Pharaohs cite Sen. Mitchell

The Young Pharaohs, a group of young men of diverse occupations, presented an honorary membership last week to Fourth District Sen.-elect Clarence M. Mitchell 3rd at their annual holiday cabaret.

Mr. Mitchell, who has just returned from a tour of Israel, said he accepted the honor with great humility "because it is extended by young and dynamic men, with whom I am happily identified."

The cabaret - dance was held in the Dixie Ballroom of Gwynn Oak Park and attracted more than 300 patrons.

James Glover, president, presented the honoree a plaque citing him for "outstanding achievement and declared:

"We deem it fitting that we should honor a young man who is a symbol of the times in which young people are no longer willing to follow uncertain leadership, but to lead themselves."

• • •

OCCUPATIONS REPRESENTED in the ranks of the Young Pharaohs include business, law enforcement electronics, merchant seamen, transit operators and artists.

Young Pharaohs in attendance included:

Andrew (Billy) Johnson, vice president; LeRoy St. Thomas, secretary; Robert O. Terrence, treasurer; William Washington, business manager;

Hiram Simmons, Arthur Butler, Herbert Chase, Mike Johnson, Ernest Hargrove, William (Rusty) Smothers, Andrew (Andy) Williams, and John Eubanks.

Hometown to cite Brailey

Former neighbors, friends, and relatives of Troy Brailey of Lynchburg, S. C., are planning to honor a native son who "has made good," it was assounced this week.

The smallsfarming town's citizens will stage a gala "welcome home celebration" for Del.-elect Brailey early next month, it was reported.

Mr. Brailey, a prominent Baltimore labor and civic leader was elected Nov. 8 to a seat in the General Assembly from the Fourth District.

Hometown folks, who contend he also represents us," will cite Mr. Brailey as the "only person of color from that community ever elected to public office."

Mr. Brailey and his wife, Mrs. Chessie Brailey, marked their 30th wedding anniversary the same week he won election.

City Hospitals okays contract to modernize

The City of Baltimore has signed a construction contract for $1,299,000 with the Carl Donnson Contractors, the low bidder, for a major modernization at the D Building (Infirmary) at Baltimore City Hospitals.

Although this building is over 100 years old, it was completely rebuilt approximately 12 years ago for the care of custodial patients.

Since that time Baltimore City Hospitals has found an urgent need to have more accommodations for sick patients rather than custodial patients; and thus the D Building is being modernized to include nurses stations, treatment room, doctors' offices, laboratories, patient call system, increased numbers of sinks, toilets showers, tubs, and so forth.

The plans for this modernization have geen approved by the State Health Department and by the U.S. Public Health Service insuring that these changes will meet or surpass all of the current minimum standards of the State and Federal governments for chronic patient care.

The financing for this project was shared by the City, State, and Federal governments. The City's share of $648.82 was derived from a 1964 bond issue. The State share being $367,124 and the Federal share, the remainder.

Colored Women's Clubs dedicate Research Library

WASHINGTON

The National Association of Colored Women's Clubs, Inc. dedicated the Mary Church Terrell Memorial Research Library at a luncheon held recently at the Statler Hilton Hotel in Washington.

The library located at the Association Headquarters, 1601 R St., NW honors the memory of the first national president of the organization, Dr. Mary Church Terrell. It contains papers, documents, files and memorabilia relating to the life of Dr. Terrell, a great educator, lecturer, author, organizer and anti-segregation crusader.

Some of the material in the library was loaned to NACWC by the Library of Congress.

• • •

SPEAKERS at the dedication luncheon included Dr. Charles H. Westley, renowned historian and president of the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History, Mrs. Gladys Byram Shepperd author of "Respectable Person" the autobiography of Dr. Mary Church Terrell, Mrs. Mamie B. Reese, National President of NACWC, Miss Else N. Smith, president of the Washington and Vicinity Federation of Women's Clubs and Mrs. Ruby M. Kendrick.

