Messrs. Editors: As there appears to be a hesitancy about the reassembling of the Sixth Regiment of our city, I would respectfully offer an earnest appeal that the necessary orders to that effect be given without delay. At this critical juncture had we not better bave too large than too small a military force? Has the dauger of another outbreak passed? If any one thinks it has let him carefully read the daily dispatches recording in scores of places the defiant attitude of the mob element. We should have here at least five regiments of infantry, (militia.) We once had nine when not needed.

Again, is it just or right to cast aside a gallant command for the stain of suspicion to rest upon which has done so much, and at imminent peril, to defend us and our homes and property? Had not the mob been checked by the little battalion which marched from Front street to Camden Station—had there been no Sixth Regiment—who can tell what would have become of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad property on Friday and Saturday nights last? Let us have again, and at once, the gallant Sixth, and show to Col. Peters and his officers and men that we are not ungrateful for their past assiduous, brave and efficient services.

Messrs. Editors of Sun:—My attention has been called to the delay in calling out the Sixth Regiment. I cannot of course know all the "why and wherefore." but am impressed that now is the time to have its services. Eve witnesses have given me details of the affair on Front street which leads me to the opinion that the regiment was very efficient on that occasion and did good service. It is already an organization, and its members drilled men, and can render much better aid than new ones. We should have a full organization at once.

To the Editors of The Sun:—As many doubts are expressed as to the expediency of calling out or enlisting more troops at this crisis of afairs, I, for one, feel that there should be no hesitancy or delay in adding to the military quota of city and State, and as the "Sixth" is not disbanded but simply dismissed for the moment, and is an organized military body, to whom when calmess supersedes excitement full justice will be done, I would suzgest that they be called upon at once to recruit to a full regimental standard, and take their place among those who are now so freely and willingly offering themselves as defenders of the law. ing themselves as defenders of the law.

The Governor of Maryland having authorized an increase of the militia forces for the purpose of maintaining law and order in the State and city, it is important that every encouragement should be officed for the eurollment of young men of good habits and character.

It is therefore urged upon all employers to facilitate as far as practicable the enlistment of such of their employees as are willing to join the military organization by granting them a temporary leave of absence without the permanent loss of their situations. The absolute necessity of an immediate restoration of confidence and the resumption of the usual business operations of this great city cannot fail to be recognized by all classes in the community.—

MOVEMENT OF COMMERCIAL BODIES .- Any one who reflects on the vast number of interests that are affected by the blockade of the trains and the higher prices that the people may have to pay for meat and coal and other commodities that are stopped on the way to the terminal market, need not be surprised at the resolutions adopted vesterday by the Balti-more Corn and Flour Exchange, calling upon President Haves to take the necessary steps to open to traffic all the railroads in the States eral authorities for assistance. Similar action has been simultaneously taken by like commercial bodies at Philadelphia, Chicago and other chief cities, all of which show how deeply earnest are leading interests in meeting the presencrisis. It is to be hoped, therefore, that the mis guided numbers concerned in the movement against the welfare of society will speedily see the error of their way, and not make necessary a formidable military movement on the part o the government—a thing inevitable if the present evil course of action is persisted in. Here in Baltimore the embargo put upon the coal rade alone affects not only the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, but also all those trades and manufactures that are dependent among us upon the use of steam as a motive power. and to an equal degree the steamers that our waters or between coastwise and foreign ports, as well as shippers who have contracts to fill. Even the railroad employees who are not connected with the strike suffer from the consequences of it, for the wear and tear of en-gines and cars employed in the transportation of coal, and of the track itself, is very great, and their repair and renewal constitute a large part of the business of the shops and rolling mills. These men are now mostly idle, not because they refuse to work, but because there is comparatively little upon which they can be employed so long as the engines and cars that would otherwise he in active use are laid up on the sidings and in the yards.

Nothing is more important to Baltimore than this coal interest, and the city, constituting more than one-half the State in wealth and population, will at all times contend for this trade against all who would repress or divert it. Under present circumstances, if lawless and disorderly men are permitted any longer to have their way, they will gather courage from impunity, and a stoppage of many industries and social disorganization will be the result of reating them with forbearance.

A MOB AWED BY A BRAVE OFFICER .-- In Philadelphia, on Tuesday evening, a great crowd, with menacing looks, watched the preparations attendant upon moving the first freight train from Mantua. Captain Chasteau, of the Park Guard, was directed to clear the bluffs, which were quite dense with men and boys, and as ne came up there were cries emanating from railroad employees, who were recognized, to the rowd to "stand firm." Capt. Chasteau, draw ing his men up, addressed the crowd, saying: ing his men up, addressed the crowd, saying:
"I am charged by the mayor of Philadelphia, under that proclamation you see before you, with the preservation of the peace and the protection of this railway. In this I understand you are to be protected, and myself and guard are prepared to lay down our lives in the execution of this order. If, however, when persons are ordered off these bluffs, and you encourage them to resist the officers, then you imperil your lives. These guards are instructed not to make arrests of parties so numerous as you. If you persist in encouraging rowdyism you will readily ascertain what are my instructions to them."

Oue of the railroad men, interrupting him, One of the railroad men, interrupting him, said, "Have railroad men no rights any more?"

The crowd, which had by this time considerably increased, began to disperse, and in a few minutes had all left the bluffs.

President Hinckley telegraphed Governor Cechran that one hundred tramps got on the south-bound freight train Tuesday morning, and when ordered off threatened the destruction of the railroad property. He also asked the aid of the authorities in conjunction with the railroad the authorities in conjunction with the railroad employees for the company's protection. Gov Cochran answered favorably.

From our Wall Street Correspondent.

New York, July 28.—The great business interests of the city are at a stand—waiting, not the "moving of the trains. It was very dull yesterday, but it is more so to-day, and will centinue to grow more so as the days roll on and the cars lie motion-less upon the tracks. The "strikers" certainly hit upon a most inopportune moment for their action, as in a few weeks the great harvest of the country would be pouring in upon the railways—the coal industries would be more prosperous under the fall demand that is always felt—and trade, in nearly all its branches, would have shared in the benefits of all these, for their employers, who have stood by them in all the years that are past, would assuredly have remembered them with an increase of compensation as they saw the ability to do so being placed in their hands. In days of prosperity the railroad men were paid well and treated as a necessary part of the great whole that goes to make up our giant railway system, and it was only stern necessity that caused a recent cutting of their pay. In a little while matters would have mended and all would have been well again, but the misguided men could not wait, and they have only made affairs a hundred fold worse for themselves. They have sown the wind, and it is their own action that will bring the whirlwind annot them. From our Wall Street Correspondent.

The Lackawanna's coal sale of 110,000 tons goes over indefinitely. The company gives as a reason "the unsettled condition of transportation," and it might have added a possibility that they would not have been able to mine th that they would not have been able to mine the coal, for it must be understood the coal acid at these auction sales is sold in advance of its being mined, and for delivery all this month as it is mined. Indeed none of the companies fully pledge themselves to deliver the coal sold. A curious after-clap of the postponement of the sale was a rise in Lackawanna snares to 40%, against 38% yesterday. One would have supposed if the company was in need of the proceeds of the sale advertised for to day to meet its current expenses that the "indefinite postponement" would have weakened the company, because it was certainly weakened in its cash resources by omitting the sale. Wall street, however, is hard to decipher, and perhaps the rise, after all, was only in sympathy with the rest of the market, which is certainly in strong "bull" hands, with a scarcity of floating certificates of the favorite shares greater than usual. Jay Gould, it is reported, was a heavy buyer of stocks yesterday at the decline, and he is probably engaged with the bull party in pushing them upward this morning.

The Pennsylvania coal sale of 90,000 tons was also postponed for the same reasons as the Lackawanna, and further beccuse Mr. Hoyt believed if the sale went on it would be unsatisfactory to the buyers. He said prices were now higher by private sale on account of existing froubles, but a week hence, if the troubles were over, they might be back again, and buyers at to-day's auction (if it went on) at the ruling private rates, would be desatisfied as their coal came to be delivered and perhaps refuse to take it. He could name no time when he would again offer coal by auction, but prior to August 10 the company would agree to furnish its customers with moderate amounts of coal at $2.60 for lump, steamer and grate, $2.65 for egg. $2.75 for stove, and $2.50 for chesnut. This is equal to an advance over the last public sale by the company of 10 cents on lump, steamer and grate, 13 censs on egg. 20 cents an stove, and 5 cents on chesnut. A telegra coal, for it must be understood the coal sold at these auction sales is sold in advance of its be-

Prostration of Trade and Industry-Effect of the htrike on all Business

-- Losses to Producers and Dealers

-- Great Distress Expected Every-

[Reported for the Baltimore Sun.] The city of Baltimore continues without any demonstrations of violence growing out of the existing disruption of business matters. But the influence of the strike of the railroad train hands, and the total cessation of land freight business is rapidly bringing ruin to many branches of industry, as well as to the com-merce of the country. This is so fully realized in Baltimore from actual experience that yesterday the directors of the Baltimore Corn and Flour Exchange met to discuss the situation. and unanimously adopted resolutions requesting greater federal interference. The action, in the nature of an appeal to the President of the United States, was forwarded to Washington, and seems to be in unison with the action of other commercial bodies in the principal cities of the country.

ACTION OF BALTIMORE MERCHANTS.

R. B. Hayes, President of the United States, Washington, D. C.: I have the honor to submit to your Excellency the following preamble and resolutions unanimously adopted by the directors of the Baltimore Corn and Flour Exchange resolutions unanimously adopted by the other tors of the Baltimore Corn and Flour Exchange in session this day.

Walter B. McAtee,
President Balto. Corn and Flour Exchange.
Whereas the state of rioting and anarchy, interfering with every form of houset labor, exists in many of the chief cities of the Union and along their principal lines of railroad, and is rapidly spreading, to the imminent danger of peaceable citizens and the complete disorganization of all business; and whereas the various State and municipal forces are unquestionably inadequate to cope with this emergency and to afford protection to the willing workers:

Be it resolved. That an urgent appeal be made to the President of the United States for the utmost military protection authorized by the conmost military protection authorized by the constitution, even to an increase of the present military forces.

ACTION OF PHILADELPHIA MERCHANTS. The Philadelphia Commercial Exchange yes terday also adopted the following preamble and resolutions:

Whereas the true interests of the country and the welfare of its citizens depend wholly upon their respect for and obedience to the laws; and whereas there are large moss assembled in various places who have been and are now engaged, in disregard of the same, in destroying both life and property, on the security of both of which all labor necessarily depends; and whereas these moss have obtained such control of the avenues of transportation as to suepend the operating of the same, thereby restricting our commerce and leaving our steamers lying dide at our wharves, to the very serious prejudice not only to ourselves as merchants and to our correspondents, but also to our respective employees by depriving them of the necessary labor by which to earn their livelihood.

Therefore it is resolved. That the President of the United States be requested to use such force laber by which to earn their livelihood.

