AFRO ROVING REPORTER

Chilly weather does not stop Yule shoppers

The AFRO's Roving Reporter and his camera went downtown to size up the situation on the Christmas shopping front on Monday.

In the vicinity of Lexington and Eutaw Sts., he encountered lots of shoppers.

Many were loaded with a variety of Christmas packages.

A chill, 36-degree wind harassed the hurrying shoppers as they walked and waved wildly for taxicabs that always seemed to be loaded or headed somewhere else.

• • •

AMONG THE few who stopped to talk with the Roving Reporter were:

Mrs. Leatha Lloyd, 1200 Argyle Ave., mother of five children. On her first shopping trip of the season, she spent two hours - will make one more trip to finish up.

Mrs. Peggy Hall, 734 W. Fayette St., mother of three. First trip, time: 2½ hours. She will make more shopping trips, finds it easy because she lives within walking distance.

Mrs. Edna Abram, 1408 N. Dallas St., mother of six. She came downtown by bus, is doing her first shopping, will come down again.

• • •

MRS. EDNA COWANS, 2828 Westwood Ave., has eight children. She completed this, her second shopping trip, in 1½ hours. Hey, taxi.

• • •

MRS. NORMA BLAKE, 817 N. Gilmor St., mother of two, had 8-year-old, Kim, with her. Her first and last shopping trip, she spent a whole 4½ hours. She came down in a cab and will return home in one - she hopes.

• • •

MRS. LEAUNTTE BARRETT, 1712 Guilford Ave., also has two children. She spent more than four hours n crowded store-to-store. Her first trip, must come back Oh, Cabbie.

Dr. King leaving country to write meaningful book

ATLANTA, Ga., — Dr Martin Luther King Jr. Wednesday began a two-month sabbatical to write a new book. The president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference will be out of the country during his private retreat so that he may write without interruption.

Dr King said he decided to write the new book because he found in recent travels throughout the nation that "there is an uneasy feeling in the civil rights movement that we may have lost our sense of direction, and that the forces of good will are in disarray. I feel a need to re-examine the course of our movement and to suggest new ideas and programs."

• • •

IN THE new book, tentatively entitled "WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE?", Dr. King plans to evaluate progress already made toward justice and equality, and to analyze "the resurgence of the so-called white backlash, implications of the 'Black Power' slogan, and the need for the Federal Government to re-order priorities for the nation. Our traditional allies are now in search of new purpose and meaning, and I hope the book will help in this quest."

The new work will be published by Harper and Row, as were Dr. King's three previous books. The 1964 Nobel Peace Laureate is the author of two volumes on the civil rights struggle, "Stride Toward Freedom" and "Why We Can't Wait." The third book, "Strength To Love," is a collection of sermons he wrote as co-pastor with his father, Rev. Martin Luther King Sr., of the Ebenezer Baptist Church in Atlanta.

SCLC will be guided by Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, vice president at-large and financial secretary-treasurer, and Rev. Andrew Young, executive director.

Dr. King stressed that all SCLC programs continue in full force. These include the Chicago Freedom Movement, with projects on employment, tenant unions, housing, education, voter registration and political motivation; similarly broad efforts in Grenada, Miss.; a special registration and political education drive in advance of special eelctions in Greene County, Alabama; and others.

Imagine a SELF-CLEANING OVEN
General Electric Automatic 30" Range at a Price this low
$249.95 NO MONEY DOWN $2.39 WEEK (possibly monthly)
It looks fantastic, we know. But it's true.

Famous GE quality throughout. Handsome, trim styling means good looks for years and years, thanks to porcelain enamel finish. Easy to keep clean, too.
Accurate cooking heat — push-button controls for five exact, measured heats on each unit. Easy to see, easy to operate.
Self-cleaning Hi-speed Calrod units — heat up quickly, send heat directly into food. Reflector pans lift out for easy cleaning. Spacious oven — full 21 inches wide. Four cakes fit on one shelf! Oven will take huge turkeys. Sizzling, delicious steaks with GE radiant broiler. Plus no-drip raised edge to catch spill-overs. * Full-width storage drawer * Appliance outlet.

The same electricity you use to cook also cleans your oven — absolutely as clean as the day you bought it. Costs just pennies to operate, too.
Here's all you do — move door latch to "clean"; set oven control to "clean"; set oven timer for desired time of cleaning. That's all. It doesn't matter how dirty, how greasy, how soiled the oven is.
Now — when it's cleaned — check the oven — look at it closely. See? Every nook and cranny is spotless — and there's no smoke or smell. Yes — the range of the future is here — right now! Come in — see it — get the full story — including how very easily you can put one in your kitchen.
