D.C. husband-wife team takes 3-Ring golf titles

MONTICELLO, N.Y. —A Washington, D.C., professional and his wife made a sweep of major honors at the Ballantine 3-Ring golf tournament here last week.

Lee Elder, frequent winner of the United Golfers Association's national championship, captured the men's pro division crown with a 213 score.

The women's championship round was annexed by Mrs. Rose Elder.

* * *

LEE'S victorious card gave him a 5-stroke edge over Ray Botts, another former Washingtonian. Botts was 2 strokes ahead of a tie for third between William Bishop of Philadelphia, and Cliff Brown of Detroit.

Mrs. Elder was followed by Harriet Taylor and Marguerite Brown of Baltimore, in the women's.

A NEW TWIST —National League umpire Chris Pelekoudas proves he's human as he sticks out hand to greet Willie Mays in unprecedented gesture of praise. The arbiter was first to congratulate San Francisco Giants captain after he blasted homer Wednesday, catapulting him into No. 2 spot in all-time home-run list. The clout off the Cardinals' Ray Washburn was Mays' 535th and put him one ahead of Jimmy Foxx in the all-time standings. Willie was awaited by teammate Willie McCovey (44) and a jubilant Giant dugout as St. Louis catcher Tim McCarver (left) watched.

AT LAST —After many years of chill and unmistakable aloofness, Candlestick Park fans hail Willie Mays as a conquering hero. Giants captain and star doffs cap in acknowledging 5-minute standing ovation given him after he belted 535th homer of career. Clout moved Willie into second place behind immortal Babe Ruth's 714 in all-time home-run totals. Subway map

New wave of expletives greets Mays' homer feat

By SAM LACY

The home - run which catapulted Willie Mays into recognition as the greatest righthanded hitter of all-time in major league baseball, was the latest mile stone in the career of a spectacular athlete.

It lit the fuse that set off a new explosion of praises for the San Francisco Giants' centerfielder and captain.

The adulation commenced as Willie shuffled around the bases following Wednesday's blast off St. Louis pitcher Ray Washburn. The Candlestick Park crowd of 32,035 stood for five minutes applauding the man who had just surpassed Jimmy Foxx and moved into second place behind Babe Ruth in career homers.

* * *

THE VIGOR of the ovation was increased as umpire Christ Pelekoudas, in an unprecedented gesture, extended a hand of congratulation as Mays crossed home plate.

"I'm glad he made it," was the first reaction of Foxx, the one - time great of the Philadelphia Athletics. It was his record of 534 homers that Willie erased Wednesday, to move ahead of all other righthanded hitters.

"Willie's one tremendous ball player," Foxx continued. "No one can be ashamed of being next in line to him."

* * *

FOXX'S COMMENT was similar to that of Ralph Kiner, when he was passed in the home - run derby by Mays last May.

"Willie's superb in every aspect of the game. He deserves to be as prominent in the record books as time will allow."

"If there's ever been a greater all - round ball player than Willie, I've never seen him," asserted an excited Herman Franks, manager of the Giants.

* * *

THESE WERE a few of the expletives directed at the effervescent Mays following his latest assault on the National League records.

There have been countless others in the past of the one - time urchin from Birmingam, Ala.

Since his arrival on the scene of organized baseball in 1950, virtually everyone connected with sports in general, and baseball in particular, has expressed astonishment at his abundance of talent.

* * *

TY COBB, regarded by many as the greatest player who ever lived, said before his death in 1963: "Mays is the only man in baseball I'd pay to see play."

Leo Durocher, who managed the then New York Giants when Willie entered the majors in 1951 declared 15 years later last June): "Willie's the best ball player I ever saw in my life."

And it should be noted here that Durocher was a teammate of the immortal Babe Ruth.

Pee Wee Reese, one of the announcers on NBC's Major League Baseball television series, acknowledged: "I've seen many great players, but Willie in my judgement has no equal."

* * *

DESPITE THE many tributes that have filled his colorful career, there have been frequent and bitter disappointments in Willie's life.

* * *

WHEN THE Giants moved from New York to San Francisco in 1958, much resentment was directed at him by fans who appeared to feel that he had been overplayed by the New York press.

Instead, West Coast patrons rallied to Orlando Cepeda, whom they considered their own product, one who had not been "built up" by Easterners and foisted on them.

As observers pointed out, it seemed that Franciscans were determined to make him prove his greatness. And to them, proof could only come with one spectacular play after another.

* * *

BUT WILLIE weathered that storm, pus an unhappy marriage, anti - racialism in housing and a not - altogether friendly press.

So, it came to pass that a youngster, who at 16 was playing honky - tonk baseball with his father's semi-pro team, today is the highest - salaried performer in the majors at $125,000 a year, and now drawing a bead on the one man who has struck more home-runs, Babe Ruth.

