Miss Vivian Gowans, Robert Ryan married

Miss Vivian Gowans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Gowans Sr., and Robert Ryan were married in the Wayland Baptist Church Saturday afternoon at four.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. W. Payne, and a program of nuptial music provided by Archie McCallum, organist and Mrs. Gloria Jones, soloist.

• • •

MISS GOWANS, given in marriage by her father, was attended by Miss Betty Ford of Philadelphia, her niece, as maid of honor. Her bridesmaids were Miss Ida Gowans, Miss Christine Gowan, her sisters; Miss Emily Ryan, sister of the bridegroom; and Miss Ruth Turrin of Philadelphia, her cousin.

Deborah Ryan, sister of the bridegroom was flower girl, and Owen Gowans, 3rd nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

• • •

THE BRIDE wore a controlled sheath of embroidered silk organza, which featured a Bateau neckline and elbow length sleeves, and a peau train which began at the waistline. Her veil of silk illusion was attached to a crown of Chantilly lace and organza, and she carried a cascade of white carnations.

The attendants wore floor-length gowns of crepe, made with empire waistlines. Their headpieces were Dior bows with attached circular veils. The honor attendant's ensemble was in yellow, and she carried an arm bouquet of aqua carnations showered with aqua ribbons. Bridesmaids, in aqua, carried yellow carnations showered with yellow ribbons. The flower girl's frock was floor-length and fashioned of white and yellow organza.

HOGAN McGILL was best man for Mr. Ryan. Ushers were James Lennon, Wayne Williams, Raymond Gowans Rupert Johnson and Tommy Ryan.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ricks 4014 Dorchester Road.

HOGAN McGILL was best man for Mr. Ryan. Ushers were James Lennon, Wayne Williams, Raymond Gowans Rupert Johnson and Tommy Ryan.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ricks 4014 Dorchester Road.

Miss Hall, Mr. Price wed in Glen Burnie

John Wesley Methodist Church, Glenburnie, was the setting, Saturday, for the wedding of Miss Evelyn Jean Hall and Thomas Donald Price.

The Rev. Martin L. McKenny was the officiating minister. A reception in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Hall, followed the ceremony.

THE BRIDE was given in marriage by her father. Her gown of silk peau de soie and Chantilly lace was fashioned with an Empire line and embellished with seed pearls. It featured a train that began at the waist.

Her finger-tip length veil was held by a crown of crystals and seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

• • •

MRS. MAIZELLA McCOY was honor attendant for Miss Hall. Bridesmaids were Meadames Joan Kennedy, Louise Antuno, Yvonne Williams and Rosalie Spencer.

All of the attendants wore floor-length gowns of green linen trimmed in lace. Roses held each of their circular veils, and they carried nosegays of spring flowers showered with pink and green streamers.

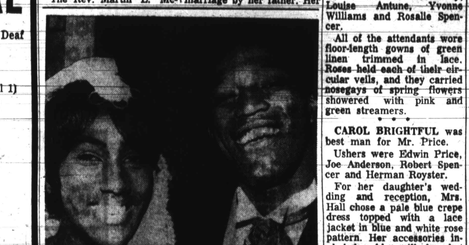
• • •

CAROL BRIGHTFUL was best man for Mr. Price.

Ushers were Edwin Price, Joe Anderson, Robert Spencer and Herman Royster.

For her daughter's wedding and reception, Mrs. Hall chose a pale blue crepe dress topped with a lace jacket in blue and white rose pattern. Her accessories included a blue pillbox hat and blue shoes and a corsage of pink gardenias.

Mrs. Marie Jackson, sister of the bridegroom, was gowned in blue polished cotton fashioned with a square neckline and softly pleated skirt. Her corsage was also of gardenias.



THE WEDDING of Miss Barbara Robinson and Anthony Armstrong took place in Faith Baptist Church, Saturday afternoon.

If YOU Ask ME

BY BETTYE M. MOSS

Irma George Dixon, R.I.P.

'I have known Irma George Dixon most of my adult life.

'It is significant that we can be friends despite differences of politics, religion or Y membership.

'This indicates that we women have matured. We have recognized we are members of two minorities here in America—right here in Baltimore, Md.—we are colored and we are women.

'We know that colored men have had a hard road to travel to get ahead. We also know that their women's road to success is paved with larger stones.

• • •

'As women, we recognize we must reconcile our differences.

'We must find areas of agreement and work hand in hand to overcome the enemy.

'We must work hand in hand to fight for a better America in our day now, and an even better America for our children.