Music for the program was furnished by Mrs. Yvette Holt soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Mattie Coppack and Miss Sybil Moses, who played incidental music.

Following the luncheon open house was held at the newly decorated Association House.

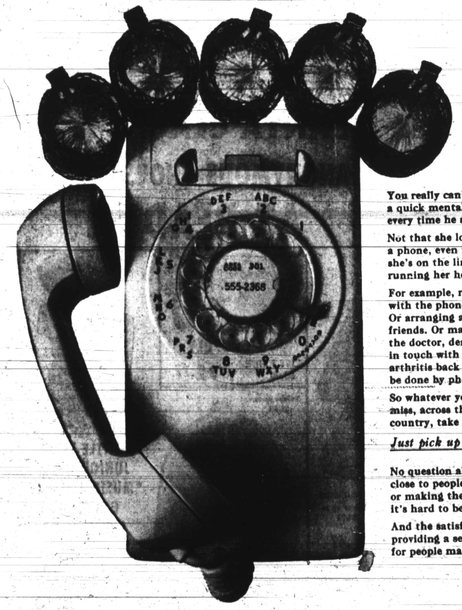
The Executive Board Meeting of NACWC with representatives of 35 states was also held. Mrs. Bernice Lindsay of Milwaukee, Wis. is chairman of the Board of Directors.

The NACWC sponsored a pilgrimage to the grave of Mary Church Terrell at Lincoln Memorial Cemetery where a wreath was placed on her grave.

Members of the Terrell family attending the dedication were Mrs. Phyllis Terrell Langston, daughter; Miss Annette Church, sister; Mrs. Roberta Church, niece and Mr. Langston, son-in-law.

Among others present were Mrs. Fannie Douglass, Mrs. Marie Smith, Mrs. Annie Stein, and many NACWC officers and members, Mrs. Myrtle Ollison, Okla.; Mrs. Melnea Cass, Mass.; Mrs. Louella Goff, Va.; Mrs. Bernice Lisdsay, Wisconsin.; Mrs. Daisy Murrell, Florida; Mrs. Edith Robinson, Michigan; Mrs. Alice Moore, Fla.; Mrs. Willie Mae Taylor of Miss., Mrs. Ina Slack of Denver, and Mrs. Fannie Newsome, N. C.

Mrs. Ruth Inman, N.Y.; Miss Mabel Diggs of Mass.; Mrs. Mattie Daniels, N. Y., Mrs. Alice Taylor, Mass.; Mrs. Ruby Edwards, Ill.; Mrs. Naomi Hatcher, N.J.; Mrs. Fannie Benford, Indiana; Mrs. Grace Lee Stevens, Ill.; Mrs. Curtis Franklin, Alabama; Mrs. Ethel Prear of Ohio, Miss Wilhelmena Drake of N. Y., Mrs. Louise Bass of Mich., Mrs. Gladys Taylor, D. C.; Miss Elsa Smith and many others of D. C. Dr. Rose L. Gragg of Michigan, president emeritus NACWC was represented by Miss Minnie Nelson.



You really can't blame Mr. Smith if he gets a quick mental picture of Mrs. Smith every time he sees a telephone.

Not that she looks one little bit like a phone, even in curlers. It's just that she's on the line so much, running her home, getting things done.

For example, rainy day shopping's a snap with the phone. So is fixing a flat tire. Or arranging a night out with family friends. Or making an appointment with the doctor, dentist or hairdresser. Or keeping in touch with Aunt Martha and her arthritis back home. Fact is, if it can't be done by phone, it can hardly be done.

So whatever you need, whomever you miss, across the street, the state, or the country, take a tip from Mrs. Smith—

Just pick up the phone.

No question about it. For staying close to people, for getting things done or making them a bit more fun, it's hard to beat the phone.

And the satisfaction we get from providing a service that does so much for people makes our job hard to beat.

To Mr. Smith, this is Mrs. Smith
