Catonsville News

After operating his store at Winters and Edmondson Ave. for 23 years, Elhena Washington is retiring.

Affectionately known as "Mr. Boo," to neighborhood children who loved him, Mr. Washington and his store, which had become a community institution, will be missed.

Local relatives of Mrs. Anna Hoskins of Philadelphia, who was buried last week, attended final rites.

They included cousins, Mesdames Jessie King, Mamie Williams, and Marjorie Dorsey. Mrs. Hoskins was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Harriday, formerly of Catonsville.

Funeral services for Mrs. Flora Terrell were held recently at the Grace Church with the Rev. C. E. Johnson officiating. Joseph and Samuel Tosell, brothers, survive.

Miss Henryette Jackson returned to New York last week after spending the holidays here with her mother, Mrs. Alvera Jackson.

SICK AND SHUT-INS—Marshall Brown is a patient at Fort Howard Hospital. Samuel Henson of Ellicott City is confined at Lutheran. Mrs. Gladys Combash was released from the hospital and is convalescing at home.

Plenty of sunshine to U.S. Public Health Hospital for Mrs. Warren Brown. She had ten - hour surgery on Monday for a blood clot on the leg.

Many know Mrs. Brown as the former Mattie Julian, member of that nationally known Julian family. Her mother, beloved Mrs. Elizabeth Julian, and other relatives live in our Baltimore town.

Mrs. Brown and her husband, Dr. Brown, the USIS expert U. S. Information Service), were living in Rhodesia until the uprising there, when he was transferred to Ghana.

Mrs. Brown flew home three weeks ago . . . is expected to remain in the states and fully recuperate before returning overseas.

Perfectly beautiful is the recently renovated Ames Methodist Church (Carey and Baker Sts.), of which the Rev. Ernest P. Clark is minister.

This is the church, where $83,000 was spent this spring to modernize facilities. Among them a new heating system complete relighting and rewiring of main floor and basement.

Completely remodeled were the nave and chancel. A huge cross between lighted ruby - colored glass panels dominates the choir and sanctuary area.

There are an illuminated altar, new walnut pews, and off - white walls, which highlight the red panels.

Milk notes: Baltimore City Health Commissioner, Dr. Robert Farber, reports this week that "it is now possible to say that Baltimore's milk is not touched by human hands from the cow to the consumer."

He explains: The use of milk cans by dairy farmers shipping milk to milk plants in Baltimore City has become extinct. All milk is now picked up at the dairy farms and transporting milk is an processing plants by tank trucks.

This method of collecting and transporting milk is another important factor in the production of clean safe milk for Baltimore City and is the result of excellent cooperation on the part of more than 1,000 dairy farmers in the Baltimore milkshed.

And, did you know the Health Department has pioneered a system of cleaning and sterilizing the interiors of the milk tanks on the trucks after each unloading at the milk plant?

This system has been studied by the milk industry in other areas and similar installations have been made in their milk processing operations.

P.S. —For the 10th consecutive year there was no instance of improper pasteurization of milk reported.

People remembering other people: At Thursday funeral services for Mrs. Emma Westcott Ball, the retired teacher, the Rev. Marcus G. Wood, minister of Providence Baptist Church of which Mrs. Ball was a charter member, said:

"Sister Ball exemplified the principles of Christianity in her everyday life. She will be remembered in our church and by her many friends for her quiet and lovable disposition; and her deep concern for CHRIST: His Cause and the Church.

"She provided a Memorial Window in the Sanctuary of our church for her late husband, Rev. Ball, and received honor for herself.

"She sent get - well cards each week to members on the Sick List and especially to those in the hospitals.

"She kept flowers on the Altar for her husband from the time of his death in January, 1956, until her death.

"She gave liberally of her means to the support of the church and especially Missions.

"Several years ago we asked our congregation to pledge for the Current Expenses of the church and give a free will offering for Missions.

"Sister Ball would give an envelope containing $1.00 in it for Missions each Sunday. This act led the Boards to include Missions on the pledge cards.

"Thus, our Mission budget grew from $1,000 a year to over $8,000 for the year 1960.

"Sister Ball served her church as a member of the David E. Owen Service Club, the M. G. Wood Fellowship Club, the Baptist Evening Fellowship and the Ladies Guild.

"She endured life as a good soldier for Jesus Christ. Her home was pleasant to visit because we truly spent in giving herself and her ideas and beliefs to others.

Good, good neighbor honors to Benson Harps, 3755 Columbus Drive.

He works as supervisor of boys' activities at the Md. Training School for Boys, but he spends many other hours serving youngsters and his community.

For example he has been an active Big Brother, (befriending wayward boys), has served the PTA of School No. 180, and the United Presbyterian Men of Cherry Hill who gave him a special citation in 1963;

AND, Mr. Harps has been youth advisor in Cherry Hill, worked with the Boy Scouts.