Therefore it is resolved. That the President of the United States be requested to use such force by the increase of the military forces of the nation, if necessary, not only to suppress all unlawful violence, but also to secure protection against any recurrence of the same.

Resolved. That the earnest thanks of this association be tendered to the President of the United States for what he has already done.

Similar resolutions have also been adopted by the Maritime Exchange and Board of Trade, and telegraphed to Baltimore with the request to fall in line. Similar requests were forwarded to Boston, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Chicago and Milwaukee. The Board of Trade of Chicago adopted a resolution calling on the Governor of the State and the President of the United States to quickly suppress the prevailing insurrection wherever their authority extends. The Baltimore Board of Trade will take action to-day, and the Merchanta' Exchange directors will meet on Friday.

meet on Friday. and Ohio railroad since the beginning of the trouble. Local freights, too, have stopped, and the same state of affairs exists on the Northern entral railway for points beyond Harrisburg, though the employees of the company in the city have happily so far refrained from striking. The blockade cuts us off from supplies of fresh meat, provisions, grain, flour, coal, and all the great necessaries of life. The Adams Express Company, which depends wholly upon railroad transportation, are utterly destitute of business and nearly all their employees are idle, swellin the number of unemployed people here and else the number of unemployed people here and elsewhere.

THREATENED RUIN AND STARVATION.

Should the strike last a week or two longer there is no doubt business would be utterly ruined, and all kinds of disorders would result from starving populations. Already the cattle interest and the meat supply of this city are seriously involved by the continued interruption of transportation. How particularly Baltimore is affected in this matter is shown by the fact that a drove of stock which would have come to this city was, after reaching the Ohio river, sent East by the Cheaspeake and Ohio railroad instead of by the Baltimere and Ohio, and the most of it will thus never reach this market. Western wheat too, which is largely consumed here, has been stopped, and the flow of all kinds of grain to our markets and elevators for shipping abroad, destroying commerce and trade. Coal, too, has stopped coming, and steamboat navigation must cease usless the situation changes. During the strike now of over a week's duration, no Cumberland coal has come to the city to supply steamboats, machine shops, factories of all kinds, nor is there any hard coal for incl coming from the Pennsylvania mines.

A COAL FAMINE IMMINENT.

The Messrs. Hooper were yesterday hauling coal from the city to Mount Vernon Mills at Woodberry, on account of the Pennsylvania railroad disturbances, and it is very likely that in the end all the mills and factories, employing so many hundreds of industrious and orderly people at Woodberry, will have to stop, unless coal can be procured. This would be a great calamity to many thousands of people; but it is not half. Turn which way one may interests are touched by the stoppage of transportation, affecting all business and every individual in the country, strikers and sympathizers and abettors, as well as every one else in the community. When flour is cut off from the West the price will go up and the poor will be without bread; when the cattle trains are stopped for want of coal the commissary department will be in a THREATENED RUIN AND STARVATION.

amity, especially during the disturbed state o affairs existing. Affairs existing.

PEACH-GROWERS' INDIGNATION.

Mention has been made of the perplexities and impediments surrounding and interfering with the peach trade now at hand. The peach growers at Dover, Del., in convention on Tuesday adopted the following:

"Whereas, We, the peach growers of Delaware, are the first representative body of the citizens of this State to assemble since the beginning of the present most terrible crisis in social and national life—a time unparalleled in present and threatened atrocity.

"Resolved, That we recommend the Governor of Delaware and its citizens to be instantaneous in the organization of military to prevent outrages of a similar kind within our border and to protect property of all kinds against this Communistattack." PEACH-GROWERS' INDIGNATION. Communist attack. Communist attack."

Great excitement prevails through the peach districts of Delaware and Maryland, as a large part of the crop now ripering will be a dead loss if it cannot be shipped.

Nearer nome, too. Anne Arundel county is jus beginning to empty her immense crop of toma-toes and melous into our market. The crops promise to be so luxuriant that unless speedy arrangements can be made to distribute it over our railroads commerce loses the profit of handling, while the result to the growers, as well as to our own people, including the packing interests and thousands of their employees, will be very disastrous. Cammakers, boxmakers, men, women and children employed by thousands by the packers will inevitably euffer unless business is allowed to go on in its legitimate channels. What applies to Anne Arundel also affects several other of the largest producing counties of Maryland, whose interests are absolutely sacrificed. The sooner it is comprehended that a blockade of business and traffic on the railroads means confusion and loss and suffering to all classes, commercial, manufacturing and agriculour railroads commerce loses the profit of handclasses, commercial, manufacturing and agricul-tural, the sooner the remedy will be found and the embargo and ruin cease.

WORKINGMEN OUT OF EMPLOYMENT.

Among the collateral matters evincing the stagnation of commercial business is the want of employment of upwards of 3,000 drawmen, who have their horses to feed as well as themselves; 600 oil men are out of work for want of petroleum transportation to shipping wharves and refineries; 1,500 stevedores are idle because there is nothing to load vessels, and the cart drivers and wagon drivers who find employment are all to a great extent idle, and every day adds to the list of sufferers by the embargo, involving nearly every business interest in this community and the State at large, as well as other States involved.

RAISING, ARMING AND EQUIPPING STATE TROOPS
-ESTABLISHING VOLUNTEER CAMPS, ETC. [Reported for the Baltimore Sun.] Since it was determined, as a war measure, to put into active service a State militia force adequate to the emergency, which the stinted appropriations of the Legislature prevented before hand, the State authorities have been untiring in the consummation of this end. Prudential considerations influenced the authorities to dismiss the Sixth Regiment. Irrespective of that command it was decided to raise the Fith Regiment to 1,000 men, and organize, two other regiments of 1,000 men each, which with the police force, 1,000 men, and organize, two other regiments of 1,000 men each, which with the police force, 1,000 men, and organize, two other regiments of 1,000 men on active duty, and a battery of light artillery. In the meantime the Sixth Regiment will keep up its organization and its armory drills, with the view of service when called upon. Gov. Carroll's headquarters, in the handsome reception-room adjoining the mayor's office on the north, has been the scene of the busiest sort of activity during the week. The staff officers of the commander-in-chief find busy employment in executing the various details insident to organizing an armed force at the same time that active duty is being done in the field. Every officer has his allotted work, and no little of it, as the details of things already accomplished will amply demonstrate. The staff officers on duty are as follows:

The first thing done was to issue the commissions for raising the new levies. When the recruiting rendezvous had been fairly under way Col. N. S. Hill was commessioned to act as assistant to Commissary and Quartermaster Generals Gilmor, Meredith and Andrew J. Pennington. Col. Hill, has provided camp equipage, cooking utensils, tents and all the accessories for active service in the field, which have been duly distributed, together with uniform blue blouses, caps and grey pants. The State has also purchased two thousand additional breechloading, improved Springfield muskets of the latest pattern for the new levies, together with ordnance stores and munitions of war, accoutrements, and everything needful to fully arm, equip, feed, clothe and shelter its soldiers. Col. Hill, who is an energetic and capable officer, was during the late war between the States quartermaster general of the entire trans-Mississippi department of the Confederate States.

Yesterday 100 men were sworn in by Col. Taylor, of Gov. Carroll's staff, for the Eighth Regiment, Col. Chas. E. Phelps. Capt. Edw'd Cummings, of Harford county, came to the city vesterday and was sworn in and commissioned to muster 60 men he had e terday elected Captain W. P. Zollinger as the colonel of the Fifth Regiment, which, it was the general verdict of the regiment, as well as the community, he well deserved for the soldierly manner in which he handled his men in the late emergency. Capt. Zollinger's company, H, is in command of Lieut Albers. The lieutenant coloneley and majority remains to be filled. Lieut. W. H. Rogers, who was wounded July 20, has returned to duty. The command will be furnished with camp equipments and cooking utensils to-day, when the different messes will be made up and regular camp life begun. The Fort McHenry band enlivened garrison life at the station during the afternoon. A number of ladies and members of the families of the citizen-soldiers visited the station. Col. Loney and many others were present to congratulate Col. Zollinger on his promotion.

Rhett is a native of South Carolina, and was a colonel of artillery in the army of Northern Virginia during the late war. He is an experienced officer and is supported by equally experienced lieutenants, while the material of the command is ranked first-class, many of them old artillerymen who have heard the song of the shell.

Hospital accommodations have been provided by Surgeon General Lee at Camden Station, and through whom all the general business of the medical department is transacted.

The Siege of the Sixth Regiment

THE SIEGE OF THE STATE REGIMENT AFTERORY.

THRILLING INCIDENTS—HOW THE FORT WAS HELD FOR FIFTY-FOUR HOURS—ATTEMPTS TO FIRE THE BUILDING—ANXIETY OF THE FEDERAL THOOPS—A GARRISON IN A MAN-TRAP. [Reported for the Baltimore Sun.]

It has transpired that holding the armory of the Sixth Regiment for fifty-four hours after the occurrences of Friday, 20th instant, was a very perilous affair. Until Sunday morning Col. Peters held it alone with the remainder of his command, fifty-two muskets and two mountain howitzers, but no one realized till afterwards how imminent was the peril. The cellar was stored with sash and door frames, and other sash factory material, all of it seasoned and as dry as powder. Three attempts were made to fire the building on Saturday night, which were frustrated by the vigilance of the police outside and the men of the Sixth Regiment inside. Adjutant General Bond, on receiving a report of the state of affairs, went to the armory and satisfied himself as to its correctness, and ordered Gen. Aboott, with ninety-nine muskets of his command, the United States engineer corps, to reinforce Col. Peters.

The federal soldiers reported at 11.20 Sunday morning, and soon after it was reported to Gen. Abbott that it had been arranged to fire an adjoining building, so as to burn out the armory. Gen. Abbott at once ordered a minute drawing of the armory building to be made, together command, fifty-two muskets and two mountain of the armory building to be made, together with its surroundings, and personally inspected the premises in company with Col. Peters. He the premises in company with Col. Peters. He found that the lower part of the building not the premises in company with Col. Peters. He found that the lower part of the building not used by the Sixth Regiment was nailed up, but he broke through the partitions of the lower floor. After a thorough inspection Gen. Abbott said the building was a perfect man-trap, and the most unsafe place he ever saw for men to be quartered in, and declared it would require every man in both commands occupying the post to be on duty all the time. He put a full company of his command in the dark cellar, where they remained until the place was abandoned next morning. At the same time he put his second company on the first floor above, leaving Col. Peters and his command to take care of the second and third floors above. The men of both commands were nearly exhausted from loss of sleep and incessant duty.

