Jobless rate at seven-year low

WASHINGTON, — President Johnson announced Thursday that the key unemployment rate in May fell sharply to 4.6 per cent — the lowest figure in more than seven years.

The Chief Executive said joblessness dropped by 220,000 last month, leaving approximately 3.3 million unemployed. The decline was about three times the normal drop for May.

The President warned that the nation faces an unemployment crisis "of the first order this summer" among young people between 16 and 21 years old.

Impose curfew on Malaysia

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia, (UPI) — Malaysian authorities clamped a 24-hour curfew on the West Coast of the mainland amid speculation that a new Indonesian troop landing had taken place.

The area covers most of the west coast of Johore State which was the target of at least eight Indonesian landings last year.

A Defense Department spokesman denied at a news conference that any new landing had been made. But a few hours later, the curfew was imposed.

Ask curb on silver in coins

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson, breaking with 173 years of tradition, Thursday asked Congress to take all silver out of dimes and quarters and sharply reduce the amount in half dollars.

He urged the lawmakers to act swiftly, so that the new coins could start going into circulation "some time in 1966."

Brother jailed for sister's tv

Edward Walls, 35, 500 block Baker St. Monday drew an 18-month sentence in Criminal Court for removing his sister's TV from her home during a party Feb. 22.

At the conclusion of the it was testified that you until 6 a.m. the next morning, Walls' sister, Mrs. Clara E. Washington, 29 1700 block Lorman St. discovered the television was gone.

Among guests was a witness who suggested the hostess inquire of her brother, she said.

Following Walls' admission of guilt, although the TV was not at his residence, his sister gave him until March 24 to return it.

Meadowbrook ordered to accept complainant

An order to "cease and desist" from engaging in discriminatory practices was issued this week to the Meadowbrook Club, Inc., by the Baltimore Community Relations Commission.

The order was issued as a follow-up to an investigation conducted by the commission after Meadowbrook last June refused to permit a Jewish woman to join the swimming club.

Mrs. Leon Levin, 2000 block South Road, charged the club with refusing her because she is a Jew.

During the investigation, her lawyer, Stanley Levin, contested claims of the club owners that Meadowbrook is a bona fide private club exempted from provisions of Baltimore's civil rights laws.

• • •

CRC RULED the club was not a private one since it had never applied to the U.S. Internal Revenue Department for tax exemption as a social club or non-profit organization.

Subsequent to this ruling, a new corporation was formed known as the Meadowbrook Swimming Club, Inc., to which the Meadowbrook Club, Inc., announced it had leased its facilities for the coming season.

While ostensibly operating as a new corporation, it was learned that Bernard J. Mealey Jr., attorney for the Meadowbrook Club, Inc., is listed as agent for the new corporation.

Stanley Levin, no relation to Mrs. Levin (the complainant), told the AFRO the club announced that it was becoming private immediately following passage of the city civil rights law in February.

Mrs. Levin charged that the reason for the change was to exclude Jewish and colored citizens who wished to swim there.

The order from the Commission instructs Meadowbrook to "cease and desist from directly or indirectly refusing, withholding from or denying to the complainant, or to other persons, because of race, color, religion, national origin, or ancestry, the full enjoyment of the accommodations, services, advantages, facilities, or privileges offered by Meadowbrook Club, Inc., and/or the Meadowbrook Swimming Club, Inc., located at Kelly Avenue and Falls Road in Baltimore City."

• • •

THE CLUB was further ordered to notify Mrs. Levin by letter, within five days, that she will be admitted as a patron under the same terms that apply to all other customers.

CRC also ordered that the club advise all its employees of the Baltimore City Ordinance prohibiting discrimination and that a written statement be posted in a conspicuous place indicating that Meadowbrook is a place of public accommodation subject to this ordinance.

Mrs. Levin told the AFRO: "I think this finding and order was very fair and courageous of the commission. It seems to me the commission has been patient and fair with Meadowbrook.

"We are into another season now and still nothing has happened. They had plenty of time to change.

"I am glad because of the action of the Community Relations Commission.

"I am ready to go swimming."

Appeals Court reverses AFRO libel case award

The U. S. Court of Appeals of the District Circuit, this week, reversed the $2,500 judgement awarded by a lower court in the suit filed against the Washington AFRO-AMERICAN by Eli Jaffe, local pharmacist.

In a 2-1 decision, the District Court's judgement was reversed, and the case remanded to the District Court for judgement in tre AFRO's favor.

Chief Judge Bazelon and Circuit Judge Wright wrote seperate majority opinions while Circuit Judge Washington dissented.

THE ORIGINAL award was granted to Judge Edward A. Tamm based on charges of libel and invasion of privacy filed by Mr. Jaffe of 1444 Independence Ave., SE.

Jaffe charged that an article, entitled "One Man's War in Southeast Against the AFRO" published Oct. 14, 1961, was libelous and an invasion of his privacy. The article criticized him for refusing to sell AFRO's because the disagreed with its editorial policies.

Chief Judge Bazelon said, "Since the trial court found that no economic injury resulted from publication of the article, and since the emotional distress alleged is insufficent to establish liability, I agree that the judgement should be reversed."

JUDGE WRIGHT added "If it can be said that appellee intruded himself into an area of public debate by attempting to censor the newspaper with respect to tre publication of its views, he thereby jeopardized his right to privacy. When a private citizen enters the public arena, he is entitled to no more protection against libel than a public official."

In the dissenting opinion, Judge Washington said "The libelous matter here is not protected by the fair comment rule, and the appellee, as a private citizen, is entitled to a greater degree of protection."

League to hold "Rights" panel

The Maryland League of Women's Club program on the Implementation of Civil Rights will take place on Saturday, June 5 at 12:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the Baltimore Life Building, Howard and Park Avenue.

Panelists will be Samuel T. Daniels, Baltimore Comission; Farren J Mitchell, Maryland Comission on Interracial Problems and Relations, and Arthur Murphy, United States Attorney's Office.

Member clubs have been urged to send as many and also to alert other interested women.

Inmate found hanged in Pen

Two inmates of the Maryland House of Correction chose separate ways to get out of the penal institution early this week.

Both methods seemed to stem from a fight between two prisoners on May 23, when, according to prison officials, during a fight James W. Stackhouse was allegedly stabbed with a pair of scissors wielded by Eugene C. Felton, 19, of the first block W. York St.

With additional charges facing him, the Felton youth was found dead early Tuesday morning hanging from an overhead bar with his T-shirt used as a rope.

Felton in March 1964 was sentenced to eight years for robbery and criminal assault. Last week, after prison psychiatrists deemed him a potential suicide, Felton's bedding and most of his clothing was removed from his cell.

D[illegible]TH WAS [illegible]ath Felton chose out of prison.

Later the same day, 21-year-old Stackhouse, with an address in the 800 block W. Lexington St., was taken by guards to University Hospital where he has been receiving treatment for the stab wounds.

Seizing an opportunity, Stackhouse eluded his guards and escaped from the hospital After an intensive search by local police, the escapee was spotted by Dt. Sgt. John Conroy and Dt. Oliver Walker.

The escaped prisoner was taken into custody at Lexington and Schroeder Sts., block from his given address. He had stripped the bandages from his neck wounds, according to police in an attempt to be incognispicuous.
