Sollers High thinclads close banner season

County high school track teams are probably thankful in more ways than one that the annual vacation period has arrived. Aside from the break in studies and classroom work, they will not have to breathe the dust of Sollers Point athletes.

The Sollers thinclads, under coach Reginald Holt, swept honors in county, District B, and State Class B meets, and set numerous records in the doing.

* * *

THE OUTSTANDING mile relay foursome of Earl Wake, MacArthur McGoveans, Robert Brown and Paul Beasley supplied most of the Sollers victories, both as a team and individually.

Wake served as anchor man on the relay quartet, capping a brilliant season with a 49.9 clocking in the final leg of the state championship. In four years, Earl scored consistently in races from 220 yards to a mile.

* * *

MCGOWENS, in addition to performing on the 3:23.9 mile foursome, won the 880 in the state meet in the creditable time of 1:57.5, despite the fact he had never previously attempted the distance.

Brown, who handled the second leg on the relay team is regarded equal to anyone on the county scholastic scene at distances from 100 yards to a quarter-mile.

ALSO FILLING vital roles on the Sollers squad were Roy Austin the 120 high and 180-yard low hurdles champion; David Alexander and Thomas Rawlings.

Austin has been clocked in 10.3 for the 100-yard dash and shows a 14.9 time for the high hurdles.

Alexander is county and district champion in the broad jump and triple jump and Rawlings is a promising vaulter.

SAA Hopkins Games lure 80

Sea Hopkins 24 erbarlite

An estimated 80 entries will vie for honors in the annual South Atlantic Assoication track and field meet at Johns Hopkins University's Homewood field this weekend.

Included in the field will be two former Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association champions, John Bethea and Joe Rouse.

Bethea was the CIAA hurdles king prior to being graduated from Morgan College, and Rouse was the CIAA mile and 2-mile champion during his undergraduate days at Maryland State College.

BETHEA WILL defend his title in the 120-yard high hurdles event tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon. Rouse will seek the 6-mile crown. He was second last week in the marathon test at Clifton Park.

Also entered in the SAA competitions are Trey Burns formerly of City College, in the 880 and Don Gregg of Penn State, who will defend the 100-yard dash title he captured last year.

In the amateur class Ralph Glories of Washington, D. C. will be the top amateur to beat in the three classes that will be vying for the honors in which 35 entrants are listed to start.

Bronco eleven sets Saturday tryouts

The New Brooklyn Broncos will hold their first tryout session tomorrow (Saturday) at 5:00 h.m. at the Glen Burnie High School football field.

In the search for talent, the Bronco organization will look at all local prospects who are interested in playing minor professional football.

At the same time on another portion of the field, Bronco regulars of last year and all new prospects who have already signed contracts, will hold a light workout to familiarize themselves with the new operation.

Anyone interested in playing for the Broncos is requested to attend this tryout session or call EI. 5 - 1949 or EI. 5-5791.

$1,000 pot awaits Lady Carling ace

A $1,000 prize for hole-in-one, if made on the 17th, has been offered to members of the Ladies Professional Golf Association during the 54-hole Lady Carling Open at Turf Valley Country Club, Ellicott City, June 25 to 27.

Harvey Neel, owner of Sykesville, and a club member whose home is on Turf Valley Road near the course in Howard County, said he will also give a $500 contribution to KILD, beneficiary of the Lady Carling, if one of the LPGA members scores an ace on the 17th.

KILD, headed by Murray Goldstein, is promoting the Lady Carling to aid families of law enforcement officers or fire fighters killed in the line of duty.

Concert band lists dates

The Park and Municipal Concert Bands of the Bureau of Music will open their 1965 season on Tuesday, June 15, when the Municipal Concert band will present a special opening program throughout the various parks and locations in the city.

Mt. Ararat youths cited for achievement, service

Three city youths were cited Tuesday night for "academic achievement and civic and religious service," at a dinner in their honor at the Garrison Lounge on Cliftn Ave.

Honored were Lawrence and Gloria Chandler, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Chandler of 2927 Westwood St., and Miss Maudrie Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Murphy of 1616 Braddish Ave.

The recognition was given the trio by fellow members and adult advisors of Youth Fellowship Group I of Mt. Ararat Baptist Church. The Rev. Samuel B. Redd is pastor.

Miss Chandler will graduate from Forest Park High School this month and Miss Murphy took her diploma at Carver High School last Friday. Mr. Chandler is a student at the Maryland Institute of Art and a recent art scholarship winner.

DURING THE year the honorees, all officers of the youth group, "gave particularly outstanding support to church and civic projects sponsored by the group," according to adult advisor Mrs. Louise E. Lassiter.

Mrs. Lassiter presented each honoree an embossed certificate of recognition during brief ceremonies at the dinner. Remarks were made by the Rev. and Mrs. Redd and Youth Fellowship Advisory Board chairman Lee Lassiter.

Mt. Ararat assistant pastor, the Rev. James Gray, and Mrs. Gray, were also guests at the affair.

Group members present included Misses Lenora Chandler, Victoria Hom, Beverly McCleod, Florence Blake, Peggie McMiller, Ida and Jessie Mosby and Sandra Douglas; and James King, Larry Harris and Alfred Goodman.
