to lead a massive march through the city tomorrow to protest racial inequality, was heavily guarded from the moment he stepped off his place at Logan Airport.

Police said they had received several telephoned threats on his life.

BEFORE HE addressed the legislature, Dr. King walked through the predominantly colored Roxbury section, talking with slum-dwellers and inspecting poverty-blighted housing.

He also stopped at two Roxbury schools. Both were close for the Easter recess and he did not go inside. An aide to King flatly denied a report that a school house door was slammed in his face.

The only untoward incident occurred when police received a report that a man with a rifle was seen on the roof of a building across the street from the local NAACP headquarters while King was holding a news conference there.

Squad cars rushed to the scene but the gunman, if he actually was there, had disappeared.

IN HIS SPEECH to the legislature, King discussed the progress that has been made in recent years in race relations and the problems that still are unsolved.

He warned that "if America and Democracy are to live, segregation must die."

King attacked two "myths" which he said must be erased if the colored citizen is to attain equality; that the racial problem can only be resolved by time and that the problem cannot be resolved through legislative chanels.

"Time is neutral," he said. "It can be used either constructively or destructively. the time is always right to do right."

Turning to the second "myth," King said morality "cannot be legislated but it can be regulated . . law may not change the hearts of men but it does change their habits."

In an earlier speech to 300 clergymen at an ecumenical convocation, King called on the clergy to come out from behind their "stained glass windows" to take a stand on segregation.

He said the clergy too often has been a "taillight when it should have been a headlight."

Some 50,000 are expected to attend a rally today on the Boston Commons, and about 25,000 are expected to take part in the march through the city to the Commons, according to local rights leaders.

Clown found beaten to death

NEW YORK, (UPI) — Paul Jung, 65, a leading clown with Ringling Bros. Circus for 31 years, was found beaten to death Wednesday in his hotel room near Madison Square Garen, police reported.

Jung's body, clad in pajamas and undershirt, was found in his blood spattered room at the Hotel Forrest after Ringling officials called the hotel to find out why he had not shown up for work.

BISHOP P. A. TAYLOR JR.

Pittsburgh chose Bishop Taylor to assume the presidency for the 1965-66 term.

The Methodist Council of Bishops is made up of the 46 active bishops in the United States, 19 active bishops overseas, and 30 retired bishops.

THE 58-YEAR-OLD Bishop Taylor also has the distinction of being the first of his race to administer an episcopal area made up predominantly of white members.

He was assigned last June to a four-year term as head of the work of the Methodist Church's 204,000 - member New Jersey Area. Another colored leader, Bishop James S. Thomas, was assigned last July as head of the state of Iowa, where most of the constituents are white.

A NATIVE of Hennessey, Oklahoma, Bishop Taylor was elected a bishop in 1956 and assigned to the Monrovia (Liberia) Area from 1956 to 1963.

He received high awards from the Liberian government, and last year was the recipient of the St. George's Award, given by Old St. George's Methodist Church in Philadelphia.

The Governor of New Jersey named him to the State Youth Commission and to the Citizens Council of Economic Opportunity.

HE WAS an educator, editor before his elevation to the episcopacy. From 1948 to 1956 he was editor of the Central Christian Advocate, with editorial offices in New Orleans.

Prior to that he had served on the faculty of Gamro, N.C.

His pastorates included churches at Kernersville, Greensboro and Thomasville, all in North Carolina, and churches in New York City.

He was graduated from Samuel Huston College (now Huston - Tillotson College) Austin, Texas, and Gammon Theological Seminary. He earned the M.A. degree from Columbia University and Doctor of Education degree from New York University. Several colleges have bestowed honorary doctorates upon him.

at the brewery's headquarters in Newark, New Jersey.

IN ANNOUNCING the appointment, President Farrell stated, "We are pleased to welcome Mr. Hatcher to Ballantine. His broad experience in business and government and his consequent understanding of the expanding American market will make a vital contribution to our overall marketing plans."

