Johnson signs Viet Nam bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson last week signed the special $700 million appropriation to fight the war in Viet Nam and warned that U.S. willingness to talk peace should not be regarded as a symbol of cowardness.

"Until the aggressors have indicated their willingness to talk, we intend to press on," Johnson said as he signed the measure providing funds for new landing fields, planes, helicopters and expanded operations in Viet Nam.

"Our patience and determination are unending."

More lunches for school pupils

WASHINGTON — Sen. Philip A. Hart, (D., Mich.), said at least 1.5 million youngsters, mostly in big cities, are not able to get lunches.

Either they can not afford even a nominal cost or they attend old schools without food handling facilities.

Hart wants more money and school kitchens operated under the War On Poverty program.

Dead boxer, Sonny Banks took up ring by accident

PHILADELPHIA, (UPI) — Heavyweight boxer Lucian (Sonny) Banks, who was attracted to the ring by accident six years ago, died early Thursday from brain injuries received when he was knocked out Monday night.

The 24 - year - old, 207 - pound Detroit boxer lost his fight for life in Presbyterian Hospital where he had been taken unconscious following a ninth round knockout by Leonthis Martin of Philadelphia in a 10 - round heavyweight feature at the arena. He never regained consciousness at the hospital.

• • •

BANKS underwent emergency brain surgery after being rushed to the hospital but doctors at that time held little hope for his recovery.

Death came at 4:35 a.m. some 54 hours after he was counted out with one second remaining in the ninth round of the fight he appeared to have had won.

It was the fifth ring fatality this year.

• • •

DR. ROBERT S. ANDRE, the neurosurgeion who performed the emergency operation, said Banks suffered brain stem damage and a sub - dural hematoma, or blood clot, after a smashing right to the head by Martin.

Near Banks' side when he died were his younger brother, James, with whom the victim lived in Detroit, and his manager, Ted Ewald, an automobile dealer from Grosse Point, Mich. They had been summoned to the hospital when Banks' condition worsened. Banks was single.

• • •

MARTIN, who was in tears when he visited the bedside of his motionless former opponent on Tuesday, went into seclusion after learning of the death.

A statement issued by Martin's manager, William (Pinny) Schaefer, quoted the fighter as saying "there isn't any word that we can say. I think it's terrible. We're all upset. What are we going to do just to pass our condolences onto the family?"

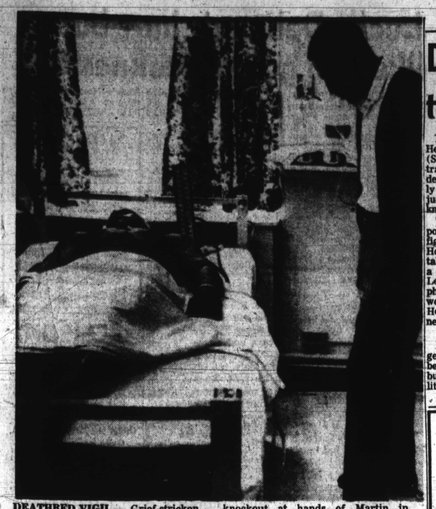
Martin's wife, Edna, said she hoped he would quit boxing.

• • •

FRANK WILDMAN JR., chairman of the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission, termed the death a "tragic but unavoidable accident."

"Boxing has suffered a terrible blow in the loss of this fine young man but it doesn't deserve to be held in total disrepute for this reason." he said.

Wildman said both fighters were in "excellent physical condition" before the fight and "there was nothing detectable in them to indicate that their lives or well being were in any danger."



DEATHBED VIGIL — Grief-stricken Leotis Martin stands silently by bedside of unconscious opponent, Lucian (Sonny) Banks, in Presbyterian Hospital. Banks died Wednesday night, victim of injuries suffered during knockout at hands of Martin in heavyweight fight at the Philadelphia Arena Monday. Surgeons performed operations within hours after the kayo in an effort to save the life of the Detroit youngster, but to no avail.