I consider it a privilege to come here this afternoon to salute a fellow native Baltimorean, a teacher, an assembly woman, a fine lady, and my friend, Irma George Dixon.'

• • •

This writer spoke the above words on Sunday afternoon, April 29, 1962.

The occasion was a testimonial dinner at Morgan College Refectory sponsored by the Council on Human Dignity, co-chaired by Mrs. Jewell Rawlings and Mrs. Charlotte Mebane.

Irma George Dixon lost a two-year battle with cancer on Tuesday night.

I'm so glad we gave her orchids when she could appreciate them at that testimonial three years ago.

• • •

Afterwards, Mrs. Dixon wrote: 'Thanks for being with me Sunday. Your remarks were just beautiful.'

And, then she added: 'Without the pill, I don't know what I would have done. It was really soothing'

Reference was to a tranquilizer I had handed her at we sat side by side at the head table.

She had confided she was 'nervous' as she listened to words of praise by co-workers and friends of both parties.

• • •

Remember they hailed her for 'her untiring efforts in the area of social betterment.

Remember Arthur Chapin then special assistant to the Secretary of Labor was there (he called her a true public servant);

And Andrew Hatcher, then associate press secretary to President Kennedy, gave the main address, in which he told how Democrats like Irma had worked hard for the President's election. Remember?

• • •

I remember she was a picture in a pale blue frock.

I recall the nearly 400 guests gave her a standing ovation after she acknowledged their praise with these words:

'You have given me love and inspiration and encouragement When the going has been rugged over the years, you have kept me in your heart . . .'

We her friends have had Irma in our hearts during the long months cancer has ravaged her body.

We're mighty glad she had a chance to have our flowers while she could smell them.

May she Rest In Peace.

Notes: Built in 1959, the Cathedral is a 10 million dollar dream.

With all its beauty, however, its microphone system does not carry voices well.

We asked a priest about this. He suggested perhaps 'it depends on whether you're used to the mike.'

• • •

Seen in the audience: Miss Anita Williams, longtime leader who received Papal honors in Rome last year recently. Sat occupied a front row seat.

Also spotted: Dr. and Mrs. William Lockwood, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Simmons, Mrs. Beth Walker, Walter White, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. William Spencer, Mrs. Elena Thomas.

And, Mrs. Ada Weaver, Mrs. Elena Thomas, Mrs. Roberta Jones, Mrs. Lillian Ross, George Simms, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Rayner Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Howard.

• • •

A plug: This unsolicited plug for the AFRO came during the Sunday night 'Issues in the Air' program when Parren Mitchell, executive secretary, Interracial Commission, discussed civil rights with WBRY's Corbin:

Q—Why do some employers are willing to pay equally for colored employees?

A—They have to use the mass media most acceptable—most frequently used by colored people, the AFRO.

• • •

Nice gesture: Kindly Mrs. Charlotte Swan gifted a portion of her 19 piano students following their recital on Tuesday. Isn't she the grandest person; and so good with children?

A bit about this and that

Changes Made: Colored motorists who drive south are meeting a new kind of hospitality.

Reason: Gas station owners have now learned we will not buy their gas if we find we are barred from rest - room facilities.

At a filling station on Route 301 this past Sunday, the manager came smiling to the car window.

Instead of asking how many gallons the driver wanted, he smiled and said, 'restrooms are inside here, sir.'

Times do change. Remember the day when you wiggled all the way to Grandma's house in Virginia because the gas station's toilets were for white only, and your mother said 'you'll just have to hold it.?'

Orchids to Sandra Dow Sho's the Douglass High grad who edited the 1965 yearbook, the Survey, a very attractive and interesting album.

• • •

SPEAKING OF Douglass High, I am reminded of these words to graduates by Acting Principal James Spencer:

'One great gift of education is that it gives you the ambition to dream, to analyze, to plan, and to work for a better and happier life.

• • •

'May your future be as bright as you deserve, and may you become a beacon light for your 'Alma Mater.

'Whatever problems you may face, whatever difficulties you may encounter, always have faith in yourself and in God.'

More about people, things

Madison Allen, who holds degrees from Morgan and NYU's business school, is among 'some on the move,' cited in General Electric's Challenge Magazine.

The article states: 'Matt comes well equipped to tackle the broad role of finance man. His title is consulting specialist - contract accounting in the missile and space division's - financial planning operation.'

Isn't that grand! Since joining GE, Mr. Allen has taught contemporary economics at the University of Pennsylvania, and he's just 30.

• • •

Baltimoreans may remember Mr. Allen when he answered to the nickname of 'Crennie.' Then he was a student at Douglass High here.

He majored in biology at Morgan, earned his bachelor's degree in 1950.