The plan of defense agreed upon by General Abbott and Col. Peters in case of renewed attempts to fire the building or throw burning petroleum balls into its infiamable contents was as follows: Broad axes belonging to the engineer corps were placed in readiness to be handled by a detail in cutting away the nailed up doors of the Fayette-street side. Buckets were placed near at hand to extinguish any fire. up doors of the Fayette-street side. Buckets were placed near at hand to extinguish any fire. The building had water, but the spiggots were nail. It was arranged that General Abbott would take his command out on the Fayette-street side, in case of an emergency, and Colonel Peters, with his command, would issue forth side, in case of an emergency, and Colonel Peters, with his command, would issue forth from the Front-street entrance, and the two forming a junction at the corner would thus protect both sides of the building in case of an attack. Line of battle would be formed in the shape of an L, and with ball-eartridges and breech-loaders at their command any ordinary demonstration would have been promptly put down. But the great fear was secret fire in some corner of the premises. An officer of the grant at 12½ o'clock Sunday night reported noises as of some one getting into the back cellar. An examination showed that a smail cellar window in the rear, leading from a narrow back alley, had been broken into. Boards which had been naited across it were torn away. The cellar was packed with sash and doors, rendering it difficult for the company in the dark hole to see clearly, and it is not known whether some one had been in the cellar and broke open the window to escape or was trying from the outside to get in and fire the whole mass. Then, too, there were rumors that mining operations were going on with the view of blowing the whole concern sky-high with dynamite. The accustomed ear of some of the corps distinctly heard the tap, tap, tap, and irregular strokes as of a miner's pick under the ground. Scouts were sent out and examined

Every officer has his allotted work, and no little of it, as the details of things already accomplished will amply demonstrate. The staff officers on duty are as follows: reters to dismiss his regiment until further orders, as everything was quiet at Camdeff Station, the mob was under control, and the immediate services of the Sixth were not needed.

The armory was abandoned before daylight Monday morning. Col. Peters was then ordered to special duty, and on Tuesday, at 2% o'clock P. M., reported at the City Hall to the Governor and Gen. Herbert for duty. He asked to have his regiment called out again, but Gen. Herbert said there was no need for it at present. Col. Peters was informed that when his command was wanted he would be notified. Col. Peters then individually asked to be permitted to serve as a private in the Fifth Regiment, or anywhere that he could be of use. Gen. Herbert said that would not be the proper thing for the colonel of a regiment to do and refused the request.

Yesterday Col. Peters had an informal meeting of the officers of his command, and they arranged to meet at their armory last night. This meeting was very well attended, as the men of the command are very anxious to know what is Peters to dismiss his regiment until further or

Yesterday Col. Peters had an informal meeting of the officers of his command, and they arranged to meet at their armory last night. This meeting was very well attended, as the men of the command are very anxious to know what is in the future for them. As they stand, the enlistments going on all around indicate the need of troops, while they are powerless to serve, and in the uncertainty, too, some of them did not know whether to return to their regular business pursuits or hold themselves in readiness for military duty.

Every company of the regiment was represented by its officers at the night meeting except the company of Capt. Tapper, which is on duty at Camden Station. In addition to the officers, about 200 men were present, including principally those who were unable to be present at the armory on Friday, July 20. The officers first held a meeting, Col. Peters presiding, who stated that it was the desire of Gov. Carroll the command be kept up, the object in dismissing it being simply to allay undue and unmerited excitement growing out of past events. In the meantime it was desired by the Colonel and by the State authorities to keep up the regular routine of organization. Col. Peters directed the officers to notify all the men to resume their regular meetings and drill on next Monday night. Col. Peters afterwards addressed the men to the same effect, informing a good opinion of the conduct of the command during the trying scenes through which it had passed. He hoped, in conclusion, that the regiment would in future continue to deserve this good opinion and to act always from a sense of patriotic duty.

Capt. John H. Duffy, of company B, Sixth Regiment, M. N. G.. states that his company, which was one of the three ordered to Camden Station on Friday night to take the train for Cumberland, left the armory after company street to Gay, down Gay to Fayette, along Fayette to Calvert, Baitimore and Liberty streets to Camden Station till Saturday evening, when they were relieved. Capt. Duffy states that company rem

Cumeraland, Md., July 25.—In view of the apprehensions entertained that large bodies of miners proposed to make a raid on Cumberland and other places in aid of the strikers a number of newspaper correspondents made an expedition to the mining regions to-day from this place to ascertain the exact situation. The mining region lies principally on the line of the Cumberland and Pennsylvania railroad, between Cumberland and Piedmont, a distance of the Cumberland and Piedmont, a distance of twenty-six miles.

The mining towns and districts are Frostburg. Bordon Shaft, Ocean. Midland, Lonaconing, Pekin. Moscow, Barton, Franklin, Westernport and Piedmont. The number of miners is estimated between six and eight thousand, and representing a population of 20,000. To feed this large number it is believed there are not twenty barrels of flour in the district. In Frostburg, a district of 6,000 people, there are less than ten barrels of flour by actual count in first hands. Something must speedily be done or the consequences threaten to be serious.

The miners have been thrown out of work completely by the strike, which blockaded coal trains. When provisions run out it is impossible to say what might be done. State Senator McCalloh, who resides at Frostburg, the editors of the two papers, and merchants at that place, did not apprehend any rictous glemonstration on the part of the miners to aid in the strike. They did not think there was any organized body to aid the strikers though the sympathy of the men is decidedly outspoken. What they fear most are the results of a scarcity of provisions, and unless the situation is changed there would be trouble in less than two weeks in this respect. The same fear prevails at the other towns.

The miners were assembled in crowds at the stations and elsewhere discussing the situation. They generally denied any intention of visiting Cumberland or elsewhere with riotous inten-

They generally denied any intention of visiting Cumberland or elsewhere with rictous intentions or for purposes of plunder.

Judge Douglass, of the George's Creek Coal and Iron Company, said he did not think five men could be found in Lonaconing to join a raid anywhere. It is the general impreasion that the outspoken sympathy of the miners has been looked upon in a false light.

The citizens' relief committee at Cumberland were to have met to-night to take action to alleviate the starving poor of this city. In view of this action Mayor Withers to-night submitted a request to Mayor Douglass, which he presented to Col. Sharp, asking that something be done towards shipping provisions. It is likely a provision car will be run from Baltimore.

The mayor of Grafton has asked for military, apprehending danger. Col. Deleplane, acting for Gov. Mathews, had an interview with Gen. Getty here to-day on the matter, and it was considered unnecessary to send troops to Grafton for the present. It is probable that Governor Mathews may take a different view of the situation and that troops will be sent there at once, but none to Wheeling.

The strikers compelled the workmen in the machine shops at Grafton to strike to-day. The strikers at Keyser are very orderly. They have appointed a guard of 75 or 100 men to protect the company's property. The ciptains of the guard wear brass stars and the privates improvised stars of tin. The city is remarkably quiet to night and very few persons are on the streets. One hundred United States solders are on the way here from Baltimore. It is thought an effort will shortly be made to raise the blockade, in which event all the United States troops available will be picketed along the line at the most dangerous places, a guard placed on every train, and trains run only in daytime until all most dangerous places, a guard placed on every train, and trains run only in daytime until all apprehension is over. The break of the blockade on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad would greatly strengthen efforts in the same direction on other roads. There is considerable opposion other roads. There is considerable opposition, however, to a hasty policy.
The canal men from Sir John's Run went to Hancock (six miles below) yesterday and demanded provisions or money. They appointed a committee who waited on the merchants and told them what they wanted. The merchants contributed generously, a few giving $50 each.
The Matthews Guards will return from Martinsburg to Wheeling to-day, where they remain to meet any emergency. Forty U

They say they will stay out a month if necessary. It is now believed the railrond officials have agreed on a plan of action, and will try to enforce it on Friday or Saturday, when they assert all trains will be running regularly. They rely on the military and citizens for support. Affairs are exactly as they stood on Friday last before the riots.

It has just been learned that a large force of State militia, numbering several thousand, and several regiments of United States troops are concentrating at Blairsville, a town on the Pennsylvania railroad, forty-five miles from this city. These troops, it is expected, will be thrown into Pittsburg if necessary to compel the strikers to release the trains. A large force of laborers have been engaged by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and are now at work removing the debris and ruins of the Union depot and repairing tracks, unmolested by the mob, and removing the removing tracks, unmolested by the mob, moving the debris and rains of the Onion debot and repairing tracks, unmolested by the mob, aithough not specially guarded by military or police. Higher officials of the Pennsylvania railroad are still in hiding, fearing violence from the mob should they make their appearance in the city. To-day no acts or violence have been perpetrated here.
The religious portion of the community held

The general opinion decidedly expressed by the leading ministers of the Gospel was the present terrible calamity and the fearful deeds of the mob was the direct visitation of God on the people for supporting great raitroad companies were regarded by by the speakers as rigantic Sabbath breakers. The papers here are now taking a decided stand in favor-of law and order.

It is just learned that the regiment of Pittsburg militia, which disbanded on Saturday when the Philadelphia troops were under fire from the rioters, will be mustered out of service and the members who ran away are to be court-martialed. This report is received from the headquarters of Gov. Hartranit.

Thousands of coal miners and rolling militands are out on a strike and throng the streets. Neighboring villages and towns are being sacked by striking coal miners for provisions, although they respect all other property. Affairs in Philadelphia—Movemenf of Freight to New York—Arrival et Gov. Hartranft.
PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—Several freight trains left for New York to-day, but none have been sent over the main line. Gov. Hartrauft, accompanied by Adjutant General Latta and several other members of his staff, reached West Philadelphia at one o'clock this affernoon, and after an interview with Coi. Thomas A. 18cott went to the Continental Hotel. He will make Philadelphia his headquarters during the continuance of the present troubles.

Gov. Hartrauft has authorized the formation of two additional regiments of militia, to be known as the Twentieth Regiment is to be composed of the veteran corps of the First Regiment, and the Twenty-first of the Grand Army of the Republic.

An order was issued from the adjutant general's office disbanding company I, Sixteenth Regiment, for insubordination, cowerdice and mutinous conduct in furnishing ammunition to rioters at Reading on the 24th instant.

A meeting of workingmen was called for tonight at Frankford road and Yard street. The police, however, would not allow the hail to be opened. About 1,500 people gathered in the vicinity, and being rather demonstrative were dispersed by the police. Several parties were arrested for inciting to riot.

The Schuylkill Region Coul Miners Not on Strike—Traffic Resumed on the Reading Road.

Philadelphia. July 25.—President Gowen emphatically denies the published reports that a suspension of mining has occurred in the Schuylkill coal region and that strikers have taken possession of the property of the Reading Railroad Company at Reading. He says that every colliery of the Coal and Iron Company except one is in operation. All their employees are at work, and all the trains are now moving promptly. As to the riot in Reading he says that on Monday night a mob tore up three rails and ran a freight car off the track. This damage could have been repaired in ten minutes, but it was deemed prudent to await the arrival of Gen. Hancock's regulars, who, with the assistance of a few brave and determined coal and ican police from Schuylkill county, under the command of Captains Linden and Heister, the rails were replaced and traffic again started. Coal trains are moving up and down.

CONSPICUOUS ABSENCE OF THE DANGEROUS AGITATORS—PERFECT POLICE ARRANGEMENTS—ORDERLY PROCEEDINGS—A ROW AFTER THE

conspicuous absence of the Dangerous Agitators—perfect Police arrangements—ordered in Suppressed.

