FREAKNESS PREFERENCE — Lucky Debonair, winner of the Kentucky Derby two weeks ago, gets tendinly-applied sponge from groom, Dave Wesson Jr., who has been with the 3-year-old star since weaning days. Lucky has been installed as favorite to win the second jewel or racing's Triple Crown, tomorrow (Saturday) in the Preakness at Pimlico.

Lucky Debonair hurt but likely to go in Preakness

PIMLICO — (UPI) Lucky Debonair turned up with a swollen ankle Thursday, casting doubt on whether the Kentucky Derby winner will start Saturday in the 50th running of the $150,000 added Preakness Stakes.

The tough bay colt owned by Mr. and Mrs. Dan Rice of Chicago, was among the nine horses entered for the second of the Triple Crown classics but unless the swelling goes down he will not start in the Preakness.

"It's too valuable a horse to hurt for one race," said a crestfallen Frank Catrone, his trainer.

• • •

LUCKY DEBONAIR often cuts himself on the right rear leg when training or running and "apparently a little sand or something got worked in there" Catrone revealed. He immediately called Rice in Chicago when the injury was noted, and given permission to enter the colt at a cost of $1,000.

"The injury isn't serious but it comes at a bad time," Catrone said. "Any trouble at all this close to a race is something to worry about. We now have until 45 minutes before post time Saturday and chances are it will cook up and chances are the ankle will go down Friday morning."

THERE WERE no surprises when the entry box closed.

Ogden Phipps' Dapper Dan Raymond Guest's Tom Rolfe, Isidor Bieber's Flag Raiser, Albert Warner's Native Charger, Mrs. Ben Cohen's Hail to All, Lawrence Kahn's Solari, Earl Allen's Swift Ruler, and Abraham Savin's Needless Count also were named for the mile and three - sixteenths race.

Preakness matches

PIMLICO —Three times in the 90 runnings of the Preakness the contest has been a match race. In each of the years 1885, 1894 and 1898, only two starters ran in the race. Winners, in order were Jacobus, Knight of Ellerslie and Buddhist.

Thomas victor over Elder in sudden death playoff

Dick Thomas of Baltimore came from off the pace in the last nine holes to tie Lee Elder of Nashville, Tenn., at 139 and won on the first extra hole in a sudden death playoff in the Capital City Open at Langston Golf Course Sunday.

Both players teed off in the fast fading twilight and hit the number one par five hole in two shots, but Elder threw putted as Thomas sank his in two.

Both of them led the field with a 68 on the first 18 holes for a new record in the Pro Division of the Open.

Mrs. Francis Mays of the Wake-Robin golf club of this city is the new Womens champion, defeating a fellow club-member and the defending champion, Mrs. Elizabeth McNeale by three strokes for the title.

Frank C. Long of Baltimore, Md., is the new Amateur Champion with a total score of 149 while A. Green was second. R. Dawkins of this city defeated Chip Hey! of near-by Virginia for third place in the Championship flight.

Leroy H. Thomas won the 50 to 54 age group in the Senior Division with a total 152 Alex. Jackson of Hampton, Va., won the 55 and over with a total score of 157.

(Insert 5½ pt here)

This Tournament is an annual affair staged each year by the Oxon Blade Golf Club of Washington, D.C. This year all profits from this tournament are to be turned over to Children's Hospital.

Tim Thomas was tournament director.
