Beauty contestantsvote to start soon

Beginning Tuesday, August 1, and continuing through midnight October 8, the public will have their chance to determine which of the six finalists in the Beaux Arts contest will become Miss Beaux Arts of 1967.

Balloting through the AFRO will decide which of the lovely finalists selected from a group of 25 semi-finalists will inherit the crown from Miss June Thorne, Miss Beaux Arts 1966.

The contest is jointly sponsored by the Baltimore Urban League Guild and The F. and M. Schafer brewing Co. The lucky lady will receive a $100 cash award.

The five other finalists will receive $200 each.

Mondawmin Mall was the second stage of the eliminations on July 6 when seven judges selected the six young ladies on the basis of intelligence, poise and beauty for a total of 30 points.

The six finalists are: Mrs. Ann Elaine Cook, secretary, Department of Welfare; Miss Margaret Sessons, clerk, Community Action Agency; Mrs. Elaine Lee, secretary, University of Maryland Dental School; Miss Judith Speight, clerk, Baltimore Post Office; Miss Henri Ann Daniels, secretary, State Legislature; and Miss Shirley Pollard, secretary Anti-Poverty Program.

Each contestant will be taking her contest directly to the public via press, radio and personal appearances. There will be eight official motorcades throughout the Baltimore community on August 6, 13, 20, and 27, September 10, 17, and 24, and October 8.

Throughout the contest, the AFRO will feature additional photos and profiles of the contestants to help the public solve the charming problem of which of the lovely ladies will be Miss Beaux Arts 1967.

August 1

The Summer "Pops" Concert by the Municipal Concert Band will feature a "Musical Potpourri" at Bay Brook Park, Sixth St., Brooklyn at 8 p.m. directed by Dr. Leigh Martinet.
