Mergenthaler seen favored vs Carver

The Baltimore chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) has issued a 14 - point statement listing inequities and specific instances of discrimination by the Board of Education against the Carver Vocational High School.

Comparisons from the initial construction down to the newest curriculum additions at predominally - white Mergenthaler Vocational and predominantly - colored Carver are used to show how unequal the two schools are and have been since 1953.

CORE's three - page report contends the two schools "were never intended to be equal and in the 12 years since the 1954 Supreme Court decision little has been done by the school administration to make creative changes."

Mergenthaler was built for 2,000 students with 40 classrooms and 60 shops. Carver was built for 1,500 students with 28 classrooms and 28 shops. CORE states that minimum equality would have required Carver to receive at least 5 additional classrooms and 17 more shops.

BUILDING COST records show that Carver received slightly more than half of the $6 million - plus expenditure that went for Mergenthaler.

Automotive mechanics has 6 large shops, each with a specialty for Mergenthaler students. Carver has 1 small shop. The ratio of shops and of teachers in commercial art is 3 to 1 favoring Mergenthaler with the larger number. Mergenthaler has 4 shops to Carver's 1 in cosmetology.

Carver has less ground space and shop space than Mergenthaler, the report shows.

The newer, heavier equipment has consistently gone to Mergenthaler, CORE states. Carver is understaffed and, with no horticulture courses offered, a greenhouse is still unused.

According to a study soon to be released by Johns Hopkins, CORE says, "within a period of 4 years a Mergenthaler graduate is making twice as much money as a Carver graduate."

THE STATEMENT recommends immediate plans be made for integrating both schools and obsolete courses at Carver be eliminated.

Also, new industrial courses such as refrigeration and ventilation should be introduced, the study concludes.

Titled "A Preliminary Statement," the report was released in abbreviated form so that its findings may be included in Superintendent Laurence G. Paquin's present planning for changes in the secondary school system, according to CORE.

CORE said its full report on the two schools, subjects of months of study, would be released at a later date complete with pictures of some of the obvious inequities.
