Nathan Boyd sings

SPOLETO, Italy (NPI) — Nathan Boyd, native of Los Angeles living in Italy, gave commendable performance in singing the title role in Verdi's "Othello" at the Festival of Two Worlds.

Christmas in July program at Mohawk

Temperatures were in the 90's, on Saturday, but it was Christmas at the YMCA's Camp Mohawk in Huntingtown, Md.

Under the guidance of Charlie Dugger and other counselors directed by A. P. Moss and Richard Mattocks, the campers carried on Yuletide activities.

There were Christmas trees and decorations, exchange of gifts and a costumed Santa Claus in the person of Michael Coleman.

This weekend winds up the last period for boy campers. Girls enroll Monday through August 23.

Local man wins promotions award

James Gordon, 1735 McKean Ave., has won the outstanding achievement award in the promotion of Epic and Okeh records, in an international competitive contest.

He was awarded plaque at the record company's national convention recently held in Miami. Presentation was by Len Levy, vice president, Epic Records.

The first of his race to win the award, Mr. Gordon, 29, is a promotions representative with Marnel of Maryland a records distributing company here.

He won the award on merits of his promotions here, in Washington and Virginia, with his ability to photograph recording artists, write stories of their appearances for news media and arrange public appearance dates.

Mr. Gordon is a 1956 graduate of Douglass H. i g h School, a member of Payne Memorial AME Church and has been in promotions work three years with the company.

LBJ sets confab on fair hiring law

President Johnson announced Monday that a White House conference will be held Aug. 19 - 20 to plan "fair and effective administration" of equal employment provisions of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

"In this period of great social change the nation is at long last beginning to face the varied and complex problems of our minority groups," Johnson said in a statement.

"My interest in the employment problem is of many years standing and I am anxious that our progress continue. The conference can and should be a useful instrument."

The White House said the conference would bring together members of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, its staff and more than 300 representatives of various interests. These include employers, unions, employment agencies, public and private organizations, and state and local fair employment commissions.

THE EQUAL Employment Opportunity Commission, established under title 7 of the 1964 Act, went into operation on July 2 with Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. as chairman.

In his announcement, Johnson said:

"Basic to our national goal of equality of treatment and opportunity for all Americans is the assurance that employment will be on the basis of the applicant's ability and qualifications to do the job rather than for irrelevant factors of race, religion, national origin or sex. It is clear to all that economic strength is essential to achieving equality of housing, education and public accommodation."

Kiddies to be treated to 'Pinocchio' shows

The remaining four of the five scheduled live theatre performances of "Pinocchio" are to be held the coming week free for children in East Baltimore's Community Action Agency's anti-poverty project area.

The performances, sponsored by the city and given by the Children's Theatre Association with its showmobile, will be at these locations:

Monday — School No. 26, Eden and Biddle Sts.

Tuesday —School No. 97, Callington Ave. and Hoffman St.

Wednesday — School No. 101, Biddle and Waltz Sts.

Thursday — School No. 102, 401 N. Central Ave.

Time of each performance at these places will be 11 a.m.

First of the five shows was held Thursday at School No. 2, Central Ave. and Stiles St.

The Board of Estimates recently approved the expenditure of $1,000 to underwrite the city's sponsorship.

Doctors' offices asked beside new Provident

A decision on whether to allow construction of a building to house two non-resident doctors' offices and four dwelling units at 2629 Liberty Heights Ave. faces the Board of Municipal and Zoning Appeals Tuesday.

The location is adjacent to the grounds of the new Provident Hospital site.

Dr. Claude D. Hill and Dr. Oakley H. Saunders, with George L. Russell Jr. as their attorney, are asking construction of the building.

Among the other cases scheduled to be heard beginning at 1 p.m. in Room 231 City Hall, are:

An appeal asking the housing of three families at 12 S. Calhoun St.

And another, asking the construction of three apartments containing 110 dwelling units on the urban renewal site at 1501-05 Madison Ave., 1500-16 Eutaw Pl. and 345 McMechen St.