New York, July 25.—Those who feared trouble at the Tompkins Square mass meeting tonight were agreeably disappointed. No more orderly assemblage for its numbers has been seen in this city for years. Throughout the whole proceedings there was nothing which for an instant portended a riot. The English speeches, with the exception of that of Mr. Levinton, were of the most commonplace and buncembe character.

The assemblage was in the best of humor, and the dangerous element was so poorly represented as to be acarcely recognizable among the ten thousand beople in the square. The police arrangements were unostentatious, but admirable. Had there been trouble they could have been brought to the scene in a few minutes. Gen. Smith, president of the board of police, and the commissioners occupied a private room at a the seventeenth precinct police station, close by Tompkins Square. A large number of police in citizen's dress circulated during the evening amony the crowd in the square. Their services were, however, little required, and there was scarcely any display of uniformed police, and none whatever of military during the whole evening.

Some eight or ten thousand men and boys attended the meeting to sympathize with railroad strikers. There was one stand for English and another for French, German and other speakers. No police or military appeared on the scene, but both were in readiness for immediate action. Handbills were distributed, one against contracted currency and the other imploring the workingmen not to "Let hoose the tiger of disorder." A banner on the grand stand had the motto, "Our strength lies in the justice of our cause. Let working people of the world unite." There was a large French and German working element present.

Martín Couroy, blacksmith, called the English speaking meeting to order. He said they were law-abiding citizens, met to sympathize with their brethren against Gould, Scott and Jewett, who mixed in his eloquence.

John Swinton said they were no rioters. A spontaneous movement for the rights of labor was sought to be put down. Reference to the Sixteenth Pennsylvania, who refused to fire on the strikers, caused immense cheering. Strikers, he said, did not want to destroy property, but showed themselves its preservers. This was no political movement that could be put down by gunboats and cannon, but a strike for the rights of labor.

Resolutions were then passed declaring sympathy with the strikers, and denouncing legalized railroad, manufacturing and other corporations as despotic enemies of mankind.

An address to President Hayes was adopted, and after addresses by Henry McGlines, painter, and Leander Thompson, of the Butcher's Association, the meeting quiety dispersed.

After the Tompkins Square meeting was over the crowd gathered on the streets. The police ordered them to disperse and were greeted with a shower of brickbats and stones. The police charged, and after a sharp and decisive struggle charged, and after a sharp and decisive struggle the crowd were routed. All quiet now.

Later.—Quiet reigned around Grand Central Depot to-night, and no further news was received of the strike spreading on the New York Central road. Fearing trouble on account of Central road. Fearing trouble on account of the Tompkins Square mass meeting 100 special officers living in the neighborhood of the depot were sworn in, armed and given badges. They remained on guard all night, and trains arrived and departed as usual. The Strike in the State Under Con-The Strike in the State Under Control.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 25.—Gen. Carrtelegraphs that all is quiet at West Albany. The troops are in possession of the round and freighthouses. Freight can be sent without any trouble. Everything in the city is quiet, and no furtuer disorder is apprehended here. The Governor says that his dispatches this morning from all parts of the State are satisfactory, and he expresses the opinion that the strike is now entirely under control.

The Strike at Hornellsville Settled. HORNELLSVILLE, N. Y., July 25.—The strike here is settled by mutual concession. The terms are withheld. Business men of the town have agreed to subscribe enough to support the discharged committeemen one year.

The Business Prospect in New York -Supplies Growing Short.

New York, July 25.—The interruption of railroad communication has seriously affected New York, July 25.—The interruption of railroad communication has seriously affected the provision market. In a few days, if the condition of affairs does not improve, New York will be emplied involuntarily to adopt a vegetarian diet. There is as yet no advance in retail prices of meat, but retail dealers are already beginning to suffer, as the wholesale dealers have advanced prices. An abundant supply of meat can be shipped to this city within twenty-four hours of the resumption of trailic upon the railroads. There is a very large supply of butter on the market, although there is a scarcity of the very finest grades, and there is an abundance of dried meats for future consumption. Other branches of business are of course affected by the failure of transportation. The grocery, metal, hide, leather and wood trades, and all produce markets are suffering. The general stagnation of business is plainty proved by the appearance of Broadway, which to-day is comparatively quiet and empty. The absence of freight wagons is a most noteworthy feature.

THE WEST.

The Situation in St. Louis—The Mili-tary and Business Outlook. St. Louis, July 25.—The gravity of the situ-ation is not lessened here to-day. Raifroad strikers have stopped all trains except mail ation is not lessened here to-day. Railroad strikers have stopped all trains except mail cars, and these some of the companies decline to run without the passenger coaches. Strikers of different trains have been parading the streets. General A. J. Smith, at the head of the citizens' organization for the protection of property, has his headquarters and a large staff at the Four Courts. Meetings were held this morning in nearly all the wards, and companies of citizens of from fifty to seventy-five members were organized and officered. Gen. Smith states that about 1,500 have been enrolled for service. On 'Change a company is being raised on the authority of the mayor, to consist of fifty men, for gunboat police service on the river. The company will be placed on the steamer Elon G. Smith, the city harbor boat. The list of volunteers is headed by F. C. Morehead, an ex Confederate naval officer. The prospect of a coal famine is becoming very sessious, and mill owners who have not a large supply ahead say they will have to shut down. Several are making an effort to work off the stock of grain on hand. Last night as high as twenty cents a bushel was offered for coal at some of the supply yares. The great bulk of the coal used here comes from the other side of the river, and the strikers refuse to permit it to pass, in fact prevent coal trains coming to East St. Louis. to pass, in fact prevent coal trains coming to East St. Louis.

Treops from New Orleans.

New Orleans, July 25.—All United States troops, except a squad to protect public property, left this city to-day for Louisville, where they will be joined by companies from Baton Rouge, Jackson and Holly Springs. These troops are commanded by Gen. D. E. Trobriand. It is understood Col. Floyd Jones, now at Mobile, has also been ordered to concentrate his regiment at Louisville.

THE BLOCKADE MUST BE RAISED .- Just Saltimore included, are in the condition of towns blockaded by an enemy. In a few days all classes of inhabitants will begin to feel the discomforts and inconveniences of a state of siege—rich and poor, the employer and the embyed, and the large army of idle men whose terference with those who had work to do and were willing and anxious to do it has been one of the chief causes of the present trouble Striking details showing the extent and rami fications of the danger are largely set forth in our local reports. These hardships will be felt first and most severely by those who have least provision made for a period of enforced idle ness. The stoppage of railway transportation, if it lasts even a very short time longer, will mean nothing less than a general stoppage of trade and of work. Take for example the ves-sels now lying idle at our wharves waiting for cargoes of grain and petroleum, which have to be brought here by rail. The export and shipstand-still, which means no work for the tugs and the people whom they employ, for the stevedores and the draymen, the oil refineries and the men employed about them, &c. Ther take the single item of semi-bituminous coal, which has to be brought by rail from the mines of Allegany, of West Virginia and of Pennsylvania. The exhaustion of the coal supply, which will soon take place—except anthracite, which comes by the Tidewater canal—unless it is replepished by fresh arrivals from the mines means not only the suspension of coal ship-ments from this port, but the stoppage of every factory and mill and workshop where steam i used; the suspension of much steamboat navi-gation and the turning of thousands of industrious workingmen out of the employment which is daily bread to them and their families We hardly realize our dependence upon modern and artificial modes of transportation until we are suddenly in danger of being temporarily deprived of them. To illustrate how particular interests are affected in this way by the strike, the peach crop of Delaware and of the Eastern Shore of Maryland is just ripening for the mar-ket. At the convention of peach growers, in session at Dover, Del., yesterday, the greatest anxiety was expressed lest all the profits of the season should be lost through inability to get the peaches to market. Even railroads that are out slightly affected by the strike will, under present circumstances, decline to accept shipments of perishable goods. To take another simple illustration—suppose the milk trains of a great city like New York were stopped for ten days, how much suffering would it entail upon multitudes of little children. Already in that great city it is stated the price of beet has advanced in consequence of the non-arrival of shipments of cattle. In Cumberland, yester day, it is said, there were but two barrels of flour for sale. With a diminution of our food supplies, first dearness, then a dearth of provisions would fall heavily upon the poorer classes. It is obvious that this city of 350,000 inhabitants cannot suffer itself to be thus put in peril of famine by the paralysis of its railway communications.

These dangers may not seem to many of our readers as immediately imminent—they cannot realize in what an incredibly short space of time they may come upon us if the railroad deadlock continues. To break that deadlock, therefore, is a matter of supreme necessity according to the maxim that the safety of the people is the highest law. The freight trains of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad should be moved immediately, and suffered to proceed without molestation or obstruction. Those who may be disposed or who may attempt to stop them should be taught in the shortest way that they do so at their peril. Of course the movement and the regular running of the freight trains will require the concurrence and co-operation of both parties to the strike the company on the one hand and its employees on the other. You may lead a horse to water, says the proverb, but you cannot make him drink. You can't compel a man, striker or not, to accept any employment against his will, except under military necessity. The ability of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad to run its trains depends upon its securing the services of competent en-gineers and firemen and brakemen to run them. The railroad officials assert with confidence that if they could only be assured of their per-sonal safety and of protection against violence there are numbers of unemployed men who would accept the places willingly and thankfully. If that be so no time should be lost in giving that assurance. The trains should go through under military guard at first, if neces-The moral effect of a voluntary resumption of work on the line of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, where it was first interrupted, would be most salutary throughout the country. It would serve both as a warning and as encour agement. It would be followed by the reopening of other roads, both those which are competitors for business and those which are tributary. As the first example of violence was given on the line of our chief road, let the first example of better counsels and of a better spirit, of a restoration of harmony and peace,

THE CUBAN SITUATION.—All the later reports from Cuba indicate that the political and financial situation is getting steadily worse. Less than a week ago gold was quoted at Havana at 222 per cent. This heavy premium on gold in Havana not only indicates the straits to which the government is reduced, but owing to the failure of the winter campaign against the insurgents points to the probability of much higher quotations before long. The enormous waste of money and life, the destruction of so many of the finest sugar estates, and the impo sition of a tax of thirty per cent. to meet osten-sibly the current expenses of carrying on the war, combined with the increasing hopelessness of bringing the struggle to a speedy close, have cast a gloom over the Spanish party. Many sugar estates have been thrown out of tillage because the planters find their profits eaten up by taxes, whilst the merchants and persons of independent incomes are beginning to com plain of the exactions put upon them to carry on a war which seems to bid fair to be interminable. All the eastern end of the island is in the hands of the insurgents, and they cannot be dislodged from the fact that they fight as guerillas, operating by detachments, striking a sudden blow, cutting off convoys, firing plantations, and when met by a heavy Spanish force taking to the woods, the swamps and the mountains. All the successive Spanish commanders have found themselves bafiled by this style of fighting, and the impossibilit of following the insurgents into their fast-nesses without falling into ambuscades.— Moreover the losses sustained by the fresh troops who are year by year stricken down with the diseases of the climate are enormous.— Spain now proposes to send twenty-five thonsand additional troops to Cuba in October to reinforce those who are already on the island.

