I am today forwarding to Mr. Davis a Petition for compensation for my part in the above proceedings which indicates expenses and time devoted to this matter since the trial in May. In view of the fact that Judge Naughton suggested that I do so I am taking the liberty of suggesting that $200.00 a day spent away from the office might be appropriate.

We are in receipt of two motions to dismiss the indictment which is now pending against you. Dear Sir:

I am writing as the President of our community organization in behalf of Lidscha Schowgurow.

This matter has been of great concern not only to his immediate family but also to the entire community of us in Philadelphia. We were concerned not only for Schowgurow, but also for his five children.

As we understand his crime this is a "crime of passion" He would never have committed it except for his state of mind, for he loved his wife very much. For her to have left him was a great embarrassment in our community. But he is a quiet and peaceful man. He would not be a threat to this community or any other. Beyond shame his injury is great because he loved his wife.

Since he has been in prison over two years his children have been helped by his brothers and sister. But they are young and in need not only of the person of their father but also of the support he could give them from working.

If your Honorable Court could take mercy on this man so he could care for his children we would be most grateful. As a community I know that we would find him a job. As the community from which Schowgurow comes and where he will come back we know that he is not a bad person who should be in prison.

I would not write a letter for Schowgurow if the community did not feel this way. The whole situation of his wife leaving and his killing her was painful for us. This is not only because it is against our ways of living but also because we are new Americans and this makes the whole community a bad name. But in this case we think we understand what happened and it is more important that the children should have their father. He is not a bad or violent person.

In the name of our Kalmuk Society I ask that you forgive him.

With deep respect,

George Zagadinow

Dear Sir:

As a former employer of Lidge Schowgurow, I would like to say a few words on his behalf, prior to your imposition of sentence.

Mr. Schowgurow belongs to an immigrant group of Kalmyks who settled in the United States in the early 1950's. Over the years we have had members of this group in our employ. They are a very closeknit group of people and tend to take care of themselves.

I know that any consideration you can extend to Mr. Schowgurow would be greatly appreciated by him and the members of his family who are dependent upon him for their support.

Dear Sir:

I understand Lidge Schowgurow is to appear before you for sentencing on Thursday, August 25. I have known Lidge and all of his family since they came to America. Friends Neighborhood Guild took secondary sponsorship for the resettlement of the Kalmyks in America and we have found them to be a fine, hard working and honorable people. They have stood by one another in hard times and have supported their own aged and dependent members.

Lidge has been no exception to this. His family have supported his five children during the two years of his incarceration. I trust he will receive as light a sentence as you may impose and that he may be allowed to work and support his children and be a good father to them.

The tragedy was a terrible shock to all of us, including Lidge, and I feel convinced that he is not a danger to society now nor in the future.

The State of Maryland by Walter M. Baker, State's Attorney for Cecil County, in Answer to the Motion for Dismissal, respectfully represents:

ONE OF THE RECORDS
CECIL COUNTY, MD. & EXAM.
PER W. ANDREW SEPH
CLERK

THE COURT: What is the first thing on the docket to take up?

MR. BAKER: State vs. Lidge Schowgurow, your Honor, Criminal No. 1390, for arraignment.

THE COURT: Mr. Walker, you represent Mr. Schowgurow?

MR. WALKER: Yes, your Honor.

THE COURT: Are you ready for arraignment?

MR. WALKER: Yes, sir. I would like to, if your Honor will permit, have about 10 days to file any motions that might be appropriate.

THE COURT: Be very glad to afford you that opportunity.

Mr. Clerk, proceed with the arraignment at this time.

THE CLERK: Lidge Schowgurow, you will come forward, please Lidge Schowgurow, you will hold up your right hand. Now you may put it down.

(The Clerk read the indictment to the defendant. Just before asking him how he pleaded, the defendant interrupted, as follows:)

THE DEFENDANT: I am objecting about the charges.

THE COURT: Just a moment. I can't understand you. Speak slowly so I can hear you.

THE DEFENDANT: I said I am objecting to the charges. On October 1, 1965, the Maryland Court of Appeals ruled my case unconstitutional. As long as the case is unconstitutional it is void and null, the same thing. You people don't have no further proceedings any more on my custody. And if you force to try me over, it is in the Constitution of the United States, Article 5, says that no person shall be subject on the same offences, tried on his life.

THE COURT: Mr. Walker, it appears that maybe you aren't ready for arraignment, that you want to file motions prior to the arraignment.

MR. WALKER: I do want to have the opportunity to file motions, your Honor. I don't know, Mr. Schowgurow has taken a short intensive course at the penitentiary in law, whether I will be able to help him or not. I am not at all sure. I have been appointed by this Court. I would prefer, if it is agreeable to the Court, to enter our pleas today and have further time in which to file any motion. I am going to take a cruise and leave the country for the next month, and will be away for a time, so I would rather dispose of that today if I can, and then file any motions before I leave that may seem appropriate.