Norfolk Evening College deadline

NORFOLK, Va. — Persons who wish to attend Evening College at Norfolk State College this fall must submit applications by August 26, evening college officials announced last week.

The Evening College, which last year had an enrollment of about 600, will offer programs to meet the needs of various segments of the community.

Persons desiring information on fees or courses are asked to contact Dr. H. D. Carpenter Jr., director of the Evening College at MA 7-4371, Extension 200 or 201.

Students in poverty unit going to MSC

At least two students enrolled in the special Economic Opportunity Action Summer Program at Dunbar High School have decided to enter college in the fall, Mrs. Elizabeth Brooks reported.

Calvin Avant and Miss Cecelia Alexander, both June graduates of Dunbar have enrolled in Morgan State College as freshmen.

Mr. Avant plans to major in languages and Miss Alexander in physical education.

Mrs. Brooks, principal of the summer school program, said Mr. Avant had shown an "ability to handle difficult situations."

She explained that during a Spanish class session, the teacher was called away on an emergency.

The student immediately moved in and took the class over until the arrival of a substitute, Mrs. Brooks declared.

that her decision to attend

MISS ALEXANDER said college was as a direct result of her participation in the summer EOA program.

She said she had no special aspirations until Mrs. Frances P. Gaines, her home room teacher, encouraged her to enroll.

Liberians celebrate

WASHINGTON (NNPA) — The Liberian Embassy last Monday celebrated 118 years of independence for the West Africa country, with a reception and buffet at the home of Ambassador and Mrs. S. Edward Peal.

Charge d'Affaires and Mrs. Charles Hansford acted as hosts in the absence of the Peals, who departed two weeks ago for a trip that will take them to Mexico, Haiti, Jamaica, Brazil, and Liberia. They are due to return to the Embassy in early September.

In Monrovia, the Liberian capital, President William V. S. Tubman marked the event by reviewing units of the armed forces. He appealed to African countries to uphold the charter of the Organization of African Unity and avoid "coups d'etat, internal warfare and subversive activities."

Take first in apparel contest

LOS ANGELES — Taking first place in national apparel competition of National Association of Fashion and Accessory Designers, at the Ambassador Hotel during 16th annual convention were: apparel, LACHE Leslie, Washington, D.C.; millinery, Mildred Wade, Los Angeles; special category, shoes, Norma Peterson, Los Angeles; junior designer first place, Tina King, Philadelphia.

Building begins at Bolton Square

Groundbreaking for a new group of town houses in Bolton Hill was held this morning (Friday) with Mayor McKeldin and representatives of BURHA participating in the brief ceremonies.

The town house development, located on a 2.5 acre site and known as Bolton Square, will open with seven houses along Lafayette Ave. east of Linden Ave.

Construction, approved by the renewal agency earlier this month, will begin August 2 and the first of the sample houses is scheduled for completion by the end of November.

SESSIONS AT TOWSON

AFRO among sponsors of newspaper workshop

Seventy-five public school teachers are attending "Newspaper in the Classroom" Workshop which opened Monday at Towson State College and will continue through August 5.

Co-sponsors with the college are the Maryland State Dept. of Education, the Maryland-Delaware Press Association, the AFRO - AMERICAN, Sunpapers and News American.

The workshop is designed primarily to provided advisers with back-ground information about newspapers, so that they may better encourage pupils to become informed through the mass media and develop intelligent opinions on current affairs.

At the opening session Monday representatives of the three newspapers explained how their publications serve the schools.

They included George W. Collins, AFRO City Editor, Albert Adler, assistant promotion manager, News American; and Howard Baetjer, public relations director, the Sunpapers.

Dr. Gilbert Hill, dean of the college, welcomed the teachers and George Campplaine, president, Maryland Delaware Press Association, tion, brought greetings.

