MUSICAL MOMENTS

Judge Russell named member of Symphony Orchestra board

By ADAH K. JENKINS

At the closing exercises of the 1966 Class of Harvey Johnson Junior High School, opportunity was afforded the large audience of relatives and friends to hear the new choral and instrumental groups, under the direction of Mrs. Geniviere Wisner and Mrs. Ruby Gill.

Altho in rehearsal only a year, the Harvey Johnson Choristers showed marked attainment in tone quality, blending and diction. Their program from Broadway musicals was especially praiseworthy.

Precision in attacks and releases, well - balanced melodies and accompaniments characterized the performance of the Harvey Johnson Band, conducted by Mrs. Gill.

Earl W. Turner, principal, presented certificates and awards to the class, which included 16 honor pupils.

JUDGE George L. Russell, Jr. was among the new members elected to the 22 - member board of directors, Baltimore Symphony Orchestra Association.

The annual report, made by Joseph Meyerhoff, president of the board, noted a 5 percent increase in tickets sales for the symphony concerts last year and $25,000 increase in the annual fund campaign, which was chaired by G. Chesson Carey Jr.

Mr. Meyerhoff also announced that the orchestra will receive financial support from the federal program for the arts and $5 million from the Ford Foundation, which represents the largest grant of its kind in this country. The Ford grant, which is to be matched by local funds, will become a permanent endowment.

The Symphony concerts for elementary and secondary school pupils will be aided by the Federal Arts and Humanities Bill.

Acknowledgement was made of financial and moral support from Governor Tawes, Mayor McKeldin, City Council President, D'Alesandro, State Comptroller Louis Goldstein and County Executive Spiro Agnew.

A significant progress mentioned in the report was the increase of the symphony season to 32½ weeks, with the expectation of 34 to 37 weeks next year.

Mr. Meyerhoff expressed the hope that within two years the present Symphony deficit of $200,000 will be liquidated.

He especially commended Dr. Herman P. Adler, conductor and musical director of the orchestra and the loyal support of the board, the branches of the Women's Association and many individual citizens.

FEATURING their theme song, "At My Teacher's Studing," and motto, "Music Study Exalts Life," the students of Mrs. Margaret Rusk Franklin appeared in their annual recital at Grace Presbyterian Church.

The program was divided into four groups — beginners, intermediate and advanced piano and vocal. Carefully exact rhythm of "Tick Tock" and the singing tone and legato of Beethoven's, "Farewell to Piano" were especially engaging.

Confident stage presence combined with an expressive, resonant bass - baritone marked the performance of two numbers by Corvester Covington, with Mrs. Rusk accompanying.

Pianists were: Cathy Smith, Beatrice Elmore, Jacqueline Torrant, Raemaine Watkins, Joyce Larkins, Leanna Pack, Sharon Holmes, Eugene Horton, Tara Harvey, Cleveta Merritt, David Jones, Jewelle Thornton, Ernestine Lee, Sandra Larkins, Margaret Campser, Bruce Hawkins, Brenda Swann and Geraldine Bell.

Piano students of Mrs. Lantha R. Clark, with Lantha Lorraine Clark as featured soloist, were presented in recital in the newly renovated church hall of Ames Memorial Methodist Church on a recent Sunday afternoon.

In works by Bach, Schumann, Heller, Beethoven and Albeniz Lantha Lorraine displayed promising technic and exactness in rhythm and tempo.

A lively performance of The national Scotch song and two duets, "Swinging Along" and an arrangement of Brahms' "Lullaby" were well received.

Students appearing were: Annette and Marsha Contee, Charles Henderson, Ernest Clark, Deborah Brown, Donna Clark, Effie Davis and Mrs Jacqueline Owings.

THE ANNUAL Workshop, sponsored by the Maryland State Music Teachers Association, was held at the Peabody Conservatory Preparatory Department.

Teachers attending from the Prince George and Montgomery Chapters, as well as from Baltimore, were enthusiastic in their praise of the winning students of the Junior Music Festival, which was held at the University of Maryland last month.

An enlightening review of new piano music was given by Mrs. Gertrude Brown, president of the MSMTA, after which a number of the teachers attended the display of piano and vocal music.

Miss Margaret Nelson's presentation of "Problems in the Teen-Age Musician" afforded a refreshing point of view, particularly sound in pedagogy, since it stressed the adjusting of material to the needs and interests of the student.

Teachers interested in becoming prospective members of MSMTA may contact Mrs. Brown, Catholic University, Washington, D.C., before Sept. 1.

Airline sues minister for Sept., 1965 airplane ticket

A national airline company has filed suit against a local minister to collect an airplane ticket furnished him nearly a year ago.

On July 12, Eastern Airlines, Inc., Charlotte, N.C., Filed suit in the Court of Common Pleas here against the Rev. M. Bonner Jr., pastor of the Good Shepherd Church, 1804 Pennsylvania Ave.

Through their attorney, William Graham Boyce Jr., they asked in a motion for a summary judgement that they be paid a sum of $546.70 for a round trip ticket for a flight Sept. 4, 1965 from Kennedy Airport in New York to Tampa and Miami, Fla., to Nassau and return by the same route.

• • •

IN DEMAND for payment, Eastern Airlines states that arrangements for the 4:20 p.m. trip of Sept. 4 were made Aug. 26 and agreement was made on the price.

The firm also states that although demand for payment has been made, the minister has refused to comply.

Photostatic copies of the ticket issued are included in the file in the Court of Common Pleas.