THE COURT: Well, Mr. Schowgurow, of course the Court is aware of the Court of Appeals decision in your case. Nothing that you do here today will in any way hinder or prevent or jeopardize your filing motions or your attorney filing motions on your behalf, attacking the validity of the indictment, which is apparently what you wish to do, by raising the question of double jeopardy. You have that right. But we do have to prepare for the trial and assign a trial date, and so on and so forth, in the event that the indictment stands. So what you are being called upon today to do is to enter a plea, which means you have the right to plead guilty or not guilty of the charges as presented in the indictment. Now, if you enter a plea, the plea will be accepted, with the understanding, which protects you, that you, through your attorney, will have the right to file any motions, any requests attacking the indictment before you ever go to trial. Do you understand what I am saying to you?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes.

THE COURT: All right. Can you tell us, are you willing to state that you wish to plead either guilty or not guilty to this charge?

THE DEFENDANT: In a minute, your Honor. (Defendant consults counsel) Not guilty, your Honor.

THE COURT: Enter a plea of not guilty.

MR. WALKER: If the Court please, the defendant pleads not guilty by reason of insanity at the time of the offense. (Paper handed Court) And also I seek a change of venue.

THE COURT: All right. Enter the oral plea of not guilty and file the written plea of not guilty by reason of insanity. May I see the motion papers, please? (Handed the Court)

You merely wish to rely on the fact that he was insane or lunatic at the time of the commission of the alleged offense?

MR. WALKER: That is correct, your Honor.

THE COURT: How about at the present time?

MR. WALKER: I don't raise that, unless -- again may I have 10 days in which to do that if it seems advisable?

THE COURT: Well, now, it is the procedure here that upon the filing of such a plea, then we forthwith issue an order committing the accused to the Clifton T. Perkins State Hospital for examination.

MR. WALKER: Well, of course he has been there once. I don't know whether any further examination would be required or not. He was there and examined the last time.

THE COURT: Are we running into any problem that anything that took place before as a result of a prior indictment might be subject to challenge?

MR. WALKER: I don't know. That hadn't occurred to me. I would think not, because this is a matter of fact that has -- no, it is a matter of the doctor's opinion, I guess.

THE COURT: Doctor's opinion.

MR. WALKER: I would suppose the doctor could testify to the same, as he did before. I wouldn't think his examination would be affected by a faulty indictment.

THE COURT: No, I don't think so either, but whether in the trial there would be some challenge that the situation has changed, or that any contact -- it would just seem to me that the doctor ought to have another opportunity to --

MR. WALKER: May I speak briefly to the defendant, then, Judge?

THE COURT: Yes.

(Consultation between counsel and defendant.)

MR. WALKER: Yes, we do want to file that, your Honor, whether this refers to the hospital or not.

THE COURT: All right, it is already in the record to be filed, and I certainly indicate to you that, after all, we are starting all over again in new proceedings. I don't think it is material to this case, unless I have a change of mind, but I think I will sign the order which would commit him to the custody of Clifton T. Perkins Hospital for examination.

MR. WALKER: All right, sir. May I be heard on the subject of a change of venue? I would suggest, if the Court is agreeable to this, that the case be transferred to Garrett County. There has been a very great deal of publicity, particularly in this area and in the area of Baltimore, and the District of Columbia, and I think perhaps that we would find that there was less publicity up there, they would be somewhat oriented towards Pittsburgh, and I simply express the hope that the Court would feel justified in doing that.

THE COURT: Mr. Baker, do you have any views as to that?

MR. BAKER: No, your Honor, I leave it with the Court.

THE COURT: All right. We will have to have a written order prepared on a change of venue.

MR. WALKER: I can prepare one and send it in.

THE COURT: I am certainly inclined, in this particular situation, to accept the suggestion of defense counsel and will so rule.

MR. WALKER: Does your Honor want me to prepare a written order?

THE COURT: Do you usually have written orders up here?

THE CLERK: Yes, sir.

MR. WALKER: Mr. Baker tells me that I can use his secretary, so we can get it in today.

THE COURT: All right, we will sign an order then removing this case to Garrett County, and I also feel that under the circumstances I should also commit Mr. Schowgurow to the Clifton T. Perkins Hospital for examination on this plea. Do you also have an order --

MR. BAKER: I can prepare one very promptly, your Honor. I will have it for you before you leave.

THE COURT: If you will prepare those two orders, I should be very glad to sign them forthwith, and further proceedings will be in the Circuit Court of Garrett County.

MR. WALKER: I spoke to Judge Rollins about having an opportunity to talk to the defendant before he leaves, and he suggested we go in there, if that is agreeable to your Honor.

THE COURT: Yes, all right. If you will make the jury room available for Mr. Walker to confer with Mr. Schowgurow.

MR. WALKER: Thank you.

THE DEFENDANT: Thank you.
