MUSICAL MOMENTS

Summer enrichment project aids talented, young artists

Pupils from the city secondary schools who have been attending the enrichment courses at Western High School this summer presented a demonstration last week in the school courtyard.

As the audience proceeded to the outdoor auditorium an opportunity was afforded to view the original and varied media in the art exhibit, taught by Olin Yoder.

Although the enrichment summer course was held only five weeks the program performed by the choral and instrumental groups covered a wide spectrum of musical literature, from Baroque to contemporary.

In addition to a well disciplined grasp of the technical aspects, the young musicians displayed considerable aptitude in the styles of the different periods. Such results were particularly notable, since a number of the students were from junior high schools.

Admirable voice blending and well contrasted dynamics of the special choral ensemble and the larger chorus characterized their renditions under the direction of Norman Ross.

commendable solo assignments were done by James Gilbert, baritone, from Southern High and Earl Starks, tenor, of Calverton Jr. High.

The entire ensemble performed a chorus from Vivaldis "Gloria" with Audrey C. McColhum at the piano.

THE FLOWING lines and impressionistic color of Debussy's "Clair de Lune," well-timed precision of "The Phantom Regiment" and the exciting "Sailors Dance" (from "The Red Poppy") were included in the program by the orchestra, under the direction of Robert Spangler.

the concert band, also conducted by Mr. Spangler, displayed rhythmic verve in Dvorak's "Slavonic Dances" and imaginative expression in "A Poor Wayfaring Stranger" (Spiritual).

Chorus and orchestra combined in Dykema's "Song of Praise" while choral forces with the band concluded the program with an arrangement from Brahms' First Symphony "Hymn of Freedom."

During the selection from "sound of Music," played by the orchestra, the audience joined at the request of Mr. Spangler.

Soloists in the instrumental part of the concert were Eileen Marconi, violin, Western; Isaac Moreland, oboe, Douglass; Anita Harriday, tympani, Western; Russell Perkins, oboe, Rock Glen Jr. High; Arnold Deknatel, clarinet; Melvin Miles, trumpet, Douglass; Norman Whittington, French horn, Polytechnic; Nathaniel Lewis, trumpet, Houston Junior High; Karl King, trumpet, Pimlico Junior High; Sue Erickson, flute, Western; Williecia Royal, market and bass clarinet, Western; John Leber, piano, Patterson High.

• • •

A FLUTE trio consisting of Sue Erickson and Jacqueline Brown, Western High and Martin Molock, Calverton Jr. High, opened the concert.

Another feature of the program was a group of folk songs by the German class, with guitar accompaniment, led by their instructor, Fraulein Brooks.

Miss Helen G. Lent, principal of the Western Summer Enrichment Courses, announced that students participating in the choir came from 11 different schools and the orchestra membership from 14.

Judging from the intercultural composition of participants, faculty and audience, the enrichment program can offer a strong argument for the attraction of excellent schools in the inner city.

CALENDAR: Sunday, Aug. 14, 7 to 9 p.m. the West Side Shopping Center, 3400 Frederick Ave., the fourth in the series of free Sunday concerts by the Baltimore municipal Band, under the conductorship of Weldon J. Irvine.
