Rule change gives Oliva, Robinson All-Star chance

NEW YORK (UPI) — Minnesota's Tony Oliva and Baltimore's Frank Robinson will both be able to make the American League All-Star first team this season — thanks to a last-minute change of the voting rules announced by Commissioner William D. Eckert.

Eckert announced that in the balloting for the July 12 classic in St. Louis, players will be asked to vote for three outfielders, regardless of position. Previously they had voted for the one they thought best at each of the three outfield positions.

Since Oliva and Robinson, the top two hitters in the American League, both play right field, one of them would have failed to make the first team if the voting had followed the old procedure.

ECKERT also announced the second change that deals with coaches. Managers of the opposing All-Star teams will have to choose between the third and fourth place managers to fill his coaching ranks since Al Lopez, who piloted the Chicago White Sox to second place has retired.

The manager of last year's fourth place team, Charley Dressen, is recuperating from a heart attack and Bob Swift is handling the Tigers in his absence.

Tri-State Leaguers really love the game of baseball

WASHINGTON

Some of those major leaguers and other professional baseball players may not love the game like the old timers.

But there is still a breed of young men who go out on the diamond to play for fun, rather than for the pensions or with an eye on outside financial interests.

The critics of modern-day ball players have never explained why a man's looking out for his security is so objectionable, but they have agreed that the Babe Ruths, Ty Cobbs, et al, are gone forever.

In the Tri - State Baseball League, baseball is still a labor of love. It has to be, the money paid to the players would barely get them to New York and back.

But to the hard-working men who take off their business and professional clothes every Sunday to play in Prince Georges County's sandlots, there's no finer way to spend a summer afternoon.

TRI-STATE'S field personnel may never be enrolled in Cooperstown's Hall of Fame, but they are unforgettable to the families and friends who watch them.

And why not? You can go down to Mitchellville, or Vista, or Clinton and see a ball game for only six bits. A doubleheader often costs only a dollar. Honest.

The member teams are the Rockets, Glen Arden, the Blacksox, Vista, Brandywine Clinton and Bryantown.

THE TRIMMING in membership was ordered this year by league president Calvin S. (Bootsie) Harris, who noticed the previous twelve - team membership was usually marked by low-calibre play and lopsided scores.

The move was also made to bring the teams closer together. They had previously been scattered all over Southern Maryland.

"There are still some one-sided scores," Harris says, "but the games have really improved." The third - year president is proud of the players in his charge.

"BOOTSIE" HARRIS is no stranger to baseball. He starred for Cardozo at third base in the early 1940's, until leaving school for the Army.

"I don't mean to pat myself on the back, but I was a pretty good ball player. I think I hit something like 295." Even that would be good for the floundering Senators.

But Harris came along before Jackie Robinson and the other tan major league pioneers proved to the Establishment that colored people can master the rules of the game.

Harris may have been able to master any professional sport in his younger days. He was an all-star in football and basketball, when he wasn't manning the third sack.

WHEN HARRIS left the Army, he completed his high school education. In 1946, he enrolled at Howard University and played football with the Bisons.

He left in 1949 to work full time with the Recreation Dept., where he had been part time while in Howard.

In 1950, he was a recreational supervisor, a position he still holds. "One of the duties," he says, "is to umpire one's own games while he teaches sports to the kids."

HARRIS WAS umpiring so well for Recreation that in the mid-Fifties, he could join the Metropolitan Baseball and Softball Umpires Association.

MBSUA is responsible for school, college, Recreation officiating at all local high Dept., and semi pro games. Harris was their commissioner from '61 to '63.

He stepped down from that position to take over in the Tri-State League.

If this is not enough baseball for any one family man, Harris also directs the youth and recreation program at the Mecca Temple No. 10 Shrine and is the local Prince Hall Masons' softball commissioner.

WHAT'S HE doing for Tri-State besides trying to streamline the games? One project is the annual all-star game.

Bootsie says he is following the lead of the minor leagues this year. For the first time, the Tri-State All - Star Game (July 3) will feature last year's champions against all - stars from the rest of the circuit.

That means, the cream of the Tri-State crop must try to humiliate the Blacksox, which may prove a very difficult task.

While Harris devotes every possible minute to baseball, it is not likely he will have someone following in his footsteps.

He and his wife, Mrs. Julia Harris, have two daughters: Illona, 11, and Cheryl, 8. "I told my older daughter," Harris laughed, "that as

Outdoor Tips

HANGING ROD

Hang your casting rod on the coat hangers in the back of your car and drive away unworried that someone will sit on them ... or slam in a car door.

FRESHWATER CLAM

One or two live freshwater clams in your minnow bucket will keep the bait alive longer.

CRISP DOG

Got a lumber yard in your area?

Make a deal for cedar shavings next time they run some cedar planks through. Best thing in the world to floor a dog kennel with.

Keeps dog crisp - smelling and clean. Inhibits fleas and ticks.

