tous leaders, "can be counted in many ways.

"It can, of course, be counted in terms of crime, of blighted lives, of subsistence poverty, broken homes, of malnutrition and disease and of possibilities and promise unfulfilled.

"But it is more than a present loss," he warned, adding:

"It is a dark danger to the future. We hear the ticking of a clock; the onrush of ever-greater violence, toward the time of despair and of senseless lashing-out of the thousands of invisible strands which bind man to his fellow.

"The obliteration — in short — of those shared experiences which, taken together, constitute education for us as individuals and as a people."

IN CALLING for education — not just of classroom, teacher and textbook, budget and salaries — Mr. Kennedy asked:

"What is our educational commitment?"

While our educational commitment has been that every child should have an adequate education, it has been subordinated to the demands of the educational system, he said.

"In the simplest terms, this means that when a child has failed to learn, we have assigned him a label, whether 'slow,' or 'unmotivated,' or even 'retarded.'

"But if we mean our commitment — if we mean that every child shall learn — then we must be willing to change a system which does not work, and find one which does."

Outlining his proposal to "reach this universal commitment, the popular senator declared:

"First, we must not only make available opportunities for all of them to learn — we must make them seem available.

"Far too often in our society, the school, the college or the university seem, too the poor, remote and inaccessible.

"With its formal structure its 'downtown' language and phrases, its neat compartments of grades, classes and divisions, it seems forbidding, powerful and alien.

"Too often it is," Mr. Kennedy told his listeners.

HE SUGGESTED the extension of the Head Start, VISTA, Peace Corps and Northern Student Movement philosophies to all levels of education.

"Operation Head Start has taught us that remedial work can begin before there is anything to remedy," he said.

"We must recognize that education is not something—and cannot be allowed to be—something which, once interrupted, is over for life.

"We need new kinds of universities and colleges — able to teach not only in fine buildings, but in community centers, parks, and even in homes.

"We need colleges which are no more than groups of people determined that learning shall be brought to all those who need it."

The new concept of education can come about only, according to Senator Kennedy, through a partnership between the government, the community, home, church, voluntary associations, and "in the last analysis, the active concern of individual human beings."

tigation by police. Both men are at City Jail awaiting Criminal Court trials with Crooms being held under $25,000 bail and Douglas under $12,000 bail.

MR. CROOMS was formerly serving an 18-year sentence in connection with the 1955 murder of John Adams in Turner Station. He was paroled on Nov. 16, 1965.

At the time of his arrest Aug. 9, he was working as a laborer on the construction site of a new telephone building on Leeds Ave. near Wilkins Ave.

According to Lt. Anton Glover and Sgt. James Watkins who led the investigation, Mr. Crooms is listed with his Parole Officer as residing in the 400 block 4th St., Annapolis.

His 1963 Bonneville Pontiac car is listed in his name at that address as was the rented car he rode to work in and parked near the location of his job Aug. 9.

Mr. Burman, age 29, 3800 block Rogers Ave., claims Crooms and Douglass robbed him at pistol point at 9 a.m. Sunday, May 29.

According to Mr. Burman's sworn statement before Judge Henry W. Sichel at North Western following Croms' arrest, he answered his bell that morning and was greeted by a man who asked him if he wanted to buy any diamonds. The man was later identified as Douglass.

CONTINUING, Mr. Burman reported to Judge Sichel when he told the man he did not want any diamonds, a gun was drawn on him and he was backed into the living room.

Then, according to Mr. Burman, Crooms entered the house, also with a gun, and the two men placed him in handcuffs. Leading him to his wife, asleep in their bedroom, Burman stated they also placed her in handcuffs.

The two men then demanded all the money Burman had in the house or his safe, he stated, and while one of them stayed with him and his wife, the other ransacked the entire place.

He said the $1,900 cash was taken from his trousers. Also obtained in the robbery was an Omega watch valued at $150.

MR. BURMAN also told the judge that the two men agreed not to kill him and his wife after they had engaged in a lengthy conversation.

At that point the businessman quoted the gunmen as saying they would, however murder him and his wife and their daughter if any report was made to the police.

He said before the men left the house, they took off the handcuffs but tied him and his wife up with the neckties.

Mr. Burman told Judge Stichel he delayed making the official report to the police because he feared he and his wife and daughter would be killed.

Mr. Burman is president of the Burman and Burman Theatrical Agency, 900 block Calhoun St.

According to testimony from the witness stand, the teenager was present in the office of Dr. John C. Woodend, 567 W. Mosher St., after 6 p.m. Aug. 6 on appointment to get a gold cap on his tooth.

Mayfield told the court his mother had given him $30 for the single overlay of gold which is a fad among the younger set.