Mississippi governor says, 'I abhor violence'

LOS ANGELES (NNPA) — Apparently sensitive about the image of his state throughout the world — mistreatment of colored citizens, Governor Paul B. Johnson of Mississippi said, "I abhor violence," during a press conference held in connection with the Governors Conference here.

Ignoring the fact that he had barred the entrance of James Meredith to the University of Mississippi which paved the way for rioting a few years ago, Gov. Johnson bitterly criticized civil rights groups that advocate "black power" and self defense in case of attack.

Johnson avoided mentioning that he had ordered State Troopers out prior to their tear gas attack on civil rights marchers recently at Canton, Miss.

• • •

"I ABHOR violence. And, I don't believe it will help colored people in the United States or in Mississippi," the governor said in a prepared statement.

Questioned about American Nazi and Ku Klux Klan activities Johnson added, "violence is not confined to colored people alone. There are others who make great noises that help no one at all."

The Mississippian asserted that he is in favor of the governors approving a resolution supporting President Johnson's Viet Nam policy. He declined to comment on whether or not he would support Gov. George Wallace of Alabama if Wallace becomes a third party South's candidate for president in 1968.

Hit convention failure to act

WASHINGTON

The executive board of the local NAACP expressed concern Thursday night because the national convention failed to address itself to the issue of "Black Power," last week in Los Angeles, Calif. The local branch has set a meeting to clear the air.

"We are of the opinion that sooner or later we are going to have to take a stand relative to this social philosophy," the Board stated in a report submitted to it by the Rev. Edward Hailes, executive secretary.

The Rev. Mr. Hailes asserted that before a position can be taken on "Black Power," there is a "need for a definitive articulation of this philosophy."

He stated that in its present image, the expression is only "blabbing words."

• • •

HAILES INTIMATED that he believes in "black power" as a constructive force but not if it means "separateness" and "isolationism".

The local executive board declared a policy statement and definition of the concept should have been discussed at the convention. The executive committee decided to discuss "black power" at a meeting, Sept. 19 at the 12th St. YMCA.

• • •

THE BOARD also reported it has 12 complaints alleging discrimination in the past month, 10 of them in the area of employment and two involving police community relations. The investigation of the job complaints is still underway. The NAACP said it found the charges against police groundless.

The Board also announced that H. Carl Moultrie, president of the local branch, will appoint a special committee to work with the national office in an effort to defeat all congressmen who did not vote for Home rule for the District.

N'ALL-STAR OVEN:

Wills deserted only cool spot to become hot shot

By MILTON RICHMAN

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Everyone in the heat - blistered, oven - like ball park was looking for the same thing — a shady spot.

Maury Wills had one and hated it.

For seven innings, the one - time Washington (D.C.) schoolboy star restlessly sat in the shade of the National League All - Stars' dugout Tuesday and he had to be the envy of 49,936 fans, approximately 300 of whom had to be treated for heat prostration in the sticky, unbearable 100 - degree temperature.

But Wills wasn't happy at all just sitting there. He wanted to play.

• • •

DODGER MANAGER Walt Alston knew it and was merely waiting for the right spot to insert Wills for Leo Cardenas, Cincinnati's starting shortstop. Alston waited until the eighth inning.

"It wasn't that I was so eager to play in an All - Star game," Wills explained later. "I played in four of them before. But this was my type of game. The score was tied, 1-1.

"I felt if I got a chance to get to bat, I might be able to stir up something. Maybe I could get on and steal a base or something."

• • •

TO GIVE you some kind of idea of the type ball player Wills is, he flatly refused to sit there on the bench and do absolutely nothing for seven innings. He got up at least a half dozen times and went into the runway alongside the dugout where he ran and swung a bat simply to stay loose.

Finally, Alston put him in the game in the eighth.

Came the 10th, and Wills was like a bird dog with the scent of prey in his nostrils when Tim McCarver led off with a single against Washington southpaw Pete Richert and Ron Hunt sacrificed McCarver to second.

• • •

AS WILLS knelt in the on-deck circle, his mind was racing a mile a minute.

"I said to myself, here it is, this is just what you wanted," recalled Wills.

"I wasn't thinking about winning the ball game or anything like that," he explained. "My first idea was to bunt so that maybe we could have men on first and third. But Richert's first pitch was a bad one and Brooks Robinson (the American League third baseman) came in on me after that.

• • •

"I SAW him come in and that ended my chance to bunt. That's when I knew I had to swing away."

Wills did, on a 2 - and - 1 count, and the result was a line single to right that scored McCarver from second base and gave the Nationals their fourth straight All - Star victory over the Americans.

• • •

FOR THE brief three innings he played, Wills contributed handsomely to the National's cause.

"I liked that catch he made, too," declared Casey Stengel, who served as honorary coach along with Ted Williams. "It was a tough one."

It was, indeed, and Wills brought the crowd to its feet when he collared Frank Robinson's looping shot to short left center with one out in the ninth.

Midget wrestlers at Civic Saturday

Little Beaver, one of the long - term greats of the midget mat world, will highlight a four - man, small - man, wrestling event on tomorrow (Saturday's) card at the Civic Center.

He'll be paired with the Jamaica Kid against Little Brutus and Sky Low Low.

Little Beaver, a full-blooded Indian from Edmonton, Canada, will give his team a twelve - pound weight advantage in a melee with total poundage, between four contestants, of 388 pounds.

The small grapplers usually provide a lot of action, and a few laughts, too . . . some very rough moments for the less fortunate referee, who sometimes finds himself between four trying to keep up with four speedsters at once.
