GREATER BALTIMORE: Focus on the future

Greater Baltimore is one of the most dynamic metropolitan areas in the United States.

Westinghouse–Baltimore continues to play a leading role in the economics of metropolitan progress.

- ★ Employment is expected to reach 15,000 in the near future.
- ★ Six divisions, with eighteen plants and offices, engage in research, development, design and manufacture of electronics equipment for human endeavor from the ocean's floor to lunar landings.
- ★ Medical and industrial electronics equipment serves mankind on many fronts.

Westinghouse appliances and equipment serve the home, business and industry; public utilities, national defense, and in exploration beneath the seas and in outer space. Its contributions to science and technology have been numerous and impressive.

A greater Westinghouse will go hand in hand with the Greater Baltimore of the future!

Hob-Nobbers greet Year at gay party

With Lula Jones Garrett

It had been Teddy Born at the organ pulling out some hot tones for fancy dancing when, came midnight, the music softened and Auld Lang Syne filled the club room of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Moseley as the New Year was born.

'Twas the Hob Nobbers holding forth at their traditional New Year party. Members, husbands and guests had gathered early, and if you ask me, they left early, too. . early the next day. It was just one of that kind of party. . . gay from the first moment early comers clustered at the bar. . . until the morn when they dined on party food, including the good luck black-eyed peas, and returned to sipping and dancing.

They are a handsome lot those Hob Nobbers, and more so in the chic frocks they wore.

The members and their husbands include the Clarence (Janie) Briscoes, the Walter (Olivia) Dixons, the Sherlock (Ivy) Grinages, the James (Lillian) Lees, the Levi (Frederica) Lipscombs, the Herbert (Jewel) Moseleys, the Randolph (Lenora) Rigbys.

Also the Charles (Thelma) Robinsons, the Jerome (Mamie) Todds, the Payne (Harriett) Taylors, the Reginald (Clarice) Wattses, the Leonard (Ruth) Wilmores, the Glenn (Gwendolyn) Tarters, Pocahontas Anderson, Clarice Richardson and Ruth Welling.

To share the evening with them they invited:

The J. C. Reaves, Vernon Steffeys, Daniel Riggolds, John Murphys, 3rd., Verhell Lockwoods, Vernon Prouts.

Maxwell Chatmans (an accident kept him home, but she was there, a picture in white sequin), the Howard Spencers, the William Lees and Charles E. Jorgensens of Washington, the Walter Grays, the Kenneth Carters, the Bruce Edernys.

Also the Douglass Browns, the William Browns, the Cliff Mackays, the Medford Reynoldses, the Jess Arthur Graines of Hackensack, N.J., Anne Wayne, Doris Moore, Lillian Moseley, and Dr. Emmett Miller of Washington.

MEMBERS O F the Spockette Child Study group, casually garbed in their prettiest pants and tops, gathered in the Wentworth Avenue home of Leanna Webster for ther holiday session.

Regina Bernard, a member of the group, led a most interesting discussion on "Sharing."

Other members present were: Cherry Blackwell, Eugenia Britt, Lorraine Brown, Bettye Fitzgerald, Cardrienne Griffin, Norma Griner, Yvonne Mitchell, Barbara Patterson, Effietee Payne, Ponjola Priest, Alice Shelton, Shirley Stewart and Leanna Webster.

On Friday afternoon the middle age group of Spockette children held a bowling party at the Reisterstown Fairlanes. Joining in the fun were: Edward and Keith Bailey, Billy and Yvette Britt, Rae and Manya Bernard, Marc and Jada Dorcas, Ralph and Yolanda Finney, Elizabeth Griner, Marc and Jacqueline Hawkins, Melonie Priest and a guest Zollie Young.

DURING THEIR holiday meeting, the National Sorority of Phi Delta Kappa inducted Rosalie McGuire as basileus and honored members who have recently retired.

The latter included Sorors Bessie Anderson, Rebecca Brown, Orangie Epps and Alegra Taylor. Each of the former teachers received a silver bracelet.

Other officers inducted into this teacher group were Ruth Marshall, first anti - basileus; Thelma Rice, second anti-basileus; Lucille Johnson, third anti - basileus; Mary Sprow, grammateus; Della Macer, epistoleus; Alice Catlin, tamiouchus; Ethel Hunter, tamiouchus; and Gladys Wallace, dean of pledgees.

Sorors attending the dinner and meeting were:

Bessie Anderson, Gilda Brown, Mable Butler, Rebecca Brown, Alice Catlin, Bertha Cross, Ethel Clarke, Emma Davis, Ardenia Dixon, Louise Dennis, Orangie Epps, Alice Ford, Delores Hunt, Ethel Hunter, Dorothy Hunketh, Louise Jones, Lucille Johnson, Fannie Lawson, Della Macer, Ruth Marshall, Valnica McNeil, Sedonia Merrit, Jennie Nickens, Bennie Roey, Thelma Rice, Mary Sprow, Maggie Stokes, Allegra Taylor, Gladys Wallace, Dorothy Washington, Arnita Woodlon, Carolyn Willis and Helena Wright.

ELEGANT IS the word for the holiday session of the Baltimore chapter of Girl Friends, hosted by Doris Wheeler at the Forest Park Avenue manse. . . and the Lady herself set the elegance tone in a hostess coat of white jersey, and a holly sprigged hostess apron. The huge copper angel that held sway in her picture window . . . the pink felt runner bordered in green that sparked her buffet (she added multi-colored napkins) all bespoke the holiday. . . and the G. F's were in a mellow mood as they toasted Mae Williams' anniversary. . sang to the piano accompaniment of Georgeanna Chester's music.

At the meeting also were Olga Parker, Vera Williams, Bernice Chatman, Catherine Law, Catherine Wilson, Anita Wheatley, Frances Vessells, Laura Jones, Mae Parrott, Eliza Robinson and Irma Roy.

EARLIER IN the holiday, the Knitters had had a most soul - satisfying experience.

BEST BUYS

Start the year with family favorites

By VIRGINIA McLUCKIE
Food Economist

It may be well to start the year with traditionally favored foods of your family and guests. If you selected turkey for the holidays chances are cured or fresh ham will be favored. A sumptuous roast of beef will also be a welcomed change for the main course.

If ham is your choice find out before you buy if it is a regular smoked tenderized ham or one that is fully cooked so you know how to prepare it properly. There is less waste on a skinless ham.

* * *

BONELESS OR semi-boneless rolled hams usually are fully cooked and because of the processing cost more per pound. However you can expect less shrinkage and waste and nicer uniform slices from this type of ham.

Canned hams are ready to slice and eat cold or they may be heated before serving. Canned hams, three pounds and over, require refrigeration until they are used and should not be frozen.

SELECT THE vegetables you like to go with the meat choice. There are unlimited choices from fresh, canned and frozen offerings. It is not that the vegetables need to be different but it is only the way they are prepared, garnished, flavored and served that give them appeal.

When you entertain a buffet may include everything from soup to desserts. It may only include a few simple dishes. It may be served any time during the day or evening. Snacks are for friendly get togethers and they may be hearty or light depending upon the occasion. A bowl of fruit may be a snack bananas, red grapes are all time pleasure

Bright red apples, golden oranges, tangerines, yellow good buys and functional in a fruit bowl.

WHO TAKES THE ACHE OUT OF BAKING?
WONDERFUL WASHINGTON FLOURS!

Look for 'em in their bright new bags wherever you shop!

P.S. They cost no more at your favorite store!