They will only serve to fill up the gaps in the regiments now in garrison, for active operations have been suspended. At this time, too, there is a paralysis in the Havana sugar market. The stock on hand is large, but it is held by speculators who bought it at high prices, expecting to sell it at heavy profits. But the market languishes and the prices at which they hold sugar cannot, it is said, be maintained. Nor is it certain that the money required to pay the twenty-five thousand fresh troops on their arrival can be raised. The means to pay the last re-enforcements were furnished by the Association of Planters and Financiers, who were to be reimbursed from the customs revenue. It is doubtful, on a declining trade, whether they will consent to make further advances on the same terms. Every year that the struggle lasts makes it icult for Spain to maintain her control over the island. Its resources are falling off and there is little or nothing now to justify the hopes of the loyalists that the insurrection can be suppressed.

Hon. R. M. Bisuop, the democratic nominee for Governor of Ohio, is a leading and wealthy merchant of Cincinnati, where he enjoys considerable personal popularity. He is identified with many of the leading industries of Ciucinnati, and, whilst never an active politician, has been identified with the municipal government of that city, and has also served as a member of the Ohio Legislature. The republican pa-pers of Cincinnati admit Mr. Bishop's popularity in that city, as well as his high character as a man. Cheinnati's vote is generally the turning point in an Ohio election, and it is expected that the nomination of Mr. Bishop will pected that the nomination of Mr. Bishop will secure the vote of that city for the democratic State and legislative tickets. The resolutions adopted by the convention advocate supremacy of civil over military power; equality of all citizens before the law; opposition to all subsidies; maintenance of the public school system; denounce the inauguration of President Hayes as the most dangerous energy and the property an encroachment upon popular rights ever at-tempted in a free country: immediate repeal of the resumption act is demanded, and the passage of a law restoring to silver its monetary power; retention of greenback currency as the best paper money we have ever had, and any contraction thereof is declared against. President Hayes's acceptance of the liberal policy of local self-government is commended.

AN UNJUST COMPARISON.—It is unjust in the Philadelphia Ledger and other Eastern papers to put Baltimore and Pittsburg in the same category in regard to the railroad strike and its estructive consequences, and the means taken by the local authorities to restore peace and order. The losses sustained by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company in property destroyed have been almost infinitessimally small when compared with the loss of life, the enormous destruction of cars and depot, and the plunder of the contents of others at Pittsburg. To the destruction of rolling stock and freight must be added that of the great grain elevator and other property at Pittsburg, the whole and other property at Pitteoling, the whole involving an aggregate loss of several millions of dollars. Nor is it true, as is reported of Pittsburg, that at any time since the strike broke out in Baltimore the mob have had the mastery. The military and the police have acted with firmness and efficiency, and the strikt of the mob was broken and unmerous. spirit of the mob was broken and numerous arrests were made before the federal troops, at the call of the Governor, came to the assistance of the civil authorities. Ever since the first riotous outburst, sharp and sudden and disastrous as it was, the mob spirit in Baltimore has been held under control. The danger with us from the first was not the strikers, but that disorderly class which is always to be found in large cities, and was never in larger numbers or ore eager to incite to violence and participate in it than at the present time.

THE SOUTHERN RAILROADS .- It is gratifying to observe that in the South, which has generally been denounced as the region of disorder and violence, there has been no strikes on the railroads, and that employees of the Chesa-peake and Ohio, Piedmont Air-Line and Rich-mond, Fredericksburg and Potomac railroads signed a paper in deprecation of the condition of affairs North and West, and asserting their intention not to strike. The Richmond Dispatch states that there are no symptoms of a strike on any Virginia railroad. The Danville (Va.) Railroad Company are said to be paying up their men promptly, and there are no appre-hensions of a strike. In reply to a rumor which had been put in circulation that firemen and brakemen on the middle division of the Chesapeake and Ohio (Va.) railroad had struck, the officers of the railroad said that they had nothing to say about the employees except in terms of commendation.

IMPRESSIVE SILENCE .-- A writer in the London Magazine says he does not know any man who can be as silent as Gen. Grant with equal effect. He remarks that Gen. Grant has a stern steadfast way of regarding an interlocutor which suggests that if his tongue were loosed he could rather astonish him with his eloquence. A great English wit, Coleridge, per-haps, remarked that he dined once with a man at some public gathering whose high forehead and profound silence greatly impressed him. He was inclined to think him a person of remarkable intellect until the dessert, consisting of apple dumplings, was brought in, and the great unknown, clapping his hands, exclaimed: "Them's the jockeys for me."

Wooden Vessels versus Iron-Clads .- The Army and Navy Journal says that the recent fight between the Peruvian Huascar and the English vessels in the Pacific ocean was not between iron-clads, but between iron-clads and iron-framed vessels cased with wood. The Journal regards the engagement as confirmatory of Farragut's theory that wooden vessels in battle with armored ships should get close up, and fight hard. Their shot do damage through the port holes of the iron-clad, while at short range the shot of the latter pass through the wooden vessel and explode beyond.

THE WOOL CROP OF THE UNITED STATES .-The United States produced 198,000,000 pounds of wool in 1876, netting the growers, it is estimated. $40,000,000. Of this California produced about 58,000,000 pounds, and Texas about 13,000, 600 pounds. Last year we paid foreign countries $50,000,000 for wootlen goods; 20,000,000 more sheep will enable us to produce all the wool we want. We are working toward it. In 1860 we produced 65,000,000 pounds; so that in seventeen years we have increased our annual wool crop oy 133,000,000 pounds. CITY OFFICIALS RIOTING. In Pittsburg it has een found that a councilman, two aldermen and a lieutenant of police were among the rioters the other day, actively engaged in urging the mob to violence. Commenting on this the Philadelphia Bulletin says possibly when the decent citizens of Pittsburg are taxed for payment of the Pennsylvania railroad's bill of damages they may consider it worth while to turn out and elect other people than the specimens mentioned to manage their public affairs.

Dr. Erasmus Wilson, the first authority in England on cutaneous disorders, has been investigating the number of hairs in a square inch of the human head, and estimates that it contains on an average about 1,066. Taking the superficial area of the head at 120 square inches this zives about 133,920 hairs for the entire head.

Last year the Prince of Wales laid the foundation of the new Glargow postoffice, and now the bill of costs has been published—$44,000. The expenses seem to have been almost entirely for decorations, stands, platforms and triumphant arches. Eating and drinking items do not amount to $100.

Babies in Lake Michigan—How Chicago Takes Care of Her Sickly Little Ones.—The floating hospital, says the Chicago Tribune, is now ready for the season's business. The schooner Floretta, of Chicago, has been leased this year. She lies at anchor inside the government breakwater, and may be reached by the Brei Harte, which leaves the dock on the east side of Clark street bridge at 9 o'clock in the morning, and makes hourly trips ustil about noon. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon she begins her return trips and continues them until the hospital ship is cleared. There are accommodations aboard the Floretta for two hundred children and their attendants. An awning is spread over the deck, under which cots, seats, swings and the like, are set. The air is delightfully pure and fresh there on days even when it is hottest in the baking streets of the town. The deck is railed about and carefully watched, so that none of the children shall fall overboard. Pure, fresh milk and crackers, ice and such simple things are furnished by the society for the young ones.*

A Tribune reporter in conversation with the physician on board, received the following information: "There are no very sick children here to-day," said he. And I noticed last summer that while at the first there were a great many dirty children, they brightened up. The mothers would notice each other's children, and I suppose they got up a little pride in that way about their own, and tried to keep them looking neat. It is good for tene in many ways to be here. Last summer I saw children who were like washed-out rags when they left Clark street bridge brighten and freshen up before were got to the lighthouse. It don't make them well, but it helps them to get well."

The deck was an interesting sight. There were scores of babies of all ages up to five years, in all stages of emotional cruption, from the lustiest squall to the mostheartfelt crow. A lously clean and neat and very cheerful. The expense last year was $2,000 for the season.

A CURIOUS INJUNCTION CASE is pending in the New York Courts. In December, 1873, Mrs. Musgrave purchased, at a cost of $110,000, one of a row of four handsome brownstone houses on Fifth avenue, above Forty-fourth street. The house purchased was similar in style and appearance to the other three, and was one of the most costly and elegant residences in the city of New York. In 1875 Mr. Sherwood, from whom the property had been bought, changed the interior arrangements of the two houses next the corner, forming them, with adjoining houses on Forty-fourth street, into French flats, or a family hotel, called the Sherwood House, and recently he determined to add two stories to these houses, but just as the work was begun be was restrained by an injunction in a suit by Mrs. Musgrave, in which she states that when she was negotiating for the purchase Mr. Sherwood assured her that she would in the future be protected from any impairment of the house in value, convenience and enjoyment of the house as a private residence by any building or establishment of any business pursuit in the neighborhood, and that the remaining buildings fronting on Fifth avenue, belonging to him, would thereafter be occupied only as first-class private residences. She would not have bought the house, she says, had she mistrusted the truth of these representations. Since then Mr. Sherwood has introduced into the building an engine and machinery for an elevator, and she declares that the proposed addition of two stories would so detract from the character of these houses as to assimilate them in appearance and character with first class tenement houses. The court held the matter under consideration.

CHOAGO, July 25.—A riot occurred on Twentysecond street and was quelled by the police.
But two policemen were injured, and they not seriously. The gang is composed of about the same material as that of yesterday, and dispersed when the police fired at them. Other branches of the crowd of so-called workingmen have scattered all over town. The Union Stock rolling mills and Malleable fron Works on the south side have been closed, and their 500 hands are idle. A gang of rioters has been engaged in running street cars into the stables on the south side as fast as they came in. The railroads are in statu quo, with passenger trains and mails running, except in a few cases.
Many who were compelled to quit work yesterday have gone back to-day.

Chicago, July 25.—The mob continued its visits to manufacturing places and shops where large numbers of men were employed, and caused many to stop work. The conneil this afternoon adopted resolutions supporting the mayor, authorizing the expenditure by the mayor of all money deemed necessary to suppress disturbances; declared that patrols of citizens should be formed, and referred to the finance committee a resolution authorizing the city to borrow half a million dollars to use in city improvements, that the idle might find employment.

The merchants held a meeting this P. M., and made arrangements for an organized body of special police, composed of merchants and or ployees, who shall not disband until peace is re stored. A subsequent meeting was held in the tabernacle, C. B. Farwell presiding. Over 6,00 men agreed to report for special policemen. They will be organized into companies for acting for the companies of the companies. tion. Citizens' meetings were held to night at various places in the city, and prompt action taken against the mobocracy.

A Bloody Riot at Chicago.
Chicago, July 25, midright.—The night so far has been one of excitement and trouble. The meeting which was to have been held by communists on Market street was broken up in its incipiency by a good force of police after a battle with stones and sticks, and with blank carridges and billies on others. The mob ran away at last, but not without notifying the police that they would have revenge.

