Frisby to live in igloo on next trip to Arctic

On July 27, Herbert M. Frisby of 3403 Bateman Ave., the famous Baltimore arctic explorer, will make his 21st annual pilgrimage into the Far North.

This time, his trip will be a little different. He is going to live with an Eskimo couple in Point Hope, Alaska.

Mr. and Mrs. Octoolik will lodge and board Dr. Frisby as a member of their own family and they are going to make him a member of their tribe.

Where will Dr. Frisby live?

In an igloo of course. That's where the Octooliks live.

What will he eat?

"I suspect that the menu will consist mostly of blubber, seal, whale and walrus meat. I will be provided a small oil stove in case I want to cook my food."

None of this will be entirely new to Dr. Frisby. His frequent visits have acquainted him with the customs, habits and pleasures of the Eskimos.

* * *

AND WHAT has he found? Only that the Eskimos like some of the same things Americans like and he will carry some of these items to them.

"For the kids I will have 1,000 lollipops, 1,000 rubber balloons and pieces of bubble gum, plus 500 sample packages of cigarettes for the women," he said.

Dr. Frisby aid that Eskimos like to decorate their parkas so he has collected about 10 pounds of beads and discarded necklaces given him by feminine friends.

Two years Ago, the Canadian government gave him permission to observe and study their program for modernizing the Canadian Eskimos by changing them from a hunting to a wage economy in order to develop certain dormant natural resources.

Now the U' government is conducting a similar project at Point Hope (located in the most northwestern part of Alaska and close to Siberia).

On his own, Dr. Frisby has arranged to spend several weeks there, studying this experiment and comparing it with Canada's.

* * *

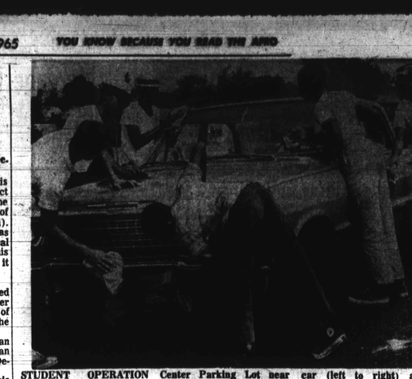
DR. FRISBY is a noted Arctic and polar explorer who was the second man of his race to arrive at the North Pole.

In June, 1964, Morgan State College gave him an honorary Doctor of Laws Degree.

He is best known for his research that proved another Marylander, Matthew A. Henson, was the first man to reach the North Pole. He accompanied Admiral Robert E. Peary on the April 6, 1909, discovery.

In 22 years, Dr. Frisby has made 21 pilgrimages, missing only 1961 when he was instrumental in establishing the Matthew A. Henson Memorial at the State House in Annapolis.

He also initiated a Memorial at Morgan State College.



STUDENT OPERATION — Staffed and manned by students, this car - washing scene takes place daily, except Monday, on the Mondawmin Shopping Center Parking Lot near Tiger Parkway. The five - minute job costs 95 cents and helps provide summer work for youths 14 to 18 years old. On far side of car (left to right) are: Thomas Queen, Robert Diles and McKinley Faulcon. Polishing near side are Everett Eley, Lester Bailey and Robert Bailey.

Student car washers learn as they earn

"Help Support Students," proclaims the sign in front of the car wash at Mondawmin Shopping Center.

For 95 cents you can have your car washed while you shop and help provide summer employment for high school students — all at the same time.

This unique experiment, operating under the non-profit Student Development Program, aims to create work opportunities for 14 - to 18 - year - old students, who are faced with a lack of jobs during the summers.

Developed by Mike Wittig, who has had graduate training in the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Business, the car wash in Mondawmin and another in the Towson Shopping Center across from Hutzlers employ 17 youths.

* * *

MORE THAN just summer jobs, the two operations are really business training programs, explains Marvin Matthews, manager of the Mondawmin branch.

The students operate the business themselves with their own assistant managers and foremen — and keep accurate records on each car washed.

Open every day except Monday from 8:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. (and until 2:30 p.m. on Sunday), the five - minute car wash in Mondawmin is located on the parking lot across from Big Valu near Tioga Parkway.

