HALF A CENTURY — Relatives and friends joined Mr. and Mrs. Lemuler Dorsey, in a happy observance of their 50th anniversary at St. Peter Claver Church Hall.

If YOU Ask ME

BY BETTYE M. MOSS

About people, places, things

...Now we know — In this column on Tuesday, we asked readers to tell us the name of the handsome and talented young man who sang so beautifully at the Phalanx Party last Saturday at Eastwind.

Mrs. Walter Dixon (Chinky), was first to call and advise he answers to the name of Judge Watkins Jr. The senior Mr. and Mrs. Watkins live at the Dixons' McCulloh St. home.

...And, guess what, the singer with a future once worked in the AFRO's teletype department. Small world! ...

If you have had occasion to travel in the vicinity of Coppin State College, you have likely seen the new brick house under construction on Warwick Ave., near the intersection of Windsor.

This is to report that it is to be the new residence of Coppin President, Dr. Parlett Moore and Mrs. Moore (Thelma), and they hope to move in by March 1.

The old president's home on Thomas Ave., will be torn down to make room for the million dollar science classroom building.

But back to the house — it is not as small as it looks outside.

It is a four - bedroom structure. First floor features a 20 by 16½ foot living room, dining room, kitchen, study room and powder room.

The design is similar to the presidents' homes at Frostburg and Salisbury Colleges.

Estimated cost was $45,000, but already increased construction prices have sent it above the $60,000 mark.

And, there is still no provision to finish the basement floor for a recreation room. And, certainly college presidents need a recreation area. What gives?

Job note: W. Va. State College is looking for an associate professor of commercial printing. It's a summer job which pays $7700

Death note: Samuel Henson, the 81-year-old Ellicott City, Md. resident, was buried there on Tuesday.

The moving and hauling firm he founded in 1918 is still in business, and is being carried on by his sons.

Many know Mr. Henson as the pioneer who gave unselfishlessly of his time to church (St. Luke's AME) and to the Howard County community.

Wilton Webb, the mortician, handled funeral arrangements.

Cuff note: Charles Caldwell, the retired Elkton, Md., school principal, was named 'Man of the Year,' when the Elkton Chamber of Commerce met on Wednesday.

He was principal of the all-colored Carver High in Elkton, when he retired last year.

The school is now closed and our children are attending the other public schools.

Mr. Caldwell has been an educator in the area since 1931.

Calendar note: Sunday, Jan. 23 at 4 is the time of the Druid Hill YMCA family banquet honoring Joseph E. (Buddy) Lee and Walter J. Freeman, two of the staff's recently retired executives—and two of our town's good, good neighbors.

It is set for the Prince Hall Masonic Temple (1390 Eutaw), is under the direction of the Youth Work and Physical Committees and the Mothers' Club.

All those folks who've been talking about what a grand idea it would be to say 'thank you' to Mr. Lee and Mr. Freeman, now have an opportunity to do so. Turn out on Sunday — that's putting your money where your mouth is!

Overlooked in the Christmas rush . . . a card from blonde Betty Edwards, pretty sister of Dot Brown serving with the American Embassy overseas. Her address American Embassy, APO 695 New York, N.Y. 09695.

She sent hellos to the members of the "No-Name Penny Ante" club.

Also a long card from Bea Drake, who advises she is definitely coming East for the Delta Convention in Baltimore.

She writes that her son, Dr. Carl Drake Jr. is serving his internship in Los Angeles, and daughter, Beebee, has opened her own Beauty Salon.

Spied in our town on Tuesday: Drs. Marianna Beck Sewell, whom we knew some years back at Howard U., where she was a popular coed. Today, she answers to the name, 'Dr. Sewell,' as she holds a doctorate from New York University.

Cuff note: Dr. Emmett Miller, the Washington foot doctor who was buried in New York on Wednesday, was once an Army chaplain and also an Episcopal priest.

Remember when he was vicar of St. Mary's Church in Chester, Pa.? and chaplain for Episcopal students at Lincoln University?

More about people and things

Sunshine, please to Mrs. Bessie Smith, 1908 Ruxton. She's the teacher who suffered painful head and back injuries in that Sunday afternoon two - car crash at North Ave. and Milton. (Photo appeared in our Tuesday edition).

She was riding in a car operated by her niece, Miss Barbara Forrest, the DPW worker. She also suffered bruises.