ALSO there for a 6 p.m. appointment was the 20-year-old married woman, a Baltimore city employee and mother of three children.

Both testified the dentist was late arriving.

The youth said the matron submitted willingly to intimacies.

He also stated he gave her $5.

However, the matron testified the teenager asked her the time before the attack and, grabbing her by the throat to cut off her screams, forced the door from the inside.

When the dentist arrived, Mayfield unlocked the door and ran out into the street to a filling station, the woman stated.

Dr. Woodland told the court the woman was in a hysterical condition when he entered the office.

They are held at the Chick Webb Recreation at 601 N. Eden St., because the neighborhood center is inadequate to accommodate that many people, Mrs. Odom said.

"I am really pleased with our library program," she said, adding that "since April 7, 675 children have been registered."

CURRENTLY the library has approximately 2,500 volumnes and more than 500 books are out on loan, the director reported.

As the result of the Recreation-Education and other CAA programs, Mrs. Odom estimates, more than 2,000 people living in Action Area 5 have been in personal contact with the center.

Lt. Ralston's figures show that the number increased in each of the first five months of 1966, from 438 in January to 501, to 611, to 631, to 707 in May.

In June the number unaccountably fell to 580, but then skyrocketed to 744 in July and an August high of 779.

"On a weekend we have as many as 75 to a hundred," he stated.

The mammouth job of tracing over 5,000 solen and abandoned cars a year is handled by a crew of 21 policemen, who also are in charge of the City Yard at 240 N. Calverton Rd., where the found cars are stored.

TO REDEEM his car, a driver must pay a tow charge of about $25 and a storage charge.

To avoid paying this charge, and the pain of having one's car stolen, Lt. Ralston gave these tips:

Keep the car closed and locked, including the vent windows, which many people forget to close.

And keep valuables out of sight, either under the seats or in the trunk.

"There is less chance of having it broken into if the temptation is not there," he said.

There is a summons for motorists who leave their keys in the car, but even a closed car can be stolen if somebody wants it bad enough, the lieutenant added.

Peabody to oppose Brooke for Senate

BOSTON (UPI) —Former Gov. Endicott Peabody, a strong supporter of the civil rights movement, won the Democratic Nomination for the U.S. Senate Tuesday. He will oppose Atty Gen Edward W. Brooke a native of Washington, in the November general election.

Peabody was victorious over Boston Mayor John F. Collins whose chances rested largely upon a "white backlash" that failed to materialize. Thomas B. Adams, a "peace" candidate, finished a poor third in the race.

IN THE democratic primary contest for Governor, former State Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack, nephew of the House Speaker, defeated Kenneth O'Donnell, former aide of the late President Kennedy.

Brooke, hopeful of becoming the first color senator since Reconstruction, was unopposed in winning the Republican nomination for the seat of retiring GOP Sen. Leverett Saltonstall.

McCormack, who was unsuccessful in a U.S. Senate bid against Sen. Edward (Ted) Kennedy, will attempt to unseat Republican Gov. John A. Volpe in the fall.

PEABODY, an outspoken Liberal whose mother was jailed for her role in civil rights portests at St. Augustine, Fla., outpolled Collins in the Mayor's home town. Collins decried "civil disobedience" by color leaders, and had his best show of strength in Conservative areas of Western Massachusets.

IN A GOP Congressional Primary, aging Rep. Joseph M. Martin Jr. trailed 35-year-old Mrs. Margaret M. Heckler by about 800 votes with a total of nearly 9,500 counted.

The pretty, red-haired woman was bucking the party leadership is her race against the 81-year-old former house speaker.

With 1,130 of 2,028 precincts reporting in the Democratic Senate race, the vote was: Peabody 157,895; Collins 136,776 and Adams 24,233. The vote with 1,228 precincts in the Gubernatorial contest, was McCormack 183,765 to 152,728 for O'Donnell.

both camps toward each other.

Outcome of the Mahoney-Sickles race will have significant meanings also for Spiro T. Agnew, the Republican gubernatorial candidate.

The results will be a determining factor in how he shapes his campaign for the November elections, when he will face the winner.

Colored Democrats are certain to swing to the GOP's Agnew in November, should Mahoney emerge victorious.

MR. MAHONEY, however did poll 11 percent of the colored votes in the primary.

It was a drab primary here that drew but a 43 percent city - wide turnout of voters, and a 39 percent in AFRO precincts, those predominately or wholly colored.

Numerous foulings up of election machines in many precincts and late arrival of them in others were considered causes for much of the light voting.

People went to the polls just got disgusted because of various delays and went away without voting.

