeles and Morris was at his home in Oakland, Hudspeth said.

Steiner, who was board chairman of the bank, testified before the grand jury in El Paso then returned home.

Hudspeth charged the two financiers induced the First National Bank in Marlin to pay for mortgages they had purchased at a discount between July and October, 1963.

* * *

The government charged they used a dummy company, Valley National Mortgage Co., and received checks payable to themselves that were drawn on the firm's account at a Houston bank.

Baptists back X family fund

CHICAGO (NPI) — The Baptist Ministers Conference of Chicago and Vicinity, headed by the Rev. Clay Evans, has thrown its support behind the efforts of a Chicago committee to form an "educational fund" for the children of Malcolm X (Shabazz) X the assassinated ex-Muslim and Black Nationalist leader.

The committee sponsored a memorial service in honor of Malcolm X at the Tabernacle Baptist Church last Sunday, where actor-playwright Ossie Davis delivered the main address.

Many overpayments in early income tax returns, IRS says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If you filed an early Federal Income Tax return, could be in for a pleasant surprise.

A survey of early tax returns in the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) said last week, showed that about one out of every 11 returns contained mathematical errors and in two-thirds of the cases, there was an overpayment.

Powell seeks break in cycle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Adam Clayton Powell, D.-N.Y., of the House Education and Labor Committee will open hearings Monday on extension of the "War on Poverty."

Powell has scheduled opening testimony from Sargent Shriver, director of the anti - poverty program, and set five other hearings ending April 23. Four groups of Powell's committee members have been looking into the program in various parts of the country in recent weeks.

* * *

"THOSE FEATURES of the bill which have resulted in demonstrable success to date shall, of course, be retained," Powell said yesterday in his announcement. "But there are some parts of the bill which definitely need to be rewritten."

President Johnson is asking for continuation of the program, which expires July 1, with authority to spend up to $1.5 billion a year.

Worker's car window blackjacked

BOGALUSA, La. (UPI) — A white civil rights worker said Wednesday a white man swung a blackjack at him four times as he sat in his car. He said the car window protected him.

William Yates of (CORE) said the white man sped off in a dark green pickup truck with two other men. Another truck with three men in it took pictures of the incident, he said.

He said the attacker was the same man who beat him last winter.

POLICE CHIEF L. C. Terrell said he examined the car and found no breaks or cracks in the glass.

"The only indication that anything touched the glass was a smudge of dust on the window," Terrell said.

He said police were trying to find the two trucks. There were no other witnesses, according to police.

* * *

YATES, A 36 - year - old former English instructor at Cornell University, in Ithaca, N.Y., said he was walking to his car from a colored residence. He said he got in, saw the man coming and rolled up the window.

Yates and Steve Miller, another white CORE worker, said last February that they were attacked and beaten by whites in Bogalusa.

Yates said he suffered head injuries and a broken hand. The man who attacked him today, he said, broke his hand in the February attack.

Bogalusa is a papermill town of 25,000 persons in southeastern Louisiana on the Mississipi border.
