for 16,000 dwelling units which would preserve and maintain desirable neighborhood with suitable housing.

THE REPORT further calls upon the city to make ten major' policy decisions to 'implement' the program 'effectively.' These include:

1. Place greater emphasis upon the need for low and moderate income housing

2. Establish an 'affirmative' program for dealing with the 'aggravated' problems of colored citizens - including the Fair Housing Ordinance, mentioned above, and a new Housing Code.

3. Assist the private market in providing for low and moderate income families who are denied adequate housing.

4. Give special attention to assuring suitable location for all occupants displaced by projects and improvements.

5. Maintain neighborhoods and houses with distinctive and historic c h a r a c teristics, such as churches, colleges and landmarks.

6. Work for an improved, balanced transportation system.

7. Assemble land and make it available for new industrial development in the city.

8. Initiate public action to improve or consolidate older commercial centers, such as improved lighting, parking etc.

9. Work to implement the Health and Welfare Council's 'Plan For Action,' — the 25-point program designed to aid human renewal

10. Consider thoroughly the Neighborhood Center and the Community School ideas to encourage larger citizen participation.

The Community Renewal Program Study was conducted by a technical staff of 14 persons, headed by C. Gregory Bassett.

A Policy Steering Committ was composed of the Director of the Baltimore Urban Renewal and Housing Agency, Richard L. Sisson; the Commissioner of Building Inspection, Eugene Robert Miller; Coordinator, Philip Darling; and the Director of the Department of Planning, successively Mr. Darling until September, 1965, then Joseph M. and remain until 1:30 p.m.

When her other children and husband have been cared for in the evening she returns to there and remain until visiting hours are over, the mother said.

"But it's worth it," she added quickly when asked if the rigid schedule presented a major problem.

MRS. DUCKETT described young Sammy as a popular youngster in his neighborhood.

"He was always running errands for the neighbors. Many times when I didn't feel like going to the market, all I had to do was to make a shopping list and he would do the marketing as well as I can."

Sammy, his mother said, was a symbol of youthful agility and deftness of foot. This was because "he was a newspaper 'jumper.'"

"Jumpers" are boys who play tag with moving vehicles while dropping off papers on corners and to newsboys.

This fact, obviously affects Mrs. Duckett most when she visits the hospital. Here is how she put it:

"He can't talk and he can't walk. The doctor told me he will have to learn all over again. We have made arrangements for him to enter Montebello for rehabilitation when he gets out of the."

Her voice again trailed off into silence as she left the incompleted sentence hanging.

SPEAKING IN a tone suggesting more agony than bitterness, Mrs. Duckett and Tommy's father, James Duckett Sr., a sugar firm employee, are taking the tragedy in stride, she said.

They, like the parents of young Martin, have not reconciled with the fact that their son could be shot in school.

Sammy, like his brother, Reginald, is an 11th grade student at Douglass. Other children include Mrs. Barbara Faust, Mrs. Delores Martin, James A. Martin, 17; Bernard 11, and Mark, 9.

How the youngsters will be affected by the wound, no one can say.

"The doctors said the bullet hasn't moved. They don't know whether they should try to move it or not," the mother said softly.

Meanwhile, she is 'hoping for the best while the once "all - around boy" is locked in the most critical struggle of his young life.

Ga. to appeal election case to High Court

ATLANTA (UPI) — A three-judge federal court Thursday handed down formally its ruling that the Georgia Legislature may not elect the state's new governor.

The ruling which the state of Georgia immediately announced would be appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court, did not spell out any other methods of breaking the impass that occurred when no candidate received a majority vote in the Nov. 8 General Election.

Final unofficial vote returns in the governor's race gave Republican Howard (Bo) Callaway a lead of about 2,000 votes over Democrat Lester Maddox. However, there were so many write-in votes for former governor Ellis Arnall that Callaway failed to receive the majority required for election under Georgia law.

Thursday's ruling had been forecast by the three-man court when it held a hearing on the muddled Georgia election last Friday. At that time the court criticized the legislature as being "malapportioned," that is, not apportioned according to population.

giving protiens and vitamines and seasoned with imported spices.

Also on the banquet list are the unusual Muslim punch, home-made pies, desserts, imported coffee and tea, also said to have special qualities for good health.

