MUSICAL MOMENTS

Warmly receptive audience greets Baltimore Symphony

By ADAH K. JENKINS

A warmly receptive audience attended the second concert by the Baltimore Symphony under the sponsorship of the Northeast Symphony Society held last Thursday evening in the Carl Murphy Auditorium of Morgan State College.

Maestro Peter Adler at the helm offered, with discernment, a program of arresting contrasts — the richly formal classicism of the Brahms Second Symphony, the romantic Bruck "Scotch Fantasy" with Young Wha Chung as guest violin soloist and the spice of a contemporary work — "Ron-do Ostinato" by Theodor Berger.

The gracefully charming young Korean made the most of the Bruck, lending warm, vibrant tone, combined with pure intonation and bowing. In support the orchestra, under the persuasive guidance of Dr. Adler, lent the atmosphere of the Scotch folk idiom.

With each hearing of the Brahms the orchestra exhibits firm command of its majestic beauty, sweeping climaxes and lovely melodies.

Scored for wood and brass winds with percussion the "Rondo" presented a challenging array of ultra modern tonalities laced with exciting rhythms.

Ushers for the concert series are chaired by Mesdames Genevieve Wisner and Mariette Randall. During the intermission and before the concert a number of patrons visited the Lobby Art Gallery to view new acquisitions to the permanent collection and posters from Puerto Rico.

The Northeast Symphony Society Series will continue Friday, March 3, with Elyakim Shapira, assistant conductor of the orchestra, on the podium and Wednesday, May 3, with Jeanette Walters, guest soloist.

Several members of the Musicians Union, Local 40 - 543, with special permission and in cooperation with Mrs. Anna Mae Hunter, director of the Hunter Home for the Blind, brought a glow of happiness to a recent wedding held at the Home.

Before and during the ceremony the ensemble, consisting of Arnett Brown Sr., trumpetist, Howard Carter, pianist and Washington Berry, saxaphonist played "Because," "Promise Me," "Beautiful Isle" and the traditional wedding marches.

Mrs. Hunter, who was a former member of the A. Jack Thomas Aeolian Trio, was the soprano soloist. The bride and bridegroom were former inmates of the Home.

The Great Hymns Choir of Baltimore, under the direction of Dr. Daniel Ridout, was presented in concert by the Heritage United Church of Christ on Liberty Heights Avenue. The event took place at Messiah U.C.C. on The Alameda.

ONE OF the crowning events of the early season was the presentation of the Bach "B Minor Mass" by the Bach Choir of Bethlehem, Pa., with the Baltimore Symphony, conducted by Ifor Jones.

Dr. Jones, who has directed the choir since 1939, indulges in no fancy flights, but, with simple and often unorthodox gestures, achieves a remarkable coordination of the intricate and difficult score.

Strongly controlled crescendos, majestic, jubilant and exquisately soft passages all were achieved, with not an entrance of the many themes lost either in the chorus or orchestra.

Small wonder that the May Festival of the Bethlehem Choir on its home ground, at Lehigh University, attracts capacity audiences from all over the world year after year.

Soloists for the local event were Katharine Hansel, soprano, the especially rewarding contralto, Elaine Bonazzi, Ray DeVoll, tenor and Alfeh Crowell, bass (a former student with Tod Duncan).

VISTA seeks recruits here

Representatives of VISTA (Volunteers In Service To America), the fastgrowing national corps of anti-poverty workers, will be in Baltimore, Dec. 13, 14, and 15, to seek qualified candidates who are willing to spend a year of their lives in service to their country.

Headquarters for the drive will be the Enoch Pratt Free Library, 400 Cathedral St.

"Thirty million Americans live in poverty," said Miss Dorothy Van Ess, Area Coordinator for the Baltimore drive. "These are unskilled people with no hope of improving their station in life. VISTA Volunteers serve where help is needed and encouragement sought."

To join VISTA, one must be at least 18 years old. There is no upper age limit.

There are no entrance requirements or examinations to join VISTA. The pay is $50 which is accrued monthly and paid in one lump sum at the completion of service. In addition, VISTAs receive an allowance for personal expenses and food and housing, which varies in each locale.

Mayor Theodore R. McKeldon called a meeting of Baltimore residents on November 22 to make plans for the drive.

VISTA representatives will be available to answer questions and accept applications at the VISTA Information Center from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. each day. The Center's telephone number is 837-3715.