More importantly, this good neighbor of the week has not sought recognition or honors for himself.

Those who know will tell you he has worked diligently and unselfishly for the community, never tiring of giving of himself to help others.

Mr. Harps' family includes his wife, the former Margaret Strong, a Morgan State College employee; and their children, Kwame, Dawn and Adrienne.

Orchids to his family which willingly shares him with others.

About this and that

Thoughtful gesture: Mr. and Mrs. Vernon E. Johnson Sr. are giving a four - bed ward at the Anna Mae Hunter Home for the Blind (1321 N. Euatw).

It is a memorial for their son, Vernon Jr., the Army lieutenant who died a heroic death at his Kentucky base in April, 1964.

Many remember him as the popular Morgan State student, football player and ROTC leader.

Most unique holiday greeting received this year came from Mary Carter Smith - 1827 N. Caroline St.

It was an 8½ by 14 sheet of verses, timely thoughts, special recipes (African chicken, Bitsy's light fruit cake and Mama's Ambrosia.

Along with it came a 4-page card containing original verse in tribute to our friend, Charlotte Evangeline Williams, the librarian. Wasn't that thoughtful!

Typical verse: Lively, lovely, sincere as the day, how happy I am that she passed my way.

Red-face dept: Carver High faculty members blushed the other evening when it was observed the name of the new superintendent was incorrectly spelled on the testimonial program for Dr. Saul M. Perdue.

If it is any comfort to them, this is to advise other Baltimoreans are still having a hard time with the name of Dr. LaUrence G. PaQuin (no C), even though he has been here since August.

The December issue of the Principals' Association spells his name LaWrence.

P.S., close associates call him Larry.

How can a phone get any rest on a Sunday with Long Distance rates so low?

It can't, of course. Sunday is the day to find everyone at home . . . to swap good news . . . to share good humor.

And it costs so little. All day Sunday, you can make a 3-minute "station" call to any place in Maryland for 45¢ or less, and to any place in the continental U.S. at bargain rates, too.

Tawes stand revives talk of earnings tax

A preliminary check shows that a majority of the city's 39-member House delegation favors Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin's proposed legislative program to be placed before the General Assembly.

Of 29 members present at the reception held Tuesday evening at the Emerson Hotel for the City Assembly delegation by the mayor and Board of Estimates, 27 indicated they would support the program.

However, Gov. J. Millard Tawes announced Thursday he rejects the Cooper-Hughes Report, on which this planned financial aid to the city is based, because in its present form it provides no additional revenues for the state.

This means the mayor's earnings tax proposal is far from dead and again is spotlighted in City Council as, perhaps, the sole source now of raising necessary revenue for Baltimore to stave off a substantial hike in the poverty tax rate.

Gov. Tawes' rejection of the Cooper - Hughes Report Assembly passage, for respells its doom for General Ther the governor nor state lawmakers are prone to raise state taxes in this election year.

The court came in a caucus called immediately after the reception by Murray Abramson (4th D.), head of the House city delega-ati. n House's city delegation.

"We cant go to Annapolis with this program," Mr. Abramson commented afterwards, "and expect favorable results unless the whole city delegation is unified ini its support."

MARVIN MANDEL 5th D.) Speaker of the House, was less optimistic but ini a different vein.

"I think he said, "the mayor is asking for too much rather than concentrang on the Cooper-Hughes plan minus the Cooper - Hughes Report for what the city needs most, financial relief.

We just can't ask and expect the counties to give so much, when they are losing things themselves.

The mayor unveiled an 8 point program which also urged more funds for Friendship Airport, and poverty campaigns; Walters Art Gallery, and opposition to a proposal to place city Department of Public Welfare employees under the state merit system.

Hyman A Pressman, comptroller, told the assembly he had not been advised of the program prior to its airing that evening, and thus did not want to be on record as wholly favoring it.

Another matter that touched the caucus members less favorably was a congressional redistricting plan by Congressmen George H. Fallon, Samuel N. Friedel and Edward A. Garmatz.

The proposal, to be presented to the Assembly, is designed to retain in Baltimore Congressman Garmatz's 3rd District.

Mr. Abramson's group listened, but took no vote.

BISHOP PERRY HELPS DIRECT 600,000 LA. CATHOLICS

NEW ORLEANS — Bishop Harold Robert Perry has returned to the scene of his early collegiate educational triumphs as the first Roman Catholic colored America bishop of this century.

Son of a South Louisiana rice mill worker, Bishop Perry and his five brothers and sisters were all honor students at Xavier University here in New Orleans.

The 49-year-old prelate is now one of the two auxiliary bishops who serve under Archbishop Philip M. Hannan in this archdiocese with a Catholic population of more than 600,000.

