FORTY JUNIORS from seven local high schools, including Douglass, Forest Park, City, Poly, Eastern, Dunbar and Western, recently visited Howard University under the sponsorship of the local alumni. Mrs. Ethel Hucles was chairman of the project.

Upon arrival on the campus, they were greeted by Ernest Goodman, Director of Public Relations. Then the Associate Director of Admissions and Executive Secretary of the University Alumni Federation gave informal talks on the historical background of the school — along with its facilities and scholarship opportunities. Other highlights of the trip included lunch in Baldwin Hall and a tour of the buildings on the campus.

Alumni members who accompanied the group were Misses Gwendolyn Biddle and E. Louise Anderson, Mesdames Thelma Ashe, Ethel Hucles, Mary Ellis, Gladys Sims, Lilla Freeman, Mamie Williams, Lucy Mills, Alyene Mc Rolland Garner and Dr. Harold Delaney, Mrs. Odelle Payne, a counselor at Douglass was a guest.

Among the students who attended were:

Geraldine Bell, Carolyn Sinclair, Ursula Davis, Sandra Hayes, Beverly Haywood, Aletha Holt, Doris Barnes, Jacqueline Brown, Evelyn Allen, Irvina Whittier, Verna Scaff, Yvonne Holt.

Lana McCain, Sandra Simmons, Gail Claiborne, Jacqueline Blanton, Marlene White, Francine Brown, Barbara Richardson, Victoria Ringgold, Vernice Nunally.

Harold Woodland, Edward and Gloria Briscoe.

AND THEN there was the shower for Wynola Woody, department head and teacher at Harlem Park Junior High School on Tuesday evening.

The party was hosted by Gladys Brown, Aretha Mayo and Leoda Taylor, at the latter's Pimlico Road home. The hostesses took the colors of the honoree's sorority (Alpha Kappa Alpha) pink and green to spark the food as well as the decorations.

The shower theme (lingerie) were hidden throughout the house. At the ringing of a bell the Bride-to-be had to search for each gift. As gifts were opened, Aretha Mayo secretly recorded the remarks made by Wynola in a souvenir umbrella paper booklet, and at the end of the search read them back, replete with imitated expressions of the guest of honor.

Then a quartet, composed of Ethel Freeman, Mrs. Mayo, Mrs. Taylor, and Gladys Brown, serenaded her with the song "Tell Me Why".

Oh, and let's not forget that advice given the bride-to-be by the already-marrieds.

Miss Woody is to be married to Sterling Cunningham on July 24.

Attending the party were: Shirley Paige, Elnora Barber, Leoda Taylor, Frances Palmer, Janice Page, Odaris Coleman, Edith Davidson.

Medieth Lewis, Aretha Mayo, Mary Woody, Gladys Brown, Edith Harris, Ethel Freeman, Ethel Hall, Lorraine Brown, Ruth Rosedom, Zenobia Cornish, Shirley Gordon, Edith Bruce, Carol Ray, Artis Smalls, Claudetta Cockrell, Marilyn Williams, Shirley Jennifer, Alice Brailey and Deborah Smyth.

THE BALTIMORE Eppies were looking good in Norfolk, the other weekend. National Epicureans held its 15th annual conclave in the Virginia City, holding forth at the Golden Triangle Hotel.

Merita Stokes tucked the vice presidency in her bag while she and other Baltimore members were adding to the town's laurels in the fashion area.

Enhancing the scenery at the luncheon, Gladys Daniels donned a navy print and

Student concerts highlight closing of music season

By ADAH K. JENKINS

Student exhibition concerts and recitals mark the order of the day during the closing of the music season.

One of the earliest of these events was a recital of the National Fraternity of Student Musicians and Cecellian Choral Club from St. Frances Junior School of Music; held in the auditorium of St. Francis Academy at Forrest and Chase Streets.

Under the dynamic and skilled direction of Sister Marie Infanta O.S.P. the Cecellians gave a stellar performance. Refreshing vitality, admirable voice leading and a general command of choral technics bespoke a high order of training.

In a program marked by consistent excellence it is difficult to select, but to this listener, favorites were "Cantante Domino" (Hessler), the "Halleldjah" from "Messiah" and "Elijah Rock."

The artistic accompaniments by Sister M. Benigna added materially to the effectiveness of the choral portion of the program.