* * *

MAYS, WHO has hit 35 or more homers in nine of his 14 previous seasons, used a 34 1/8 ounce Louisville slugger to hit his homer. That's the same type bat he has used throughout his big league career. He said the Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y., can have both the bat and the ball if they want them. Mays has saved practically none of his baseball momentoes.

The ball was retrieved by 16 - year - old Joseph Hustace of East Oakland, Calif. The Giants bought it from him for $25.

Mays tied Foxx for second - place on the all - time list the previous night, slamming the equalizer off lefty Al Jackson, ex-Mets of the Cardinals.

IT'S BEEN a big year for Willie right along. He started 1966 in fifth place on the all - time homer list behind Mel Ott (511), Ted Williams (521), Foxx and Ruth and now has passed all but the Great Bambino.

Willie broke into the majors after the start of the 1951 season, coming up from the Giants' Minneapolis farm club. He hit his first big league homer on May 28, of that year off Warren Spahn, then of the Boston Braves.

"A LOT of water has gone under the dam since then," reflected Mays, "and it's been full all the way. My before the pressure could a whole lot easier on me than the others this year.

"That's because it came fore the pressure could build up. Now, I'm happy it's out of the way."

Stockholm record to UCLA speedster

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) —Tommie Smith, the San Jose speedster who holds the world record for the 200 - meter and 220 - yard dashes, now owns the Stockholm Olympic Stadium record in the 400-meter run.

Smith ran the distance in 45.6 Monday in an international track meet while easily beating Andrezen Badenski of Poland, who was second. Smith was also timed in 45.8 for 440 yards.

Bill Tooney of Santa Clara, Calif., won the 110 meter hurdles in 14.6 seconds and the 200 - meter run in 21.2 seconds.

Smith, Toomey, Tim Hines and Dave Tharson then combined to win the 800 meter relay for the United States in 1:24.4.

Liston is decked by R. Patterson

GOTEBORG, Sweden (UPI)—Sonny Liston's training camp reported Tuesday that the former heavyweight champion was floored by Ray Patterson during a Monday sparring session.

The trip to the canvas was only the second in Liston's career. He was the victim of a first-round knockout by Cassius Clay in a title fight last year.

Liston, training for tonight's (Friday) bout here with Amos Johnson, was caught with a good right to the head and went down.

A BC's
ALBUM OF BALTIMORE CHAMPIONS
Introducing
LUIS APARICIO

Because the general tendency of to place emphasis on hitting and run producing, Aparicio cannot compete with the Robinsons and Boog Powell for MVP honors as the Orioles head for their first AL pennant.

But the 32-year-old Venezuelan shortstop is making a tremendous contribution to the prospective champions with spectacular fielding plays that occur almost daily, and probably will continue through the World Series.

Willie Richardson, Hilton closing in on Colt jobs

WESTMINSTER, Md. —Indications are that opponents of the Baltimore Colts will have two new names to conjure when the National Football League campaign gets under way next month.

Willie Richardson, in his third season of aspiring to a flanker back position, and Roy Hilton, looking to become a regular defensive end, are definitely closing in on starting berths with the Steeds.

In the one case, the statistics provide firm credentials, and in the second, high praise from his coach could be added incentive to give a little bit more.

* * *

RICHARDSON, who enjoyed a brilliant college career at Jackson State, currently leads all his teammates in pass receiving.

The fleet, long - limbed Mississippian in the first two pre-season games (against the Redskins and Eagles) caught 7 passes for a total of 157 yards and 2 touchdowns.

Those touchdowns were scored on pitches of 34 and 30 yards. He had still another TD against Philadelphia, but it was nullified by a penalty.

* * *

IT WAS largely due to Willie's effectiveness that the Eagles were thumped so decisively. In the New Orleans game, he grabbed 5 passes for 110 yards.

The arrival of Richardson has made the continued absence of Raymond Berry the more bearable for head coach Don Shula.

Berry is sidelined with a bruised thigh, and Willie's efforts have helped fill the gap.

* * *

HIS LEADERSHIP finds such names as John Mackey (6 for 99) and Jimmy Orr (6 for 77) following.

Next were the familiar names of Tom Matte, Lenny Moore, Butch Wilson and Tony Lorick.

"Willie's always had the moves," said quarterback Johnny Unitas, "now he's getting the confidence that goes with all topflight receivers."

* * *

HILTON, WHO also starred at Jackson State College, is a big, strong young-ster of 6-6 and 240 pounds.

Last year, while getting his pro baptism, Roy spent much of the year on the "special" teams. He chased kickoffs and punts and only on occasion in late season, did he get a shot at helping control enemy offenses.

* * *

"EVERY DAY," Colts defensive coach Bill Arnsparger told the AFRO, "Hilton is picking up something new.

"His progress has been steady and rapid."

* * *

"THE FACT that Roy has come around so handily, and Andy Stynchula is fitting in so readily, provide just the kind of insurance we need to maintain our defensive record.

"At the rate he's going, he could develop into another great one — like some we've had in the past." — SAM LACY.
