AFRO REPORTER TRIES IT AND FINDS:

It takes just 3 minutes to become a registered voter

By MARY RICHARDSON

It takes only three minutes for a person 21 and over who has lived in Baltimore at least one year to become a voter.

The registration process has four basic steps:

1. Appear in person at the offices of the Board of Supervisors of Elections, Fayette and Gay Sts.

2. Fill out an application card, receive your precinct and ward numbers to know where you will cast your votes and who your political candidates are.

3. Move to another table, raise your right hand and take oath that information you give is accurate.

4. Sign the registry and your voter's card.

* * *

THAT'S ALL there is to it. There are no tests, no voters taxes to pay.

All new voters must show some certificate as proof of age.

If you will be 21 years old before Nov. 2, then register to vote in the general election, you may vote in the primary if your 21st birthday comes before Sept. 15.

The steps to become a registered voter are less than simple and once completed, all you have to do to keep your voters privilege is to vote regularly in elections.

Women who marry after registering should report the change in name immediately and voters who change address between elections should also notify the board.

"Many people want to register as independents. Others don't want to state their party affiliation."

"The college students seem to prefer to be independent voters if they feel a choice has to be made."

These are some of the observations voiced by board employees who are asked all types of questions by the new voters.

Mrs. Flora Martin is one of the first persons the new voter meets at the Board of Elections.

SHE HAS worked with the board for five years and issues the small card each new registrant must fill out in the first step of the registration procedure.

Mrs. Rose Zoltowski, referred to by co-workers as "Mrs. Rose," has been with the board for 19 years. She helps voters locate their precinct and ward.

An eight-year veteran of the board is Mrs. Ella Bailey who holds down the "information desk."

"When some of the questions are too legal, I refer the voters to the attorney general," Mrs. Bailey Said.

Other questions she is asked frequently concern issues, the candidates' stand and "who to elect."

"When people ask me who I'm voting for, I say that I've made up my mind, but I don't think I'll tell," Mrs. Bailey smiled.

Another employee who gets a variety of questions is registrar William H. Chew who joined the board eight years ago as an inspector on the legal board.

He administers the eligibility oath.

MRS. CATHLEEN Harper and Mrs. Zelma Townsend handle the formal signing of the voters' registry and issue the small, green voters card. "This card is good for use at the polls indefinitely as long a the holder votes regularly in elections and does not change addresses."

Although your ballot is secret in general and primary elections, to register, you must either register as a Republican, Democrate, or an Independent.

The party you select determines how you will vote in primary elections. That is, registered Democrats must vote the Democratic ticket and Republican must vote for their party candidates.

Anyone can vote in the primary and general elections if they are registered by midnight, Aug. 15.

* * *

WHAT ARE some of the reasons a new voter registers?

Miss Maria Clark, 21, 2000 block Wheeler Ave. is a new registered voter who is enthusiastic about her first election ballot.

"I've picked my party, but I will choose the men first," Miss Clark said.

Another new voter is Ronald Webb of the 1200 block of Druid Hill Ave. He made his decision to register after talking with a friend in the army.

"I decided to take part in this coming election. The men in the service are concerned about politics now with the war in Viet Nam. I am too," Mr. Webb declared.

Other workers at the board's basement offices in the People's Court Building, predicted one thing: a rush of last minute registrations.

As acting chief clerk, Lloyd Randolph is chief executive of the office, the first person of his race to hold the position.

Mr. Randolph moved up when E. Paul Mason Jr., became ill several months ago. William Taylor, attorney, is also employed there.

EASY LESSON . . . The four steps necessary to become a voter include: 1. Getting application. 2. Determining your ward and precinct. 3. Taking oath and 4. receiving card.

SCLC puts whites on executive board

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)—A Washington colored minister told Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s Southern Christian Leadership Conference Tuesday that harmonious, nonviolent "black and white power" was the only sure way to progress for colored people.

In a rebuff to the growing movement of militant "black power" advocates, the Rev. Walter E. Fauntroy said cooperation with whites in nonviolent tactics would continue to be SCLC's method of reaching a goal of integration.

* * *

THE 900 delegates to the civil rights group's convention affirmed Fauntroy's statements by approving admittance of white members to SCLC's currently all-colored executive board.

"The next time we meet, some men with white faces will be introduced as members of this board, and this is as it ought to be," announced the senior Dr. King, substituting for his ailing son during a rally

* * *

THE YOUNG King developed a bad cold Tuesday and spent the day in his room, but he planned to deliver his annual report to the convention today.

A board spokesman said SCLC would add about 10 new members to the 29-man executive body, including five whites and five colored members — some of them from Northern cities.

He explained that many members felt more Northerners were needed on the board because of the current SCLC drive in Chicago and planned campaigns in other cities.