He is the son of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Allen, Lynchburg, Va. At one time, the Rev. Mr. Allen, pastored Leadenhall Baptist Church here. Today he is president of Va. Seminary.

His wife is the former Daisy Jacquie, a Psk grad who teaches math in Philly schools.

His sister is Mrs. William Garner (Wilhelmina, wife of the Baltimore physician).

Members of the Girligags — a group of Baltimore matrons who were childhood chums — are back from a week in Martha's Vineyard, where they guested at the summer home of Mrs. Maurice Doles (Waltye), also a member.

There were: Mesdames Rebecca Brown, Sarah Rayne, Louise Dennis, Allegra Taylor, and 'Ethel S. Wright.

• • •

Other members are Mrs. Elizabeth Stewart, Mrs. Elsie Carter and Mrs. Hilda Higgins.

The latter shoves off for a world tour next week with her physician husband — Dr. I. B. Higgins — and of course was not able to join her club members.

• • •

To Europe: Miss Fay M. Hershaw of Washington (she's retired Baltimore teacher), sails for Europe on Wednesday.

She'll visit Anglican churches in the British Isles, and attend music festivals in Germany.

Oh la, la: Dr. Delores Hunt, the educator; and her physician - husband, Dr. Richard Hunt, hosted Psi Gamma Mu Sorority members and their families on Saturday.

And that gave us an opportunity to relax at their comfortable beach front home at Arundel - On - The Bay.

And, we had a chance to learn that Dr. Hunt is also an accomplished decorator. View of the water is magnificent from their porch.

• • •

Wondered all day who occupied the new white home at Arundel.

Surprise! Found occupants are Mr. and Mrs. Preston M. Gazaway, both social workers, and they built it themselves. It is a dream.

We knew Mrs. Gazaway (Annise), years back when she worked with the Baltimore Department of Public Welfare.

She is now employed by Anne Arundel County. Mr. G. is with Children's Center.

On The Mend: Joseph (Joe) Lee, the former Druid Hill YMCA boys' secretary, is out of the hospital after so long.

He is recuperating at home — 3127 Hanlon — will be in for a spell. Keep his spirits up, let him know you remember his grand work and that you wish him well.

He is retired because of his illness, but with your prayers and best wishes, he just might be able to be up and about before the year is out.

• • •

People, places and things

The thermometer in the 3300 block N. Charles St. on Sunday registered 82 degrees, but air condition made it comfortable inside the magnificent Cathedral of Mary Our Queen.

Before the 3 p.m. convocation began, nearly all of the 1800 seats were filled. Just before the colorful procession entered, most of the standees were permitted to occupy empty reserved seats.

Sunday's Convocation saw Lawrence Cardinal Shehan present Papal and Archdiocesan awards to 35 priests and laymen, including three non - Catholics — a Rabbi and two Protestants.

We were there because Charles E. Brown was among seven laymen on whom the Knighthood of St. Gregory was conferred in recognition of their 'distinguished service to the church.'

• • •

Mr. Brown is a lifetime member of St. Peter Claver where he is a leader in many areas; and he is a member of the Archdiocesan School Board.

Of the eight Cardinal Gibbons Medals presented, one went to Wallace Carberry, for four decades a butler at the Archdiocesan house.

• • •

Mr. Carberry, now 84, used a cane and was assisted to the high altar by two men.

• • •

Non - Catholics who received similar medals for promoting goodwill through radio and television programs were: Rabbi Abraham Schusterman and the Revs. Frederick W. Heller and John T. Middaugh.

Most Rev. T. Austin Murphy, auxiliary bishop of Baltimore noted the medals honored the late Cardinal who recognized men of other religions, regardless of race, color, nationality, in the promotion of Christian unity.

Highest honor was that of Prothonotary Apostolic conferred on the Rt. Rev. Joseph M. Nelligan.

• • •

News From Eastside

By CHARLOTTE W. MASON

Our Good Neighbor of the week is pleasant Franklin C. Blackmon, of the offices of the Baltimore Transit Company.

He and his lovely wife Janie (a school nurse) live in the 2700 block of Virginia Ave.

Mr. Blackmon is a native Baltimorean and attended Dunbar High School. He is an active member of Mt. Pleasant Baptist Church and sings with the Male Chorus. The Rev. L. L. Williams is his pastor.

Photography, fishing, hunting, bowling, swimming, TV and entertaining at cook-outs are his hobbies. Southern fried chicken and banana pudding are his wife's (or vice versa) favorite dishes and "Blessed Assurance" and the 23rd Psalm provide special inspiration.
