Campaigning new phase, says CIG

Expanding its focus to now include political awareness, the Civic Interest Group has scheduled its voting campaign kickoff meeting for July 10 at Annapolis for the Southern Maryland Counties.

A political education-political participation campaign is planned for Anne Arundel, Charles, Calvert and St. Mary's counties.

CIG has announced that its purpose will be "to coordinate CIG and communal representatives' efforts in making colored citizens politically aware of the potential power that is theirs in the vote.

CITING THE Presidential Election as a prime example of the power in the colored man's vote, CIG is now concerned with the law-making process in Maryland.

Cornell Morton, director of the planning committee, stated: "What does it avail us if we have Civil Rights Laws and the politicians fail to appropriate sufficient money to implement those laws?

"What does it avail if we have elected officials who are insensitive to the needs of minorities? Do the colored citizens of Maryland have proportional representation in county government, in the state legislation?"

The planned meeting will include a presentation of the historical aspects of voter registration campaigns in other districts throughout the nation as well as its application to the Southern Maryland vote movement.

Dr. Holder named child service head

Dr. William L. Holder has been appointed director of Community Services for Children and Adolescents for the Department of Mental Hygiene, Dr. Isadore Tuerk, commissioner of the department, announced this week.

Dr. Holder received his A. B. degree from Emory University, Atlanta and his M. D. degree from the University of Maryland School of Medicine. He has been employed in Montgomery County and in Michigan and Florida in the areas of adolescent and child psychiatry.

TRAFFIC SIGNALS

New traffic signals have been installed at Chase Street and Patterson Park Avenue and at The Alameda and Walker Avenue, Transit-Traffic Commissioner James L. Foley Jr., reported today.

Charming Fulbright winner talks about studies, marriage, travel

By BRENDA L. THOMPSON

What does Miss Carolyn Harcum of 716 E. 21st St., Morgan State's top-ranking June, 1965 graduate and Fulbright recipient, expect from her stay in Caracus, Venezuela?

"I expect a better understanding and closer involvement into the lives of the people. Sending their history and literature should help me live some of their experiences," bright-eyed Carolyn explained.

The 23 year old was one of five Morgan State College graduates to receive a grant to study in the country of their choice.

Did you take a test for the Fulbright?

"No test is required for the Fulbright. After a series of applications, recommendations and interviews by the State Department, the selections are made," Miss Harcum stated.

Miss Harcum, along with other Fulbright recipients, has just completed a period of orientation at Georgetown University. One part of the period, she said, "was devoted to lectures on such topics as Vietnam, Latin American, Civil Rights and the Dominican Republic.

But the main point strongly emphasized during orientation she said, "is to speak the language as much as possible. This will definitely help me to polish my own pronunciation," the charming miss exclaimed.

• • •

WHAT MAKES a student interested in other languages?

Miss Harcum did not know about others, but as for herself, she recalled, "during the summer after high school, graduation, I bought a Readers' Digest in Spanish. After reading it, I decided that I had learned so much and was so captivated that I felt I should learn more."

Is there any reason why four of the five Fulbright winners at Morgan are foreign language majors?

"No," Miss Harcum remarked, "they were the ones who passed the qualifications."

CAROLYN HARCUM

She believes that a mixture of interested teachers and serious students resulted in the Fulbright awards. She is particularly thankful to her instructors for their stress on co-curricular activities.

"In order to learn a language other means than the classroom must be provided." Miss Harcum said thoughtfully.

"You shouldn't depend entirely on the professors and the textbooks for knowledge Miss Harcum gave as the secret to her educational success.

• • •

SHE GRADUATED with a 3.3 average out of a possible 4.0 The class whiz said that "a lot of things that helped me in the classroom I obtained through reading newspapers and attending school-sponsored lectures and concerts."

As avid reader, she said, "I love books and read mostly historical novels. Frank Yerby is my favorite author.

When she is not reading novels and school books, the majority of her time is spent reading about Spain and Latin-America.

What piece of literature would you choose if you could curl up in a corner and read?

"Well," she said pensively, "the New York Times, because it would contain the variety of literature types that I would be interested in."

Do you and your family read the AFRO?

"Yes, we have been AFRO readers for years. And I am especially proud of it because I can find out what's going on in the colored world that I am not likely to see in any other newspaper. In the section called "People in the News" I learn about colored men throughout the nation.

"I feel that the colored man should learn and study the background of his race as well as American history in general," she stated proudly.

• • •

One thing that Miss Harcum looks forward to in the AFRO is "a better coverage of national and international events."

• • •

ASKED IF she had any habits that contributed to her success, the five feet, three inches tall Miss stated, "yes, curiosity, if you call it a habit. It has really paid off."

Practical in her outlook, Miss Harcum said that she likes comfortable and practical clothes (mostly knitted suits) and persons who are sincere - conversationalists with something to contribute to a discussion.

Like most females Miss Harcum has matrimonial plans for sometime in the future. She said, somewhat skeptically, that she agreed with an article that she read which stated that more and more colored women are graduating than males.

"Therefore, the chances of marrying a man on my educational level get slimmer as my education increases. And it is only natural to expect to wed a man on or above my level," she added.