* * *

IN DECLARING continued allegiance to nonviolence and opposition to "black power" Fauntroy said: "I have been told that it is not racism, although in many of its advocates it evokes hatred of white people; I have been told it does not mean violence, but some of its advocates have organized to 'get Whitey'.

"Nonviolence has brought us through many dangers, tolls, and snares," Fauntroy continued, "and, like God's grace, I believe it will lead us on."

* * *

IT WAS revealed that the convention board considered proposals to move the group to Grenada, where angry whites threw rocks and firecrackers at civil rights marchers Tuesday, following a tear gas rout of demonstrators by police.

Strong opposition to the proposal was voiced, apparently because of transportation and housing problems.

A GOOD CITIZEN is registered and votes. If you are not registered, do so today. Be prepared to vote in the September Primary.

PAUL C. COOKE

Paul C. Cooke new D.C. College prexy

Appointment of Dr. Paul P. Cooke, professor of English, as the first colored president of the District of Columbia Teachers College was approved by the Board of Education, this week.

Dr. Cooke is the third man to head the teachers' college since its creation by the merger of Miner and Wilson Colleges. He is a former professor at Miner College and was president of the D.C. Teachers Union.

The new president was graduated from Miner College in 1937, received a master's degree in education from Catholic University in 1943 and a doctor's degree from New York University in 1941, a master's in English in education from Columbia University in 1947.

Charley (Bull) Robinson, who played middle guard with the 1954 Baltimore Colts, comes back home to test his brawn and heft in the Civic Center wrestling ring, Tomorrow (Saturday,) against Angelo Savoldi.

Robinson, a local veteran of the classy Morgan State football team, has met several great and near great mat stars, around New England, Texas and the Mid-West.

Now, he'd like to show his form to home town fans. Bull also coached the Rams, a local semi-pro football team for several years.

Robinson hopes to show local fans he's serious about his mat activity. He also works for the City Recreation Department on a part-time seasonal basis.

Savoldi, a pretty tough opponent, will provide a good test for local opinion to guage Charley's progress.

THIS MONDAY, Aug. 15, is the last day to register so you can VOTE in the September Primary, Supervisors of Elections, Gay and Fayette, open 9 a.m., to 9 p.m., and until midnight on Aug. 15.

Housing sought for delegates

The search for rooms to house thousands of delegates to a Baltimore convention this month has extended into metropolitan Washington.

Dallas F. Wallace of 2416 Observatory Place, Washington, who is manager of the "God's Sons in Liberty" District Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses scheduled for Baltimore's Memorial Stadium August 17 - 21, said attendance for the five - day gathering will far exceed the 50,000 originally expected.

"WE'VE BOOKED the hotels and motels of metropolitan Baltimore to capacity," he said, "and for weeks now Witnesses from 66 congregations in metropolitan Washington and Baltimore have been canvassing that convention city for sleeping rooms in private homes. But it simply hasn't been enough. We're still 6,000 rooms short."

"Now we've extended our efforts first to motels on the northern edge of Washington and then, because of the inflow of requests for rooms from delegates, into downtown's hotels. Commuting will be time - consuming but we've just no other choice," he said.

As convention manager, Wallace is coordinating the work of 22 departments comprising the assembly's organizational structure. Locally he serves as presiding minister of the Spring Valley Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Rockin' Robin heading Civic Center concert

Rocking Robin, pursued disc jockey of "rock and soul" devotees, who conducted a "model" concert at the Civic Center after that vigorous form of entertainment was re-instated, will be in the spotlight again Sunday.

That Robin, of Radio Station WEBB, who coined the phrase that "Everything will be everything," will be master of ceremonies Sunday when a star-studded music and song fest issue forth from the stage.

The concert, scheduled for 8 p.m. will be headed by the "Miracles," whose latest contribution to R and B rage is "Oh, Be My Love."

With background music by the Van Dykes, other stars slated to appear include:

Red Fox, the sly comedian, who de-fanged much of his material to make suitable for young ears.

Tommy Hunt, whose latest hit is "Human;" Shorty Long, whose recent effort is as trickly as his name — "Function At The Junction;"

Alex Walter Jackson: "Uphill Climb;" the Manhattans, "Can I?" The Intruders, doing their newest, "Will Be United," and Howard Tate singing his hot one, "Ain't Nobody Home."

The 'Rocker,' whose efforts contributed much to re-establish rock 'n' roll concerts at the Civic Center, again consoles his youthful and enthusiastic fans to be "cool" when they attend the concert and "Everything will be everything."

The master of ceremonies, like other star's favorites, is working closely with house and city police to insure order when predominately teenage patrons attend concerts in public auditoriums.