Other passengers in their car: Mrs. Mary Savage, the teacher and sister of Mrs. Smith, who has arm and leg injuries; and another niece, Miss Claudia Thomas, the Morgan student, back injuries. They were returning from Trinity AME Church services.

A spokesman for Mrs. Smith told this writer Wednesday, 'she is in a lot of pain still.' No hum! Can anything else happen?

AFRO readers will recall this newspaper frontpaged a story about how police invaded Mrs. Smith's home while she was in school.

Later, they went to relatives to advise they had broken the front window and replaced it, remember? (AFRO, page one, Jan. 8).

Sunshine also to Mrs. Willard W. Allen (Gladys), widow of the Masonic leader. She has been in Hopkins, is expected home this weekend. Cards to her at 1223 W. Lafayette.

And to Provident Hospital for Ernest Hackett, the long-time N. Carey St. resident (1722). He's the father of Mrs. Amy Weaver, the school principal.

Holding his own at Hopkins Hospital is beloved Paul Henderson, the photographer. He remains critically ill.

It's a baby girl for the junior William Murphys (Bettyjean). Baby was born Tuesday at Provident Hospital. She's been named Rebecca Carter.

The William A. Browns have a junior born Monday at Ft. Belvoir, Va. She's the former Jacqueline Finney of Baltimore.

Glad-you're better cards to Ed Shipley, the real estate broker. He is out of Hopkins.

Get - well in a hurry hellos to Hopkins (Marburg 300), for D. Arnett Murphy, retired AFRO exec. He entered Sunday for tests.

Birthday note: Affable Joseph (Joe) Felton, observes his birthday on Jan. 22.

Cards to him at 3604 Dennlyn Rd.

And Mrs. James Dennis (Pinely) entered Hopkins Thursday night.

Snow note: It snowed all day a year ago - Saturday, Jan. 30, 1965.

Personable young businessman might well be the title of Ralph Lee. He's the shoe salesman with National.

Like this business card he gives out:

Many thanks for the pleasure of serving you today. I

And remember his first wife was a Baltimore girl, the former Miss Harriett Brown?

He is survived by his wife, Lynette; son, Dr. Emmett Miller 3rd, both of New York.

Death note: The William A. Imbach Sr., who died this week at the age of 86, is the same Mr. Imbach who operated a plumbing firm at Hoffman St. and Pennsylvania Ave., around the corner from our home on Myrtle Ave. (That's deep in the inner city where George Murphy homes now stand).

When we were growing up and there was plumbing problem that dad couldn't fix (and there were few he couldn't), it was 'Mr. Imbach' who came with his peculiar - looking instrument's to set things right.

Cuff note: AFRO Board Chairman Carl Murphy observed his 77th birthday on Monday with a visit to the White House.

There he witnessed the swearing - in of Robert (Bob) Weaver, the President's new cabinet member.

Later, he went over to the Supreme Court to hear arguments in the Civil Rights Act cases.

Among the 53 persons to be confirmed by Bishop Doll at Holy Trinity Episcopal Church Sunday at 11, are three family groups.

They are: Janie and Clarence Briscoe and son, Clarence, Jr.; Austin Plummer Woodard and children, Artina Ann, Brenda Irene, Harvey Lee and Helen and George Fulton and Granddaughter, Kim Barbette Scott.

Persons who attended the Confirmation will be interested to not know that the Confirmation Day program cover is an original work by the rector, Father Robert Powell.

Baltimore County News

By PINNIE L. ROSS

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Radell Singletary (Margaret) who celebrated their 7th wedding anniversary last Sunday in their spacious Glen Bernie home. Margaret served a delicious buffet dinner.

Guests enjoying the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lawton (Avery), Mr. and Mrs. Roy Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Rossia McCoy, yours truly and husband (Bill), Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Trucheart were not able to attend the dinner, but called to congratulate the couple. Garnering many oh's and ah's of appreciation was Margaret's dining room table centerpiece.

The ladies' attire lent ele Margaret was charming in a white sleeveless wool knit dress with gold trim accented with a tiny gold belt and matching jewelry.

The guest of honor was cious Mrs. Addie Lacey, mother of Margaret's husband (Raleigh) of Ladenburg, N.C.

The Singletarys received many lovely gifts including a crystal punch set with gold trim.