During the 31-day fast, from sundown Dec. 1 to sundown Jan. 1, Muslims around the world observe the Month of Rahamadan by refusing all food during daylight hours.

Eating at night only, they consume fish, eggs, vegetables and fruit but omit all land meat.

Combined with specific prayers five times a day, the fast is said to purify the body and provide each observer with will power to overcome evil.

Mr. Karriem credits the physical and spiritual power derived from the Muslim observance with attracting more than 50 percent additional members in the past five years.

He not only speaks proudly of the many highly respected citizens on the Mosque rolls but also points to the vast number of young people who have never been involved in any form of delinquency.

Clay, one of the busiest heavyweights in the world at all times, is the ideal the young men follow.

The champ's clean living, abstainance from strong beverages, smoking and other habits that deteriorate the body and mind are well-known throughout the world and especially abroad where he ranks No. 1 in popularity.

Usually in his talks to young people, a feautre of his appearances, he stresses strict rules for good health and urges adherence to the Muslim diet.

Also to appear on the Nov. 29 celebration programs will be the Muslim men's drill teams of the Fruit, other speakers and guests from Mosques on the East Coast.

Only by habits change can Skins top Browns

WASHINGTON

Washington, whose defense collapsed in the last minute, last Sunday, to allow the Dallas Cowboys to win a squeaker, visit the Cleveland Browns, Sunday.

This is a "must" game for the Redskins, whose record is now 5-5. A loss will drop the Skins below the .500 mark for the first time since early in the season, when two victories over the Steelers made their record 2-2.

Sunday's 31-30 loss was a trong effort by Washington but there are many faults which the Browns are likely to exploit.

THE PASS defense, once one of the National Football League's proudest, has now been humiliated on two occasions.

Baltimore's Johnny Unitas had his own way, two weeks ago, in the Colts' 37-10 slaughtering of the Redskins.

Dalas quarterback Don Meredith's bombs —especially to former Florida A and M sprinter Bob Hayes, whose speed won him the nickname, "World's Fastest Human"— was the Skins' undoing, last Sunday.

Cleveland's Frank Ryan, Paul Warfield and Gary Collins are more than likely to try to make a shambles of the Skin's secondary.

If the Redskins play in Cleveland as they did in last Sunday's first half, the Browns will be aided tremendously by the D. C. receivers' inability to hold passes.

AND THE running game has been more than all the Jon Don Loonery in the world can aid. Last Sunday, the burgundy and gold runners were held to a total of 23 yards.

The blocking is not so proud as it once was, as evidence by the suddenly frequent occasions which have seen Sonny Jurgensen either forced to get rid of the ball or being thrown for losses, and the runners' inability to find openings.

Unless the Washington team can halt its recent decline, Cleveland will win this game much more easily than it did Sept. 11, when the Redskins were swamped, 38-14.

The last time the Redskins met the Cleveland Browns was in 1962, when they pulled the miracle twice.

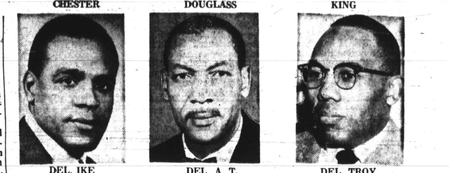
FRESHMEN LAWMAKERS PLAN FOR ANNAPOLIS

SEN C. M. MITCHELL — SEN. V. F. WELCOME — DEL LENA K. LEE — DEL. F. B. ADAMS — DEL. V. Q. ADAMS — DEL. J. A. CHESTER — DEL. CALVIN DOUGLASS — DEL. A. A. KING



DEL. IKE DIXON — DEL. A. T. ALLEN — DEL. TROY BRAILEY

2 senators, 9 delegates, all-time high, to sit in 1967-70 sessions

By GEORGE W. COLLINS

An informal survey of some of the unprecedented number of colored members of the upcoming session of the General Assembly indicates a beehive of activity in January and a look at some pieces of legislation which met defeat last term.

For the first time in the state's history 11 lawmakers will sit in the two chambers—two in the Senate and nine in the House.

Some of them were asked Thursday to give reactions to planning and some hint of their legislative program. Here is what they said.

TROY BRAILEY—A freshman delegate from the Fourth District; and 46-year-old well-known labor and community leader:

"I feel that this is the highest compliment a man can be paid by his neighbors and fellow citizens.

