Bob Hayes off Fla. probation

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI)—Olympic gold medal winner Robert Lee Hayes of Florida A and M University was released Wednesday from 10 years probation stemming from a 1960 theft of $5 and two pieces of chewing gum.

The action was expected since it had the support of the Florida Parole Commission which made an investigation and reported that Hayes was completely rehabilitated and was devoting time to helping other young men.

HAYES did not appear at the hearing, but was represented by former Tallahassee City Judge John Ruddy, who helped the U.S. win the gold medal title at the 1964 Tokyo games, sought complete release from 10 years probation.

Hayes pleaded guilty on Dec. 3, 1960, of taking part in the strong-arm robbery of a Franklin Barnum who lost two billfolds and two pieces of chewing gum on a Tallahassee Street.

THE 21-YEAR-OLD speedster and football star denied at the time, however, that he knew those who were with him planned the robbery and that he did not take a physical part in it. He was released on 10 years' probation in the custody of Jake Gaither, football coach at Florida A and M where he starred as a halfback.

Hayes was signed by the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League last year following his 100-meter dash victory and stint as anchor man on the 100-meter U.S. team at the Olympics. He also starred on several post-season all-star football teams.

Griffith to launch middleweight bid

NEW YORK (UPI) —Welterweight champion Emile Griffith will step up to the 160-pound class when he meets Jose Gonzalez at Madison Square Garden Tuesday, July 13, in a 10-round nontitle bout.

Griffith, who successfully defended his welterweight title at the Garden, March 30, with a 15-round unanimous decision over Jose Stable, will make his first serious attempt for the middleweight crown.

The 30-year-old Virgin Islander said he planned to campaign for the heavier title in the future.

Tri-State League All-Star Game set for Sunday

The ninth annual Tri - State League All - Star Game is scheduled for 3 p.m. Sunday at Malcolm, Md., the home diamond of the Bryantown Cubs who are a member of the league.

William "Dopey" Jones, manager of the Washington Black Sox, is slated to lead the North All - Stars with several of his players being among an outstanding array of stars.

Manager Jones' Black Sox have won the league championship seven times in eight years and are undefeated this season in league play.

Morris Hamilton, manager of the Vista Yankees, will lead a hard hitting crew that rates high in defensive ability and possesses a tough mound staff.

DOWNINGTOWN, Pa. — For the first time in 41 years's Downingtown Industrial and Agricultural School will find itself under the direction of a new principal. Malcolm D. Ames, a Philadelphia school teacher was elected principal and will take over Aug. 2 as the school's first principal.

FACES CHARGES — Cleveland Browns fullback Jim Brown will face charges of assault and battery in Cleveland Municipal Court on Sept. 20. The famed football star is accused of beating Brenda Ayres (left), 19-year-old local girl, in a Cleveland motel early Sunday. Brown was in court Tuesday to plead innocent and request a jury trial. Municipal Judge Hugh Brennan granted the request and set the date for the hearing as an overflow crowd listened. Except for an initial denial of the charges, Brown has refused to comment on the case.

Harlem Dandy shows old flashes in win

WASHINGTON — Five - time middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson moved a step closer here Thursday night, to what he hopes will be a sixth shot at the 160 - pound title.

Robinson took a unanimous decision from Young Joe Walcott in 10 rounds at Washington Coliseum.

At the end referee Joe Bugas scored for Sugar Ray, 97-93; Judge Dick D'Brien tallied 100 to 96 for Ray, and Judge Julian Whitestone voted 100 to 99 for the ex-champ.

Robinson, exhibiting the smooth, unruffled attack that has been his trademark through 17 years in the ring, was clearly the master of his stocky opponent from Bridgeton, N. J.

Young Walcott did not escape a round in which he wasn't rocked by the Harlem Dandy.

IN EACH OF the first two stanzas, Sugar Ray got home with his patented hook to the body and head combination. And in the third, Walcott was bounced off the ropes with a sizzling lead right.

Early in the fourth, Robinson took to countering Walcott's leads. And there were moments when Sugar Ray's oldtime class shone through.