IN SPITE of the bitter cold weather Sunday, many of the Baltimore County residents came out to the open house at the Catonsville Golden Age Club which was held at Mt. Olivet Methodist Church.

Special guests were 18 members of the Turner Station Golden Age Club, accompanied by their leader, Mrs. Anna Mae Mercer who is the new leader of the Catonsville Club also.

The afternoon program opened with the audience singing, invocation by the Rev. A. A. Thompson, a duet by George Hopswell and Herbert Douglass, remarks by Charles Woodland, solo by Herbert Lane, remarks by Ernest Johnson and Mrs. Julia E. William. An instrumental solo was played by Mrs. Irma Franklin, another solo was by George Hopswell. Hawthorne Smith is president of the club and Mrs. Hattie B. Smith is program chairman.

Vietnam debate

Congressman Clarence D. Long will debate Christopher Koch, who in September broke the travel ban to Vietnam, in a Lincoln Birthday session on Feb. 13 at 8:30 p.m. in the Mt. Zion Methodist Church, Liberty Heights and Wabash Ave.

Congressman Long, who recently made a trip to South Vietnam, and Mr. Koch will tangle on the topic, "The Issues of Vietnam and American Foreign Policy."

The debate is being sponsored by the Freedom Forum Committee here.

Tormenting Rectal Itch Stopped In Minutes
Science Finds New Healing Substance That Promptly Stops Itching and Pain of Piles
New York, N. Y. (Special) — One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "itching piles." It is most embarrassing for the victim during the day and especially aggravating at night.
No matter what you've used without results—here's good news. For the first time, science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to promptly stop the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids—without surgery. Medical science has proved this substance produces a remarkably effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.
In one hemorrhoid case after another "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. This improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of months! Among these sufferers were a wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' duration.
The secret is this new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — discovery of a world-famous research institution. This substance is now obtainable in ointment or suppository form known as Preparation H®. Ask for Preparation H Suppositories (convenient to carry if away from home) or Preparation H Ointment, with special applicator. Available at all drug counters.

came from," the one-time alcoholic, addict and hatcheck girl said.

"Only those who have been through it really understand what it is," she said.

It has been said that the school of experience is the best in the world but tuition comes high, this 'graduate' agrees.

Mrs. X said she paid high tuition fees — self - respect, the respect of others, jobs, liberty, the temporary loss her husband, and almost the of her husband, and almost the loss of life.

For 11 years, now, she has not touched a drink, Mrs. X confides. She knows that just one would set off a chain reaction which could throw her right back where she started.

"Eleven years but still I realize that even one beer could do it. I am still an alcoholic and you must be one in order to understand the danger of that first drink, she said.

MRS X is now a City employee. "They have a nicer name for it, she says, "but still, I am just a cleaning woman."

"It is a job — I have been on it a year now, and I thank God for it. I remember when I couldn't hold a job.

She works four hours a day. The rest of her time she spends raising her two teenaged daughters and helping other alcoholics who want to beat the problem.'

"Alcholics and addicts," Mrs. X said, "regard social workers and ministers as 'do-gooders who don't really understand.

"When they find out I have been through it, been in jail and down on skid row — and still have kicked the habit—they listen.

"It shows in my face — they know I am for real. Twenty - two years of hell, now peace for 11 years. I have paid the price and only hope to get my message across to others, especially our young boys and girls who don't seem to realize where they are heading.

WOUND UP now, she went on:

"I give a lot of credit to the help given me by Sgt. Violet Whyte. She had not been promoted when she started working with me.

"There were others that helped, too. But the greatest help came from God, who made me want to help myself.

"No one else can do it for you — you must want to help yourself, first of all, she declared.

One of a family of 8 children, Mrs. X spent her youth in Augusta, Ga. Hers was an average - poor family. Her mother took in washing to augment the fathers meager salary.

She didnt want to go to school so her mother laid down the law; school or work. So, after the sixth grade, she quit school to help with the home laundry business, she recalls.

"I took my first drink when I was 15 — used to steal my father's 'cold medicine.'

"I never liked the taste, but I liked the feeling it gave me."

According to Mrs. X, she kept filching from her father's bottle, often adding water to the bottle "to fool my father."

"One time I remember his saying it tasted like water and I got out of there. Later, he began to suspect my old, est brother of tampering. I never let on and he had no idea it was me.