"It represents the highest confidence that can be placed in a man and I pledge my every effort to justify this trust by carrying out my duties and obligations in the interest of those I represent.

Mr. Brailey, and his wife Mrs. Chessie Brailey, marked their 30th wedding anniversary last week, a few days after his election. Part of his proposed legislative program look like this:

"As one who has been interested in labor for many years, I naturally will work to extend the Minimum Wage Law to include all workers not now covered by the State or Federal laws.

"I am also very disturbed with the lack of protection for the consumer. A close look should be taken at revolving credit and the whole problem of installment buying."

Irregularities in the prison system, a modern police department and better protection for persons removed by Urban Renewal developments are other issues Mr. Brailey plans to consider in Annapolis.

MRS. VICTORINE W. ADAMS — Former school teacher and well-known civic worker and businessman—

—was quite delighted by the response of the voters. As you know, I didn't confine my campaigning to myself or my district.

"I suppose I worked just as hard for the Baird Redistricting Plan all over the city. I am as pleased over the outcome on that question as I am with my election."

Although Mrs. Adams said, as a former teacher she will be especially concerned with improving education within the state, she also strongly favors reforms in the voting laws.

"Frankly I feel that election day should be proclaimed a holiday to allow voters maximum time to cast their ballots," she pointed out.

"If the voting hours should be more convenient. Perhaps it would benefit more people if the polls opened later than 6 o'clock and remain open longer in the evening.

To the certain argument that this will delay election results, Mrs. Adams would reply:

"With all the sophisticated electronic communications equipment which makes possible all sorts of projections pointing to winners almost before the polls close anyway, this would hurt no one and help many people who must leave home before polls open and return after they are closed."

More sanitary conditions and facilities should be maintained at the polls, she added.

"In many of the places where people were forced to stand in long lines in the last election there were no restroom facilities or good accomodations for judges who were compelled to work 13 hours."

Better pay and decent training for election judges would alleviate trouble at the polls, Mrs. Adams feels, and she intends to work for such reform in Annapolis.

Eliminating the September primary—an experiment tried in the 1966 primary—and to preclude campaigning in 90 degree-plus heat will also get her attention, the freshman woman legislator declared.

MRS. LENA K. LEE—Lawyer, former school principal, and social worker.

"Of course I'm overwhelmed by the mandate the voters have given me. As a teacher, I have the highest respect for teachers and love for children.

"I would naturally be interested in education and welfare of children. I am over shocked to know the degree of cruelty to children. I would like to see stronger laws in that area."

My background also includes social and civic work. I am confident that I will be able to make a contribution to health, education, and welfare."

ISIAH DIXON JR., — Bail bondsman, former businessman, and son of a once-prominent political figure.

"I was sure of winning, but I had no idea that I would lead the ticket. I was naturally pleased," was his reaction to winning.

Mr. Dixon said he is still preparing for the General Assembly orientation session next week and has not given sufficient thought to a comprehensive legislative program.

"My concern will center around taxes, welfare, as well as other key issues," he told a reporter.

Sen. Verda Welcome, who will be serving her second term next year, was not available for comment.

However, she indicated earlier that she will re-introduce her bill to repeal the Miscegenation law, which was defeated by a close vote in the last session.

Ocean chat with Viet-bound Capt. Henry Hampton of N.J.

By CONRAD CLARK

SOMEWHERE ON THE PACIFIC OCEAN — To fully understand and appreciate the part colored soldiers are playing in the strife - torn Asian country of Viet Nam, one must actually be on the scene, rub shoulders with the men, talk to them, and find out "what gives."

Assessing the whys and wherefors of "why the war in Viet Nam" is not mine to reason or question (too many are already playing experts on that) but simply give my report from personal contact with some of these soldiers, both officers and enlisted men that I left with from Tacoma, Wash., to sail over 8,000 miles to the shores of Viet Nam.

Before leaving the port of Tacoma, I spent about ten days at Fort Lewis, Wash., the home of the 4th Infantry Division, (known as the "Ivy" Division") which was first organized at Camp Greene, N.C., in December, 1917, and met Captain Henry G. Hampton, 31, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sr. Hampton Sr., of 108 Casino Drive, Freehold, N.J.

Commanding Officer of the 4th Replacement Detachment, 4th Infantry Division, Hampton was also on the boat making the trip with me to Vietnam.