On these occasions, both fighters emerged from the encounter wearing big grins.

While this was taken by many as a bid on the strength of showmanship, the more astute observers were inclined to wonder about the seriousness of the battle.

At 44, Robinson retains much of the class that makes him a pleasure to watch. But the trigger-like jabs and nimble footwork are gone from the symmetry of motion that was a 5-time champion.

This harsh judgment may be due to the tendency of a hardened ringside to expect too much of a man well past what is generally regarded as the athlete's prime.

Especially when the vision persists of an artist of cat-like moves and thundering assaults.

Just the same, the win was an easy one for the Harlem businessman-boxer, and maybe he is — as he firmly contends — still the best of a division that is relatively sick by his standards.

In the 10-round co-feature, veteran Holly Mims of Washington, marking the return to his hometown after a 6 - Year absence, decisioned Larry Barney of Baltimore.

The evening's program represented the first of a series of summer bouts planned by promoter Ed Weaver for the Coliseum ring.

It was greeted by a surprisingly large turnout, a crowd of 3,858 paying $13,000 in the till.

PAUL (FAT DADDY) Johnson, program director of WSID Radio, presents a check for $100 to Cynthia B. Burrows, and 8th graded at Booker T. Washington Jr. High School. Cynthia, daugh daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon M. Burrows of this city, won the money along with a Saturday deejay spot. Fat Daddy is now at the Royal Theatre with his anniversary show until June 28.

13 promoted in postal service

Postmaster William F. Laukaitis elevated 13 post office employees to new supervisory positions during ceremonies in his office Thursday.

Among the new supervisors who received letters of congratulation and official job descriptions from the postmaster were:

James J. Somerville, a 16-year veteran of the department, who was promoted to general foreman of mails with a classification of PFS-9.

He and his wife, Pauline, live at 2210 Presbury St.

William A. Hunt, 1319 Ashland Ave., who is superintendent of the detached mails unit, PFS-8. The 23-year veteran's wife is named Janie.

George P. Jefferson was named foreman of maintenance, mail processing equipment, PFS-8. Mr. Jefferson has worked for the post office for nine years and resides at 4504 The Strand with his wife, Mamie.

James R. Spriggs, who has worked at the department for 17 years, was elevated to foreman of mails, PFS-7. He and his wife, Margaret, live at 3309 Piedmont Ave.

Nine - year veteran John L. Brooks became maintenance mechanic of mail processing equipment, PFS-8.

Pimlico Cardinals setting blistering pace

The Cardinals, 9 to 12 year - Little Leaguers of the Pimlico League, are literally burning up the circuit and are odds - on favorites to take the loop championship.

Under the direction of Coach Elwood Bowling, the Cardinals swept first half honors with a 7 - 2 record, winning seven straight after dropping the first two games.

The Cardinals, on the strength of a 3 - hit, 11 - strike - outs performance by Ricky Bowling trounced the Pirates Tuesday 6 - 1 to open the second half competition.

In addition to the young curve balling Rickey, fast balling Johnny Collins rounds out the other half of the Cardinals' two - man mound corps.

Johnny is also one - rail

His wife, Yoshiko, and he live at 2402 Hermosa Ave.

James R. Gregory, 1415 N. Longwood St., who was named vehicle maintenance analyst, PFS-8, has been an employee for eight years. His wife is Elizabeth Gregory.

OTHERS PROMOTED by the postmaster were:

John R. Cochran Jr., assistant superintendent of mails, PFS-10; G. Carroll Frank, assistant superintendent of East End Station, PFS-8; Leonard J. Garrity, assistant superintendent of Middle River Branch, PFS-8.

Luther W. Book, foreman of mails, PFS-7; Joseph F. Groome, foreman of mechanics, PFS-7; Francis W. Webb, foreman of mails, PS-7 and Norbert J. Weber, foreman of mails, PFS-7.

of the unique "name's - the-same" battery which has sparked the Cardinals' blistering pace.