TUESDAY SESSION dealt with "The Scholastic Press," and featured lectures by Dr. Dreck L. Burleson, Scholastic Magazine, Inc., and Ward Whipple, editor, Civic Leader.

The workshop moved to Washington Wednesday where the teachers visited the White House and heard a lecture by William D. Moyers, Presidential press secretary.

Lunch in the Senate dining room and an address by Dr. David Gottlieb of the Office of Economic Opportunity ended the session.

Max Johnson, AFRO political analyst, was among newspaper representatives when the teachers heard at the Thursday session discussions on "Government and the Press."

NEIL SWANSON, world affairs editor, News American; Bruce Winters, political writer for the News American and the Sunpapers, respectively, were other newspaper representatives taking part in the program.

"Covering the International Scene" will be the topic of discussion today (Friday). Glen Ford Mithcell, of the Afro-American Institute and Adam Clymer of the Washington Bureau of the Sun, are speakers.

DIRECTOR OF the workshop is Mr. Vernon Wanty, assistant professor of English and journalism at Towson.

Formerly a weekly newspaper editor, before coming to Towson, Mr. Wanty taught journalism at Michigan State University and Westminster College, Pa.

CORE has own findings on slaying

NEW YORK (UPI) — CORE Wednesday prepared to challenge the findings of a Brooklyn Grand Jury which exonerated a rookie white policeman who shot and killed a colored ex-convict.

A CORE spokesman said its own findings would be made public at the same time the grand jury's presentment of the investigation is filed in court, probably next week.

The jury voted Tuesday that patrolman Sheldon Liebowitz, 23, had acted in self-defense when he fatally wounded Nelson Erby, 28, on a busy street in Brooklyn's racially tense Bedford - Stuyvestant section July 15. Erby, who had a long police record, grabbed Liebowitz's revolver and shot the patrolman in the arm, police said.

The jury heard 36 witnesses, including the wounded policeman carried by stretcher from his hospital bed, and Stuart Maxwell, 20, a truck driver who came to the policeman's assistance.

Church group holds meeting

CHICAGO (NPI) — Up to 1,500 delegates converged on the city last week for week-long sessions of the 40th annual congress of the Metropolitan Spiritual Churches of Christ, Inc.

Convention headquarters was First Church of Deliverance, pastored by the Rev. Clarence H. Cobbs, congress president. Co - host was the Chicago Ministers' and Laymen's council, the Rev. L. L. Smith, president.

THE CITY'S official welcome was delivered by Third Ward Democratic Alderman Ralph Metcalfe on behalf of Mayor Daley —out of town for funeral rites for Ambassador Adlai Stevenson. The State of Illinois and Gov. Otto Kerner welcomed delegates through State Rep. Corneal Davis, (D-Chicago).

Highlight of the program was the presentation of a trophy to Rev. Cobbs for his "leadership, inspiration and foresight." Throughout the week, delegates and guests were uplifted by daily programs presenting distinguished guest speakers, devotions, and musicals. The Rev. Archbald J. Carey was guest speaker at an opening session.

Teacher found dead at home

Mrs. Gloria L. Christian, 31, a Cherry Hill school teacher was found dead in her bed early Wednesday morning, police reported.

The discovery was made by her husband, Edmond C. Christian, 2214 Lyndhurst St., at about 1:30 a.m. She was dead on arrival at Lutheran Hospital.

A neighbor, Mrs. Mammie Crocket, of 2216 Lyndhurst St., told investigators when she last saw Mrs. Christian, she appeared to have been all right.

Funeral services will be held 3 p.m. Saturday from the Gilmore Funeral Home, 1827 W. North Ave.

Burial will be Monday in the Baltimore National Cemetery.

A teacher since 1960, Mrs. Christian taught fifth grade class at the Cherry Hill Elementary School No. 159.

She was a graduate of Douglass High School and received her degree from Barber Scotia College, Concord, N.C.

Farmer tells Pittsburgh to use vote

James Farmer, CORE national director Wednesday urged the Pittsburgh area colored community to strengthen its position at the ballot box.