Married to the former Miss Mary L. Latin of Shreveport, La., now residing in Tacoma, the Captain is a 1961 OCS graduate, and has been in the Army since 1954.

PRIOR TO his assignment as CO of the Replacement Depot, he was with the 2nd Battalion, 12th Infantry, of the same Division, as the S-4, for more than two years at Fort Lewis.

A member of the Prince Hall Masonic Lodge, Columbus, Ga., Hampton is accompanying his detachment to Viet Nam and will continue to be its commanding officer overseas.

ALSO MAKING the trip from Tacoma was Major James D. Oliver of Hqs. 506th Transportation Battalion (TRK), who will debark at Okinawa, and after a stay there of a few months, will probably continue on to Viet Nam.

Assigned as S2 and S3 with a Hqs. 49th Transportation Center (Movement Control) in Okinawa, Maj. Oliver, whose parents are deceased, is married and his wife, Edenia W., and their two children, James D. Oliver III, 6, and Jeanne D., 4, live at 2412 Marshall Ave., Newport News, Va.

A RESIDENT of San Antonio, Tex., where he attended the Phyllis Wheatley Senior High of that city, the Major's guardian is Miss Minnie Robinson of 410 North Walters St., San Antonio, Tex.

In the Army since February, 1953, he graduated in 1952 from Southern University, Baton Rouge, La., with the degrees of BA in Journalism and BS in Health and Physical Education.

He also graduated Magna Cum Laude and was a distinguished military graduate of that year's class.

Campaigns to his credit are Korea, 1953-54; Lebanon, 1958, and Viet Nam, 1962 - 63, and he has earned the Commendation Ribbon with 3 Oak Leaf clusters, the Syngman Rhee Presidential Unit Citation, National Defense Service Ribbon, United Nations Service Ribbon, as well as the Korean, Lebanon and Viet Nam Service Ribbons.

ALSO ON board the ship, SSNG John Pope was Staff Sgt. Major Sterling Wheeler of Little Rock, Ark., the highest ranking enlisted man on the ship, whose promotion to E-9, is dated from Feb. 1, 1960.

He has served in Germany, France, Belgium, Korea and Janan while overseas, and saw action in both WW II and the Korean Conflict.

Within the past years he was stationed at Fort Hood, Tex., Fort Carson, Colo., and Fort Lewis, Wash.

His wife, Daisy Mae and their two children, Deborah, 15, and Marilyn, 11, reside in Little Rock, Ark.

Wheeler is acting as the 1st Sergeant with an Artillery Battalion of the 4th Infantry Division.

ALSO MAKING the trip to Viet Nam is Master Sergeant (E-8) Alzie E. Ramsey Jr., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alzie E. Sr. of 13 Holland Ave., Ardmore, Pa.

In the service since April, 1951, his present assignment is with the 4th Division's Hqs. Judge Advocate Section, and prior to his leaving Tacoma, he and his wife, Romelia, resided at Fort Lewis, Wash.

Prior to his being assigned to Fort Lewis with the Division, he was stationed in Germany from 1958 to this year, and also in Korea from 1957 to 1958.

GI's home bombed day prior to Viet Nam trip

CHICAGO — (NPI) — When it comes to postponing travel plans, Pfc Howard Holmes, 18 had a reason that puts anti-draft, and conscientious objectors' circuit in the shade.

The day before he was scheduled to leave, the home of his MOTHER, located in an all-white block on the West Side, was bombed. And his family had only occupied the home since Oct. 15.

The explosion, caused by sticks of dynamite, shattered the windows of the two-story, framed building and knocked plaster from the walls.

Two of Holmes' sisters, Linda, 10, and Carolyn, 5, suffered minor injuries from flying glass. They were the only casualties in the Holmes' family. Four next door neighbors also suffered injuries as a result.

The soldier's father, James Holmes, 46, is a 14-year employee of the printing ink department, International corporation. He and his wife are parents of eight children, three of whom have served in the armed forces overseas.

Though Howard delayed reporting for overseas duty, he is still going to keep his commitment — but he "just can't understand it." "I'm going away to war, and something like this happens to my home," he declared.

69 rights cases sent to U.S. court

MONTGOMERY, Ala., (UPI) —Federal court trials were ordered Tuesday for 69 civil rights demonstrators arrested last year.