They separated and a band of them broke open a gun sh. p on the west side, taking some fifty guns and a quantity of ammunition. About fifty guns and a quantity of ammunition. About 7 o clock a bloody row began at Sixteenth street and Halstead, where the police in attempting to disperse the crowd were overpowered and compelled to take refuge in the round house of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad. They were soon reinforced and made a stand on the Halstead viaduct, where the crowd be came aggressive and a regular battle ensued which has just been concluded. The police used ther clubs and revolvers with considerable effect. They killed a young man named Pat. Cooney, a striking brakeman, and fatally shot Ed. McGeary. Besides these 15 or 16 were more or less wounded, how severely cannot be asceror less wounded, how severely cannot be ascertained at this hour. The police received nothing but bruises from stones, fists, &c. The injured rioters were almost exclusively bys and young men. They were finally driven of. The rioters have compelled the West Side street care to lay off, and have dumped a number of Blue Island cars off the track.

'The 12 o'clock train from New York has not arrived here, owing to fear of trouble. Members of the Engineer's Brotherhood state that no goads will be running to-morrow nicht nuless roads will be running to-morrow night unless the strikers' demands are acquiesced in.

The Crisis at Louisville-The Citizens Armed to Suppress the Mob. Louisville, Ky., July 25.— One thousand milita, many of them influential and wealthy citiitla, many of them influential and wealthy citizens, are on duty armed with guns and pisto va. The police number 175. Business houses are closed and storckeepers are joining the militia. They very worst elements are mixed in with idlers who began the trouble here. Mayor Jacob has issued orders to trifle with none, to use prompt and effective measures to suppress the least indication of violence or talk thereof.

The scenes at Pittsburg are remembered with horror here, and all care will be taken to suppress any outbreak in its incipiency.

Business is generally suspended on account of the strikes. There are no shipping facilities. At one o'clock this morning an attempt was made to burn the Louisville, Nashville and Great Southern railroad office, but it failed.

The laboring men of the Louisville and Nashville railroad are not included in the number whose wages were raised yesterday. They have quit work, and so nave the molders and workmen generally. afternoon.

Later.—The city up to half-past ten o'clock has been comparatively quiet. This is attribu-table to the prompt action of the citizens and business men generally in arming themselves and joining the militia. Many are mounted. Evening Demonstration.

Tolkho, July 25.—At 10 o'clock this morning a large crowd, composed of laborers, stevedores and all classes of workingmen, assembled at the United States Hotel and passed resolutions to co-operate with the railroad men, but deprecating vandalism. Every large manufacturing establishment in the city is now closed. The call for a mass-meeting of citizens at 8 o'clock this evening was issued by the mayor early in the day, and in pursuance thereof an immense crowd assembled in Market Space at that hour.

The meeting was composed largely of the discontented element, representatives of which cook possession of the stand and proceeded to address the crowd, and the meeting finally broke up in confusion and disorder. Some of them raised a cry of "Board of Trade; go to the Board of Trade," whereupon the entire mass surged into and down Summit street to the Chamber of Commerce building, hooting and yelling as it went. Arriving at this point intense excitement and noisy demonstrations for a time prevailed. No acts of violence were committed, however, and after a short stay the crowd again went through Summit street to the upper part of the city and in a measure dispersed. address the crowd, and the meeting finally brok

Midnight.—After the disorderly proceedings of the early part of the evening a large and turbulent crowd gathered at the corner of Munroe and Superior streets, but was dispersed by the police. Saloons are closed and the city is quiet.

The First Conflict at St. Louis.

St. Louis, July 25.—The first conflict between the police and the strikers occurred last evening at Corondelet, about six miles below the centre of the city. A crowd of fronworkers formed and marched to the Martindale Zinc Works and ordered out the men. There was a charge ready to draw, which the strikers refused to permit to be drawn. Parker, the foreman, started to do it himself, wight the strikers stopped him and he struck one of them with a crowbar. A fight ensued and the police were called on. Sergeant Rochow responded and attempted to defend the foreman, but was driven off with stones, and the crowd was left in possession of the works. The value of the property destroyed is estimated at $3.000.

The strikers then marched to the Carondelet Zinc Works and took out the pin, leaving the charges in, and causing a damage of $1.500.

THE SOUTH AND THE STRIKE.

THE SOUTH AND THE STRIKE.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The cabinet has held taily sessions since Friday last, and will continue to do until the necessity has passed. The President and the cabinet members all express the opinion that it will not be wise to relax in the least the vigilant watch over the rioters until all opposition to the railroad operations shell. all opposition to the railroad operations shall cease. To-day there was also brought before the cabinet the subject of the anticipated Indian outbreaks in Alaska in consequence of the withdrawal of the federal troops. It is believed that the report of the subject of the withdrawal of the federal troops. that the reports of this matter have been much exaggerated in the interest of parties who wish the troops kept in Alaska for their private gain, but as a measure of precaution orders were in but as a measure of precaution orders were issued that two of the revenue cutters now on the Pacific coast shall be dispatched to Sitka to retache court should the Indians make any hos-tile demonstration.

A member of the cabinet after the meeting

A member of the cabinet after the meeting this atternoon said the good effects of President Hayes's Southern policy had been remarkably exemplified. He said if the President had concluded to uphold Packard and Chamberlain it would have necessitated the retention of a considerable number of troops in both Louisians and South Carolina. In consequence of the disturbances in the North at this time the President would have no alternative but to remove the troops. Their removal would have been followed by a popular uprising against Packard and Chamberlain, and the spectacle would then have been presented of the government having and Chamberlain, and the spectacle would then have been presented of the government having to cope with a rebellion in the North and a rebellion in the South. As it was the government for the first time since the war found itself entirely relieved from any fears as to public tranquinty in the South.

The President himself feels very much cheered

The President himself feels very much cheered by this reflecton and by the evidences which have so freely come from the South of its active sympathy with his efforts to preserve the peace of the country. The whirligg of time brings about some strange things. If, as is happily not now anticipated, the President should be forced to call for volunteers, there is no question here that the quota of the South would be made up in an incredibly short time, and Southern soldiers would be found aidlug in nutting down a diers would be found aiding in putting down a in an incredibly short time, and Southern soldiers would be found aiding in putting down a rebellion on Northern soil.

WHAT JUDGE KELLEY THINKS ABOUT IT.

Judge Kelley, of Pennsylvania, who is here still, thinks that affairs are very serious. He represents that the most intense indignation exists in Philadelphia over the encouragement given by the citizens of Pitsburg to the attack made by the rioters on the Philadelphia regiment, and it will be the cause of a great increase of bad blood between the two cities. In fact, respectable people everywhere are beginning to evince curiosity as to why the military called out in pursuance of the law to maintain order shall be censured because they did not tamely submit to all manner of insults and violence heaped upon them by the law breakers. Judge Kelley gives it as his opinion that the policy pursued by the Treasury Department for the last twelve years has been the main element in bringing about the financial depression and rendering possible strikes of such enormous magnitude. Judge Kelley does not explain the reason why he has for sixteen years in Congress supported the party which controls the Treasury Department and all the other departments of the government. Judge Kelley saw Col. Scott just before he left Pailadelphia, and says he was as cool and impassive as if everything was moving on in regular routine.

FUTURE FOLICY OF THE PENNSYLVANIA ROAD. It is learned here that the policy of the Pennsylvania road will be to give the go by so far as possible and expedient to all the communities which have sustained the rioters. Altoona is one of these places which has been built up entirely by the fostering hand of the company, and it has been among the foremost in its attempts to injure the company and destroy its property. The same singular condition of public feeling seems to have existed at various points on the line of the Baltimore and Ohio. such as Martinsburg, Cumberland, Keyser and Grafton, whose business prosperity is so much dependent upon the unimpeded opera where the company has made such large investments of its capital.

THE SUGAR DRAWBACKS.

GOVERNMENT RELIEF TO WESTERN BANKS AND GOVERNMENT BELIEF TO WESTERN BANKS AND BUSINESS MEN.

WASHINTON, July 25.—The Secretary of the Treasury has authorized the Assistant Treasurer at New York to dispose of exchange on Chicago, Cincinnati and St. Louis for the relief of Western banks and business men who have funds in New York which are not available on account of the impossibility of transportation. Upon the receipt by the treasurer of a certificate of the deposit of funds in the New York office a like amount will be ordered paid to the proper party by the assistant treasurer at either of these points first named designated in the certificate.

Gen. Logan, of the Richmond postal committee, called the convention to order, and stated the object to be to secure better and more expeditious mail service for the South. He moved, on behalf of the Richmond delegation, that Wm. L.Trenhlom, of Charleston, be elected temporary president of the convention, which was carried. John Olt, of Richmond, was elected temporary secretary. A committee on credentials was appointed, and the convention took a recess for twenty minutes.

Gardiner G. Hubbard, chairman, and G. A. Bassett, of the postal commission, are present; D. M. Fox is absent. A. D. Hagen, third assistant postmaster general; J. W. Marshall, superintendent of railway mail service for the South; J. L. French, assistant to the second assistant postmaster general, are in attendance.

Three hundred delegates were reported present. The committeee on permanent organization reported the following officers for the convention: President, Gen. Cyrus Bussey, Lonisiana; vice-president, Hon. T. S. Flournay, Virginia; D. M. Carter, North Carolina, and Henry C. Semple, Alabama; secretary, John Ott, Virginia; D. M. Carter, North Carolina, and Henry C. Semple, Alabama; secretary, John Ott, Virginia, assistant secretaries, J. V. Haller, Georgia, J. H. Waltz, Virginia, Chas. J. Martin, Tennessee, and J. C. L. Harris, North Carolina.

Gen. Bussey thanked the convention for the honor conferred upon the city of New Orleans by selecting him as president.

The committee on business, consisting of one from each delegation, was appointed to prepare business for the convention.

Letters and telegrams were read from the President and Postmaster General explaining that present public duties prevented their presence. Several railway officials explained their absence in like manner.

Gardiner G. Rubbard was invited to address the convention, and said the Postmaster Generalintended to do all in his power to secure fast mail trains for the South. It was the purpose of the department to give every facility to the South, but Congress would have to make appropriations before this could be done. This would greatly depend upon the work of the convention. It had not assembled for the purpose of giving preference to one rail route over another, but for the purpose of inducing Congress to make the necessary appropriation, and then the best and quickest could be selected. Congress should increase appropriations for the South at least fifty per cent. This would give the whole South efficient, economical and fast service.

He favored the letter-carrier service in every city. He would favor free delivery in every city of five thousand inhabitants, but thought this was not practicable at present. It was his opinion, however, that we would not have perfect service until this system was introduced into every city and town of importance in this every. city and town of importance in this country. He was in favor of full justice to the South, and the time had come when the South was entitled to every advantage and assistance from the gen-eral government. He believed the present ser-vice between New York and New Orleans could be facilitated so us to give the business community a gain of one day by running fast mai mail trains. Mr. Hubbard was listened to with great interest, and marked respect was paid

the following:

Resolved, That this convention has received with pleasure a communication from his Excellency Hon. R. B. Hayes, President of the United States, and regret that the unfortunate condition of the country prevents his being with us, and this convention tenders to him its unfeigned thanks for his efforts to restore peace and quietted to the condity.

thanks for his efforts to restore peace and quietude to the country.

