Mrs. Cargill, retired teacher, dies at 95

Mrs. Carrie Cargill, widow of the late John M. Cargill, died on Friday evening, Oct. 7, at PProvident Hospital after a brief illness.

Born 95 years ago, Mrs. Cargill was a life-long resident of this city and contributed richly to its clutural life.

She was a graduate of the old Colored High School. The forerunner what is now the Douglass High School and also of which was then called the training school where she prepared for her career as a teacher in the public school.

Mrs. Cargill was noted for her beautiful contralto voice and made frequent appearances in her use as a soloist.

After retirement as a public school teacher of music she continued as a private teacher of voice.

She served also as choir director, organist and member of various musical organizations.

Survivors include one sister, the sole survivor of a family of seven daughters, Mrs. Willie Fax of New York City and many nieces and nephews.

Funeral services Saturday 11 a.m. from Herbert E. Nutter funeral home, 3035 W. North Ave. Interment Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

7-Day Adventists welcome Elder Preston, new pastor

The new pastor of Sharon Seventh Day Adventist Church, 1101 Calvert St., is the Elder Louis R. Preston from Institute, W. Va., where he pastored Adventist churches in Charleston, Berkley and Kimball.

He and his wife, Mrs. Louise Preston, and two sons, Louis Jr. and Gilbert, reside in the St. Paul and Chase Apartments, 1101 St. Paul St.

Both sons are students at Columbia Union College. Louis, a senior, is the assistant pastor of the Dupont Park Seventh Day Adventist Church, Washington. Gilbert, a sophomore, is employed by the Bell Telephone Co.

Elder Preston describes Baltimore as one of the finest cities in which he has lived. He states, "I have already met some wonderful people and hope I may be able to make some contribution to the city during my stay."

MEMBERS OF the Sharon church began the 63rd Annual World Service Appeal on Oct. 8. The appeal, the only public one for funds made by the Adventists, is on be half of Welfare, disaster relief, education, medical and missions work in 189 countries of the world including the United States.

Participating in the appeal are volunteers of the local congregations who will personally visit homes in the city the next six weeks. Each solicitor is properly identified.

The goal is $2,000 for the Sharon congregation.

On a world-basis, the church aided over 10 million persons and contributed $12 million in cash and food in the church's welfare program.

Mrs. Geneva Hitch is chairman of the appeal.

HORACE ASHBY, Republican, the only candate of his race in line for the office of Clerk of the Circuit Court in the coming November Elections is shown presenting check for the initial payment on a NAACP Life Membership to Dr. Lillie M. Jackson, president of the Baltimore Branch NAACP. Miss Gertrude Gorman, director of the campaign from the NAACP New York office is left.

Rites here today for John W. Nash

Funeral services were held this morning (Friday) at 10 a.m. at the Arlington Phillips Funeral Home for John W. Nash, 2322 Division St., who died Monday at Provident Hospital.

Mr. Nash 57, had been ill since June. A veteran of World War 11, he is buried in Baltimore National Cemetery.

forms of discrimination.

It also contained a slap at demonstrations which carry violence or civil disobedience.

"Civil rights cannot be achieved through civil wrong," one passage stated.

At the outset, one city delegate openly challenged Marvin Mandel, Speaker of the House, on a recent AFRO story which quoted him as saying he was undecided on whom his 5th District faction would support.

Mr. Mandel, convention chairman, quickly cut this off by reminding he is a Democrat and supports the party.

John O. Rutherford, clerk of City Court and secretary of the convention, introduced a new wrinkle.

He presented members of the news media to the assembly.

OTHERWISE, THE whole affair was well-oiled and routine.

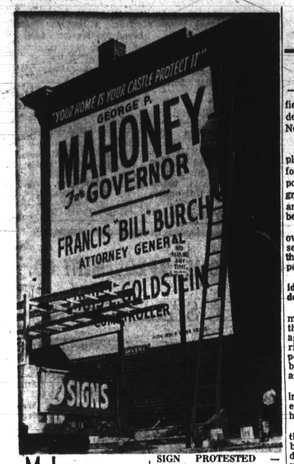
Gov. J. Millard Tawes and key candidates appeared with speeches urging party unity.

Mr. Mahoney ended it all with a blast at the Republicans' gubernatorial candidate, Spiro T. Agnew.

And he proudly repeated his "a man's home is his castle" theme.

Oct. 18

Frederick Donald Truesdell, chairman of the William and Mary College music department, will give a piano recital at 8:15 p.m. in the Lida Lee Tall auditorium at Towson State College. Free to the public, it consists of Schubert's Sonata in B-flat Major, Chopin's Fantasie in F Minor, and Barber's Sonata, Opus 26.



SIGN PROTESTED — Many area residents are protesting against this 'House is Your Castle' campaign sign painted on house in the 1900 block W. Lafayette St. The candidate has stated he needs no colored votes. His campaign has been compared to one George Wallace of Alabama ran here.

fiery campaign speech he delivered later in the day in New York.

MR. JOHNSON accomplished this by revealing a four-point program he proposes to place before Congress in January to increase and broaden social security benefits.

An outdoor crowd of well over 7,000, mostly social security employees, gave this an enthusiastic response.

Here is what the President said he was going to do and the way he said it:

"First, and most fundamental, will recomment to the next Congress an average increase in social security benefits of at least 10 percent—to provide every beneficiary a higher standard of living.

"I will propose that those in the lowest benefit brackets receive proportionally higher increases.

"Second, I will propose that every worker who has been regularly employed under social security for 25 years or more shall be guaranteed a minimum monthly benefit of $100.

"Third, I will recommend specific proposals that will materially increase the income of those under social security, who continue to work after reaching retirement age.

"Fourth, I will recommend that hospital and medical care coverage be provided not only to the aged, but to the more than one million disabled social security beneficiaries."

MR. JOHNSON said he would recommend ways to finance his proposals so that the social security system will remain actuarially sound.

Then, he carried his picture of compassion for older citizens still further.

He said he had ordered a special task force set up to develop "a truly modern program for the latest in nursing home construction."

This, he said, would require federal, state, local and private participation.

"I have seen nursing homes so shabby and badly run they made me heartsick," the President told the assembly.

"I have seen old people waiting for death in such poverty that it brought tears to my eyes.

"And I pledge that so long as I am President, I will not rest until our senior citizens receive the honor and the treatment they deserve."

Social security employees, he said, are a key factor in implementing his new program.

Accompanying the President were Sen. Daniel B. Brewster, Congressman Carlton R. Sickles, Harvey A. Machen, Clarence D. Long and the Republicans' Congressman Charles McC. Mathias.

The President spoke following several hundred awards to employees at the Woodlawn administration.
