The council by majority vote moved to "recant its approval" and "fight to have no incinerator in Cherry Hill."

AT PRESENT there is on Reedbird Ave. in Cherry Hill a city incinerator which will be torn down when a new one is built.

A spokesman for INCITE said the group was gratified at the "united front which the community will now offer against the incinerator."

It was said the new site "originally was promised as a park."

Besides odor and smoke there are "garbage trucks racing down the streets trailing garbage and increased air pollution to contend with," the spokesman said.

"We have had an incinerator out here for 20 years; let someone else have it."

One member made a remark about birth control and it threw me off the handle."

He said the remarks were made "not about the race in general—I have a lot of good colored friends who will misunderstand—but about a specific condition in Baltimore City (use of birth control measures by people on welfare)."

He said he did not think the newspaper should have printed the remarks, since it "wasn't an open meeting, and without asking me for permission.

"I've heard senators express worse feelings privately."

SEN. DEAN stated he believed "birth control (especially the pill) is not going to work by persuasion" for welfare recipients, that it should somehow be made "mandatory."

He said the committee report would probably be finished by Friday and released in about a month.

"They must also be of sufficient size to produce some inconvenience to the forces in power or they go unnoticed. In other words, they must demand the attention of the press, which interprets the issue to the community at large and thereby sets in motion the machinery for change," he emphasized.

"Along with the march as a weapon for change in our non-violent arsenal must be listed the boycott," King said.

"Basic to the philosophy of non-violence is the refusal to cooperate with evil. There is nothing quite so effective as a refusal to cooperate economically with the forces and institutions which perpetuate evil in our communities," he added.

the trainees receive financial help for program participation, carfare, meals and child-care while they work.

During the 12-week course the trainees study two hours each day.

In addition to their professional courses, they are also required to attend adult education classes to further broaden their background and increase their abilities.

In charge of the program is Miss Victoria Burbiis. Assisting her is Miss Lena Van Horn, instructor: Mrs. Gertrude Tischler, adult education; and Mrs. Gladys Bobbett, counselor.

RALEIGH, N.C. — St. Augustine's College began its 100th year with the largest enrollment in its history. This year 450 new students entered the college. Its total enrollment stands at 950.

Mrs. Johnson left jewelry to sister, nieces

Mrs. Inez C. Johnson, formerly of 842 N. Carey St., who died here, Sept. 15, left her jewelry chiefly to her sister and nieces.

The estate is being administered by her husband, Earl Johnson.

In a will left by the deceased, she bequeathed $3000, two crystal candelabra, a hand-painted punch bowl, a silver coffee urn and four $50 bonds to her sister, Mrs. Lillian Maith.

MRS. MARTHA THOMPSON, also a niece, is also to receive a three-stone diamond ring, and a diamond watch bracelet is to go to a third niece, Mrs. Shirley Carter.

Miss Gwendolyn Dixon, niece, was willed a diamond clover leaf ring.

The $3000, according to the document, is to come from the Department of Education.

* * *

MRS. ALBERTA BUTLER a niece, is to receive a three-stone diamond ring.

Mrs. Carter and Miss Dixon also will receive funds from two insurance policies.

A cousin, Elmer Howard, will receive a diamond ring, and a stepdaughter, Mrs. Barbara Ferguson, a fur stole.

The balance and residue of the estate, under the will, will go to Mr. Johnson.

Cherry Hill protesters pushing fight

During a meeting held Monday evening, the Cherry Hill liquor protestors have decided to continue the fight against the new owners of a package goods store in the area's shopping center.

Mrs. Leah Molofsky, who originally won the right to transfer a license to the shopping center, has filed papers with the Liquor Board to sell the license to a new corporation, Cherry Hill Liquors, Inc.

Ownership in the coporation, which would operate in the shopping center with the transferred license, is listed as William Brown, 98 per cent; Percy J. Simpson, one per cent and James H. Butler, one per cent.

THE LIQUOR fighters, according to Mrs. Sarah J. Bundy, will protest the transfer of license before the Liquor Board.

Mrs. Bundy, president of the Cherry Hill Coordinating council, declared that "liquor has no color, (a reference to the new corporation). We are going to fight to keep it out."

The protestors, represented by attorneys Charles P. Howard and James L. Bundy, also have filed a petition for reconsideration of its appeal of the license before the Maryland Court of Appeals.

A first hearing in that court was recently dismissed.