The voting did produce for the first time two colored Democratic House of Delegates nominees in the city's 2nd District — Floyd B. Adams and Joseph A. Chester Sr.

These candidates, coupled with winners in the 4th District, Anne Arundel and Prince George's Counties, mean there will be far more colored Assembly members in Annapolis come January than ever before.

There have never been more than one such senator and three House members.

City Council 18pt. spartan

Baltimore's City Council resumes sessions Monday evening, ending a summer recess period.

TWO SUCH near misses were recorded in the 5th District, according to unofficial returns.

Charles P. Howard Jr., attorney, who ran on the Sickles ticket, lost by 179 votes with 5,074 to Allen B. Spector, incumbent, for the last seventh spot, who polled 5,253.

Charles R. Law, mortician, who ran on a ticket headed by Marvin Mandel, Speaker of the House, was close behind Mr. Howard.

He polled 4,976 votes, just 27 less than the last place winning Mr. Spector.

Had just 300 more of the the colored Democratic voters bothered to go to the polls in Tuesday's primary in this district heavily populated with professionals and white collar workers, both Messrs. Howard and Law would have won nomination.

It was, however, that kind of a lackadaisical voter turnout primary.

It was, too, a chance the colored voter got for Democratic General Assembly representative that will not come for four more years. in markets throughout the U.S.

EARLIER THIS year the conservatives announced efforts to take over the city GOP. There also was a Young Turk Element which hoped to gain more influence.

At one point this summer a Goldwater faction led by Mrs. Louis Gore, who lives in the Washington suburban area and gained a state senate nomination Tuesday, sponsored a hush-hush affair here aimed at lining up colored persons to wave its banner.

This move fell flat and apparently now the liberal element of the city GOP moves into the Agnew campaign with tighter control than at any time since the Goldwater debacle of 1964.

There has been no word on whether Foster, a standout high school athlete, will go out for a sport at the Citadel.

2 win Demo nominations to Assembly in 2nd D.

Two colored candidates for the House of Delegates in the 2nd District are among the eight Democratic nominees who won in Tuesday's primary.

They are Floyd B. Adams, 2541 Kirk Ave., and Joseph A. Chester Sr., 3027 E. Federal St.

Mr. Adams placed seventh and Mr. Chester won the eighth nomination post.

This is the first time members of their race have won Democratic nomination to the General Assembly in the 2nd District.

THEIRS ARE the only City Democratic nominees of their race to the Assembly to emerge from the primary outside the 4th District.

Mr. Adams, a steelworker, was sponsored by the Associated Civic Democratic Councils, an organization headed by Paul J. Cockrell, attorney.

He is president of the Cold Stream Park Civic Democratic Club, an associate of the Cockrell organization, and a member of Faith Baptist Church.

Mr. Chester, an employee of a transportation company, was on the Julian Lapides - Jerome Monaghan ticket, which advertised itself as the anti-Pollack team.

He was formerly a member of the Cockrell organization and was supported in an unsuccessful bid for City Council by that group in 1963.

Koger Helps His Fellowman
We must help each other up the hill. The one on top first pulls up his brother. Koger stood up for the Douglass High students accused of rioting. He appeared before the Legislature demanding fair insurance rates for motorists. He worked and got a sidewalk laid down Gwynns Falls Pkwy. along Hanlon Park to protect the children at School 60 and Lemmel Jr. High.
Koger Stands For Law And Order
Koger fights for good citizenship, family security, better schools, decent housing and wages. He organized and headed the Harlem, New Area, New Ashburton Neighborhood Associaffions. He led 30 successful fights to keep taverns out of residential areas. No wonder a Liquor Board Chairman said: "Koger has made many sacrifices and fought without pay or favor, to protect his community."
Koger Has The Courage
Koger will not give up. He will press on for freedom and equality. He did not give up opposing the daily newspaper that printed the racial term "Negro" in crime stories. He mailed out over 7000 cards and led a boycott of their TV Stations. He opposed Balto., City when Easterwood Park refused his son a ball because of his race. His resolute opposition sparked the fight for the desegregation of City Parks.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain
New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.
In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations.
Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.
And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!
In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.
All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.
This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

Vets with school plans must get certificate

WASHINGTON — Veterans planning to attend schools and colleges this fall under the new G.I. Bill were warned last week by the Veterans Administration that they must first secure their certificate of eligibility from the VA.

The certificate is proof of eligibility which must be presented to the college upon enrollment. Each veteran is also assigned a claim number for use in correspondence with the VA concerning these rights and benefits.

The VA pointed out that school openings could cause a last - minute flood of applications. Veterans get monthly checks by attending college, high school, trade schools, or take correspondence courses.

Applications and information are available from any Va regional office.
