Gus Knox

Maddox Knox and David Knox. A graduate of Douglass High School, he attended old Morgan College and played guard on the 1930 champion football team and guard on the basketball team.

He moved to South Baltimore and soon became popular among its 2,000 citizens of all nationalities. In 1938 he ran on the Republican 6th District ticket for election to the House of Delegates and placed third.

• • •

CONTINUING SPIRITED interest, he became the youngest member of the Urban League board of directors at the age of 30 and in 1941 was named to the AFRO's Hall of Fame.

At that time he was cited for keen interest in needy persons getting them welfare aid and giving from his own pocket. In 1934, he was married to the former Miss Mamie T. Gaunt, a school teacher who died in 1957.

In 1959 he was married to his second wife, who survives him, and adopted her five children as his own. He never referred to them as his stepchildren.

Mr. Knox was at one time dining car waiter on the B and O Railroad and operated a real estate business on the side. He later became a North Carolina Mutual Insurance Co. underwriter.

He joined St. James PE Church in 1940 and was one of the organizers of the Church Boy Scouts.

In 1958 he was honored by a testimonial dinner sponsored by the City-Wide Republican Organization as its "outstanding political leader." In a history of his activities they recalled Mr. Knox was drafted in 1956 to lead the party after the death of its head, Marse S. Calloway. The organization was then known as the Colored Republicans of Baltimore, Inc.

• • •

SALUTING MR. KNOX at the testimonial were U. S. Senators John Marshall Butler and J. Glenn Beall, Claude B. Hellman, secretary of State, Vel J. Washington, minorities director of the National Republican Committee.

In addition to his wife, Mr. Knox is survived by his children, Capt. Thomas, stationed at Ft. McClellen, Ala.; Miss Wanda P. Thomas, Mrs. Peggy Ann Jackson, William D. Thomas and Jack B. Thomas; his brother, George E. Knox and six grandchildren, all of Baltimore.

Voting Bill passed by Senate

By WILLIAM THEIS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An overpowering coalition of Democratic and Republican Senators passed President Johnson's far-reaching voting rights bill Wednesday, 77 to 19. Southern opposition was routed under a cloture rule that choked off debate.

The vote sending the precedent-setting measure to the house came after five weeks of Senate debate. A similar but somewhat stronger bill already has been approved by the House Judiciary Committee. Congressional approval this session seems certain.

Upon becoming law, the bill would provide federal guarantees of colored citizens to register and vote in southern states if it is established that such requirements as literacy tests have been used to discriminate. It would be the first federal legislation to nullify state qualifications for voters in state and local elections.

• • •

ON THE FINAL Senate passage, 47 Democrats and 30 Republicans voted for the legislation which had the backing of both party leaders.

The "No" votes were cast by hard-core southerners consisting of 17 Democrats and two Republicans — John G. Tower of Texas and Strom Thurmond of South Carolina.

The final vote was signaled on a previous roll call when a parliamentary move to approve the bill as it had been amended was adopted 78-18. The southern bloc lost Tower's vote on this roll call.

• • •

SENATE Democratic Whip Russell B. Long of Louisiana voted against the bill on both roll calls although on the preliminary motion he first voted for, then switched to no.

The legislation, proposed by Johnson after the Selma, Ala., violence earlier this year, would strike down state and local voting barriers which colored people charge are used against them in southern areas.

The key proviso of the Senate bill is a "trigger" mechanism which would automatically suspend literacy and other discriminatory qualification tests and authorize federal examiners to register eligible colored voters if need be.

• • •

THE VOTING rights formula would apply immediately to Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia, Louisiana and South Carolina at the state level, and also be effective in some counties in North Carolina and Virginia. Two remote Alaskan districts also would come under the law.

In addition, the measure would urge speedy federal court action to eliminate poll taxes in four southern states. It would end an English-language requirement for New York voters which has blocked many Puerto Ricans from voting there.

In the Senate fight which went on for 25 days, the legislation had full support from leaders of both parties Republican Everett M. Dirksen and Democrat Mike Mansfield.

• • •

THE BATTLE over the bill really ended Tuesday when for the second time in a year and only the seventh time in its legislative history the Senate voted 70-30 to invoke cloture on the debate.

This meant that each Senator was allowed only one hour of additional debate.

This broke the back of the southern opposition, even though the Dixie Senators had not resorted to any full-fledged filibuster.

• • •

IN THE CLOSING hours before the final vote Wednesday, southerners won a few minor concessions from Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., who piloted the bill through the floor fight.