All the scats on the platform were tendered the members of the postal commission.

Officers of the army were unanimously invited to seats in the convention.

The officers of the garrison tendered the services of the band to the convention.

The band played Yankee Doodie and Dixie, which were received with loud cheers. The convention adjourned until 10 A. M. Thio Democratic Convention

Columbus, July 25.—The democratic State convention met to-day. The attendance is very large in comparison with former gatherings. A temporary organization was effected, the usual committees announced, and the convention took a recess until 1.30 P. M.

On reassembling Hon. J. F. McKinney was chosen president, W. O. Brown secretary, and vice-presidents and assistant secretaries from each district.

On the sixth ballot R. M. Bishop, of Hamilton county, was nominated for Governor.

The committee on resolutions submitted a report, which was adopted. It resolves that the democratic party of Ohio renews its pledges of devotion to the Union and constitution, with the amendments thereto. I declares as essential to the preservation of free government faithful adherence to the following principles: Strict construction; home rule supremacy of civil over military power; separation of church and state; equality of all citizens before the law; liberty of individual action unvexed by sumpturry laws; absolute acquietes construction is the lawfully expressed absolute acquietescene in the lawfully expressed ndividual action unvexed by sumptuary laws; besolute acquiescence in the lawfully expressed absolute acquiescence in the lawfully expressed will of the mijority: opposition to all subsidies; preservation of public lands to the use of actual settlers; maintenance and perfecting of the common school system; that we look upon the inauguration of R. B. Hayes to the high office of President of the United States in spite of a majority of electoral and popular votes given by the people to Samuel J. Tilden as the most dangerous encroachment upon popular rights that has ever been attempted in this or any other free country, and a repetition of such frauds will not be tolerated; destruction of the industry of the country and pauperizing of labor are inevitable from the vicious laws ensated by the republican party. As means relieving distressed portions of the community and removing the great stringency complained of in business circles, immediate repeal of the resumption act is demanded; that the enactment of the republican measure demonetizing silver is an outrage upon the rights of the people, and the passage of a law which shall restore to silver its monetary power is demanded; retention of greenback currency is demanded; retention of greenback currency is demanded as the best paper money we have ever had, and any further contraction is deelared ágainst; the country is congratulated upon the acceptance by the present administration of the constitutional and pacific policy of local self-government in the States South, so long advocated by the democratic party, which has brought peace and harmony to that section of the Union; demanding repeal of the State registry law; favoring a tariff for revenue; the issue by the general government alone of all circulating medium, whether paper or metallic, to be always of equal tender and incontrovertible; condemning the acts of the federal administration in using the regular troops of the United States to interfere with elections and other political affairs of the States as unconstitutional, unlawful and unjustifiable, and destructive of the rights of the people and of th will of the majority; opposition to all subsidies; preservation of public lands to the use of actual

The War with the Indians—General The War with the Indians—General Howard's Programme.

San Francisco, July 24.—Dispatches have been received from the head of Lawyer's canyon, Camp Alexander, dated 23d, to the following effect: The Indians made a descent on Kamian yesterday, stealing 400 ponies, and left for the buffalo country. It is evident that Joseph sent back this band for fresh supplies of horses and to revisit the old caches; also to chastise the Indians friendly to the whites. Gen. Howard has abandoned his intention of going himself to the Spokane country, but will send Gen. Wheaton instead with 700 troops, who will leave to-morrow for the intersection of the six trails to establish a debouch depot, and to defend the farmers getting their crops in. defend the farmers getting their crops in.
Gen. Howard has engaged 50 axemen, and

A Fire at the Shemandoah, Pa., Mines. Shenandoah, Pa., Julines. Shenandoah, Pa., July 25.—To-night the miners and other workingmen in this place, to-gether with men in the surrounding country to the number of 850 or 1.000, headed by a drum and fife and a number of figs., paraded the principal streets and then repaired to the base ball grounds for a meeting. While there an alarm of fire was made by the whistles of several of the collieries, and soon the sky to the west was lit up by flames. It has proved to be the stable at No. 4 breaker, which is now burning, and will be an entire loss. The stable was the property of the Philadeiphia Coal Company. Further trouble is expected.

AUSTRO-RUSSIAN OPINION—VIEWS OF BRITISH MILITARY MOVEMENTS.

VIENNA, July 25.—The Political Correspondence, which is supposed to be the semi-official organ both of the Russian and Austrian governments, publishes the following intelligence from St. Petersburg: "In leading Russian circles the steps taken by England relative to reinforcements are regarded as a menace of not much significance. It is firmly believed that England, being isolated, will avoid any warlike step. An eventual English occupation of Gallipoli could only lead to a collision if the British troops were to unite with the Turkish army, but a non-aggressive landing of British troops at Gallipoli would simply be ignored by Russia."

[Correspondence of the Baltimore Sun.] CUMBERLAND, July 25, 1877 The Interests on which Cumberland Prosperity is Dependent—Manufactures Suspended-Its Water Supply, City Hall and Schools—Historical Rem-intscences, dc.

The effects of the existing conflict between labor and capital and its final results, whatever that may be, are perhaps considerations of more importance to the city of Cumberland than any other municipal corporation.

that may be, are perhaps considerations of more importance to the city of Cumberland than any other municipal corporation in the State of Maryland outside of Baltimore. Cumberland is next to Baltimore the largest and most important town in Maryland, and its prosperity is entrent town in Maryland, and its prosperity is entrely dependent on its manufacturing, mineral, rallroad and canal interests, all of which are involved in the present crisis. When these interests are in full operation the monthly payments for labor alone in this city exceed $200,000, distributed among 2,500 men and boys, laborers and mechanics of all kinds.

The interests which are now entirely suspended are the freight operations on the several railroads and the Chesapeake and Ohio canal, a cotton factory that employed sixty operatives suspended two menths, the Baltimore and Ohio railroad rolling mill that gave employment to 900 men, and the Cumberland sicel works, which are virtually at a stand still. The steel works furnished employment to forty hands, and seventy men worked at Butler's furniture establishment, which was burned down some three mouths ago.

Cumberland is pre-eminently a manufacturing location, affording the unusual advantages of cheap coal and water, abundant deposits of iron ore and fire clay, and almost inexhaustible supplies of lime, timber and cement. The population of Cumberland is about 13,000. The city being situated at the function of the North branch of the Potomer river and Wills creek has an unlimited supply of pure mountain water received forty miles from the source of the Potomac river in the Allegany mountains. The water for the city is furnished by the Holly system of waterworks, using hydrastatic pressure and forcing the supply from a filtering tank on the river oank through twenty-two miles of mains to all portions of the city.

waterworks, using hydrastatic pressure and forcing the supply from a filtering tank on the river cank through twenty-two miles of mains to all portions of the city.

Some sections of the city are furnished at an elevation of 145 feet. The system affords a forcible and ample supply of water for fire protection, capable of throwing at the same time eight streams of 1% inch to a height of 160 feet without the use of steam engines. The only steam engine in possession of the city was placed, in the hands of the Battimore and Ohio Railroad Company to be used in conjunction with the municipal authorities for fires in the suburbs and neighboring towns, the city proper not requiring its use. There is an efficient volunteer fire department of four hose companies and also a hook and isdder company. The water amply system was constructed at a cost of $220.000, and is under the management of Mr. George Charles, superintendent.

The new city hall, containing the beautiful Academy of Music, is the finest building of the kind in the State outside the city of Battmore. All the nunicipal and county buildings, including the court house and jail and county offices, are modern structures, lighted by gas and heated by steam.

There are eighteen churches in the city, three banks, ample, first-class, hotel accommodations, and two daily and two weekly newspapers, under efficient management. There are four public school-houses, the Allegany County Academy, the Capuchin Monastery—the order expelled from Germany by Prince Bismarck some two years since—St. Edward's Academy and Alpine Hall for young ladies, affording excellent educational facilities. The extensive and varied industries of the city beside those mentioned comprise tanneries, flour mills, furniture works, brick-yards, machine shops, two founderies, two stocking factories, a large manufactory of buckskin gloves, a cement mill, extensive planing mills, sash and door factories and four large boat-yards for the construction of canal boats. Among the historical reminiscences of colonial times is the beautiful site of old Fort Cumberland, Washington's headquarters, now occupied times is the beautiful site of old Fort Cumberland, Washington's headquarters, now occupied by the Episcopal Church. Near by is the residence of Mr. Hopewell Hebb, on whose premises is Washington's well, 93 tect deep, 5 feet in diameter, in which was recently discovered remnants of bayonets, cannon bails and flint lock muskets, which have been sent to the Smithsonian as relics of the war for independence.

with such extensive interests to protect it is With such extensive interests to protect it is but natural that the taxpayers and well-thinking citizens of Cumberland should take decided interest in the preservation of law and order. While the people of this community in general sympathize with the unemployed laborer and mechanic, they are decidedly opposed to al attempts at mob law and violence.

Phantom Ball—Doll Rafte—Mock Court—Baby Show.

Stow.

Strikers to the right of us, strikers to the left of us, strikers all around us, may volicy and thunder as they please, but we at Berkeley will pursue the even tenor of our way undisturbed by any such matters as those which have caused such confusion in the Monumental City. The Berkeley baths are owned and controlled by the State, and compare very favorably with many of the most famous baths of the old world.

One of the principal events of the season so far was the phantom ball, which occurred last week. The weird, strange and visionary character of the participants most solemnly impressed the bystanders, who gazed with awe and saton-ishment upon the ghoetly visitants from another sphere as they were wafted by gentie zephyrs from their etherial abode into the dancing salon, where to the bewitching strains of uncartily music they flitted after the manner of the belies and beaux of Lehman's Hail.

Another entertainment quite as amusing, but of another character, took place some days aftenwards. It seems that one of the churches located here, feeling in need of funds, had recourse to a fair to obtain the means of replenishing its depleted treasury. One of the articles railled at this festival was a baby, not one of flesh and blood, nor yet the "rag baby" so much spoken of in politics, but, forsooth, a doil baby. The lawyers here from Washington and elsewhere determined to indict the one who had railed off the baby, as games of chance are strictly forbidden by the laws of West Virginia. A court was organized, with Judge McCorkle, of California, on the bench, the real clerk of the had railed off the baby, as games of chance are strictly forbidden by the laws of West Virginia. The jury was composed of twelve honorable men, and amongst the witnesses were Ed. Hefiner, of Baltimore, and Thos. E. McArdle, of Washington, the former for the prosecution and the latter for the defense. The lawyers rivaled Sergeant Buzfuzzy the witnesses were of the Sammy Weller type, the judge charged the jury in a courtly manner, and these twelve honorable men brought in a verdict of guilty, and sentenced the prisoner to be raffled."

The next source of enjoyment will be the live baby show, which will come off to-morrow, and will no doubt be the means of causing many ripples of laughter.