Accuracy and definite attention to technic, phrasing and expression distinguished the solo and duo piano performances given by: Marie Johnson, Diane Robinson, Joseph Parkham Jr., Karen Langley, Mary Steadman, Harold Sullivan, Jr., Charlene Gross, Deborah Hines, Jane Curtis, Karen Tobias, Edna Simms, Taffy Spear, Hoyce Lewis, Pamela Hill and Helga Baskett.

Guest pianist, 12-year-old Maria Lee, a student of Miss Bernadine Howard, evidenced promising talent and musicianship.

A special feature of the afternoon was "Thirty Minutes with Carmen" (arr. Johns-Van Dyke), based upon Bizet's opera. Appropriately staged and costumed it was awarded enthusiastic applause from the capacity audience.

Participants from the Academy were: LaVerna Tyree, Jane Curtis, Charlemagne Harris, Wanda Sandle and Frieda Nichols.

Male members of the cast were from St. Francis Xavier School, Baltimore City College, Douglass High School and the Peabody Conservatory.

During the intermission the Rev. Vincent J. Assing, S.S.J., presented awards to the students who had participated in the annual auditions of the Piano Guild.

Receiving special awards were: Paulette Banks, Helga Baskett, Pamela Hill and Jane Curtis.

The entise program was directed by Sister Marie Infanta O.S.P., with members of the Music Department at St. Francis Academy, Sister M. Monica, O.S.P., speech and drama specialist; Mrs. Naomi Hastings, dance instructor and Taffy Spears, secretary.

The concert was underwritten by several hundred sponsors from various sections of the country as well as from Baltimore.

Students of Mrs. Norma Robinson, of the Madison Avenue YWCA Music Class, appeared in recital on a recent Sunday.

Guest pianists were Harry Harden and Linda Wharton, with choral reading and pantomime, "The Song of Hiawatha", by a special group completing the program.

Included in the program list of pianists were: Sonja Davenport, Deborah Patterson, Linda Rodgers, Delaphine Green, Karen Clatterbuck, Sonja Cherry, Lora Graves, Barbara McNeal, Deborah Dugee, Antoinette Green, Vanessa Johnson, Valerie Carter, Rosalind Briscoe, Deborah Golder, Jesse Clatterbuck, Marla Lemon, Stephanie Jeffries, Catherine Worthington, Joan Paulcon, Delaphine Green and Lora Graves.

The program included a well selected representation of classic and romantic composers as well as standard teaching material.

The Singing Cadets, conducted by Richard G. Richardson, Jr., paid a musical tribute to Dr. Lillie M. Jackson, commemorating her 77th birthday, at the NAACP Annual Baby Contest held at Sharp St. Methodist Church.

The group offered selections that exemplified the strong character and spiritual qualities of the honoree. Joshua Fit the Battle," arranged by Mr. Richardson. Also sang "Sanctus" by Schubert and "Lord Me, O Lord", with Earl Bloe, boy soprano soloist.

Dr. Jackson commended the director and his group for their vital contribution to the community thru the constructive use of music in leisure time.

MAIL BOX: Received from Dusseldorf, Germany, word from Junetta Jones that she arrived safely by ship and is busy preparing for her appearance in four operas with the Dusseldorf Opera Company.

Thru the Met Miss Jones had the opportunity of auditions in Germany last fall, when she signed a contract for the summer season.

CALENDAR: Sunday, June 19 in Harlem Square from 7 to 9 p.m. the Baltimore Park Band, conducted by Charles E. Gwynn, with Matthew Fraling, Jr. baritone soloist and Chas. Bagley, clarinetist. The program includes overtures, semi-popular and popular numbers and a "Sing Along" led by Mr. Fraling. Admission is free.

Friday, June 17 at Madison and Curley Streets; Monday, June 20, St. Matthew's Church, Norman and Mayfield Avenues; Tuesday, June 21, Patterson Park; Wednesday, June 22, the Dell at Charles and 31st Streets; Thursday, June 23, Mt. Vernon Place; and Friday, June 24, Edmondson Village, the Park Concert Band, directed by Gerald Eyth. Admission is free.

These concerts by the municipal ensembles are sponsored by the Bureau of Music of the Department of Recreation and Parks; J. J. Gray, supt.

Monday, June 20 at 8 p.m. at Grace Presbyterian Church, Dolphin and Etting Streets, the annual student recital by pupils of Mrs. Mildred Bryant.

Monday, June 27 at 8:30 p.m. at Sharp St. Church Hall, Dolphin and Etting Streets, annual piano recital by students of Mrs. Katrine White. Admission to both recitals is free.
