Peregrinators: Judge and Mrs. E. Everett Lane were back in Baltimore this week, after 15 weeks of world hopping during which they visited 10 countries. Ran into the AFRO's Ollie Stewart, in Paris, of course. Picked up Turner Lincoln, former Washingtonian, who has been a resident of London, England for some 40 years now. He, some remember, is the composer of "After You've Gone" and "Way Down Yonder in New Orleans." Saw Ann Adams of this town, who they say is doing a fine job at the John F. Kennedy School in Berlin, where she is teaching.

In town over the weekend were Ambassador and Mrs. C. Everett Knox of Cotonou, Dahomey, Africa, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Jones. Were in Washington, this week, and will go to Philadelphia ere leaving the country. Their special mission, of course, was for the graduation of their son, Billy.

Alexander Halley of Boston, Mass., was a recent visitor here with his sisters, Mrs. Nellie Parsons and Mrs. Nezzie McNair. Went on to Petersburg, Va. for a visit with a brother, Henry.

Mrs. Eva Ball White and nephew, Paul S. Williams Sr. left by Jet, Tuesday morning, for Miami Beach, Fla., where they will attend the Baptist World Alliance. Mrs. White is corresponding secretary of the National Baptist Convention of America, and on the planning committee of the Baptist World Alliance. Will be a program participant at the convention or Saturday. Mr. Williams is chairman of the Providence Baptist Church Deacon Board, here, and a postal worker.

THE FATHER'S auxiliary of Jack and Jill of America, Inc. held a family picnic at Patapsco State Park June 12 which turned out to be "holiday for mothers." Food was provided for all by catered services which included not only the hamburgers and hot dogs which the dads cooked over the grill but also a full course picnic dinner and cake and all the cokes even the kids could drink.

And if that wasn't enough, dads also entertained the children while moms played cards, talked and watched the ball games they organized.

Said the invitation:

"Come and spend a relaxing day

You, Jack and Jillers, the American way

Mothers, fathers and children too

At a family picnic, planned just for you."

The picnic committee has as chairman Robert Dives. Co-chairmen were Earl Parker, Vernon Shelley, Walter Sneed, Marvin Davis. Others on the committee were Robert Matthews, Clifton Jones, Carl White, Yancy Whittaker, Joseph Boston and Paul Johnson.

Families present were:

Messrs and Mesdames Ed Williams and Debbie, Carl White and Carl, Bobbie and Robert, David Skinner and David and John, Lawrence Waters and Janet, L. Arthur Lewis and Marcia, Robert Matthews and Betty, Bonnie and Rodger, Clarence D. Abrams and Michael and Ronald, Philbin Scott and Milton Jr., and Bayne Winchler.

Church honors oldest father

Fathers' Day was a memorable day for all of the fathers of the Ebenezer Church of God in Christ in Fairfield. The Rev. Clarence E. Powell is pastor.

Services were centered around the members of the church who are fathers, and especially the oldest father, Deacon. William R. Powell.

After the services at the church, activities were focused in room 306 of Provident Hospital where Powell is a patient. The 85 year-old-father has 10 children, 29 grandchildren, 40 great-grandchildren and two great, great - grandchildren.

He is the oldest father in the church, the second oldest member of Ebenezer, and an active member since 1928.

Present for the ceremony were his wife, Mrs. Amanda Powell, his son, the Rev. Clarence E. Powell and his daughter, Miss Hattie Powell of Philadelphia.

Also Mrs. Bessie Hutchinson, Mrs. Mable Johnson, Mrs. Elizabeth Bazemore, Mrs. Emma Wright, Mrs. Ardella Cherry, Mrs. Bernice Bazemore, Mrs. Thelma Locke and Robert Children and two of his children.

10 receive holy communion

Ten children received their first holy communion at the Immaculate Conception Rectory at 832 Mosher St. on June 13. Father Elbert Jay is the head priest.

The communicants, who were taught and trained under Sister Mary Pius, included Carolyn Smith, Floyd Brown, Myra Mackay, Della Wallace, William Jones, Francis Hance, Angela Serisa, Ramond Wallace, Brenda Wallace and Doretha Wallace.

The Wallace children are cousins to Sister Mary Loyola of the Oblate Sisters of Providence.

Teen sought in rape case

A 56 - year - old matron reported to police Wednesday that she was criminally assaulted by a youth, about 16, who threatened her with a 12 inch butcher knife.

Police stated that the assailant had apparently gained entrance by forcing the front door.

The victim said the attacker had a stocking cap over his head and as he was leaving took $5 from her purse.