MISS HARCUM will leave for Venezuela in September and said, "I am looking forward to my trip. It will be one of my most exciting and rewarding experiences.

She fully intends to take advantage of the social life found there. And the best way to do that is to join in the conversations carried on in the cafes.

The youngest of six children, Miss Harcum said that "my family is quite happy and went through the same periods of anxiety that I experienced."

When she returns from Venezuela, a position as assistant professor of Spanish at the University of Illinois awaits her. Her stay will be financed by the university.

She was an education as well as a Spanish major at Morgan. And Miss Harcum's ambition is to teach Spanish at the college level.

A record of being a good student follows Miss Harcum from School No. 181 and Eastern High School from which she was graduated in June, 1961. At that time she received a scholarship to Morgan.

At Morgan, Miss Harcum participated in many activities. They include: Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, modern dance, Civic Interest Group, Alpha Kappa Mu honor society, Kappa Delta Pi (education honor society) and the English Club.

She was president of the Spanish Club, secretary of the French Club and elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities for 1964-65.

• • •

MISS HARCUM is stepdaughter of Mrs. Esther Harcum, a teacher at School No. 139, and the daughter of late Raymond Harcum, who worked at the Post Office for over 25 years.

Now Eastsiders, the Harcums lived in West Baltimore for about eight years in the 2700 block Presbury St.

Three other Harcum children have been graduated from college. And of the girls, Miss Harcum smiled, "my two older sisters have contributed morally, spiritually, and especially financially to my education.

• • •

THE TWO SISTERS are: Mrs. Constance Sabre, teacher, and wife of Gerald Sabre who works at General Motors and Mrs. Patricia Speights, teacher, and wife of Carlton Speights who is a student at Coppin State College. Both sisters teach at Elementary School No. 225.

Miss Harcum also has two step-sisters, Tina and Cheryl Cole, who are Mrs. Harcum's daughters by a previous marriage. Tina, 16, is a 1965 graduate of Eastern High. Cheryl, 15, is a sophomore at Morgan.

The three Harcum brothers are: Raymond, the oldest, who is working on graduate work in English at the University of Maryland. He is married to the former Henrietta Evans of this city.

Richard is single and Max is married to the former Sandra Bennett, also of this city. Both work at the Bethlehem Steel Company.

TEEN CORNER

By BETTY MATTHEWS

Greetings . . . allow me to introduce myself. I am Betty Matthews, a senior at Western High School. I will be your new teen - age columnist for the summer . . . keeping in step with the pace set by Vashti Smith, (who by the way is away at Blair Summer School.

Don't forget to write or call me and tell me about your affairs, receptions, picnics—everything going on in B-more. HASTE MAKES WASTE.

• • •

SOPHISTICATED MISSES

The Sophisticated Misses, a new group, are giving a picnic at Patapsco State Park, today Friday, (July 9). COME ONE COME ALL - but bring your own food. There is still time to call Peggy Snead, business manager, for details. (532-2852).

• • •

ROBIRTA GILL, graduate of Eastern High, gave a "dy-no" birthday cook - out at Columbia Beach in Shady Side Maryland, Saturday.

The gang swam, boated, and water skiied. They also partied with John Turner, Jack and Jiller from D. C., who also gave a pretty crowded hop.

• • •

Seen around were: Eric Peck, Toni Wood, Erica Fry, Barnett Brooks, Yolanda Johnson, Robert Hall Carroll Woodford, Charles Woodford, Betty Matthews, Tom Turner, Robert Matthews, Dwight Jefferson, Guy Rawlings, John Turner, David Skinner, and many other people not known at this writing.

THE WRITER HAS just returned from the Jack and Jill convention in Camden, N. J., where I was the official delegate from Baltimore.

The latest dance craze was the Boo - ga - loo, and everyone there knew how to do it by the time they left.

I met a lot of new friends and I will take this opportunity to say "hi" to all of them since I know they will buy 20 copies of this week's newspaper.

To: Charles Marr from Brooklyn, N. Y., Henry Hucules, Mike Hucles, Frank Hattley and Kay Garth also from Brooklyn. Bruce Gorden from Camden, N. J. Barbara Place from N. J., Micky Hinton from Connecticut, and Michelle Steward from Springfield, Mass. Hey gang, keep swinging.

All Jack and Jill groups in the Eastern Region donated money to SNCC, and I am proud to say that Clarence Mitchell III was there to receive the money.

No local girls in Job Corps dismissals

The recent dismissals of girls because of alleged immorality at the Girls Job Corps Training Center in St. Petersburg, Fla. involved no Baltimore girls, the director of the local recruiting center said this week.

Mrs. Cathleen Embury said the screening center, sponsored by Women in Community Service, now has 52 girls at the four training centers in St. Petersburg, Cleveland, Ohio and the recently opened ones in Los Angeles and Charleston, W. Va.

Another 41 girls have been accepted by the Job Corps and are awaiting travel orders to one of the centers—which has facilities for 200 girls each.

Screening — including home visits and physical checkups — has already begun for the remaining 150 local girls who have applied for the Job Corps, Mrs. Embury stated.
