EMBASSY ROW

By LILLIAN WIGGINS

A group of students at Stanford University in California have founded a new literary magazine, entitled "Journal of the New African Literature."

The journal, which is edited by a Nigerian graduate student, will publish creative and literary works of art, including drama, essays, short stories, poetry, critiques, criticisms, and discussions of African literature, music, fine arts, creative photography and other aspects of African culture.

Contributors are not restricted to African themes.

The editor, Joseph Okpaku recently visited Washington, after attending a conference for African student editors at Hampton Institute, sponsored by the American Society of African Culture.

Mr. Okpaku said editorial advisors of the journal include Professor St. Clair Drake of Roosevelt University in Chicago, and a number of faculty members of the University of Nigeria at Nsukka.

The Journal of the New African Literature is published bi-annually in the spring and fall. All inquiries and material should be forwarded to the Editor, Journal of New African Literature, Box. 4392, Stanford University, Stanford, Calif.

The initial issue contained an editorial on the philosophy of the journal. In the editorial, Mr. Okpaku explained that much of African literature today contains very little philosophical substort to give the African writer a forum for developing literature with a multiplicity of various and diverse themes and to introduce philosophical depth into African literature and art.

LAST WEEK the Sierra Leone Students Union of the stance.

The Journal of the New African Literature is an ef- Americas held its eigth annual conference program at the International House.

The theme of this year's conference was "One-partyism in a Developing Sierra Leone."

One of the highlights of the conference was the grand annual dance which was held at the Sheraton Park Hotel, Saturday, September 10.

Saturday, a soccer game was held between Sierra Leone and Nigerian students at Fort Reno Playground. A picnic followed the soccer match.

The conference ended with a farewell reception Sunday at the residence of the Sierra Leone Ambassador.

UNDER THE patronage of President and Mrs. Johnson, Vice President and Mrs. Humphrey, Secretary of State and Mrs. Rusk, President of the United Nations Association and Mrs. Benjamin, the sixth annual United Nations Concert, is being held in honor of The Chiefs of Diplomatic Missions to the United States on Monday evening, October 24th at Constitution Hall.

The concert celebrating the 21st anniversary of the United Nations, will feature The Philadelphia Orchestra with Eugene Ormandy, conducting.

Citizens query school board

A discussion of the apparent "lack of agreement" between the Citizens' School Advisory Committee and the Baltimore City School board will be presented during The Reporters and The News on Friday, Sept. 16, at 6 p.m., in color, on WMAL-TV 11.

Mrs. Maurice Freidlander, a spokesman for the CAC, will discuss her report which was submitted to the board two years ago. Speaking for the other side of the issue, Lester Wallace, a Baltimore school official, will tell of the ways in which many of the CAC's recommendations have been put into effect.

Center to study student reaction to desegregation

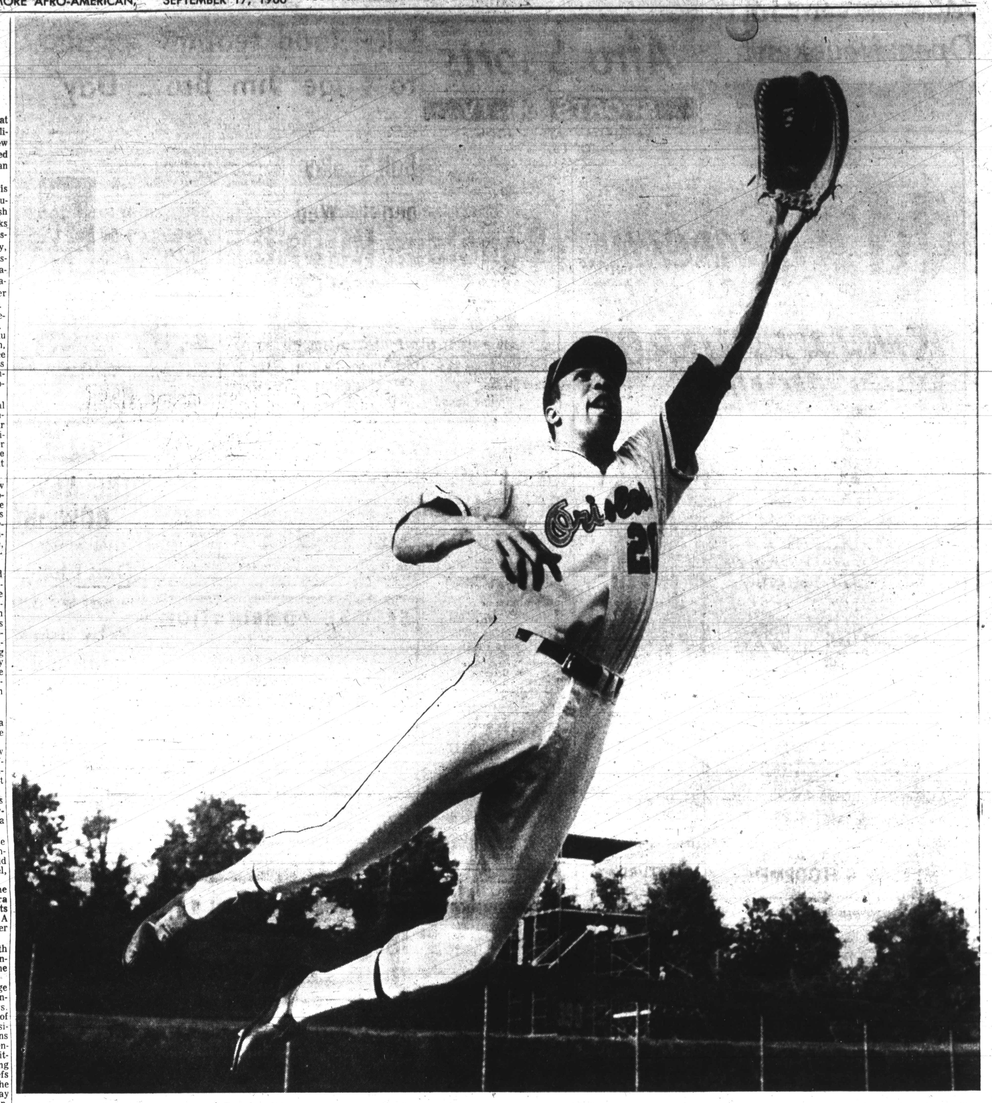
A new research center at The Johns Hopkins University will focus on the effects of desegregation upon the academic behavior of students of varying racial and ethnic backgrounds during its first year of study.

