William H. Allen Jr., usher at Morning Star

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 1 p.m. at Morning Star Baptist Church for William Henry (Dick) Allen Jr., vice president of the usher board, who died unexpectedly Sept. 13. He was 57.

The Rev. George Green, assistant pastor of the church, will be assisted by the Rev. Carlton Cook, pastor of the Sparrows Point Union Baptist Church, at the services and at graveside rites at Arbutus Memorial Cemetery.

Mr. Allen was employed at Elementary School 139 in East Baltimore six years.

He was a lifelong member of Union in Sparrows Point before joining Morning Star two years ago.

Fondly known as "Dick" by his many friends, he was found dead by his oldest sister, Mrs. Dora Parker, with whom he resided at 3038 Arunah Ave, about 12:15 p.m.

He had not been ill and thinking it was his day off, Mrs. Parker, did not call him that morning.

MR. ALLEN was born in Sparrows Point April 12, 1909, the son of Mrs. Virginia Allen, 83, who survives him.

The family will receive friends at the Morton-Dyette Funeral Home from 8:30 to 9:30 p.m. today (Friday). The body will be on view beginning this morning at 10 at the funeral home and Saturday morning at the church from 10 to funeral time. No review after services.

In addition to his mother, surviving are one brother, James Allen, six sisters, Mesdames Parker, Edna Williams, Birdie Fesperman, Elizabeth Hilson, Nellie Glenn and other relatives.

Talks on Rhodesia generate no action

LONDON (UPI) — Intensified Afro-Asian opposition to British Prime Miister Harold Wilson's compromise plan Wednesday virtually destroyed hopes for commonwealth agreement on a way to end the 10-month-old Rodesian Rebellion.

Caucusing to consolidate their opposition, Afro-Asian and Caribbean Leaders delayed the start of Wednesday's morning session of the Commonwealth Prime Ministers conference by more than an hour.

• • •

AFRICAN DELEGATES made clear they felt Wilson would go no further to meet their demands that Rhodesia should get legal independence only with African majority rule. The African bloc had support from the Asian countries, the three Caribbean delegates and Cyprus.

Only Australia, New Zealand, Malawi and Malta appeared to support Wilson's complex proposal which calls for eventual African rule.

The Afro-Asian block took no action on a compromise formula drawn up by Canadian Prime Minister Lester Pearson in an eleventh-hour effort to avert a grave commonwealth split.

• • •

THE LEADING African delegate said the Afro-Asian block was determined Wilson should include in his plan the steps—military force or mandatory United Nations sanctions—he has firmly rejected as too severe.

Earlier a "disgusted" African leader called British Prime Minister Harold Wilson "a racialist".

"I am going home disgusted," Zambian Foreign Minister Simon Kapepwe told newsmen when he left London Airport to report to President Kenneth Kaunda on the Rodesian talks. "We asked for the use of force in Rhodesia and were rejected. We got absolutely nothing from the conference. This conference makes us know that Mr. Wilson is coming to be a racialist," he added.

HEW documents Ga. integration threats

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal investigator testified Wednesday that several colored parents felt it was "unsafe" to transfer their children to formerly all-white schools last year in Sumter County, Georgia, because of threats.

The Department of Health, Education, and Welfare called on Sumter County school officials to show why all federal funds should not be cut off although 43 students have crossed racial lines this year.

Federal attorneys argued that Sumter school officials have not created "community acceptance" or encouraged sufficient transfers to meet a test of federal guidelines to show their freedom of choice plan is working.

The county seat, Americus, was the scene of civil rights disturbances during the summer of 1965.

• • •

DEWEY E. DODDS, HEW civil rights advisor, said some parents who asked for transfers in 1965 told him they withdrew them after getting "threats."

Of eight who requested transfers, all later withdrew the requests or allowed them to lapse, witnesses said.

"Three (parents) told us about being threatened," Dodds testified. "Two others said, 'The word got to us.' We have the names of three white men who supposedly visited several of the parents."

He said one woman said she was fired after admitting to her employer that she had requested that her child be transferred to an all-white school.

• • •

SEAVER ORDERED Dodds to submit the names of the parents to the Georgia officials in writing so that newsmen at the hearing could not see them. He said he would see that action is taken if there are any recriminations against these parents as a result of the hearing.

Georgia Ast's. Atty. Gen. Al Evans argued that HEW had no legal authority to require the school officials to campaign for community acceptance, achieve certain percentages of racial balance or desegregate faculties. These points were raised by federal attorneys in charges against the school system.

"It is preposterous to require an elected official to do that which would ensure his defeat at the next election," Evans said.

DURHAM, N.C. — Guest speakers at North Carolina College's annual faculty institute Tuesday emphasized the importance of creating an environment favorable to learning and the necessity for planning for the future. Dr. William E. Colbury Jr. of Harvard stressed the development of a proper climate for achieving excellence, and Dr. Howard E. Boozer, director of the North Carolina Board of Higher Education.

THANK YOU!

ISAIAH DIXON, JR. DELEGATE MITCHELL ATTY. LENA K. LEE

I take this means of expressing my deep appreciation to the voters of the Fourth District who supported me and the Sickles Action Team which resulted in my winning the Democratic nomination to the State Senate, the nomination of Attorney Lena K. Lee and Isaiah "Ike" Dixon to the House of Delegates, and the overwhelming vote in this district for Carlton Sickles for Governor.

With my running mates I wish further to thank the hundreds of volunteers who manned telephones, addressed envelopes, rang doorbells, transported workers to the polls; the members of the clergy who spoke from the pulpit; the Baltimore Joint Council of the AFL-CIO, the Afro-American Newspapers, the many organizations who endorsed me, and the many friends who purchased tickets and gave contributions toward campaign expenses.

I must also pay a special tribute to our wonderful army of young people who, day in and day out, worked untiringly and with never ending enthusiasm and faith that we would have victory.

Our state is in a life and death struggle between the forces of segregation and the forces of freedom. We must and we will have complete freedom of opportunity for ourselves and our children.

The primary was the first hurdle.

The real contest will come in the General Election on Tuesday, November 8th.

I urge you to continue your same fine interest and support until the final victory is won.

You are invited to visit our headquarters at 1804 Pennsylvania Avenue, open daily to serve the people, or call 669-6066.

Yours for freedom,