EYE DOESN'T HAVE IT — Orlando Cepeda, his right eye damaged by line drive off bat of Phillies' John Callison, tries to relax with records during 2-week idleness. Cardinal first baseman was felled during batting practice before recent game, required six stitches.

ABC to telecast 17 Pro games

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American Broadcasting Company (ABC) announced Monday that it will televise 17 National Basketball Association games starting on Jan. 1, 1967.

Roone Arledge, vice president and executive producer of ABC Sports, said it will be the third straight year in which the network will televise NBA games. The games will be televised in color.

The schedule will comprise 12 regular season games and five playoff games, the same number as last season.

Give a little beer this year.

"Say," said one of the guys at the brewery. "Why doesn't anybody give beer for Father's Day?"

After the laughter died down, we got to thinking it wasn't such a bad idea.

Of course, even the sturdiest Little Woman wouldn't dream of lugging home a heavy case of beer.

So we decided not to give her the beer. Let her buy a gift certificate instead.

(We put this gift certificate inside a tiny box.)

Let her give the tiny box to the old man. Let him redeem the certificate. Let him carry the case home.

Lenny Lyles inks Colts pact; 9th NFL campaign

BALTIMORE

The Baltimore Colts announced today that veteran defensive back Lenny Lyles had signed a 1966 contract.

This will be the ninth NFL season for the fleet Lyles, who was touted as "football's fastest" when he first reported to the Colts as their number one draft choice in 1958. He still ranks with the speed burners of the league and has overtaken many end zone bound ballcarriers from his defensive backfield post.

Until 1962 Lenny had been employed almost exclusively as a kickoff return specialist, a job at which he excelled. The switch to defense with the Colts, however, gave him regular work for the first time and no one's been able to beat him out.

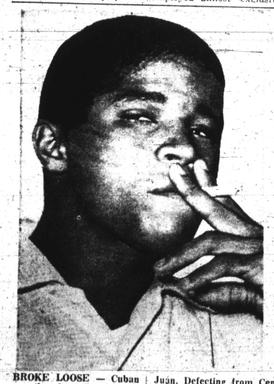
A SOLID tackler, he rammed Green Bay's Bill Anderson to spring the fumble that produced a quick Baltimore touchdown in the Western Conference playoff last December. During the 1965 season he'd intercepted a Packer pass and dashed 28 yards to set up another Colts score. Lenny is listed once again as the first string right halfback in the Baltimore secondary.

The 6-2, 204 - pound one time Louisville record-breaker spent the 1959 and 1960 campaigns with San Francisco after that initial year with Baltimore. He returned to the Colts via the waiver route just before the opening kickoff of 1961.



BROKE LOOSE — Cuban wrestler Juan Pablo Vega Romero, 18, proved he can break more than mat holds when he escaped from Olympic Village in San Juan. Defecting from Central American Games, young Castro exile claims the youth in his country "is undergoing worst moment."

Phils set tryouts on Eastern Shore

SALISBURY, MD. — The Philadelphia Phillies have scheduled a tryout camp for Saturday, at the Salisbury College diamond.

The camp will be open to boys between the ages of 16 and 21. It will run from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Players of the American Legion Baseball Program will be required to present a letter of permission from their coach to attend the camp. Players attending will be required to supply their own uniform, glove and spikes. The Phillies will supply bats, balls and other equipment.

Phillies scout Bob Riley, Rudy Carpenter and assistant scouts LeRoy Hill and Judy Johnson will conduct the camp.

S. C. chooses two magistrates

COLUMBIA, S. C. (UPI)— A man and a woman were chosen Tuesday as magistrates in rural Richland county, apparently the first of their race elected in South Carolina in this century.

Joseph Stroy, a barber, defeated two white candidates for magistrate in Hopkins. Mrs. Hattie J. Sims defeated a white man for magistrate in Gadsden. Magistrates are named by the governor on the basis of results in elections.

In other results in the Democratic primary election, four men won runoff positions for seats in the all-white South Carolina legislature from heavily populated Williamsburg and Clarendon counties.

However, the combined vote of their white opponents was greater than their totals, diminishing their chances in the June 28 runoff.

you can go far with Friendship

TO THE SUNRISE OR SUNSET FOR BUSINESS OR PLEASURE

Remember, our name is Friendship International. We have direct flights to London, Paris, Rome, Honolulu, San Juan, Mexico City . . . connections to just about anyplace you might choose for your vacation junket. And the airlines are making travel by air even more attractive in terms of cost. Fares have come down considerably . . . making it easier than ever on your vacation budget to go by air.

Friendship's shuttle buses whisk you and your baggage between the parking lot and terminal. No charge, of course. If you arrive early, we have fine Maryland cuisine and swift, courteous service waiting for you in the Galaxy Room. And your favorite beverage in the cocktail lounge. Too, it's a quick ride from Friendship to Washington . . . with motor coach service right after every jet flight. Or a 20-minute airport limousine trip to downtown Baltimore.

It isn't by chance our name is Friendship International.
