THERE ARE, of course, a number of lesser committees on which some colored citizens may be serving.

But these are the major boards and agencies with such members, as determined by the AFRO with the aid of Mrs. Mildred Mombberger, secretary to the mayor.

Here are some examples of what the AFRO's spot check of how some of these representatives have been given attention by churches and organizations in their community.

The CRC's Mrs. Michael, who has been on that commission since 1962, said:

"I haven't received any such invitations, nor has any other commission member. I think the community should be more concerned about our commission's efforts and accomplishments."

THE JAIL BOARD'S Dr. Harris, a member since 1963, commented: "We have gone out as a group on some invitations from the general community, but nobody has ever extended me one to appear before a group on my own."

This was echoed by the Park Board's Mrs. Gill, a member since last September, who said her community appearances have been for the most part on her own initiative.

On the other hand, the Board of School Commissioners' Mrs. Moss said she finds it difficult at times to fill all her requested community engagements.

Mrs. Moss, however, who is now up for reappointment to a second six - year term, is hardly a fair example in this matter.

As stated earlier, she is a mother with children in the public schools and thus is a member of PTA groups, besides other organizations.

Also, in addition to being AFRO vice president and treasurer, she is a working newspaperwoman.

Many organizational invitations for her appearance as a representative of her board could, quite conceivably, come with some eyes looking toward publicity.

Pick Mrs. Grasmick

Mrs. Louis J. Grasmick has been appointed public information chairman of the Baltimore City Cancer Crusade for 1966, according to Mrs. Albert L. Sklar, Crusade chairman.

the second floor he saw his brother cut.

Derby said he struck one person on the head with a crutch which he had with him for a fractured leg he had sustained earlier.

Evans said at this point his brother walked down the front stairs and fell unconscious on the floor.

As he attempted to revive his brother by throwing water on him, Derby said the injured man, bleeding from the head, ran out the front door.

AT CAROLINE St. and Fairmount Ave., police stated, an injured man was met by an ambulance and transported to Church Home and Hospital.

Recovered at the scene, all covered with blood, were a kitchen paring knife, a broken crutch and a tan jacket.

Police were questioning a 44 - year - old anyone in the not charged anyone in the slaying.

Lt. Henry Knecht supervised the investigation for the Southeastern District.

Underscoring their concern for the safety of the serviceman Mrs. Mabrey lamented: "Lord, I just hope that when we hear from them it will be good news."

Brussels Sprouts can be used in plain and fancy dishes

California Brussels sprouts—frozen at their peak of quality and flavor — now await your pleasure all the year around. Serve them plain or fancy.

A sauce of butter and fresh lemon brings out their full, splendid flavor; Cheese, chestnut and roasted walnuts are excellent companions. Casseroles, stews and soups benefit by their crisp texture and deep color.

HERE ARE two old-fashioned American recipes for Brussels sprouts. Brussels Sprouts Pie has a rich, buttery crust, filled with savory sprouts and white onions. Brussel Sprouts Fritters are made with a mustard batter—very crisp and delicate.

Brussel sprouts pie has a filing made with three packages (10 ounces each) frozen California Brussels sprouts, 1/4 cup butter or margarine, 1/4 cup flour, one teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, one teasnoon each: celery seed and dry mustard, 2 cups milk, 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese, and 1 can (one pound) whole onions, drained.

Cook Brussels sprouts according to package directions until just tender; drain, if necessary. Melt butter in large saucepan. Combine flour with seasonings and and blend into melted butter; gradually add milk; cook and stir over low heat until thickened. Blend in cheese; add onions and Brussel sprouts; cool.

For pastry, use two cups sifted all -purpose flour, one teaspoon salt, ½ cup grated Parmesan cheese, 2/3 cup shortening, and five to six tablespoons cold water.

Combine flour, salt and cheese; cut in shortening. Add water and blend lightly. Shape pastry into 2 balls; roll out between waxed paper into 2 10-¼ inch circles.

Line nine - inch pie plate with one pastry circle; add Brussels sprouts filling. Top with remaining pastry circle; pinch and flute edges.

There was delightful music by Rudolph Wilson, dancing, fabulous feast and cards.