Consecration of the new Bishop was held in solemn ceremonies at the historic Basilica of St. Louis on Jan. 6. His two surviving brothers and two sisters were at the consecration, along with ranking church officials from across the nation.

Bishop Perry, a native of Lake Charles, La., was made officially vicar-general and consultor of the archdiocese, coordinator of higher studies and pastor of Little Flower of Jesus Church.

Ten archbishops and some 50 bishops were on hand for the precedent shattering ceremonies, conducted principally by Archbishop Egidio Vagnozzi, the Apostolic Delegate to the United States.

OUTSIDE a crowd of about 100 stood in the chill air under grey skies. Mrs. B. J. Gallot, a segregationist excommunicated in 1962 for opposing Catholic school desegregation, and another woman picketed the ceremony.

She stood at her customary location for picketing services at the Basilica with a sign reading: "Jesus did not choose any non-white apostles," and "remember them O'Lord that defile the priesthood."

Another young woman passed out anti-bishop Perry Leaflets from the South Louisiana Citizens Council, whose leader, Jackson Riesu, was excommunicated along with Mrs. Gaillot and militant segregationist Leander Perez of Plaquemines Parish (County).

ASSISTING the apostolic delegate were Archbishop Hannan and Archbishop John Patrick Cody of Chicago, who served as Archbishop of New Orleans before his transfer.

Bishop Perry wore the gold vestments of the late Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel, who is buried in the Basilica. The vestments are now the property of the church.

Archbishop Vagnozzi presented the newly consecrated Bishop with the symbols of his office, a ring and a crozier (Staff). The ring had belonged at gift, the staff had belonged to Archbishop Rummel.

BISHOP ROBERT TRACY of Baton Rouge, La., preached the sermon. He said the appointment had brought "immense encouragement and joy to the colored people of our country—both Catholic and non-Catholic as they continue their well-vdered struggle for simple justice."

But Bishop Tracy stressed he was not speaking at a ceremony for a colored bishop but "simply at the consecration of a Catholic bishop."

LBJ's home rule note is praised

President Johnson's reference to home rule in his State of the Union message Wednesday night was applauded this week as "a reaffirmation of commitment to meaningful self - government for Washington."

Though his message dealt primarily with the issues of the war in Vietnam and the Battle of the Great Society, Mr. Johnson urged the House to press for the Senate version of home rule than the controversial charter - writing measure sponsored by Rep. B. F. Sisk (D. Calif.).

Richard K. Lyons, president of the Washington Home Rule Committee, sent a telegram to the President thanking him for his support of the Senate passed home rule bill. The wire said, in part:

"We are greatly encouraged and reassured by your statement. Thank you for your anxiously awaited and most heartening reaffirmation of support for the Senate passed bill."

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain
New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time scientists have found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.
In one hemorrhoid case after another, very striking improvement was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. Pain was relieved promptly, itching soothed, easily relieving skin, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.
And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months! In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.
All this, without the use of a single hemorrhoidal suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

Bishop Lord raps Catholic Church for silencing of rights priests, nuns

In response to a widely-quoted article which appeared first in the Catholic weekly magazine Ave Maria, Methodist Bishop John Wesley Lord of the Washington Area, Methodist Church has sent this letter to editors.

"We commend the Ave Maria for its special issue dealing with the controversy over clerical freedom of political speech and action. In this article, the names of 12 "silenced priests" are listed, silenced because of their involvement in the struggle for civil rights and the peace movement.

"The action taken against these priests of the church is in strange contrast to the action promulgated at the Fourth Session of Vatican Council II. We assume the priests were acting in accord with the dictates of Christian conscience and were in full accord with Schema XIII, which is really the heart and core of the Council.

"This constitution undertakes to initiate dialogue with the world. It defines the role of the Church and her relevance in the world today. Beginning with a profound study of doctrinal principles, it moves on to the application of these principles to certain pressing human problems: the nature of culture, the family, marriage, war and peace, socio-economic progress and the like.

"IT WOULD appear that the priests had taken this to mean that in their apostolate, they were indeed to become involved in the very issues for which they are now being censured. His Holiness Pope Paul seems himself to have established the pattern by his involvement in the perplexing issue of Vietnam. The purpose of Schema XIII was to open doors not to close them; to initiate dialogue, not to silence it.

"But more to the point is the Declaration on Religious Liberty. By a vote of 1354 to 224 on November 19, 1965, the text of this Declaration was approved. It is now a part of the official policy of the Church.

"This declaration states that every man, in virtue of his dignity as a human person, has the right not to be subjected to force either on the part of other individuals or on the part of any human society, to act against his conscience or not to follow his conscience in religious matters.

"The declaration states also that the right to religious liberty is not to be restricted in the construction of religious buildings nor in the selection, formation, appointment and transfer of religious ministers.