The U. S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals overruled a decision by U. S. 5th District Court Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. to let the cases be heard in City Court.

Johnson had said an identical case had been ordered tried in the City Court by the U. S. Supreme Court. The Appeals Court in New Orleans said there was a difference in the earlier case but did not spill it out.

THE OVERRULING order came in a telegram to Johnson and puts all 69 of the cases right into Johnson's court.

He was told to hold a full hearing and the city was restrained from prosecuting.

James Foreman, former head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, and four others arrested in March, 1965, during a series of racial demonstrations were convicted last Friday of disorderly conduct in City Court and failure to obey an officer.

They were sentenced to serve hard labor terms and fined $100 with the stipulation the hard labor terms would be suspended if they pledged never to create another disturbance in the city.

IT WAS Forman's case which had been taken to the which had been taken to the Supreme Court and to which Only one of the 69 defendants scheduled for trial Tuesday appeared in court and city attorney Mathis Pleil asked that the others forfeit their bonds. City Judge D. Eugene Loe said he would delay decision until the federal court action is completed.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain
New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.
In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations.
Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.
And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!
In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.
All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.
This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed, convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

UNITED NATIONS REPORT

Ghanaians want tostay in Guinea, OAU unit determines

By CHARLES P. HOWARD

UNITED NATIONS—The dispute between Ghana and Guinea came into clear focus last week when an organization of African Unit could not find one Ghanaian among the 100 in Conakry who wanted to return to his homeland.

Each expatriate, the committee said, told it he was "loyal to President Nkrumah" and wanted to remain with him.

General J. A. Ankrah, head of the Ghana Liberation Council, has charged that these Ghana nationals were being held in Guinea against their will. In retaliation, he seized the Guinean delegation to the OAU when its Pan American plane made an unscheduled stop at Accra.

The Guineans, among them Foreign Minister L.L. Beavogui, were later released.

THE DIPLOMATS were travelling under diplomatic immunity. Also in the party pulled off the plane, arrested and later released were 15 Guinean students.

The dispute stems from the ouster of Nkrumah by the current military government early, this year. On taking power, the Liberation Council, backed by military and police forces, dissolved and imprisoned the parliament, cabinet, and leaders of Nkrumah's Convention People's Party.

The liberation group claimed the coup had the "unanimous backing of the people."

Nkrumah and an entourage of about 100 found political asylum in Guinea. It is these Ghanaians whom Ankrah charged President Sekou Toure and the people of Guinea were holding against their will. The plane incident followed.

NKRUMAH FORCES in and our of Ghana contend that the "coup" does not represent the wishes of the Ghanaian people but non-Ghanaians, European and American business interests and is being maintained only by wholesale arrests and military force.

There is considerable opinion that one goal of these forces is the disruption and possible destruction of the OAU.

The OAU Foreign Ministers sent committees to Ghana, and Guinea. The committee found General Ankrah unrelenting saying the Guinean diplomats would not be released until the Ghanaians in Guinea were released.

He then went to Addis Ababa to the OAU Conference of Heads of State.

THE OAU Guinea committee interviewed individually and alone the Ghanaians in Conakry with the co-operation of President Toure. All expressed loyalty to Nkrumah.

After a meeting with Emperor Haile Selassie, President Nasser, of Egypt, and President Tubman, of Liberia, General Ankrah the Guinean diplomats.

Whether Ankrah had word of the Guinea committee's survey results when he ordered the release is not known.

The American and European press played down the repudiation of Ankrah's detention claims, giving main stress to a counter-move by President Toure. For a short time Guinea placed U. S. Ambassador Robinson McIlvane under house detention.

Toure also expelled the Peace Corps.

ACCORDING TO a Guinean spokesman, after left, over 200,000 Guineans, Nkrumah heading the procession, marched to the "September 28th Stadium" where President Toure eulogized President Nkrumah as one of "Africa's greatest sons and its greatest liberation leaders."

Marchers carried placards and signs hailing Toure and Nkrumah, and others carried placards saying, "Down with Ankrah, the Imperialist Stooge."

Undoubtedly the action of the Ghanaians in Guinea is a damaging blow to General Ankrah and his so-called Liberation Committee.

Work out of Ghana continues that the Liberation Council's facade is a popular movement of Ghanaians with "home support" is eroding that the Council has no program designed to solve Ghana's economic, political and social problems.