The space for the operation was donated by the shopping center. Rudolph Gregory, 17, a Carver High School senior, is assistant manager.

By next summer the originators of the student program hope also to include crews of baby sitters, lawn cutters and window washers among their answers to the employment problem.

HERBERT FRISBY

From The Eastside

By CHARLOTTE W. MASON

Our Good Neighbor of the week is friendly Earl W. Jones. Mr. Jones, a native of Baltimore, and his lovely wife Frances are the proud parents of two handsome sons. They are Bruce, 11, a 5th grade student at Barclay Elementary School, and Glenn, 9, who is in the 4th grade.

The family attends St. Matthews M.E. Church.

Mr. Jones graduated from Douglass High School and has attended Morgan State College. He is a member of the Alpha Kappa Psi Fraternity and at present is a volunteer counselor with Camp Llewellyn at Severn, Md. His hobbies include building miniature models, bowling, boxing and watching The Fugitive and Combat. His favorite meal is barbeque spareribs.

NEIGHBORS OUT Boone Street way, remember to attend the "Fish Fry Dynamic" at Douglass High School this weekend at her home. Proceeds will be used to help sponsor several neighborhood children. Get on the band wagon neighbors. Help some child.

Popular Ollie Mizeur of the 2600 block Boone St. tossed an elegant dinner party Sunday for her relatives who moved up from Greenville, N.C.

The group traveled in a bus motorcade to visit with the Mt. Calvary Baptist Church located in the 1600 block Oliver St.

Enjoying a grand time were: Mr. and Mrs. James T. McLawhorn and John Williams, Mrs. Lee King, Mrs. Alice Anderson and Miss Susie Lewis. While here James McLawhorn Jr. received the wonderful news from his parents that he had received a four - year scholarship from North Carolina College. Congrats James.

BIG DOINGS are going on down at Camp Llewellyn in Severn . . . All this week the staff continued painting and generally giving the camp a fresh look for the grand opening. With the wonderful encouragement of my dear hubby and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Langston Harris (on whose property the camp is located) we would be lost.

In the mail next week will be invites to many of our friends for them to come take a look see. At the present we are getting out list of children together who will attend the first week. See you there.

Gadabouting In Baltimore

Flemings to Africa with warm memories

By Lula Jones Garrett

When the G. James Flemings have Sunday, on their year - long overseas trip, they will have memories that Baltimore is a warm friendly place, and that one does not have to be an "Old Baltimorean" in order to be taken into our collective hearts.

The truth is, Hazel and Jim have had to say "No" to scores of bon voyage affairs, in order to find time to complete all the chores necessary to leaving.

Not only did Baltimoreans flood them with social gestures, but also with suggestions, — names of "contacts" and countless other hints that will make their visit to 12 African nations and to some European countries a success.

Mrs. Mary Cushing Niles, Dr. and Mrs. Martin D. Jenkins, Dr. and Mrs. Cyril F. Atkins, the Edwin Palmers, the Sandye McIntyres, Dr. Richard I. McKinney, Col. and Mrs. Merly Smith, Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin A. Quarles, Dr. and Mrs. Frank A. DeCosta and Mr. and Mrs. James H. Pollard are among those who shared their experiences with the Flemings.

On the social side, the Colored Women's Democratic Club honored Dr. Fleming with a reception to say "Thank you for all you have done for us as an organization and to advance our people politically."

A dinner party was given at Olney Inn, Olney, Md. by Dr. Jessie Colson. Another dinner party in the Trulieric Restaurant had the Josiah F. Henrys as hosts.

Hazel was the honoree at luncheon when the Kindred Spirits and The Group, both composed of her co-workers in the school system, entertained.

The DeCostas, who recently spent two years in Nigeria, gave an African buffet, Friday evening, for 30 guests, serving all Nigerian dishes. A few days earlier, Dr. and Mrs. Simon Carter entertained at a patio party for about 30 guests in their honor . . . and the Merly Smiths were hosts at cocktails on Saturday in their county home on Liberty Road.

Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jackson of Charleston Rd. were hosts at brunch for 20 guests in honor of the Flemings. The Pierians, of which Mrs. Fleming is retiring president, had a special program at their closing dinner meeting in honor of their currently travelling members, presented each with a gift.

While the Flemings were discouraging gift giving (after all, they can only take 40 pounds of luggage) friends just ignored those protestations. The faculties of Pimlico Elementary School and School No. 64, in which Hazel served as a school social worker, gave her gifts and the Scholars of the Institute for Political Education gave Dr. Fleming a transistor radio.

What Baltimoreans did, many out - of - towners also did, especially persons such as James and Dorothy Parker of Howard University, who also were guests of the Flemings; Elmer W. Henderson, counsel to the House Committee of Governmental Expenditures, and Anthony and Elsadie Carlisle, he of the Voice of America and she of National Education Association.

Dr. Fleming, who is a member of the Commission on Historical and Architectural Preservation, and has been a member of the Commission on Redistricting and other public bodies, will also carry with him beribboned letters of introduction to VIPs aboard from Gov. J. Millard Tawes and Mayor McKeldin.

Dr. and Mrs. Fleming will leave Friendship Airport Sunday morning via Pan American. Their first stop will be Paris where Dr. Fleming will remain for a week before leaving for Africa. Mrs. Fleming will remain in Paris and vicinity until October 1 . . . the vicinity being Fontainbleau, 45 miles from Paris. Then she will go to Africa.

They will spend some time in Sierra Leone, Liberia, Ghana, Nigeria, Dahomey, Toga, Cameroon, the two Congos, Southern Rhodesia, Zambia, Kenya, Tanzania, Uganda, Somalia, Ethiopia and Egypt. They will return July 1, 1966 via Greec, Italy and Denmark.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank A. DeCosta (he's dean of Morgan's Graduate School) will occupy the Fleming residence on Southern Avenue while they are away.

Miss Oglesby to Mr. Callaman

The marriage of Miss Jo Ann Oglesby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Oglesby, and Melvin A. Callaman Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvon A. Callaman Sr., took place Saturday in the Walbrook Trinity Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Thomas P. Fasanella officiated with the double-ring ceremony. Miss Juanita Davis was organist. A reception was held in the church auditorium.

THE BRIDE was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was made of silk organza embroided with lace and clusters of seed pearls, and having a matching detachable train. Her veil was attached to a headpiece of mother of pearl and rhinestones.

Her bouquet was a cascade of carnations, stephonotis and baby's breath, with satin ribbon bow.

Miss Barbara Oglesby, her sister and maid of honor, wore a floor - length pink peau de soie empire gown. The bridesmaids wore identical dresses in pastel shade and carried cacade of carnations to match their dresses. Brief veils were attached to their jeweled headpieces.

Jey were Misses Brenda, Joyce and Betty Oglesby, also sisters of the bride.

Annette Maria Smith, flower girl, was in write organdy, and wore a head - piece that consisted of a veil and double bow. Her flowers were white.

* * *

FRANK COAKLEY, JR. was best man for Mr. Callaman. The ushers were Calvin Gaither, Luther Hardin and Elijah Dorsey. Frank Johnson assisted in the narthex of the church.

Mrs. Oglesby, mother of the bride, chose an ensemble of pink silk with matching cape and accessories.

Mrs. Callaman wore a turquoise silk ensemble with matching accessories.

Upon their return from their wedding trip to Atlantic City and New York, Mr. and Mrs. Callaman, Jr. will occupy their home at 3804 Fernhill Avenue.

Should the church fight for civil rights?

Strong and bitter voices contend that social action is not a concern of religion and, therefore, the Church must not become involved in the struggle for racial equality.

But the Church is involved... and many of its members feel a deep commitment to fight for the victims of social injustice.

AUGUST REDBOOK reports on the deepening crisis which faces our churches today.

Who are the religious leaders who speak for equality?

What are the pressures used to thwart them?

Can the Church recover from the tragic split between those who think its only job is to save souls and those who feel it has another important obligation to the problems of the world?

Be sure to read "How the Civil Rights Struggle Challenges our Churches"...first in a two-part report in