The Sunday Senool Society of the Baltimore Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South continued its annual conference at Wesley Grove yesterday. The number pres-sent was largely increased. Experience meetlags were held at an early hour in the morning and were well attended. The intervals between the exercises were spent in social conversation and lottering among the shady trees or quietly conversing in the tents. Many pleasant social gatherings could be seen about the grounds until the blowing of the born signaled the preparation for regular sessions of the convention ion.

A discussion took place on the "preparation of teachors." An address, prepared by Rev. Dr. W. G. E. Cumyngham, Sunday school secretary of the M. E. Caurch South, was read by the sectary, E. B. Tucker. He says the preparation implies first, a deep sense of moral responsibility. The functions are so nearly related to those of the Christian ministry that what may be deemed essential to the success of the one, with some modifications, be esteemed requisite in the other. An unconverted person or a light and frivolous professor cannot be a good Sunday school teacher. Second, a clear perception of religious truth. Many perpons intellectually in-the other. An unconverted person of a light and frivolous professor cannot be a good Sunday school teacher. Second, a clear perception of religious truth. Many persons intellectually inferior to others are far more spiritually blessed. This is because one class seizes the living truth, the true spiritual meaning of the Word of God, and the other does not. Dr. Cunnyngham onered the following suggestions for preparation: Read over the text of the lesson carefully with its connections, and having gained a general idea of the subject as a part of the Scriptures—its place and relations—seek to ascertain its meaning and use. In imparting instruction use the plannest language; be temperate in the use of illustration, and make but few points and support them well. As the crown of all we should pray for God's blessing upon our labor. An address was also delivered by Rev. Dr. C. C. Bitting, of Frankim Square Baptist Church, for which a resolution of thanks was passed. Dr. Bitting said: In the preparation of Sunday school teachers the first point necessary is the selection of material. Not all are adapted to the work. Having selected the persons, see that they have necessary preparation of heart—in a personal experience of the power of the Gospel; in a love for truth and the Word of God as the exponent of truth; in concentration of interest in the work and in an appreciation of the necessity and power of prayer. A teacher should have warm human sympatnies, and chilinecessity and power of prayer. sider the ways to adapt his instructions to those to be taught; entitivate happy ways of imparting; nurse his patience, and as a student be independent enough to seek truth and maintain it. Then let him study models and the experience and writings of others.

W. W. Ballard, chairman of the committee on the secretary's address, reported "that in order to a complish the end desired, namely, the keeping of schools open during the winter mouths, the improvement of teachers, &c., we would urge upon the parents more fully the importance of early training of their children, and their co-operating with the superintendents and teachers by giving their countenance and presence whenever practicable, and by encouraging their children to attend the preaching of the Word of God. We would suggest that throughout the raral districts, where the teachers and superintendents have not the advantage of weekly meetings for studying the lesson papers, that each circuit hold one or more meetings each year to which all schools should be invited and urged to attend, both scholars and teachers; and among other business to which their attention should be called would be be invited and urged to attend, both scholars and teachers; and among other business to which their attention should be called would be a review of the last month or quarter's lesson, which would go a great way to induce both teachers and scholars to pay more attention to the study of the lessons contained in our lesson papers and Sunday school magazines.

The discussion of the subject of preparation of teachers was continued by T. J. Magruder, Rev. P. B. Smith, T.-J. Owen and Rev. James Pearre.

The committee on business reported that the suggestion in the annual address of the president that the school exercises be entirely religious should be warmly indorsed by this convention. The salvation of the child should be the great objective feature, and to this end all the instruction and exercises of the school should tend. The child should be taught to know Christ as his Saviour and to love Him because he is his Saviour. The committee offered resolutions requesting the teachers to hold monthly meetings for prayer and praise for the conversion of the pupils in their schools. In regard to the recommendation that the General Conference be memorialized to change the rule regarding the appointment of Suiday school superlutendents, the majority reported a resolution that the convention memorialize the Baltimore Annual Conference, to be held in Atlanta in May, 1818, to vote for an amendment by which the teachers of the Sunday schools may be allowed a voice in the election of any pound. which the teachers of the Sunday schools may be allowed a voice in the election or appoint be allowed a voice in the election or appointment of their superintendents.

He struck his forehead, just above the eyes, cansing an ugly cut all the way across the forehead. Dr. Charles F. He was carried on a stretcher by policemen of the middle district to Washington University Hospital. The man had apparently been suffering for a day or two, since the close of the liquor saloons, &c., and kept a good part of the time yesterday in his room, muttering and talking to himself. O'Brien, S. A. Roiker and Wilhelm Brazgeman, who gave $1,000 bail each for court. One of the places, at German street and Wine alley, was guarded by a line of sentines thrown out for security of the imbibers, and when policeman Gott, watching his chance, stole through the outposts he found a fall rank drawn up at the bar, and each man's tumbler with a charge of three fingers at a ready. He tookseveral of them in as witnesses. The police board yesterday repeated their statement to some liquor selers that the order will not be rescinded until all necessity for such a precaution is past. They will give notice when the order is withdrawn.

Police Residing the Tramps.—Last evening Deputy Marshal Frey with a squad of police raided a party of tramps, twenty in number, who had been lurking all day around the Mount Vernon shops of the Northern Central railway, and captured six of them, who were locked up in the middle station. Complaints were made to the police that the tramps were insuffing and intimidating residents on the Falls road in the neighborhood of the shops, and were making inquiries as to the time who were locked up in the middle station. peaches from Chester and Sasafras rivers and other points. Dealers reported that they were dull sale, and good lots were disposed of at from 25 to 60 ceuts a box. The peaches were of the Hale's Early variety, luscious for immediate use, but not popular with packers. Shippers can only buy for near by points, which are reached by railroad. Peaches were sold about the streets in wagons at low figures. Delawere peach-growers have communicated with the president of the Ericsson steamboat line, via canal, to arrange for carrying peaches from the peninsula to New York. It is believed that railroad communication will be maintained with
New York, and that the steamers will not be employed in the traflic.

City Liability and the Damage Done by Rioters.

Stop that cry of more taxes to pay for the damages done by the riogers to the railroad property. Somebody would probably like to make political capital out of the dreary occurrences of the past ten days in this city. There is no chance for the pettyforgers; let them therefore go, like Napoleon's "savans and jack-asses, to the rear."

The law is plain. Article $2 of the code is a reprint of the act of Assembly of 1835, chapter 137, passed in consequence of the riots about that time. Section 1 provides generally for the liability of municipal corporations when property is destroyed by riots within their territorial limits. Section 2 provides, however, that "no such liability shall be incurred by any county, incorporated town or city, unless the authorities thereof shall have had good reason to believe that such riot or tumultuous assemblate was about to take place. or having taken place, shall have had notice of the same in time to prevent said injury or deshuction, either by its own police or with the sid of the citizens of such county, town or city; it being the intention of this article that no such liability shall devolve on such county, town or city; it being the intention of themselves, or with their own citizens, to prevent said injury." themselves, or with their own citizens, to prevent said injury."

Sec. 3 provides: "In no case shall indemnity

Sec. 3 provides: "In no case shall indemnity be received when it shall be satisfactorily proved that the civil authorities and citizens of said county, town or city, when called on by the civil authorities thereof, have used all reasonable diligence and all the powers entrusted to them for the prevention or suppression of such rictous or unlawful assemblages."

It is clear to hold the city liable four things must occur—first the destruction of property by It is clear to hold the city liable four things must occur—first, the destruction of property by a "riot ador tunultuous assemblage of people;" secondly, that the civil authorities had notice of the same in time to prevent it; third, that they had the ability to prevent it, of themselves or by the aid of their own citizens; and fourthly, that they did not use reasonable diligence in endeavoring to prevent it.

Can any one of the necessary elements to make the city liable in the recent riots be established? The law requires all four to concur. [We have not thought it necessary prior to

[We have not thought it necessary prior to ne present moment, since the strike troubles and the outlawry following them began, to point out the above status of the Maryland law on the subject, which is very different from what it is in some other States. In Pennsylvania the law renders all communities liable for property destroyed unlawfully in their midst, and hence the county of Allegheny and city of Pittsburg will doubtless be mulcted in millions of dollars for the damages inflicted upon railroad and other property in those localities by the rioters n the past several days. Our correspondent states the case of Maryland correctly enough, but though the city of Baltimore, by reason of its reasonable diligence, might escape liability for property destroyed by a mob, yet it cannot be doubted that the State itself would be looked o for indemnification.—Eds.]

BALTIMORE CATTLE MARKET.

BEFF CATTLE—There has been marked failing off in the recepts this week, and in marked failing off in the recepts this week. Been no specially cities as in the quality of the Cattle. The ground of the great strike, there has been no specially cities tops, and indeed not a great many even fair Cuttle, most of the offerings being of the middle and lotter grades. The wholesale market was fairly active at perhaps a slight advance on last week's figures for the obst Cattle, but the retail trade showed lower prices than last week—quotations 650,365 50 per 100 los, a few only selling at the latter price.

MILCH COWS.—The market has been over-supplied, and sales slowly made at 27a.35 per head for common to fair Cows, a few of the latter only being among the receipts.

Prices this week for Beef Cattle ranged as follows:
Best Beeves at 573.845 59; that generally rated first quality 500.357 53; medium or good fair quality 4 00a $475; ordinary thin Steers, Oxen and Cows 3 50a.84 00; general average of market this week —; extreme range of prices 552a.550. Most of the sales were from 450 to $5.59 per 100 lbs. Of the receipts 600 head came from Ohio, 1155 from Vrignias, 000 from West Virginia, 290 from Maryland, 60 from Tennessee, 60 two Panasylvania, and 85 head from Kentucky—total Gold opened strong yesterday at New York, and advanced to 103, but subsequently weakened on the advices of an advance in British Consols and in United States bonds in London, closing at 105% a 165%. The early business in loans was done at 4 per cent for use and the same charge for carrying. The gold value of the greenback dollar is 9168-190 cents.

The continuance of the Railroid strike causes a general dullness in business, to which there is scarcely any exception. There is, however, no marked depression in any branch of trade, and values, though to a great extent nominal, are steady. Discounts range from 4 to 6 per cent. Money is very abundant, but capitalists are very cautious even and the same charge from 4 to 6 per cent. Money is very abundant, but capitalists are very cautious even and the same charge from 4 to 6 per cent. Money is very abundant, but capitalists are very cautious even and the same charge for the want for our butchers. Sales have been effected without trouble at 7% a8 cents per lb net, most of them encounter were from Ohio. 135 from Virginia, 299 from Maryland, 69 from Tennessec. 60 from Tenness last week, and 2077 head same time last year.

SIEEP AND LAMBS.—Good sheep have been scarce among the ofterings this week, but Lambs in fair order have been in good supply and been absorbed mostly by a speculative demand for Eastern markets. Prices of both kinds of stock show some improvement in consequence of the prevailing trouble. We quote butcher sheep at 485% ets per lig grow, and stock Sheep in limited demand at 283 per head. Lambs 46% ets per lbgross. Receipts this week 270 head, against 6374 last week, and 5028 head same time last year.