Johnny Collins, the hustling catcher, a permanent figure behind the plate, moved there after taking a fling in both the out and infield.

AN EQUALLY interesting sidelight of the Cardinals is the heavy hitting of Octavio Lopez, the second smallest player on the team.

Keeping up his torrid stick pace, Lopez blasted a home run in Tuesday's game after getting a triple in his previous appearance at the place. It was ultimately fumbled into a homerun by the overly anxious Pirates.

Other members of the dashing Cardinals are:

Glenn Kotelchuck, infielder; Glenn Snyder, shortstop, Mike Shulman, leftfielder; Edward Bennett, infielder, Bruce Berger, outfielder, Barry Finkelstein, second base; Phillip Greenberg, rightfielder; Mark Griffith, rightfielder; Ramon Kapnes, first base.

Tan counterpart gets job of holding Bob Hayes Sat.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Washington State's Clancy Williams, a speedster in his own right, has perhaps the toughest assignment in the All - America football games Saturday night.

West head coach Frank Broyles of Arkansas has given the 6 - foot - 2, 200-pound Williams the job of containing the East's Bob Hayes of Florida A and M, the Olympic 100-meter champion billed as the "world's fastest human."

Both boys are bound for the National Football League. Hayes with the Dallas Cowboys and Williams with the Los Angeles Rams.

THE LANKY Williams, who went both ways for Washington State, confided he once ripped off a pretty fair 100-yard dash. "I ran it in 9.6 or 9.5 seconds when I was a sophomore. Was it was faster, though. If I'm going to be playing Bob Hayes all night, I'm going to look a little slow."

Hayes has been clocked in 9.1 for the 100.

"But the way I figure it," Williams said, "Hayes has got to slow down some time. He's got to catch the ball."

THE EAST'S "Big Three" quarterbacking corps — Notre Dame's John Huarte, Navy's Roger Staubach and Columbia's Archie Roberts — agree with Williams right now. All three have been under-throwing the 6-foot, 190-pound Hayes, an end converted to flaker back.

Notre Dame's Ara Parseghian, East head coach, doesn't seem too concerned. He's confident the two Heisman Trophy winners and the Ivy League star will catch on to Hayes' style by game time.

HAYES AND Williams are two of ten colored stars scheduled to appear in the game. Seven of the ten are on the East side, three will be in the West lineup.

Joining Hayes under Parseghian are Wisconsin's Jim Jones, Syracuse's Jim Nance, Toledo's Jim Gray, Jackson State College's Vernon Biggs, Michigan State's Jerry Rush, and Illinois University's Archie Sutton.

Lined up with Williams will be Kansas, All-American Gale Sayers and Grambling College's Al Dotson.

McReynolds, Somerset, Dinkins in Bullet drill

FORT MEADE, Md. — At least three new faces in the picture of the Baltimore Bullets will get their real baptism in the pro basketball way of life Friday (Friday) at 7:30 p.m., in the post gymnasium.

Coach Paul Seymour and his rookie camp reach the high spot of their pre-season work with a down - to - business scrimmage between a pair of lineups dubbed "Blues" and "Oranges."

COMMANDING much attention will be slender Thales McReynolds, one of the hottest shooters on the nation last year while a member of the tiny Miles Memorial College quint in Alabama.

Also set for a careful and interested look by Seymour are Willie Somerset, the fiery mite from Duquesne University, and Charlie Dinkins, regarded in some quarters as "another Gus Johnson." Dinkins is a talented rebounder and all-round performer from Miami of Ohio, which produced Wayne Embry, the all-pro of the Cincinnati Royals.

COMPRISING the two teams for the scrimmage will be:

ORANGE SQUAD —Bob by Edmonds, captain, Lyvonne Leflore and Tim Eisnaugle, forwards; Joe Newton, center; Johnny Morris, Tal Brodie and Joe David-son, guards. Davidson is a graduate of Virginia State College.

BLUE SQUAD —Dinkins, Dave Hicks, Joe Ramsey, forwards; Walter Sahm, center; John Wendelkin, captain, McReynolds and Somerset, guards.