LATER CAME the teen-age parties with the 'spike' punch and sometimes a little plain whiskey, she remembers.

"If only I had not stolen that first drink when I was 15. Teenagers must realize the dangers in drinking, especially the girls

"As you go to parties and begin to drink the later you stay out. Thats to have time to kill the smell and effects of the liquor before going home so your parents won't know.

"It was during this period that drinking began to bring on sexual problems. The fellows would encourage me to drink, she said.

"But — really — if a girl likes a fellow, she doesn't need much encouraging to drink. She really wants to drink so she can loosen up and let herself go.

"Then she can try to justify her actions by saying she was drinking," she warns.

"That's where the real danger is. Many young girls lives are ruined because of drinking and its results.

"And these days, even worse, so many young ones not only drink but also use these pep pills, she emphasized.

BY THE age of 20 Mrs. X had become a confirmed drinker. She never was an everyday drinker, according to her story.

"Weekends only, she said. "But when I did — oh! Some people think an alcoholic is one who must have it every day.

"Some alcoholics drink only on weekends, or holidays, or even once a year.

"But when they start they can't stop. That is real alcoholism.

"I WOULD start drinking on Friday, and continue Saturday and taper off on Sunday to be ready for work Monday. There were times when I even had to have a little one on Monday to straighten me out.

"During this period I did a lot of terrible things — things I never would have done had I not had the drinking habit and the need for money to buy drinks.

(The things she did and the long, long road back on Tuesday.)

seek reelection . . . I must serve the people who elected me."

Bond has carried his case to a federal court which is expected to begin hearing testimony Jan. 28. A final decision is not likely until after Feb. 18.

The 26-year-old information director of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) steadfastly has refused to back down from his endorsement of a statement by SNCC Chairman John Lewis who charged the United States with aggression in Vietnam.

Sanders issued the call for the election shortly after a three-judge federal panel was selected to hear the Bond case. A spokesman for Sanders said it was necessary to set the date after the federal court scheduling because "they might have done something to resolve the matter and make an election a moot issue."

Killens says history must be set right

"Unless the colored author tells it as it is and has been, the world will never know the true story of colored life and history in America," declared John O. Killens at Coppin State College last Friday.

Killens was developing the theme of "What Colored Authors Are Saying." His was another one of those lectures in the Coppin series, "Growing Up In America."

Killens is the author of two novels, "Youngblood" and "Then We Heard The Thunder" and a recently published volume of brilliant essays, entitled "Black Man's Burden."

He told the audience that the picture that the world has of the colored American was invented by the white man and that colored authors must reinvent the colored man as he really is; must delowers in the Audubon Ballroom Feb. 21. He had been ousted by the Muslims almost a year earlier and had started his own nationalist organization, predicting that they would kill him for his actions.

Beverage men pledge $30,000 to Provident

The National United Licensed Beverage Association hosted a dinner meeting Wednesday, at the Holiday Inn for the benefit of Provident Hospital Development Program. The group pledged more than $30,000 toward the development of the new hospital.

Maceo Paysour, president, and Walter Brown, chairman, ULBA committee for the New Provident, presided at the meeting.

Dr. Saul M. Perdue, president, board of trustees, extended greetings and introduced Samuel M. Hecht, co-chairman, Development Program, J. Sydney King and Samuel T. Daniels of the board of trustees.

In a progress report Mr. Hecht said the campaign has now passed its initial goal of $2,400,000, from public subscription. He added that rising costs will make it necessary to raise additional funds.

He stated, however, that funds already committed from state, city and federal governments, plus that raised from public subscription makes it possible to proceed with development plans.

• • •

THE popular five - year payment plan for pledges was explained to the association members by Mrs. Victorine Adams, chairman, of general solicitation.

Mr. King accepted the pledge from the tavern owners.

"My son's skin was rough, chapped . . . a neighbor told me how good pure 'Vaseline' Petroleum Jelly was. It didn't fail"
Mrs. Betty Washington, Chicago, Ill.
From a child's dry, chapped skin to the dry, ashy-gray condition that plagues grown-ups, 'Vaseline' Petroleum Jelly, applied as a continuous film, is the soothing answer. No other softener, no other skin cream, no skin lotion provides better moisture protection. Try it.
WHEN SKIN NEEDS MORE THAN COSMETIC CARE.