"SURELY if the Church is to demand such freedom for itself from civil authorities and public officers, it cannot deny this same freedom of conscience to its ministers. For priests are also members of the human society.

"I am sure there will be many voices raised within the Catholic Church, among clergy and laity, in defense of those who have dared to initiate dialogue and to relate religion more closely to human problems.

"The Church should be among the first to support the right of dissent, for only thus can the hope of Pope John XXIII be realized that the church initiate dialogue with the world."

CORE calls for more policemen to be hired and promoted here

"Because previous efforts have not reached the colored community, a stepped - up recruitment drive is needed," John Burleigh, employment chairman of Baltimore's Congress of Racial Equality told the AFRO concerning the lack of colored patrolmen and officers.

Mr. Burleigh and a Police Advisory Committee named by the mayor and governor have pointed out that only 7 percent of the police force is colored as contrasted to a colored population of more than 40 percent.

"Colored persons will rethen 40 percent.

spond to recruiting efforts," Mr. Burleigh said, "if they realize they are welcome. This must be done by demonstrating that qualified colored are being hired and promoted on a large scale.

The police department is in agreement that recruitment should be accelerated, it was reported.

SOME OF the steps urged include: 1, making certain that all tests and screening devices are relevant to the performance of the job and are administered fairly to all; 2) all recruiting materials wil show colored and white working together.

Also, 3) continued use of the facilities of the Baltimore City Poverty Program and job centers to distribute information; and 4) encouraging both colored and white patrolmen to participate in special training and courses to enable them to work more effectively in their duties.

The committee report also agreed that substantial improvement could be expected in police - community relations if more colored patrolmen and officers were appointed and promoted.

The Police Department was represented on the committee by Captain G. Fordon Gaeng, Captain Norman J. Schleigh, Captain Edwin Taylor, Sergeant McNeal Brockington and Mrs. Margaret D. McConnell.

House unit eyes new civil rights laws

WASHINGTON (UPI) The House Judiciary Committee probably will investigate the need for new civil rights legislature this year and determine how well recently passed laws are working.

Committee Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y. said the move was prompted by continued racial violence, the pressure for new legislation and the need for observing the new laws.

"The continued insistence that the colored man wears a badge of inferiority forces congress to direct its attention to the problems of civil rights," Celler said Tuesday.

Sociologist asked for rights talk

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UPI) Controversial sociologise Saul Alinsky will speak at the University of Rochester Friday on "under - graduate civil rights and civil liberties."

Alinsky was fundamental in starting community action programs in Buffalo, Rochester and Syracuse, N.Y. In all three cities the sociologists' liberal programs have come under criticism by governmental leaders.

Last month his contract with Syracuse University's community action training program was not renewed.

NAACP program in Annapolis

ANNAPOLIS —First Baptist Church, 31 W. Washington St. under the pastorship of the Rev. Leroy Bowman, will sponsor a special program Sunday at 7:30 p.m. for the NAACP.

Guest speaker will be Alfred Baker Lewis, member of the National Board of Directors and National Treasurer for the NAACP for the past seven years.

Mr. Lewis, a graduate from the University of Pennsylvania Law school and a Phi Beta Kappa has been co-chairman with Father Loughlin, a Catholic priest, of the committee for a State Fair Employment Practices Law in Connecticut.

A new Trailways Family Plan of reduced fares will apply between points where the adult one-way fare is $10 or more. One spouse pays the full one-way or round trip adult fare, the other spouse and all children under 22 pay only 75% of the existing adult or children's fare. The "going" trip must start between 6:00 AM Monday and 6:00 AM Friday.

NEW REDUCED MID-WEEK ROUND TRIP FARES
This new excursion program will apply between all points where the adult one-way fare is $10 or more. This special mid-week round trip fare will be only 150% of the existing one-way fare. Both going and return trips must commence between 6:00 AM Monday and 6:00 AM Friday.

SPECIAL 99 CIRCLE TRIPS
"Discover America" by Trailways
In cooperation with the nation's official "Discover America" program, Trailways will make it possible for you to visit all points, on Trailways and cooperating carrier lines, in continental United States and Canada—for $1 per day. Yes, pay only $99 and take up to 99 days to complete your trip. And you can plan your own itinerary.

"Skin was drying out...flaking...looked dull and gray. 'Vaseline' Petroleum Jelly helped make it soft and smooth...looked 100% better in a few days."
Mrs. Donald P. Rhyder, New York, N.Y.

Applied as a continuous film to hands, ankles, face, arms—when your skin needs more than cosmetic care—'Vaseline' Petroleum Jelly is the soothing answer. Helps dry, ashy-gray skin regain its normal look and tone. No other softeners, no skin cream, no skin lotion provides better moisture protection. Try it.