The Center for Research in the Social Organization of Schools was established Sept. 1 under an initial grant of $172,717 from the United States Office of Education.

The center will be directed by Dr. Edward L. McDill, associate professor of social relations.

SEPT. 18

The White's Male Chorus will appear in concert at 3 p.m. at Mt. Olivet Christian Church, Fulton and Penrose Ave.



FRANK ROBINSON SAYS

"That's Blue Ribbon Action!"

And he ought to know! Battling day after day to win the pennant takes that something extra in the way of energy. The kind you get in Schmidt's Blue Ribbon Bread. The power-packed bread, loaded with vitamins and minerals. Plenty of good bread flavor, too, because it's baked by Schmidt. Schmidt's Blue Ribbon keeps you in the action, every minute. And brother, that's Blue Ribbon action!

MSA elevens face busiest weekend

Maryland Scholastic Association football teams enter the busiest weekend thus far of the young season today (Friday).

Nine games are on the slate for schoolboy gridders, though no conference contests are involved. Twelve MSA elevens will see action in the next two days.

• • •

DEFENDING champion City engages McDonogh in a morning scrimmage tomorrow (Saturday) at McDonogh. This game and today's afternoon contest between Edmondson and Eastern High School in Washington, highlight the weekend slate.

Dunbar visits Douglass in a non-league tilt which should provide coaches Archie Lewis and Charlie Robinson with a preview of what the season has in store.

Both Lewis, in his first year as head mentor of the Poets, and Robinson are deep in the process of rebuilding. Dunbar and Carver sustained heavy losses from their 1965 squads.

Double duty slated for Clippers' Reardon

Terry Reardon, who has been the Baltimore Clippers' hockey image as general manager since the city secured a franchise in the American Hockey League in 1962, will serve as both GM and coach for the 1966-67 season, it was announced today by club president, Robert C. (Jake) Embry.

Thus, Reardon continues in the same capacity as he had since late January of last year when he replaced Johnny Crawford as coach of the local club.

"Both Zan (Krieger) and I felt that Terry did a great job last season with mediocre playing personnel," Embry stated, "and got a lot of mileage out of a rather ordinary team. I thought the team picked up noticeably after Terry took over as coach, and while we missed the playoffs, the finish was far more respectable than it looked like it was going to be."

Oscar again a holdout

OXFORD, Ohio (UPI) — For the second straight year, Oscar Robertson was a salary holdout as the Cincinnati Royals opened their training camp at Miami University Thursday.

Robertson, one of the all-time greats in professional basketball, was believed seeking to reach the $100,000 mark in his salary negotiations. Only Wilt Chamberlain and Bill Russell already have achieved that elite status.

Oscar, an all-pro star since he entered the national basketball association six years ago, received an estimated $80,000 last year.

FORWARD Step Mairaton, the Royals "sixth man" last season, also was a holdout. The former New York University star was reported to be asking at least $3,000 more than the Royals have offered him.

Royals general manager Pepper Wilson said he planned more contract talks with Robertson, but added he has made his final offer to Hairston.

Cleveland teammates plan to stage 'Jim Brown Day'

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Plans were put in motion Thursday for a "Jim Brown Farewell Day" in tribute to the Cleveland Browns' record breaking fullback who traded his uniform for the life of a movie actor.

Many top entertainment stars were being recruited for the Oct. 1 affair at Cleveland stadium, where Brown performed many of his football feats.

JOHN WOOTEN, veteran left guard of the Browns, announced the show. Wooten said all proceeds will go to the Negro Industrial and Economic Union, which Brown

"I feel certain the people of Cleveland will want to pay homage to Jim for giving them so many football thrills over the years," Wooten said.

"I taked with Jim the other night and he wants it made clear there has been no split or ill feeling between himself and the Browns," he said.
