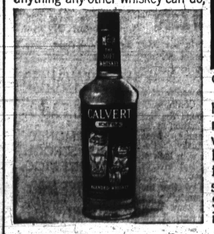
TRAILWAYS. Easiest travel on earth

Some people come to Soft Whiskey the hard way.

Some people will go to any lengths to find the whiskey they want. And their search sometimes takes them to many a strange brew. Of course, others are luckier. They try Soft Whiskey first. And once they do, they never have to try anything else. You don't settle for Soft Whiskey. You drink it only because you like it.

That's because Soft Whiskey does anything any other whiskey can do, only it does it softer. (It's 86 proof.)



We came to Soft Whiskey the hard way (after thousands of experiments). And we make it the hard way, by doing some distilling in small batches instead of large ones. Anything else we could tell you is top secret. Once you find we're the only Soft Whiskey, you'll know why. Even if you did come to it the hard way.

—Police bars

the Police Department, following an eight - month investigation, IACP issued a report Jan. 9 recommending that the position of inspector be abolished.

ACCORDING to the complaining patrolman before Inspector Millard B. Horton was appointed acting chief inspector he prevented colored officers from being assigned to radio cars, post cars, cruising patrols, paddy wagons, and as telephone operators.

Inspector Horton was named acting chief inspector following the sudden retirement of Chief Inspector George J. Murphy and Commissioner Bernard J. Schmidt after the report was released.

The patrolman voiced his complaints after the appointment by interim commissioner, Maj. Gen. George M. Gelston.

Asked to comment on the charge, the new chief inspector told the AFRO that "the captain makes the assignments. He knows the men better than the inspector, so that decision is left up to him."

HOWEVER, it is standard procedure in the department for the inspector to approve or dissapprove the action of a district commander and his prerogative is used.

At present only the Western District, where Capt. Dennis P. Mello is in command, has colored patrolmen regularly assigned to radio cars.

The AFRO has learned that in at least two other districts inspectors have vetoed the assignment of policemen of color to cars.

In addition to the policeman's complaint of segregated assignments, the AFRO also learned that the effort to assign colored officers to radio cars is farther frustrated by the maneuvering of department driving license.

One complainant charged that the person responsible for issuing departmental licenses consistently refuses to issue license to colored officer, "with the knowledge and apparent approval of the inspectors."

THE LILY - WHITE assignment policy is followed in several bureaus and squads, it was charged, and inspectors, who have been responsible to the commissioner only have full knowledge of the practice, according to informed sources.

Gen. Gelston, who announced last week plans to reorganize the department, consistent with the recommendations of the IACP report, could not be reached for comment.

Hopkins offering nursing grants

A new scholarship fund has been established at The Johns Hopkins Hospital School of Nursing for two colored students who qualify for admission in September.

The $1,000 gift, contributed by an anonymous donor, will cover all school tuition and student fees for the two recipients for the three - year course. Officials of the school are recruiting in local high schools for student applications.
