The sixth and final concert of the Baltimore Municipal Band under the direction of Weldon J. Irvine will be held Sunday 3 p.m. at Druid Hill Park, Picnic Grove 10.

Due to the enthusiastic response to last week's concert, the identical program featuring instrumental solos by various members of the band and vocal solos by baritone Matthew Fraling will be repeated.

Band members to be featured are Barbara Smith, trumpeter; Charles Strother, clarinetist; and George Stevenson, trombonist, with the Municipal Band Vocal Quintet again sharing the spotlight.

Opening with Nicolai's Overture to "The Merry Wives of Windsor", the program will feature selections from "Guys and Dolls", "South Pacific", and highlights from the music of George Gershwin.

"Blueprint for Progress"

★ Tom FINAN for Governor

★ Francis 'Bill' BURCH for Attorney General

★ Louis GOLDSTEIN for Comptroller

Our "Blueprint for Progress" offers many things for all the citizens of Maryland

FOR THE CONSUMER . . .
The Finan, Burch, Goldstein team pledges to bring about the creation of a Consumer Protection Agency. It will be the function of this office not only to provide for punishment of wrong-doers, but also to advise our citizens, in advance of fraudulent schemes and unfair sales techniques and practices — and thus prevent injury or loss to the people of Maryland.

IN EDUCATION . . .
Every qualified Maryland youth should have an opportunity to pursue a college education regardless of his financial status. We must continue the rapid, but orderly growth of the University of Maryland and the State colleges—Bowie, Coppin, Frostburg, Morgan, Salisbury, St. Mary's and Towson.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT — We must obtain jobs for our unemployed citizens. We must find a place in business or industry for our expanded population of the years immediately ahead. We must bring about a favorable business climate that will create new jobs, by attracting new business and encouraging the expansion and growth of our present industries.

SAYS MR. FINAN...
"As Governor, I would feel that the improvement of race relations and greater participation by all minority groups in government is something to which I would give a justifiable priority."

Garrett D. Rawlings loved the Methodist Church. As a longtime lay leader, he was willing literally, to lay down his life for his church.

The hours were never too long, the days never too hot or too cold, if there was a job to be done.

Garrett was ever ready to help at Metropolitan Church, where he began as librarian for his Sunday School Class, and grew in age and stature to be a recognized lay leader, delegate to local and national conventions.

In recent years, he had been slowed down by illness, but he still kept abreast of activities in the church and gloried in its growth.

Many knew Mr. Rawlings as the businessman the owned and operated the Harlem Valet Shop, located for years at 702 Dolphin St.

Garrett Rawlings' death on Tuesday removes from our midst a man who has watched the great Methodist Church grow and prosper because he, and others like him, gave it devoted service. P.S. one of Mr. Rawlings' favorite sayings was "I always life and treat my fellowmen, right!"

Funeral services are Saturday in Philadelphia.

The Lloyd McDonalds and daughter Kim, of Dennlyn Rd., are vacationing in Atlantic City and New York. Son Wade, remains on the job as an electrical engineer with an engineering firm in Cockeysville.

Mr. Branson, who survives, is also a former Baltimore resident.

Funeral services are Saturday in Philadelphia.

Best wishes to Mrs. Rawlings (Edna) at 2330 Lanvale St.