The opposition knew from the onset of debate April 22 that a Voting Rights Bill would pass.

In the face of powerful Democratic and Republican support of the measure, the best they could do was argue at length that the proposal was unconstitutional and coercive, and to offer a series of amendments with little chance of success.

• • •

BIGGEST dispute on an amendment came on one offered by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., which would have outlawed state poll taxes.

This was narrowly defeated, but mainly because Johnson and the Senate leadership held firm for a provision to direct the Justice Department to initiate court suits aimed at banning the levies.

The poll tax issue may prove to be the major dispute with the House. The Judiciary Committee there approved an outright repealer of such taxes.

• • •

IN THE closing debate Wednesday, Sen. Spessard Holland, D-Fla., and other southerners assailed the bill as amounting to federal tyranny.

Holland called the legislation "coercive . . . hopelessly unconstitutional . . . troublemaking."

He noted that the Ku Klux Klan born in the Reconstruction — is reviving and said the bill would "only encourage such organizations."

THE FLORIDA Senator said: "Not enough people will listen to reason . . . but will take the law into their own hands. This kind of legislation promotes violence, everything but good will be between the races."

However, Dirksen, summing up for the leadership, termed the bill "another step toward the ultimate solution of one of the unsolved problems of the Constitution."

He said when the right to vote of every person, regardless of color, is safeguarded. "We shall retrieve a pledge woven into the whole fabric of this Constitution."

POINTING to demonstrations in Alabama, Chicago, California and other places, Dirksen said "These people are not content to suffer these indignities anymore."

Of the colored voter, the GOP Senator declared: "He is entitled to the right and if he uses it or doesn't use it is up to him. But it must be there."

Ex-champ Fullmer

WEST JORDAN, Utah, (UPI) —Former middle weight champion Gene Fullmer said the Clay-Liston fight in Maine has to be the worst thing that ever happened to boxing.

Fullmer, who retired from boxing nearly a year ago, said both Cassius Clay and Sonny Liston missed an excellent change to do more for the sport and improve its image.

The West Jordan mink rancher said he felt strongly the fight should be declared "no contest."

'Buddy' Young appointed to NFL commissioner's office

Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League, announced Wednesday that Claude (Buddy) Young has been appointed to his staff.

Mr. Young, former All-American college and All-Pro football player, becomes the first person of color to be named an assistant to the commissioner.

James Kensil, NFL public relations director, said the former half-back will perform in various capacities in addition to directing new league programs designed to benefit all NFL teams.

The commissioner, the announcement said, personally picked Mr. Young whom he described as "highly qualified to perform the job which is vitally important to the league as a whole."

Mr. Kensil said the new assistant will be based in New York, but will be working in all parts of the country.

Mr. Young, whose No. 22 Jersey was retired when he ended active playing and became a scout for the Baltimore Colts, is former sports director for Radio WEBB.

REACTING TO the "first" appointment, the new NFL assistant who is also a member of the Community Action and Neighborhood Development (CANDO) Commission, said:

"The colored athletes have made an outstanding contribution to the success of the NFL and I am happy to have the opportunity to aid the league in continuing its leadership in professional football.

"I consider it an honor and challenge and will — as I have always done — give the job my best effort."

BUDDY YOUNG

Mr. Young, who resides at 3206 Vickers Rd., is married to the former Miss Geraldine Young. They are parents of four children — Claude Jr., a sophomore at Syracuse University; Paula, 15; Jeffrey, 13; and Zolly, 11.

Don Kellerit, general manager of the Colts and former employer of Mr. Young gave this reaction to the announcement:

"We just think it's great. He did a great job for us and we didn't want him to leave. But you can't stand in the way of progress."

PROVIDENT SUCCESS MS

In order to continue the success that door-to-door volunteers have had in Provident Hospital's solicitation campaign, this person-to-person stage of the fund

Goya displayed

LONDON, (UPI) —The Goya Painting of the Duke of Wellington was put back on public display Thursday for the first time since the $302,000 masterpiece was stolen almost four years ago. Art lovers jammed the National Gallery amid a tripled security guard.

A staff - unidentified thief stole the painting on Aug. 21, 1961. It was the first theft in the gallaries history.

Shakespeare hit

TAIPEI, Formosa, (UPI) —Communist China has launched a campaign against William Shakespeare.

Lan Shao-Cheng, the highest ranking Peking official in charge of directing literary activities in Red China, wrote recently in the Communist Kwangming Daily that unless Shakespeare is "solemnly exposed and criticized, his writings could produce a negative effort on our revolu-
