Methodists nix churches mix

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — A resolution to liberalize Methodist Church policies within the Southeastern Jurisdiction failed Tuesday. The mesure would have meant racially integrating bishops and their congregations.

The vote was six less than the two thirds majority needed to mix all phases of the church.

The delegates passed a measure to merge Central Jurisdiction Conferences with white conferences and their respective geographical areas.

Prince Hall Masons serve the community

"Our mission is to be of service to the community."

That was the recent pledge of Samuel T. Daniels, grandmaster, of the Maryland Prince Hall Masonic Grand Lodge. How members of his organization, represented in some 20 constituent lodges all over the state, are fulfilling that pledge forms an inspiring example of public service.

Prince Hall Masons for years have been a financial pillar for the Baltimore NAACP's Legal and Educational Fund, annually contributing several thousand dollars to their support.

* * *

THE DRIVE FOR the new Provident Hospital was given a $100,000 shot in the arm by Prince Hall Masons, one of the largest gifts from a single organization.

Youthful freedom fighters, waging a never-ending war against racial discrimination in the city and state, have found a sympathetic supporter in the Maryland Prince Hall Grand Lodge.

Not only have they found the Willard Allen Temple headquarters available for their meetings, but have received financial support from time to time.

Facilities at the temple each summer for the past five years have been opened for weekly meetings, of the AFRO Clean Block Campaign, a citywide activity, which has attracted national attention.

MANY ACTIVITIES OF Prince Hall Masons have not received widespread public attention. Annually they work in the Druid Hill YMCA membership drive; they supplied both monetary and manpower support to recent voter registration drives; and they have willingly given helping hands to a number of civic and church activities which have not been publicized.

In its long record of being of service to the community, the Maryland Prince Hall Grand Lodge is merely living up to the 181-year history of the order in the United States, dating back to the establishment of the first lodge at Boston on March 6, 1775.

Murphy project disturbance gets man $25 fine

Willie Smith, 36, a resident of Murphy Homes, 1058 Argyle Ave., was found guilty of disorderly conduct and fined $25 and costs in Criminal Court Wednesday.

Appearing before Judge Meyer Cardin, Mr. Smith had appealed from a guilty verdict in Municipal Court June 9.

In a May 14 disturbance at the project, Smith claimed he was assaulted by two special police officers employed by the Housing Authority.

Special Officers David Harvey Jr. and Edward Tendall testified to the contrary.

Smith had been drinking, was talking loudly, disturbed the area, they said.

According to testimony, when attempt was made to quiet him down, he took Officer Harvey's gun from the holster and shoved him.

IN THE tussel, Officer Harvey said, he hit Smith with his night stick. He also stated, at one point Smith managed to free himself from handcuffs and escape from four City Police who came to put him the the patrol wagon.

Youth threatens suicide in court

An 18-year-old youth was referred to state psychiatrists for observation following a hearing in Criminal Court Tuesday.

Appearing before Judge Joseph Carter, Odell Borden, 18, 2200 block E. Federal St. was accused of robbery and sodomy.

Although provided with a court-appointed attorney, he refused the lawyer's services and represented himself.

Accorded courtesy during his lengthy argument, the youth nevertheless refused all terms of the court.

Further, he said he would not allow himself to be prosecuted under the indictments.

Judge Carter ordered the psychiatric examination after Mr. Borden said:

"The only way you can prosecute me on these indictments is over my dead body."

He added, "You can try my dead body; that's the only way because I will die before I am defeated."