In prompting them to exercise their franchise, Farmer said:

"The colored vote is becoming a great power in northern cities, and as the percentage of the colored population increases, that power will grow."

Earlier, at a news conference, Farmer hammered at a favorite CORE theme here — the establishment of a civilian review board in Pittsburgh to investigate claims of police brutality.

Charging that there has been "a rash of police brutality in northern cities, including Pittsburgh," Farmer said the civilian review board system has reduced the number of shootings by "trigger - happy police" in other cities.

WHITE YOUTH SHOT

100 troopers to Ga. town

Special to the AFRO AMERICUS, Ga., — One hundred state troopers were ordered into this city Thursday to prevent racial tempers from exploding following the slaying of a 21 - year - old white youth Wednesday night.

In the meantime civil rights leaders called off an all - night - vigil in front of the courthouse protesting the arrest of four women for seeking to vote in a segregated voting line last week. A 24 - hour moratorium has been called on protests.

The youth, Andy Whatley, a drive - in movie employee, was among a group of whites throwing rocks and bottles at colored persons in passing cars.

According to witnesses, three shots rang out from one such car and Whatley slumped to the ground. Police took up chase immediately and arrested Charlie Lee Hopkins and Eddie James Lamar. Both are charged with murder and being held without bond.

Justice of the Peace J. W. Southwell said a special Sumter County Grand Jury convened to investigate the slaying would take up their cases Monday.

PROTEST MARCHES have been conducted in downtown Americus, a Black Belt cotton town of 14,000, 48 per cent of which is colored, since Wednesday, July 21, when the four women were arrested.

One of them is Mrs. Mary Kate Bell, who came in rubnerup for the office of Justice of the Peace. She is the first colored person to run for public office in Sumter County since Reconstruction.

Local rights leaders maintion was rigged. Poll watchers were banned from the polls, and not all the votes were counted, they assert. They are demanding new elections.

THE MARCHES had been protected by city and state police, a contrast to the summer of 1963, when similar demonstrations were halted repeatedly by club - wielding, gun - toting lawmen.

Two major civil rights groups, SCLC and SNCC currently conducting voter registration campaigns in the area earlier this week had promised to make Americus one of their focal points in the South, along with Newton, in nearby Baker County.

Dr. Martin Luther King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference and the Student Non - Violent Coordinating Committee said Southwestern Georgia counties would dispel illusions of tranquility in Georgia.

John Lewis, chairman of SNCC blamed the slaying of the white youth a result of police inepiness in the face of the brewing violence. "If they had prevented the whites from harassing innocent bystanders, this may never have happened," he said.

EOA students to hear concert

A musical concert, featuring Ernest E. Johnson, baritone, will be presented Aug. 3, at Dunbar High School for students attending the Economic Opportunity Action Program.

Born in Richmond, Va., Mr. Johnson attended the George W. Howell School of Music and the New York City College of Music.

He has performed at the Water Gate in Washington, D.C., at the Chicago Opera House, and Carnegie Hall.

Baggage clerk held in assaults

A Greyhound Terminal baggage clerk has been charged with two counts of simple assault in connection with the beating Monday of a Fairfax, Va. couple returning from a weekend visit to New York.

City gets only half a vote—Brewster

Sen. Daniel B. Brewster (D-Md.) took the Senate floor this week for a lengthy speech in opposition to the "Tirksen Amendment," which would allow state legislatures to apportion one house on a basis other than population.

Calling the amendment "retrogressive and inappropriate," Sen. Brewster argued that it would leave state legislatures unbalanced in favor of rural interests.

He pointed out that urban interests are given less than their proper representation in Maryland. "Residents of these areas are, in effect, given only half a vote," in elections for the State Senate, he declared.

DURHAM, N. C. — Dr. Joseph S. Himes, chairman of the North Carolina College Department of Sociology, is spending the summer participating in an institute on problems of school desegregation at the Advancement School in Winston - Salem.
