'TOOK TIME TO DO FOR OTHERS'

'At an early age, he learned love must be genuine and show itself in deeds . . he was too busy to let his problems get him down . . he took time to hear what others had to say, and to do for others..'

This was the assessment of Richard Clifton Cole, given at funeral services on Tuesday morning by his pastor, the Rev. Frank Madison Reid.

Soloists were Mrs. Eleanor B. Graham and William Griggsby.

MR. COLE died on Friday evening at Sinai Hospital after ahrief illness.

It was noted 'he directed the men with whom he worked with the quality of leadership which made them do their best and admire and like hif in the bargain.

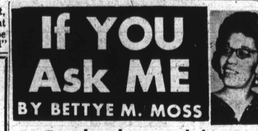
If YOU Ask ME

BY BETTYE M. MOSS



People, places and things

Six of us thought it might be a good idea to spend a couple of days in New York City which we did last week.

What a mistake! New York is too big —there are too many people in a great big hurry.

Everything moves at such a rapid pace you actually get weak standing still watching the passing parade.

In the department stores, people push and shove and pull garments right out of your hand, particularly if you're at a bargain table.

But, there are some compensations: an item which costs you $5 or more in your hometown can be had for nearly half the price in a big city Manhattan store.

Is it possible to go out in that big town and meet somebody from home?

Yes, indeed.

As we stepped on an escalator in Macy's, the Baltimorean who touched us on the shoulder was Ed Harris, the accountant.

And there was a reunion, too, right on the first floor of Gimbel's:

The lady who walked up with a smile was Rachel Waddington.

We had not met since dormitory days at Howard University, where she had a room on Frazier Hall with Baltimore's Mamie Brown.

Miss Waddington is now a professor at Queens College.

In our same hotel were these Baltimoreans whom we did not see: Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith and Dr. and Mrs. Otis Froe.

With the hurry and bustle of vacations, a big wedding of interest hereabouts went unnoticed.

It was the ceremony in Warrenton, Va., a week back (Aug. 20), which saw pretty Phoebe Ann Nash become Mrs. John M. Triplett.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Nash of Warrenton, and a teacher at Pimlico Junior High here in Baltimore.

He is the market development manager for National Brewing Co. here.

The wedding, a four o'clock ceremony in Warrenton's First Baptist Church, attracted guests from Pa., Mass., Md., D.C. and as far away as Orleans, France.

The bride wore an ankle length off white sheath with long sleeves, the suggestion of a train and veil.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Evelyn Johnson, also a Baltimore teacher. Bridesmaids were cousins of the bride, the Misses Mary, Josephine and Barbara Craig, all of Warrenton.

Satterfield Venable, also a Baltimore teacher, was best man.

The newlyweds honeymooned in Cape Cod, are now at home at 3205 Sequoia Ave.

BALTIMOREANS THERE were Messrs and Mesdames Robert Brown, Douglass Pahl, Robert Gosnell, Ronald Thomson, Aloysius Johnson, David Johnson and Mrs. Henry Neal, Mrs. Marie Hilton and Mrs. Helen Edelstein.

Bridegrooms mother, Mrs. Marjorie Lewis, Elkins Park, Pa.; his sister and brother-in-law, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Shepard; his brother and sister - in-law Mr. and Mrs. James Triplett, all of Philadelphia, were also there.

Her brother and sister-in-law, Major and Mrs. William A. Nash Jr. (Delores), were the guests who came from France.

OTHER PHILADELPHIANS there: Mrs. Marie Brown, Mr. and Mrs. William Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Daussal, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Carter.

Miss Elaine Stevens came down from Boston.

There from Washington were, Mr. and Mrs. Tee Parsons and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson.

From Elkins Park also was Miss Barbara Triplett, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Byrd came from Jersey City.

Note: The 250 wedding guests danced to the music of the Addison Lightfoot Combo at the reception held at the National Guard Armory.

Cuff note: Warrenton, Va. is 44 miles south of Washington.

this and that

A summer is not complete without the Arthur Hatchers' annual party. It was held on Sunday at their Eagle Harbor home in Prince George's County.

As usual, Arthur and Nellie, prepared their tasty dishes for their guests and provided plenty of fun and recreation to keep them occupied way past dusk.

Guests also oohed and aahed at color prints made by the hostess on a recent cruise to Nassau.

Other guests who made the trip which was organized by Mrs. Hatcher, showed their photos. They included Mrs. Natalie Phelps, Mrs. Viola Randolph and Mrs. Melvina Jackson.

Others about were: Melvin Randolph, James Phelps, Mrs. Connie Lowe, Mrs. Charlotte Johnson, and Messrs and Mesdames William West, Earl Anderson, Irvin Dett, Marshall Pyles, Harold Kent, John Coborn, Roland Armstrong, Vernon Prout, all of Baltimore; and Mr. and Mrs. William Roberts and James Howell, all of D.C.

There is a very plush red carpet on the floor of the new Hill Drugs which opened for business at 3826 Liberty Heights on Thursday.

Proprietor is James W. Poindexter, who hails from Ft. Worth, Tex. (we had this mixed up when we mentioned it a column ago.)

Mr. Poindexter holds a B.S. in biology and a M.S. in pharmacy from Texas Southern University in Houston.

Mrs. Poindexter (Jimmie), is a local social worker and a graduate of Prairie View A and M College, where her father, the Rev. Lee C. Phillips is chaplain. The Poindexters have a 3-year-old, James Jr.

Cuff Note: Former Texans may know Mr. Poindexter's mother, Mrs. Lenora C. Henderson. She has been a Fort Worth teacher for 37 years.

Perfectly beautiful: 'The Lord's Prayer,'—solo by William Griggsby at the Richard Cole funeral on Tuesday.

He's the magnificent baritone who is soloist with the Baltimore Hebrew Congregation and organist at the Boundary Methodist Church, and he's on the City College faculty.

Mr. Griggsby (it is two G's), is a product of Drake University and Indiana U.

His solo was actually a special tribute to Mr. Cole who had been like a father to him since his arrival here in Baltimore five years ago from Hannibal, Mo.

For three years, he lived at the Cole home. Wasn't that thoughtful!

Cuff note: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Russ, who handled funeral arrangements for Mr. Cole are Mrs. Cole's sister and brother-in-law.

It's like this: Mrs. Russ, the former Lucille White, and Mrs. Cole, the former Myrtle White are sisters. Who said everybody in Baltimore is related!

Another glorious Sunday event was the outing held at the Shady Side home on the West River owned by Dr. Charles Purnell of Washington.

Commodore of the group was Capt. Edward L. Feggans.