Founded in 1840, P. Ballantine and Sons, one of the nation's leading brewers, is celebrating its 125th anniversary this year.

A nationally known personality, Mr. Hatcher achieved widespread prominence when he was appointed Associate Press Secretary to President John F. Kennedy two days after the President's election in 1960. He retained this position with President Johnson until 1964.

MR. HATCHER had been active in national and California governmental affairs until 1960 when he accepted the invitation of President-elect John F. Kennedy to join his White House staff.

Prior to that he served as Assistant Labor Commissioner of the State of California and was a member of the staff of Federal Judge Oliver J. Carter in San Francisco, California.

A one time newspaper man, he was editor of the Sun Reporter, a San Francisco weekly, 1947 - 50. He is a member of the National Press Club, Washington; the American Academy of Political and Social Sciences; and the Public Relations Committee of the National YMCA.

Born in Princeton, N.J., 42 years ago, he attended the local public schools and Springfield (Mass.) College. He served three years in the Army during World War II.

He is married to the former Ruth Avery of Middletown, N.J. They have eight children ranging in age from 1 to 11 years.

Bishops set precedent and open joint offices

WASHINGTON (NNPA)—Three bishops of predominantly colored denominations established a precedent here recently when they opened joint offices in the Methodist Building.

The three clergymen were Bishop George W. Baber, Second Episcopal District, AME Church; Raymond L. Jones, Second Episcopal District, AME Zion Church; and Henry C. Bunton, Second Episcopal District, CME Church.

Bishop Bunton said "the movement toward unification in the Christian world is the religious counterpart of the revolution that is taking place in the secular world. It is up to us to give guidance to the ecumenical movement."

Jewelry worth $28,375 taken in Clay St. case

The Samuel Kirk and Sons jewelry store manager reported to Central District police that $28,375 in jewelry was stolen from a display case in his store in the 200 block W. Clay St. Tuesday.

Kensey W. Davis, the manager, said that the jewelry was taken from the locked jewelry case between 9 a.m and 5 p.m.

He said that a saleslady placed the jewelry in the case when the store opened and did not notice they were missing until closing time.

Employees in the store and Mr. Davis said that they had observed no suspicious person in the store during the day.

The case was always locked when the jewelry was inside.

Police said the theft probably was accomplished by lifting a top glass piece of the case.

Taken in the robbery were: A platinum broach with ten large, hair-shaped diamonds in a spray design with a ribbon of barguette diamonds above and below the spray. It had three stems of bragguette diamonds protruding from ribbons where ribbons cross.

The diamonds were 12.5 carat and the broach was valued at $9,200.

A broach with approximately 30 diamonds marguiese cut set in a crown shape over a ribbon of bragguette cut diamonds. Diamonds were 18 carats. Value of the broach is $7,750.

A strait line yellow gold bracelet, with 67 diamonds 2.72 carats, valued at $1,850

Strait line platinum bracelet, 24 sapphires and 24 diamonds, valued at $1,725.

Platinum bracelet floral design, 22 sapphires, 20 diamonds, valued at $3,100.

Diamond broach, 8.5 carats, set in platinum, valued at and 26 brilliant cut diamonds $4,750.

Policeman attacked by prisoner being released on bail

Attorney District turnkey was attacked Thursday by a prisoner he was preparing to release after baill had been posted, according to police.

Charged with the assault is John Duley, 31, of the 1200 block E. Baltimore St.

Patrolman Harry J. Irwin, the turnkey, reported that as he led the accused man to the door to be released the prisoner turned and knocked him to the floor for no apparent reason.

Mr. Duley was returned to his cell.

School burglars busy on holidays

When school officials reopened Patrick Henry Elementary School No. 37, Biddle St. and Patterson Park Ave., Tuesday after Easter vacation, they discovered that thieves had used the vacation time to make quite a haul.

The loss of school equipment, placed at about $1,000 by Principal Walter Gantt, included seven record players, a television set, a tape recorder, several typewriters, movie projector and other items such as pens and staplers.

A lock on a fire escape and a window had been broken to gain entrance.
