SONNY LISTON

Sparmates foresee Liston win

DEDHAM, Mass. (UPI) — Sonny Liston's three sparring partners agree Cassius Clay is in for some trouble May 25, when he and Liston meet at Lewiston, Maine, for the heavyweight championship.

Amos (Big Train) Lincoln a 6 - 4, 210 - pounder from Los Angeles and the top stablehand says simply, "there's nobody in the world like Sonny now. You just can't hurt him."

• • •

AFTER A recent workout, Lincoln paused to remark, "I hit him with a left hook today that had two - ten (210 pounds) behind it. Sonny just shook it off. Two - ten and he just shook it off." He shook his head in near disbelief.

Willie Richardson of San Jose, Calif., echoes the opinion there is nothing like fighting Liston. "I usually have my way with the big guys, but I don't with Liston.

"He's smarter this fight. It'll be a different fight. He's ready for Clay and that's going to be Clay's downfall."

THE THIRD mate, Wendell Newton of Nassau, Bahamas, feels Liston will fool Clay because he looks slow.

"Sonny looks sluggish, but when you get in there with him, you know he's not," Newton said. "He's sharp, real sharp. He can move and there's nobody who can punch with him."

Russell would bomb China

ATLANTA, (UPI) — Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, says he favors using nuclear weapons of any size necessary against Communist China to avoid an outright U.S. defeat in Viet Nam.

Russell, 67, recently recovered from a long illness, also announced he would be a candidate for his seventh term in the Senate but said he would not campaign for 14 months.

'Can whip both Liston and Clay,' asserts Floyd

NEW YORK "I can beat Sonny Liston and Cassius Clay." Decaeses former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson in an article in the current issue of Saga magazine.

"I am a faster boxer than Clay; I think quicker and I have more experience," ring must out - weigh his youth.

"Against Liston," Floyd

FLOYD PATTERSON

continues, "I would box and stay away through the early rounds and then move in when Sonny tires."

• • •

HOWEVER, FOR Patterson to get another crack at the heavyweight title, Clay, who captured the championship from Liston in a controversial bout in February of 1964, must win again. If Sonny regains the title, there likely will be a third bout between Liston and Clay.

"I don't believe anybody would pay right now to see me fight Sonny again after he knocked me out twice in one round," reasons Floyd, "but if I beat Clay, it would be a different story."

PATTERSON HAS grown in stature since his twin defeats at the hands of Liston by stopping rugged Santo Amonti and Charley Powell, and ranking contenders Eddie Machen and George Chuvalo along his comeback trail.

"I fear no man in the ring and I want to come all the way back," concludes Patterson in the article.

No checks if taxicabs used

DETROIT, (UPI) — The City Welfare Department Thursday threatened to cut off welfare checks to some of its clients who arrive at the city offices to pick them up in taxicabs.

City Welfare Supt. Daniel J. Ryan Wednesday revealed that a routine check on the number of persons who arrive at the welfare office each day showed about 15 persons were using taxicabs as their transportation.

Police shoot retarded boy

NEWARK, N.J. — Two policemen mistook a hulking, 14-year-old retarded boy for a holdup man Thursday and seriously wounded him with four gunshots when the youth pulled a toy pistol from his belt outside a food market here.

The youngster, Michael Redondo, was admitted to Newark City Hospital where he underwent surgery. His condition was listed as serious.

Poet Clay jabs at foe in verse

CHICOPEE, Mass. (UPI) Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay predicted in poem last week that he would knock out Sonny Liston in their title bout May 25, at Lewiston, Maine.

Clay dashed off his latest literary effort, entitled "Ode to the Bear," after working out at his training headquarters here. It goes this way:

The fight was moved from Boston to Maine,
Wherever the bear goes he'll
end up in pain;

CASSIUS CLAY

Maine is known as the state
of the bear and the pine,
When I went there my bear
was hard to find;
When I got to Maine, I could
not raid his camp,
For I did not know which bear was the ex-champ.
The fight started without delay,
And in the fight I heard the bear say:
"Please don't beat me so
bad,
This is the worst whipping I ever had;"
He yelled, "Stop the fight,
I'm really not authorized,
And I want you to know I apologize:
"I apologize for talking too
much,
This kid is so fast he cannot
be touched;
"I am rough, and I'm ugly
and I'm really tough,
But to beat this kid no man
has enough."

Patterson TKO victor in Sweden, eyes May 25

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Floyd Patterson, one step closer in his dream of regaining the world heavyweight title he has owned twice, can only wait now.

Whether Patterson, who stopped Ted Herring of Houston, Tex., in 40 seconds of the third round last week, gets another shot at the title depends on who wins in Lewiston, Maine, May 25.

ON THAT night Sonny Liston tries to win back the crown from Cassius Clay. If Clay retains it, Patterson has a good chance at a title shot. If Liston wins it back, Floyd, the only man to regain the heavyweight crown, can forget about a third time.

Patterson lost two one-round title fights to Liston and has no desire to face Liston again.

• • •

PATTERSON, weighing 196½ pounds, toyed with Herring, leveling a two - fisted barrage at the Texan, who weighed 212.

Referee Ted Waltham, secretary of the British Boxing Board, stopped the fight in the third round of the scheduled 10 - rounder with Herring still on his feet.

"He was so shakey that he didn't know where he was," Waltham said.

Waltham gave the first round to Patterson and called the second even.

HERRING'S first and only punch in the third started Patterson's winning flurry. The Texan landed a straight, solid left to Patterson's midsection.

But throwing the punch left his head unprotected and Floyd stepped in and threw a powerful right - left combination from his peek-a-boo stance.

Herring immediately clinched but the 30 - year -old former champion pushed him off and rocked him with another one two attack.

Herring stood in the middle of the ring, glassy-eyed and swaying. His hands were at his sides.

Waltham stopped the fight, drawing protests from Herring's handlers.
